Festival Features

by Rita Fisher

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Committee held a meeting at the Youth Center on Tuesday, August 4, to discuss the Committee's progress.

Richard Pilski, representing the new Municipal Building Dedication Committee, announced that the dedication will be held on Sunday, Sept. 6 at 4 p.m. Brooks Hayes will be the guest speaker. Rev. Terry Braund, former minister of the Greenbelt Community Church will dedicate the building.

The Dedication Ceremony will be preceded by a half-hour concert by the Greenbelt Band.

Twin Pines Manager James Cassels, who is managing activities to be presented at the Youth Center during the Festival, has made arrangements for a Folk Song Festival to be presented on Saturday night. This will be a competitive exhibition of folk singers who will receive awards for their performances. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged to cover expenses. The Teen Club will also sponsor a Tennis Ball, a dance which will be held Monday night. Cassels also stated that many organizations are cooperating in the Film festival to be held at the Youth Center.

David and Sue Lange, who are handling parade and carnival activities are making arrangements for kiddie rides, the setting up of booths and other outdoor activities. The parade will feature Youth organizations and will have very few Fire Companies in the line of march. Some floats are anticipated also. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated bicycles and tricycles in the line of parade.

The Lions Club announced that it will sponsor an Open-air Pancake Breakfast on Sunday morning. They hope to provide pancakes, sausages and coffee, (with an all-you-can-eat fee.)

The Recreation Department has been making arrangements to feature a Tennis Tournament during the Labor Day Festival. Participants will be from the greater Washington area and this will be a sanctioned event. A 15 kilometer (9.2 mile) foot race is also scheduled with the starting time set at 6 p.m. Sunday night. This is also a sanctioned race (National Junior Championship) and it is expected that runners from many states will compete. Also being planned for the Weekend are the following; softball games, golf chipping contest, a Water Carnival, horseshoe tournament.

The Greenbelt Fire Department will appear in the Parade. They also put on a mock drill on the Festival grounds with men made up to appear injured, using realistic make-up and moulages. They will also be demonstrating on Resusci-Anne (to demonstrate mouth-to-mouth breathing), and hold a hook-up demonstration. They will also provide booths with Fire Prevention demonstrations and information and the equipment will be displayed with tags to illustrate the prices of equipment.

Other events being planned for the festival are demonstrations by various groups such as Recovery, Inc. (a self-help group of former mental patients and emotionally disturbed persons), a possible political debate by well known political figures of opposing parties, a mixed chorus from N.S.A., church choirs, horse riding demonstration, Petting Zoo, speech contest and many others.

Water Carnival

If anyone is interested in helping with the Water Carnival planned for the Labor Day Festival, please contact Mary Barcus, cashier at the swimming pool. You don't have to know how to swim — we need help in making scenery, costumes and collecting items needed for the Carnival.

Pony Tail League

This past Wednesday was the last game for the Pony Tail League. The Chargers and the Broncos had a playoff game this morning as both teams had won 8 and lost 4 games. Third place Fillies won 7, lost 5. Mustangs won 4, lost 7 and the Colts won 2, lost 9.

Hats Off!

To our Greenbelt Swim Team Coach, Steve Paddock: Our many thanks and appreciation for a job well done.

The walkway is 4 feet wide and is topped by 4 inches of asphalt over a gravel base.

The City will soon have eight new mercury vapor lights around the west parking lot. The lights are controlled by photo-electric cells which turn the lights on automatically at dark and turn them off again in the morning. One new light standard is being erected in the center of the lot with two lights extending on 10 foot arms to provide light for the center of the lot.

Invitation To Bid - Certificates of Indebtedness

Notice is hereby given that the City of Greenbelt, Maryland will receive sealed bids until Monday, August 24, 1964 at 8:00 P.M. for the purchase of its general obligation certificates of indebtedness dated September 1, 1964, in the total amount of $150,000.00, and in individual denominations of $5,000, maturing serially in numerical order on October 1 on each of the years 1965 to 1982, inclusive. Interest on said certificates will be payable April 1, 1965 and semi-annually thereafter. Said certificates will be the direct general obligation of the City of Greenbelt, payable from ad valorem taxes and are issued for the purpose of providing funds for the construction, reconstruction and renovation of public swimming pool facilities. Specifications and additional information may be obtained from the City Clerk, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland."

Zoning Problems, Including Area 13 Highlight City Council Meeting

by Charles T. McDonald

Zoning matters again bogged down the City Council meeting Monday, so much so that more than half the agenda had to be postponed until a later date.

The controversial Area 13 Plan of the Maryland-National Capitol Park and Planning Commission once more was a topic of interest and discussion.

Councilman Bernstein gave council a progress report from the attorney and planner hired by the city to help fight the MNCPPC plan. He quoted Atty. Joseph A. DePaul as saying there are no problems which would come before the Park and Planning Commission with legal implications which might later be the basis of a court suit. DePaul reportedly will be ready to select witnesses for expert testimony before the District Council whenever that becomes necessary.

Planner George T. Marcou said his preliminary study is almost complete and that he is now preparing to discuss it with members of the Advisory Planning Board and others. In Marcou's opinion, the Area 13 Plan is far from being adopted.

Another hardy perennial, the serious traffic problem at Edmonston Road and Greenbelt Road, was brought up by a letter from Daniel Rothermel of the Spring Hill Lake development. Mayor Pro-Tem Dave Champion, presiding in the absence of vacationing Mayor Edgar L. Smith, told the meeting that much of the problem stems from the failure of the developers of Spring Hill Lake to provide adequate road access to that property.

City Manager James K. Giese said he has been in contact with engineers of the State Roads Commission, and efforts are being made to ease the problem as soon as possible.

Harvey Geller presented the report of the Advisory Planning Board, which recommended that a 7,500-square-foot site in the center, next to the Post Office, be zoned "C.O.," a category that permits professional offices. The APB report was on a proposal that the land be zoned "C.I.," which would permit some commercial establishments and offices.

The Advisory Planning Board recommended denial of the "C.I." zoning application at this time, in conformance with Council's earlier decision that no zoning changes be approved until the Master Plan for Area 13 is approved.

After each member of the council had spoken on the subject several times, the APB was over-ruled. A motion to recommend approval of the "C.I." zoning was offered by Councilman Hoff and approved, with Councilman Simonson dissenting.

O'Loughlin Appointed

Joseph O'Loughlin was appointed to the Recreation Advisory Board, on the recommendation of Councilman Simonson.

In a letter from Mrs. Rudolph Mund and a petition presented by Mrs. Thomas Kelly, complaints were lodged against the Recreation Department's handling of the swimming class registrations, which forced long lines of people to stand out in a heavy downpour. Many suggestions were offered but the present pool facilities do not appear to be large enough to accommodate all of the younger applicants in the space and time available. Unfortunately, the present pool remodeling will not provide additional space for that purpose.

Another citizen complained that the storm drainage pipes under Lakeside Road extended had been stopped up and a small lake had been formed that could be very hazardous to the children playing in the area. The City Manager was requested to give the problem immediate attention.

The City Manager reported on the progress of construction of walkways around the Lake and elsewhere, including one from Spring Hill Lake to the Junior High School.

Albert Herling presented some briefs and a bill from Mr. Avrutus, an attorney, who, with the City of Greenbelt, is a party to the suit to appeal the court decision on the Jaeger zoning. Herling admitted he knew little of the background in connection with the briefs and was only brought into the case about 7:30 that evening, and was presenting the briefs as a friend of Avrutus.

The City Manager explained that City Council had agreed that Mr. Avrutus might use any material, such as Court records, etc., acquired by the City, but could not enter into any expense with Avrutus in trying the case. Councilman Champion agreed to turn the bill over to the Junior Chamber of Commerce to see if it might raise funds to pay it.

Other Zoning

On three zoning petitions in connection with the Spring Hill Lake development, the City Council agreed to accept the Advisory Planning Board's recommendations that no decision be made until Plan 13 has been approved.

In a late action by Council, one bill was approved for payment to the Contractor on the new City building.

Arty Facts

by Frank Lewis

James Forbes, who has been working with the Arts Guild at its weekly Wednesday night workshops, held a critique recently of the paintings done during the last few sessions. He and Peter Birmingham will continue to give the group the benefit of their guidance at the Workshops held at the Youth Center. Members of the Guild and other artists who have not taken advantage of this opportunity are invited to drop in at one of the sessions to get acquainted.

Mrs. Helen Burns, who recently shared a two-artist show at Twin Pines, is currently exhibiting some of her paintings at the Langley Branch of the Suburban Trust Company.

To add to its publicity campaign to make the forthcoming Labor Day Festival a well-patronized event, the Arts and Crafts Guild is hoping that all local art-minded and art-appreciative people will "talk it up" with prospective exhibitors and visitors. The show is open to all Washington area artists, with no limit on the number of entries (at the modest entry fee of 50c per item). Cash prizes will be given in both Professional and Amateur classes, in each of two categories.

Entry blanks or further information may be obtained from Guild members, or at the Twin Pines Office.

In addition to the Art Show at the Municipal Building, the club will sponsor two other activities during the three-day celebration. Arrangements have been made for the showing of the excellent color film on the life and works of Van Gogh. Also a booth will be manned which will feature on-the-spot portrait sketches (at a nominal price) by a professional area artist; the booth will also offer smaller paintings, water colors, drawings and the like in the $5-or-less category, with one major and much more valuable painting to be raffled off. Mrs. Marie Picard, whose very realistic paintings were recently applauded as part of a two-artist show here, has consented to supply the prize work, and is presently doing a landscape for this special purpose. It is hoped that this will be on display at Twin Pines prior to the opening of the Festival.

Gold Rush!

(The following editorial originally appeared in the Evening Star of August 31, 1963, and was reprinted in the News Review of September 5, 1963. We are again reprinting the editorial since it is even more appropriate today than it was a year ago. The dangers depicted by the editorial, instead of receding, have become even graver, as the hopes expressed in the last paragraph that the MNCPPC would serve as a restraining element continue to fade away.)

The disclosure by Maryland planners that enough apartment rezoning applications have been filed to accommodate 200,000 residents within a quarter-mile radius of a single intersection of Greenbelt-Glenn Dale road near the Goddard Space Flight Center in Prince Georges County is almost incredible.

William J. Stevens, the chairman of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, says "we certainly can't justify 200,000 people at one intersection." His is a masterpiece of understatement. One need only look at any of several burgeoning apartment areas in nearby Virginia and Maryland to believe that such concentrations are possible unless rigid and rational restraints are imposed on the rush for apartment gold.

This is perhaps the ideal example of what the planners have been warning us about for all these years in their pleas for "orderly development" of the suburbs. In nearby Maryland, it intensifies the need for the approval of a master plan, to the provisions of which the official agencies of local government will strictly adhere.

In the meantime the Planning Commission has the more difficult immediate job of resisting the powerful political and financial interests which in many instances are behind the re-zoning drives. To turn down the petitions will take courage — and more important, the support and concurrence of county governing bodies.

"Iron Horse Days Presented by B & O

More than 10,000 steam locomotive lovers from all sections of the East are expected to converge on Baltimore and Washington during this weekend, August 15-16, when the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will present "Iron Horse Days" and will operate steam-powered excursion trains between those cities.

Two round trips between Baltimore and the Nation's Capital will be operated on both Saturday and Sunday.

In addition to the thousands of railfans who will ride the special trains that weekend, crowds of sightseers and camera fans are expected to line the B & O right-of-way between Philadelphia and Washington to view the train as it chugs along toward the capital city.

Schedules have been arranged so there will be ample time between runs for railfans to visit the B & O Transportation Museum in Baltimore and the Smithsonian Institution's new Museum of History and Technology in Washington.

Swim Team News

by Mary Beth Turner

Last Saturday, in the most high-spirited swimming meet of the season, Greenbelt tumultuously defeated Summit Hill Swim Team by the exceedingly narrow margin of one point. The final score was 212 to 213—a very close meet! This victory gives Greenbelt a tally of four wins to one loss, and puts our team in second place in B division. Congratulations should be extended to each hard-working swimmer and especially to the coach, Steven Paddock, and the assistant coach, Duff Marquardt, for the good showing made by the Greenbelt Team during this season.

OPEN LETTER ON ZONING

On August 19 and 21, in both cases at 10 a.m. in Upper Marlboro, the Board of County Commissioners, sitting as the District Council, is scheduled to consider a total of 16 petitions to rezone land parcels in and around the City of Greenbelt. With respect to all but one, each parcel presently is zoned R-R, Rural Residential, a classification calling for one-family detached residences located on lots with a minimum size of 10,000 square feet (20,000 without public water or sewer):

Of the 16 parcels, all of which are described below, only the one relating to the small parcel in the Commercial Center can be viewed with equanimity. Eight of the parcels are within the area of the PA 13 North Master Plan and, if approved, would prejudice orderly consideration of the Master Plan and to a considerable extent negate its purpose. The position of the Board of Directors must be to urge that no action be taken with respect to them until the Master Plan gains final approval.

For the reasons stated by City Manager James K. Giese before the Planning Commission at its July 29 hearing (see the News Review of August 6), the GHI Board opposes consideration at this time of the remaining petitions, seven in number. Although outside the area of the Master Plan, they are so close that approval of the high density development requested inevitably would affect zoning decisions within the area.

To add your voice to that of the city and the GHI Board, please plan to attend the hearings August 19 (Wednesday) and August 21 (Friday) in Upper Marlboro. If you can offer a ride or if you wish one, call Mrs. Brubaker at the GHI office, GR 4-5566. These petitions are as important as any in size and location of parcels involved and character of zoning category requested. They are more important than any in timing. Action on them must not be taken until the Master Plan is approved. Only your continued manifestation of interest can assure that Greenbelt will develop as we want it to develop.

For your information the several parcels, their location and the recommended zoning for them are described below.

Five of the petitions are to be heard August 19. Four of them involve land parcels outside the city limits but within the PA 13 North Master Plan area and the MNCPPC Staff Study Plan for the Glenn Dale-Good Luck Road Area. Total acreage of these four parcels exceeds 61. The Planning Commission has recommended zoning which ranges from 10.46 acres R-R through 7.34 acres R-80 (9,000 square feet average lot size), 6.63 acres R-30 (3,000 square feet per multiple-dwelling unit) and 30.15 acres R-18 (2,000 square feet per multiple dwelling unit) to 2.81 acres C-1 (local commercial). Right-of-way recommended accounts for 3.67 acres.

The fifth zoning request scheduled for hearing August 19 deals with a small parcel in the Greenbelt Commercial Center. Ironically, although the parcel is in the city and the requested change is from RPC (a balanced mix of uses) to C-1, the zoning category requested would be in keeping with the character of the surrounding area.

Seven of the petitions scheduled to be heard August 21 are outside the city and the Master Plan and Staff Study Plan areas. All are on Glenn Dale or Telegraph Roads, or both, and about one and one-quarter miles east of the city limits. Almost 92 acre are involved, all zoned R-R. For these parcels, the MNCPPC recommendations are 65.37 acres R-18; 20 acres R-H (multiple-family, high rise residential); and 6.46 acres I-1 (light industrial with covenants).

Finally the Smith and Ewing petitions, four in number involving 309.63 acres, are also to be heard on August 21. These parcels are east of the Parkway, north of the Capital Beltway and on both sides of Glenn Dale Road. All are zoned R-R. For them the MNCPPC recommendations are 209.45 acres R-18; 19.86 acres R-10 (multiple-family, high density apartments); and 19.48 acres R-H: All are within the area covered by the Master Plan and the MNCPPC Staff Study.
