PARADE MARSHALL GREEN

The Boys Club has selected Sergeant Austin R. Green of the Greenbelt Police Department as Parade Marshal for the City of Greenbelt for the Fourth of July Parade. This is the fifth consecutive year that Green has served in this capacity. Plans for an outstanding parade are under way for this year. Any one desiring to assist in the plans should contact Green by mail. Help will be appreciated.

Kindergarten Raises Teachers' Salaries

At its membership meeting June 16 the Greenbelt Cooperative Kindergarten unanimously voted to grant salary increases to its teachers for the coming year. Ruth Bowman of North End School and Betty Wilson of Center School have been reappointed for another term. The Center School teacher, who handles two sessions, will receive a $200 increase and the North End teacher, a $100 increase.

Center School Kindergarten has received accreditation from the Board of Education, made known in a letter from Mrs. Helen L. Weidmeyer, State Supervisor, North End School is already accredited.

A program of helping mothers will be established this year. This means that each mother will be called upon to assist the teacher about once every 5 weeks. This program has been strongly recommended by the Board of Education. Orientation will be set up this fall to acquaint parents with this program. It will be possible to arrange schedules to meet needs of working mothers.

Thirty children have been registered for North End and thirty nine for Center School. There will be a morning session at Center School and an afternoon session will be available at North End if more parents enroll their children. In any case, no more than twenty five children will be in each session.

Opening Day Saturday For Babe Ruth League

Greenbelt will have the opportunity of seeing its second-annual opening-game of Co-op Babe Ruth League baseball schedule Saturday morning at 11 when Supermarket plays host to Variety Store at Braden Field. These two teams were in the final last summer and Variety won out to become first champion.

Pre-game ceremony will be brief and interesting. A number of prominent citizens who have contributed to the program will be present to start Little League grads (13, 14 and 15 year olds) off on their summer diamond spree.

Also present will be a young athlete who was adjudged the Most Valuable Player during the 1954 season. His identity will be disclosed at the moment he is called forward to accept his trophy just before the first ball is thrown out.

All Babe Ruth League players are requested to attend this opening game in their uniforms—playing or not. There will be free cokes for all uniformed Ruthers.

Last week Mike Fleshman's name was inadvertently left off the Supermarket Roster. His name should have appeared instead of Gary Dinehart.

All Babe Ruth League parents and friends are invited and urged to attend this opener. League schedules are ready and may be obtained from any Babe Ruthers not involved in the game at hand Saturday morning.

Carnival Starts At Lake Next Monday

by Laura Perlman

A gala summer carnival, complete with Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, hot dogs, cotton candy, and other features for local small fry, will open at the Greenbelt lake next Monday evening. Running through Sunday, July 2, the carnival will be open every evening from 7 until 11:30.

The event will be sponsored by the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, and proceeds will go toward supporting their emergency services for Greenbelt residents.

Among carnival features will be boat, airplane, octopus, and — for the first time this year — roller coaster rides. Although aimed primarily at the younger set, Earl Hampton, Carnival chairman, reports he personally has discovered that the roller coaster offers a thrill-packed ride for adults as well.

Other features will include nine games of skill and "bigger and better" bingo games nightly, according to Hampton. Traditional carnival fare, including hot dogs, candy apples, soft drinks, and cotton candy, will also be available. All food items sold will be inspected by county and state authorities to insure full compliance with health regulations.

The carnival committee hopes to provide free bus service to and from the Lake "for residents who have no automobiles — and for those who do have cars and a teenager in the family as well," Hampton reports.

Bus Route Changes Under Consideration

The Greenbelt bus may change its route, according to city manager Charles McDonald. Application has been made to the Public Service Commission to route the bus around town, and eliminate the stop at the tobacco store. The bus would enter Greenbelt on Southway, McDonald disclosed, turn left on Ridge, right on Westway, right on Crescent to Hillside, to Laurel Hill, right on Ridge to Gardenway, right on Crescent and out Southway again.

Most passengers walk to the Center and could more conveniently be picked up along the proposed route, McDonald stated. The change would provide better and more economical service to the city, he added.

A ten-day public notice of the change must follow approval of the commission.

As proposed, children would be able to take the bus to the North End playground from the Center. The hours of service are not being changed, but according to McDonald this could be considered if enough parents indicate that their children would use the bus for transportation to the North End. No service is provided now between 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., and if the demand is great enough, the service may be expanded to include at least part of this time. Those desiring such an expansion should inform the Recreation Department.

New Shopping Center Planned For Hollywood

Walton and Madden of Mt. Rainier are the architects of a modern shopping center to be erected in the Hollywood section of College Park. The center, which will consist of 24 stores, an office building and also a parking lot for 400 cars, will cover 10 acres. Work is expected to get underway this summer on the first group of stores by Modern Construction Co. who will build the center to be located on the southeast corner of Rhode Island Ave., where Muskogee St. will cut through.

Negotiations are now underway with Food Town, Inc., D. C., to occupy a store 80 by 150 feet and with another company for a drug store in a store 80 by 100 feet. Also planned are a beauty parlor, hardware store, variety store, barber shop, bakery and dry cleaning shops. Arrangements have been completed for an Esso filling station. There is already a Cities Service Station there.

As now planned, all buildings will be one story with the exception of the office building which will be two or three stories.

Adults Only

The pleasure of enjoying the Greenbelt swimming pool for three hours without the noisy exuberance of young children faces adults who wish to register for swimming lessons on Saturday morning between the hours of 9 and 12 noon.

Lessons are available at all levels from those who can't swim a stroke to more experienced swimmers who may wish to perfect their stroke or diving. Those who wish to join the classes mainly for pleasure swimming are also encouraged to register. A $2 registration fee covers instruction for the entire summer. Registration will again take place this Saturday, June 25.

FCH Sends Man Here To Guide New Woodland Hills Co-op Housing Group

James J. Cassels, special representative of the Foundation for Cooperative Housing who has just taken up residence in Greenbelt to handle cooperative housing developments in this area, will be presented to the members of Greenbelt's new cooperative housing group, Woodway Homes, Inc., at a meeting in the city council room on Thursday, June 30, at 8 p.m., at which officers will be elected.

Woodway Homes was recently formed to purchase the land known as Woodland Hills, which, along with the area known as Ridgewood Homes, was reserved for cooperative housing when the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation sold the remainder of its undeveloped land to the Warner-Kanter firm early in May. The sales contract included a provision permitting non-profit cooperative groups to purchase one or both of these areas for merely the PHA mortgage plus costs. The option to purchase must be executed by December 31.

One of Cassels' chief duties will be to help Woodway Homes complete its program for purchasing and developing the Woodland Hills project. Cassels was formerly a housing specialist in the Chicago office of the American Friends Service Committee, where he set up a veterans' cooperative apartment project. Generally speaking, he will take up where Roger Wilcox left off. The latter, also an employee of the Federation of Cooperative Housing (FCH) who originally organized Greenbelt Community Builders, Inc., to establish cooperative housing projects here on GVHC's vacant land, was recently assigned the entire East Coast for FCH and is thus no longer able to devote much of his time to Greenbelt. However, Wilcox will be available for consultation and will be at the meeting on June 30.

Woodway Homes has already signed up 21 families for the approximately 47 lots that will be available in this development. A deposit of $100 is required to reserve a lot, but this will be returned if a family decides to withdraw for any reason. Each lot is about 75 by 125 feet or approximately 10,000 square feet. The cost of each uncleared lot is expected to be about a thousand dollars with another thousand estimated for clearing and improving the lot. The price of a three-bedroom home (without the land) is expected to begin at about $11,000. Firmer figures on costs will be announced at the meeting on June 30.

Woodland Hills, located on a wooded hill overlooking Greenbelt Lake and Braden Field and running along Crescent Road adjacent to St. Hugh's, will have curved streets, winding sidewalks and two park areas. In clearing the land, no trees will be cut down except where necessary. Major sewer lines are already in.

The homes are planned to be individually oriented around an oval park. Most homes will be the two-level type set on slopes and with three, four, five, and six bedrooms. One-story homes will also be available. Although there are about 47 lots, there will not be that many homes built since some families plan to take two lots. FHA has already approved financing for the project.

In addition to the Woodland Hills project, Cassels will promote as part of his work for FCH a cooperative housing development for Ridgewood Homes. Originally FCH had an agreement with the Peoples Development Corporation (PDC) of Columbus, O., to share the expense of advising GVHC on the development of the latter's vacant land. PDC loaned GVHC the down payment to purchase the land from the government (PHA), with the understanding that at least part of the land would be utilized for cooperative housing. FCH is now continuing this work.

PICNIC KITS

Did you know that the Recreation Department has picnic kits available for community groups? The kits include softball equipment, volley-balls, horseshoes, desk tennis rings, nets, and play-balls.

Citizens Provide Facts On Coming Elections

Voter registration information for the Greenbelt city elections this fall will be given out at the Greenbelt Citizens Association meeting Tuesday June 29 at the City Council Room in the City Office, the GCA officers have announced. Everyone in Greenbelt is urged to attend.

The GCA meeting also will tackle the perennially vexing summer-time situation at the Greenbelt swimming pool — the crowded condition that exists there as a result of the influx of both children and adults from elsewhere in Prince Georges and adjacent areas. A report will be made and action discussed.

Before the meeting starts at 8:30 p.m. and these and other matters come up, an Encyclopaedia Britannica film, "The Baltimore Story," will be shown at 8 p.m.

GCA Board members this week, besides planning this meeting and beginning plans for this summer's and fall's activities, have also been considering a resignation from their ranks. Hal Silvers, a freshman board member, was appointed Civil Defense Director for Prince Georges County shortly after his election to the GCA Board at the GCA May meeting, and presented his resignation to the board subsequently. Silvers will be so busy with CD work and his full-time day job that he feels he cannot do justice to the GCA position as well, his fellow GCA board members reported. They have postponed action on the resignation, in hopes he might find that after all he will be able to serve GCA too.

Rabies Innoculations

Free rabies vaccine inoculations for dogs will be given by a veterinarian at the Greenbelt firehouse June 28 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. The city is cooperating in this program as part of the State and County rabies control campaign, sponsored by the University of Maryland and the Maryland State Department of Health. All dog owners in the area are urged to bring their pets to receive the vaccine injection.

The necessity for this campaign was emphasized by City Manager McDonald when he stated that at least once a week during the spring and summer the city is notified that a child has been bitten. In such cases the dog must be confined and kept under observation for twelve days, a troublesome procedure which could be avoided if the dog is vaccinated now. The danger to children is obvious.

Greenbelt police will not take advantage of this occasion to seize dogs, McDonald asserted. (This had reference to the fact that the GVHC homeowners contracts prohibit dogs here.)

McCarl & McCarl Join Forces Here

James Taylor McCarl, recent graduate in dentistry, successfully passed his Board Examinations and is associating with his father, Dr. McCarl, in the general practice of Dentistry at the Medical Center.

Young Dr. McCarl, a Greenbelt boy, who received his grade and high school education at Greenbelt, has many friends in this city.

After proper renovation, the two dentists will move their offices to the new Dental Health Center, 28 A-B Ridge Road.

The Editor's Notebook

Driving down the Greenbelt Road the other day I was appalled at its condition. Bumps, holes and ripples almost shook my teeth loose, and them kind are hard to come by. I don't think the City is responsible for maintenance on this road any more, but it seems to me that either the council, or the Greenbelt Citizens Association, or somebody, should approach the proper authorities with this problem. Traffic is increasing, not only into Greenbelt but also into the new Parkway. It's about time we started asking for a decent road into town, and while they're fixing it they might as well add another lane - or two!

What ever happened to the Community Men's Dinners we used to hold once or twice a year? As I recall, they were well attended and enjoyed. They gave the men in town a chance to get acquainted with each other, they always had interesting and provocative speakers, and they invariably had good food. And best of all, they were for men only! Not that there's anything wrong with the other kind of dinners, but here nobody cared if you used the right spoon or if you stirred your coffee with a knife. That's what I call living!

Does anybody know what became of the $1000 offered the city for free polio shots by the defunct Greenbelt Health Association? For that matter, does anybody know what became of the polio shots?

THANKS FOR THE NEWS

I want to thank you for receiving the Greenbelt News Review. It helps me to keep up on what is going on around Greenbelt. I like reading it very much. It also gives me something to do in my spare time.

I am stationed up here at Ft. Richardson in Alaska where the weather has been nice and cool. During the winter we had 138 1/2 inches of snowfall which is the most I have ever seen. The weather here isn't too bad. This winter the coldest it got where I am was 45 below and right now the weather hasn't been very warm yet. It is beginning to stay daylight 24 hours a day now. At midnight you can go outside and plainly read a newspaper. The temperature out now is around 45 degrees and the wind is just blowing like mad.

Well, I want to say "Hello" to all the dear friends I left back at home there, and to my parents and to my girl. I just can't wait till I can come home and see that beautiful place Greenbelt again.

Well, again I want to thank you for sending the Greenbelt News Review.

Yours truly

Farewell Party

At the home of Mrs. Harry Drennan, 60-K Crescent, Saturday, May 21, Mrs. Margaret Vaughan gave a "Thank You" tea for the neighbors of the 60-Court and guests. In the midst of fragrances from beautifully arranged cut flowers, the tea table was presided over by Mrs. Lillian Mitchell. The occasion was a good excuse for all the old-timers to renew mutual friendships. Mrs. Annie Childress, a former 60-courter now of Alexandria, was also present. Those attending included: Mrs. Anne Drennan, Mrs. Gerry Backstrom, Mrs. Marie Wimberly, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Della Domchick, Mrs. Margaret Slaymaker, Mrs. Marie Thomas, Mrs. Lillian Mitchell, Mrs. Polly Mitchell and Mrs. George Davidson as well as Mrs. Childress.

The Vaughans are returning to their home in Halifax, Nova Scotia. They had sojourned in Greenbelt since last September while Vaughan completed his studies for his Masters at the University of Maryland. Their friends wish them all good luck on their return trip and hope they find it possible to return to Greenbelt someday.

As still another going-away gesture for Margaret, Gerry Backstrom entertained at a Scrabble party at her home, 60-D Crescent, on Wednesday, May 25.

Margaret S. Farver

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Margaret S. Farver, who resided for a short time with relatives in the 2 court of Laurel Hill Road.

Labor Day Festival Benefits Youth Center

A Greenbelt "Festival" for the Labor Day weekend received a strong send-off by the city council last Monday night when a $400 appropriation was approved for "promotion and entertainment." The money was granted after Vincent Caruso disclosed details of the festival which is planned for raising funds for a new recreation building. Caruso requested an advance of $400 in order to start publicity, print posters and make deposits for "wheels of fortune" and varied entertainment personalities.

The council decided to appropriate the money as an advance for the "promotion" venture, rather than overcome the obstacles of spending the money through municipal channels.

Money raised from the affair will go towards the "Greenbelt Youth-Recreational Building Fund" which will be the theme of the Festival. Heading the committee running the affair is Vincent Caruso and Richard White and Eli DonBullion other members of the group. The committee is an outgrowth of a council-appointed recreation advisory committee chaired by Allan Chotiner.

Some of the activities planned for the festival are a "popularity" contest (one vote—one cent), outdoor and indoor dancing, a parade, a swimming pageant, wheels of fortune with food parcels as prizes, an orchestra concert, art exhibit, and booths exhibited by all the organizations in Greenbelt. Groups participating in the festival will receive half the income from their own exhibits, providing their organization has some youth activity in their program.

The four new directors will be C. Stripling, Ralph Bartholomew, N. Shinderman and A. Plackett who will also be secretary for the board.

Installation of new officers and the ladies night dinner will be held Friday, July 1. Guest speaker will be Herb Reichet the new District Governor. For reservations call R. A. Bartholomew at 9239 or Nat Schein at 3626.

JCC Sunday School Hears Israeli Speaker

At closing exercises of the Sunday School of the Jewish Community Center of Prince Georges County, June 5, Moshe Erell, 1st Secretary of the Israeli Embassy, presented an Israeli flag to Ben Rosenzweig, who accepted it for the organization. Erell, substituting for Yohanan Meroz, whose wife was ill, discussed problems a new country faces economically, socially, and culturally. He described Israel as a newly born nineteen year old, who had to learn many things quickly. He told how some refugees from Far Eastern countries had to be taught to use forks and knives, and said the aim of the new country was to equalize the standard of living to a high rather than a low level. Erell said Israel is pleased with its progress economically, but its imports are still greater than its exports.

Erell accepted a corsage of seven flowers, one for each year of Israeli independence, from Ellen Spector for the ailing Mrs. Meroz, and a check for $21.00 from Michael Cooper for an orphanage in Israel. Ben Rosenzweig accepted a check for $21.00 from Laurie Lazeroff for the Jewish Community Center. Both sums came from money collected voluntarily by Sunday School children throughout the year for a Karen Ami or Welfare fund.

Alan Chais, of Rogers Heights, was chosen by his classmates as their representative and acted as Master of Ceremonies. He was given an award for "greatest effort" by Russell Pollack, representing his teacher, Sam Vernoff, in the presentations. The following awards were also given: for most service to the class, Mitchell Bukzin; for overall performance over the longest period of years, Joan Barnett; for highest scholastic achievement, Jane Halperin; and for best conduct, Annette Greenbaum. In lieu of a promised confirmation exercise upon completion of the 5th and 6th grades Janet Hertz, Joan Barnett, Marian Ryss, and Martha Feldman were given books by Mrs. Frances Miller, President of the Women's Group of the JCC.

The following received sixth grade certificates: Martha Feldman, Janet Hertz, Marion Ryss, Jane Halperin, Joan Barnett, Annette Greenbaum, Andy Gelberg, Paul Gerson, Ira and Michael Rosenzweig, Neil Reznikoff, Alan Chais, Mitchell Bukzin, Russell Pollack, and Michael Stalberg.

Gadys Chasoff and Seymour Kaplan were chosen by the Sunday School teachers as the most helpful parents and were given certificates signifying that trees had been planted in Israel in their names. Sam Vernoff and Morris Cohen were given awards by the Women's Group for their efforts as Director of the Sunday School and Chairman of the Sunday School Committee of the JCC respectively.

After the program a reception was held on the Rosenzweig lawn for the graduating class with Erell as the honored guest.

City Scores Debris At Fire Department Site

The pile of debris on the site of the new fire-rescue squad building will be covered with dirt by the city, it was disclosed this week by city manager Charles McDonald. Deposited as "fill" material needed in the area, the material consists of roofing shingles, chunks of curbing, and other solid objects. The pile has been called unsightly, an "eyesore," and a "mess" by several councilmen, and its removal was requested by the Greenbelt Citizens Association.

McDonald declared that a city-operated bull-dozer will begin this week to restore the site, which is one of the first areas to be seen by visitors to Greenbelt. "Fill" material is needed to raise the level of the land to meet requirements for the proposed building which will house the fire department and rescue squad.

Council To Revive Civil Defense Plans

Civil defense officials will meet soon to re-activate the civil defense program for the community. Leland Leasia, 45-H Ridge, urged renewed efforts for a comprehensive information and educational civil defense program to the city council last Monday night, after presenting the second of two reports on the subject.

Selection of Hal Silvers, local resident, as county civil defense head, was cited by council members as a valuable asset to the community for a civil defense program, and it was suggested that a meeting of the local group with Silvers and the council be arranged to discuss plans for a more active program.

Chief obstacle in the way is the "hopeless" feeling of many residents, council members felt. Leasia declared that this apathy is being overcome quickly and the best method to insure greater interest is to make information available to the citizens. He declared that many local organizations have contacted him recently requesting information and offering the services of their members for civil defense activities.

Troop 202 Makes $96 On Circus Ticket Sale

Scout Troop 202 came out very much the victor in the recent sale of tickets to the Boy Scout Circus held May 27 and 28 at Griffith Stadium, according to John C. Petersen, chairman of the local sale in Greenbelt. Received in ticket sales was $96.00 of which a good percentage will remain in the troop's funds. In addition, $10.45 was contributed in cash donations to the hard-working Scouts, who did themselves proud trying to make money for Troop 202. Star salesman for the Troop was Bobby Hoffman who really made strides by selling 23 tickets.

The scouts were present both evenings and participated in the Circus, which was well attended Friday evening and jam packed Saturday night.

These scouts won't soon forget this circus or directions in the future.

Mrs. Klinger's Devil's Food Takes The Cake

"Let 'em eat cake!" was the signal to the panel of expert tasters to open the judging of the Davy Crockett Cake-Baking Contest last week at the Greenbelt CO-OP Shopping Center.

"Chuck" Dulane of radio station WGAY, headed the panel of contest judges which awarded a one year membership in the "Around The World Shopper's Club" to Mrs. V. A. Klinger, 24 H Ridge, for her delectable devil's food cake filled and decorated with luscious fresh strawberries.

Culinary craftsmanship, as well as artistic originality was evident in the many entries. Almost every popular type was submitted—Devil and Angel Food; cakes with multi-colored layers; orange, lemon and strawberry cakes; pound cakes; cream filled cakes and others. Icings ranged from powdered sugars to whipped cream.

Eight free tickets to Keith's showing of "Davy Crockett" were awarded to children exhibiting the best decorated bikes and wagons. The highlight of the parade contests for the judges, at least was watching and listening to Greenbelt kids out-Crockett Davy Crockett's grins and yells. For their efforts 16 kids were awarded tickets to the Keith movie. The judges, in the confusion, did not record the names or sex of the winners.

Several hundred-people submitted entries to the Limerick contest during the period of June 9 to 19. The entries are now being studied by a panel of judges and the winner, who will receive $100.00 in merchandise coupons, will be announced next week along with the winners of the service station and food store daily drawings.
