Fund Started for Schubert, Victim of Tragic Accident

One moment he is a normal young man. The next moment, he is the bed-ridden victim of an accident that has reshaped his entire life.

This happened to Joseph Schubert, 25, of 1-B Gardenway. Schubert grew up in Greenbelt, attended the elementary school, the Greenbelt Junior High School, Northwestern High School, and, for one year, Frostburg Teachers College. Then four years in the Marine Corps, and back to Greenbelt, where he served customers at the Greenbelt Consumers Services service station.

On Sunday afternoon, March 10, there occurred the accident on Sundown Road near Sunrise Farms, Damascus, Md., which seriously injured his spine and put him on a bed of pain at Prince Georges Hospital, where he still is.

What is the next step for Joseph Schubert? When he gets out of Prince Georges Hospital, a year or so in a rehabilitation center in Virginia. There he'll have to learn all over again to do many of the things that the average person takes for granted.

Bud Moyer, service station manager, says of Schubert that he was a fine employee, taking a real interest in doing a good job on the customer's car. It is generally accepted that it will be a long time before Schubert can be gainfully employed again. Although his employer, GCS, carries major medical insurance for its employees, it is estimated that he will still have many heavy expenses.

So the Greenbelt delegation of the GCS Congress has unanimously voted to sponsor a fund-raising campaign for medical-expense money for Schubert. Collection cans will be available in the GCS store.

GCS Greenbelt Delegation To Vote on 11 Candidates

A field of 12 candidates for eight seats on the Congress of Greenbelt Consumer Services awaits the verdict of Greenbelt store area members of GCS in elections April 25-27.

Two new hats were thrown into the ring before the close of nominations on Monday, joining nine previously there. The new entrants are Simon Pristooop, Marcella G. Walder and Gloria Anne Gayle of Hollywood.

The nine previously announced candidates: George Adams, Jessie Dean, Carrie Harper, Barbara Havestost, Seymour Kaplan, Frank Lewis, Vaclav Majer, Ralph Noble, and Ben Rosenzweig.

READY FOR EASTER

"Accept the Help of His Hands" is the theme of the final mid-week Lenten Service on April 3 at Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Pastor Bernthal of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Washington, D.C., will be the speaker, helping in the final phase of getting ready, spiritually, for Christ's resurrection on Easter Sunday.

The members of Holy Cross invite all their friends and neighbors to come and prepare for a deeper understanding of Easter and all that it means. Each year the "church" observes Lent, but individual members cannot benefit unless they participate.

JCC MEETING

The Jewish Community Center of Prince Georges County will hold a membership meeting on Saturday, March 30 at 8 p.m.

While the Board went over the By-Law Committee report in detail, Schwan and Director Bernard Bordenet, also a member of the Committee, tried to emphasize the limited nature of the study of the by-laws by the Committee. They noted that the primary objective was to reorganize the by-laws and clear up redundancies and ambiguities in the present by-laws, with few substantive changes proposed at this time. They urged that the Committee report be accepted, for the present, as a basis for a new by-laws committee to deal with the real controversial items next year.

Discussion by the Board revealed fundamental differences of opinions over certain of the by-laws. Board President Harry Zubkoff suggested that Board members consider writing alternative proposed by-law changes in cases of major disagreement.

Director Bill Helm stated he would like to work on the problem of how to guarantee the integrity of the ballot box following the annual meeting. The ballot box is used the evening of the meeting and again the next day. By-laws Committee Chairman Charles Schwan noted that the technical problems of a fool-proof guarantee are extremely difficult. He reported that his committee had worked on the problem and had not been able to solve it.

Director Joe Comproni will write an alternative to the nominating committee section. This committee (under the present by-laws, selects its nominees and has the right not to nominate any person. However, Comproni felt anyone who petitions to run should be accepted by the nominating committee. Schwan claimed this would tie the hands of the committee and if its judicial function was thus eliminated, the job of registering nominees would be done by a clerk in the GHI offices.

Another area of conflict came over popular recall of Board members by the membership. Helm suggested the Board act in removal of directors rather than the membership. By-laws Committee member Mathew Amberg violently disagreed saying the Board members must be responsible to the membership. In another proposed section the Board can automatically declare a director disqualified from office if he misses more than five out of ten consecutive meetings.

Helm and Bordenet are concerned over how to broaden the annual meeting voting procedures so that any vote taken during the evening meeting could be included on the ballot the next day.

In the section on Board meetings a new proviso suggested the committee would read that final action on an item of business may be delayed until the following meeting if so requested by a minority. Helm and Comproni opposed this on the grounds that it would open the door for unnecessary delay by an obstructionist minority. Director Ed Burgoon felt the probable benefits of this delay action would outweigh ill-effects.

Baptists to Hold Spring Evangelistic Campaign

Rev. T. D. Sumrall will be the evangelist for the spring evangelistic campaign at the Greenbelt Baptist Church March 31-April 7, Rev. S. Jasper Morris, pastor announced today.

How GHI Members Benefit

In the March 1963 issue of the GHI News Letter, the house organ for the housing co-op, there appeared a statement signed by directors Joe Comproni, Bill Helm, Joseph C. Cherry, and Allen D. Morrison criticizing the corporation for, among other things, providing free office space to the Greenbelt News Review, while giving little consideration to the interests of the members.

This statement, of course, completely ignores the fact that by giving free space to the News Review, GHI is helping to make possible the free distribution of a weekly newspaper to the home of every GHI member. Certainly this free paper must be worth something to the members. Certainly it is in the interest of GHI members to be informed of what is happening around town — news of city council and other civic meetings, church events, social gatherings, recreation news, births and other personal notes. Certainly it is of value to the membership to have a newspaper forum through which GHI members can express and exchange their views on any subject.

And for those who still want to measure everything in terms of dollars and cents, let us note that the News Review gives wide coverage of GHI board meetings and events. The GHI News Letter, the house paper which was originally set up by GHI to come out once a month, now appears only bimonthly or quarterly. GHI can afford to issue this publication less frequently because the coverage of GHI news in the News Review has been so thorough and timely.

In 1955 and 1956, for example, the house organ appeared every month. By 1957, the number of issues had dropped to seven and by 1960 to three issues. During the last two years, the News Letter has appeared a total of nine times.

According to the GHI manager, the cost of printing and mailing the News Letter averages about $150 per issue. If the Greenbelt News Review were not in existence, and the corporation wished to keep the membership currently informed of GHI news, it would have to publish at least four more issues of the News Letter a year — at an additional cost of at least $600 per year. This is what the News Review is saving the membership each year in dollars and cents.

And yet this group of four men imply that the GHI members are getting nothing for the donation of free office space to the News Review.

GHI Vs GDC

To the Editor:

The News Review's monthly charge for office space has been raised $2.00 a month and GHI is headed for perdition. What kind of queer reasoning is this? It reminds us of the story of the chicken, who having been struck on the head by a falling acorn, ran in circles shouting "the sky is falling." Things haven't changed much over the years — the "paid" (who paid him?) advertisement of Harry Zubkoff reminds us of that chicken.

Prior to the election of Cherry, Comproni, Helm and Morrison to the Boards of Directors of GHI and GDC, GHI set up GDC as an independent subsidiary corporation. This was done to protect the members of GHI from any responsibility for the debts, expenses or other liabilities of GDC. GHI exercises control over GDC by electing directors of that corporation who also have an interest in GHI. If GHI exercises a direct control over GDC by considering GDC matters at GHI meetings, the parent corporation (GHI) would defeat its purpose of establishing a subsidiary corporation. For this reason, GHI never attempted to exercise direct control over the affairs of GDC until one director was apparently faced with a conflict of loyalties over a tenant of GDC. Zubkoff appears willing to sacrifice all the benefits of the relationship in seeking a GHI membership meeting in April to discuss GDC matters. This, in effect, might save the News Review from the $2.00 increase for the month of May. This amounts to about 2/100 of one penny per issue. A special meeting one month before the regular membership meeting would cost GHI about $200.00.

From reading Zubkoff's letter one would think that Morrison, Helm, Comproni and Cherry postponed the membership meeting. Actually, the motion was put forth by Burgoon and Lastner and we voted with them in the interest of providing the members of GHI the opportunity of considering the matter.

Why is a raise in monthly charges for the News Review such as catastrophic event, particularly when the President of the newspaper said they could afford to pay it? Naturally, any corporation grossing $7,000-12,000 a year can afford to pay $5.00 a month for office space. Even their telephone costs more than that. GHI members have had their monthly charges upped several times; apartment tenants of GDC met with a series of increases. We can recall no instance when GHI members or GDC tenants received similar consideration over such a small amount of money.

We fully realized when we were elected that we could not always avoid controversy. One of the most difficult conditions we have met is the relationship between the newspaper and some of the Board members whom the News Review favors. When the GDC Board considered increasing the apartment rentals we shattered precedent by treating all tenants alike, including the News Review. It now appears that the News Review will insist on the status of a special tenant. Is there any truth to the rumor that there will be a News Review slate in the coming GHI election? It seems the issue will be whether the News Review will manage GHI and GDC or whether the members' representatives will be uncommitted to any special pressure group.

Joseph C. Cherry
Joe Comproni
Bill Helm
Allen D. Morrison

Editor's Note: As reported in last week's News Review, the motion by Burgoon to have the special membership meeting as part of the

"RIDICULOSITY"?

To the Editor:

The ridiculousness of your editorial is exceeded only by your ignorance. The legal conclusion that a GHI membership decision is not binding on the GDC board of directors is based on the applicable law, GDC charter and bylaws, and the Maryland court opinion that corporate directors "hold such office charged with the duty to act for the corporation according to their best judgement, and in so doing they cannot be controlled in the reasonable exercise and performance of such duty. As a general rule, the stockholders cannot act in relation to the ordinary business of the corporation, nor can they control the directors in the exercise of the judgment vested in them by virtue of their office." GHI members are so used to the democratic control provisions in the GHI bylaws (many of which I wrote) that they apparently consider it incredible that all corporations are not as democratic as GHI. Unless appropriate changes are made with respect to GDC, however, decisions of the GHI membership cannot legally bind the GDC directors.

Your opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, GDC directors cannot lawfully "do such fantastic things as give away the apartments" or "tear them down." The law not only does not permit such acts, but also provides swift remedies to prevent them.

Mr. Zubkoff is in error when he suggests that the results of any recent or present board proposal could be "disastrous" or in any way endanger our investments in our homes. All that has been suggested was a reduction in the budget by the amount of certain overcharges and outside income and, following refusal to so reduce the budget, a restitution of overcharges. These suggestions were condemned because they were "too insignificant"—"peanuts." Now all of a sudden at election time they constitute a threat to the safety of our investments in our homes. O Consistency, what a jewel thou art!

One current item of considerable importance is the GHI manager's recommendation to spend $750,000 for replacing heat and water lines in the frame homes. If that recommendation is adopted and the work is spread over ten years, the monthly charges of frame home members must be increased about annual meeting was only made after Burgoon's original announcement of a special membership meeting on April 3 was challenged by the above 4-man bloc as illegal.

five dollars a month for ten years or more.

Mr. Zubkoff's stated understanding about control of GDC affairs by the GHI membership is completely in error historically and otherwise. GDC was established as a profit-making, risk-taking corporation. It was established to avoid GHI liability in case of financial trouble in GDC enterprises. You cannot eat your cake and have it too. GHI could be insulated from liability only if the GHI membership exercised no control over GDC affairs. That has been the deliberate and unbroken ten-year policy of GHI concerning GDC. Otherwise there was no practical reason to create a separate corporation in the first place.

Since GDC does not now intend to engage in any risk enterprises, however, the principle of absence of direct GHI membership control over GDC is presently of no practical legal significance. In reporting the GHI board meeting you failed to report Mr. Helm's proposal that control of GDC affairs be vested in the GHI membership, if the membership wants it. Perhaps GDC should even be dissolved and the properties transferred to GHI.

The absence of direct GHI membership control over GDC was no sinister or diabolical plot, but was a policy deliberately adopted in order to protect the investments of GHI members in their homes. This is the central principle and issue involved, not the News Review, which has not been and will not be injured, your propaganda to the contrary notwithstanding. It is high time that Mr. Zubkoff and your staff educate themselves.

Recent irresponsible and vicious charges are pure fabrications and are made incident to an election campaign. I hereby challenge the viewers-with-alarm (1) to provide an honest bill of particulars (based on fact and not imagination) and (2) to a public debate, oral or written, on these matters. Also, how about making unslanted news reports?

Beware the Ides of March!
And beware, also the chill winds that have not yet been chased by hints of spring.

March can be good weather for germs but bad weather for people. The driving rains, strong winds and frequent sharp changes of temperature are often followed by a variety of Respiratory Diseases — including bronchitis.

This disease, familiar to most people, is found in two forms: acute (or short-term) bronchitis, and chronic (or long-lasting) bronchitis. Both types involve inflammation of the membrane that lines the bronchial tubes.

Acute bronchitis frequently accompanies virus infections. These infections cause bacteria which already live in the throat — and are usually kept at bay by the body's general resistance — to become a more formidable enemy. With resistance down, the bacteria invade the bronchial tubes, causing bronchitis. Chemical irritants such as smoke, fumes, and gases can also cause acute bronchitis.

There is usually a mild fever, plus sinus trouble and laryngitis, a cough and the accumulation of a thick sputum. But the disease is seldom serious and usually goes away after several weeks. If symptoms last for a longer period, a doctor should be consulted.

Chronic bronchitis, on the other hand, can be a much more serious problem. It usually lasts for a month or more and recurs annually, or can become a constant all-the-time condition.

Bronchitis is treated by antibiotic drugs, and the removal of all sources of irritation, including cigarette smoking. Good general health habits, says you local tuberculosis association, are also important to rid the patient of the disease.

OFFICIAL ON BUS

To the Editor:
I am glad that Mr. Holly brought the bus matter to the attention of the citizens through the NEWS REVIEW. I brought the matter before Council about a month ago in an effort to speed up action on mass transportation between Greenbelt and Washington. It was discussed at length and I am hopeful that some good will come from the discussion.

Unfortunately, much that takes place at a Council meeting is unknown to the general public. We hope to overcome this problem soon with a newsletter. Meanwhile, I would advise interested citizens to

Two Greenbelt Army Reservists Promoted

At the regular drill meeting of HQ, 2221 USAR Corps, which meets in the Riverdale reserve center, two Greenbelt reservists recently were honored at promotion ceremonies.

It is now Major Bert D. Minor, who lives at 21-N Ridge and is an agricultural economist with the Dept. of Agriculture. He has a total military service of 19 years, of which 21 months were spent overseas. He is in the Quartermaster section of the 2221 Corps and has been with it almost 3 years.

The other promotion went to Louis A. Chiccehitto, 69-D Ridge, who has become a SP/5. He is a member of the Plans and Operations Section headed up by Le. Col. Vincent A. Fiora.

"Fasten your safety belts!"

That's down-to-earth advice, Ace . . .

Washington Gas Light Company takes safety rules seriously, too. We keep a weather eye on all operations and follow the latest safety practices. Safety comes first with us.

So much so that last year our company set a new world safety record for the gas industry—a record that still stands. It's an honor we're mighty proud of.

 for Loans

We have seven American Red Cross First Aid Instructors at the present time in our Company. They are: Harry Atherholt, Victor Fisher Dave Hissey, William Hopkins, Haward Hunt, Joseph O'Loughlin and Edgar Swisher.

These men are teaching or training constantly. New techniques, equipment and teaching methods are developing at all times, and this information must be imparted to all the members. It is the desire of the Company to have the latest and best equipment available. A constant check is being made of our equipment and supplies to keep them up to standard. Several first aid classes are conducted by these men every year, both in Greenbelt and neighboring communities.

One of the lesser known services the Rescue Squad performs is the loan of crutches and wheelchairs. We have on hand a few sets of crutches and a couple of wheelchairs. We have both the solid and adjustable crutches and folding or solid wheelchairs available on a loan basis to people who need them. There is no charge for this service, most of these were donated to us and we feel that they can be put to good use by anyone that has a need for them. On the other hand, if you have a pair which are not being used whatever size, why not make them available for someone that has need for them? Call us and we will be glad to pick them up and put them in first class condition. The number is 474-5511.
