Financing Secured for 179-Unit Development at Charlestowne North

The latest residential plans being considered for Greenbelt call for high-rise apartments overlooking Greenbelt Lake. This information was released by B. F. Saul Company, mortgage loan correspondent for Aetna Life Insurance Company which has agreed to make a mortgage loan of $1,725,000 on a proposed eight-story building of Charlestowne North Apartments. Charles J. Bresler and Burton J. Reiner are owners of the property. Bresler, however, advised the News Review this week that such plans were only tentative and preliminary and had been submitted to Aetna solely as the basis for securing a future commitment for financing the balance of the 180 units scheduled for Charlestowne Village. Final plans for the area, he said, will be dependent upon many factors such as adoption of the master plan, location of senior high school and zoning.

According to Mr. Wright, vice-president of B. F. Saul, the preliminary plans received by Aetna called for a 179-unit development to occupy 8.85 acres at Lakecrest Drive and Prince James Way, adjacent to the already-constructed 120-unit Charlestowne Village townhouse section. The elevator apartments would include efficiencies, 1-bedroom den, 2 bedroom-den, doctor suite. There would also be a recreation area and pool. The announcement came as a surprise to Greenbelt officials. Neither the Maryland National Park and Planning Commission Area Plan 13 nor the City's own Master Plan call for high-rise apartments in this area. The land is zoned R-18, with covenants attached which restricts density to 7 units per acre. According to MNCPPC officials, 8-story high-rise apartments could not be built under such zoning.

Bresler stated that he had no plans for rezoning or for proceeding with development of the area until final decisions are made with respect to the Senior High School site, which may include part of the land being considered for additional Charlestowne Village units.

The Prince Georges County Board of Education has already started condemnation proceedings for 32½ acres to the west of Charlestowne Village and east of the Capital Beltway. This land is presently zoned RPC (Rural Planned Community).

First 100 Days Viewed With Pride By CFPG

At a joint meeting with city council, Lloyd Moore, chairman of the Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt (CFPG), presented a summary of the accomplishments of the group during the first 100 days of its existence.

- Highlights mentioned were:
- Formulation of a set of goals aimed at preserving Greenbelt as a planned residential community.
 - A membership drive which to date has secured 574 families as paid members and 2,100 names on petitions in support of the Greenbelt Master Plan.
 - A meeting with the county commissioners in which CFPG presented its objections to the Area 13 plan and its support for the city's own master plan.
 - Establishment of a solid citizen group with an active steering committee.
 - Adoption of by-laws.
 - Contact with citizen groups in adjacent areas for support of Greenbelt Master Plan.
 - Keeping Greenbelt citizens informed of activities.

Forthcoming activities of the group will include a review of the status of the school construction program. Concern has been expressed over the apparent delay in acquiring a senior high school site. Board of Education plans announced last fall hopefully looked toward the opening of the school in September 1966.

At the next meeting of the Steering Committee on July 27, city manager Jim Giese will be asked to present the details of the land acquisition program for parks. A bond issue to finance the cost of this program will be voted on in a referendum at the time of the city election, September 21.

The committee agreed to schedule semi-monthly meetings on July 25 and August 10 and 24.

Students Offered Counseling

Junior and senior high school students who would like to learn more about themselves, their abilities and interests, in order to plan for their education and future occupation can apply for intensive individual counseling this summer at the University of Maryland.

Both private and public school students are eligible, as well as June graduates. Counseling interviews will be held at the Counseling Center on weekday afternoons. A nominal fee will be charged for the testing and clerical services involved.

For further information write or call Mrs. B. Sandler, University Counseling Center, University of Maryland at College Park (No. 20742), telephone WA. 7-3800, ext. 7641.

New Data Center at Goddard

Senator Daniel B. Brewster (D-Md.) announced recently that the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt will receive $2,400,000 for the construction of a new space data center and for new utility installations.

Brewster congratulated N.A.S.A. officials and stated, "Due to the careful planning of all concerned with this matter, proficiency at Goddard will be greatly enhanced. The new facilities will be a tremendous asset to Prince Georges County, and a great arm of the National Space and Aeronautics Administration."

Statement by Lastner

The News Review was given the following statement from County Commissioner Frank Lastner concerning the recent action by the County Commissioners: "For the past 27 years I have looked out for the people of Greenbelt and personally studied both plans (Area Plan 13 and the Greenbelt Master Plan) over a long period of time. I have not been satisfied with either of them as evidenced by the results that have been publicized. Last Tuesday's action was accomplished by the unanimous support of the commissioners upon my recommendations. I have had committed to me for this long period the support of the majority of the Commissioners.

"The result of the action reduced the number of units in the Greenbelt area by 2,000 and the population by 5,000 people. I would like to further state that contrary to what had been said—that there would be four lane highways through Greenbelt - this was never a danger and would not be effected as long as I would be holding the position that I do, and I had committed myself to this."

MNCPPC AREA 13 PLAN REJECTED; TRIANGLE IS ZONED COMMERCIAL

by Sid Kastner and Elaine Skolnik

The Area 13 Master Plan proposed by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, which has been under critical attack by local municipalities, with Greenbelt in the forefront, was rejected by the County Commissioners Tuesday and sent back to the MNCPPC for reduction of densities.

At the same time, the Commissioners acted on 30 petitions in the Greenbelt area (five within the city) involving nearly 600 acres of land. According to city manager James K. Giese, the most significant rejection of a city recommendation took place in relation to the Golden Triangle. The Commissioners approved C-2 (General Commercial) zoning for the area as requested by the petitioners, thus overruling both the Area 13 plan and the City's own Master Plan which opposed a regional shopping center on the site.

On the other hand, the county commissioners took significant action in support of the city's position with respect to the Smith and Ewing property along Glenn Dale road, Giese said.

On the north side of Glenn Dale Road approximately 84 acres were zoned R-55 (single family), a less dense zoning than that recommended by the City. Another 79 acres were zoned R-30 (multiple family-low density) as recommended by the City, and 22 acres were set aside for roads and school. On the south side of the road 20 acres were approved for R-10 (multiple family, high density) which was contrary to the city's recommendation and 32 acres were approved for the R-18 zoning (multi-family, low density) which also was contrary to the City's recommendation. However, 49 acres were zoned R-30 in accordance with the City's recommendation, with approximately 32 acres being withheld for schools, roads, and churches.

"There is a very definite reduction" Giese pointed out, "in the density of the Smith & Ewing property over the MNCPPC Master Plan. Probably the net density is close to equaling the recommendations of the City."

The zoning applications considered by the Commissioners included petitions for 124 acres of high-rise and 297 acres of garden apartments. They approved 76 acres of medium-density high-rise and denied all but seven acres of the conventional garden apartment zoning, approving instead a less dense apartment category for 238 acres. In all decisions the Commissioners chopped down the requested densities, and in one major package of zoning they reduced by 5,000 the possible population of nearly 23,000.

Reaction

According to reports in the metropolitan newspapers, the zoning actions appeared to signal a major change in zoning policy by the Commissioners.

"They showed a change in our thinking, and possibly in the political climate," Commissioner Gladys N. Spellman said later. "Now we're listening to the people - not just the developers."

Commissioner chairman Jessie S. Baggett agreed that the rejection of the plan signaled a change in the board's attitude toward zoning, but noted "this change was forced upon us by all this zoning at one time."

In explaining the board's action, Baggett also said that the county has neither the roads nor sewer systems to handle the thousands of people envisioned in the Area 13 plan.

In returning the Area 13 plan back to MNCPPC Chairman William J. Stevens, Baggett said that the plan, in the meantime, would be used "merely as a guide."

The Washington Star, yesterday morning, reported that Stevens, in response to the decision to return the MNCPPC plan, charged that the Commissioners were needlessly delaying adoption of the plan. "The longer you wait, the tougher it's going to be," he said. "Come hell or high water, you've got to make the decision."

Stevens said the major differences between the planners and citizens who criticized the plan were in the Greenbelt area and were solved yesterday by the Commissioner's zonings.

"I'm making every effort to keep density down, not just here, but everywhere in the County," he said.

City Notes

Effective immediately, all swimming pool passes will be sold at the pool. They will no longer be available at the city offices, City Manager James Giese announced.

The Job Corps crew assigned to the city for the summer are working, for the most part, with the public works department. One youth helps the mechanic at the maintenance shop, and another is frequently scheduled for work at the Youth Center. Others have been helping with clean-up jobs, watering lawns, etc.

Goddard Picketed As Guards Strike

For the past week striking workers of Local 275 of the United Plant Guard Workers of America have been picketing the entrances to Goddard Space Flight Center. The strike was called after the Wackenhut corporation, which handles guard duties at the center by contract with NASA, refused to grant a raise of 12 cents per hour to about 70 of its employees.

The raise had been part of a labor agreement signed last year between the union and Federal Services, Inc., which then held the contract for guarding the center. That agreement, signed 1 July, 1964, called for a 12 cent raise by 1 July 1965, and another, of 10 cents, a year later. However, in December, 1964 Federal Services was outbid by Wackenhut, which retained the guards at their old salaries of $1.84 to $2.38 per hour but kept the question of the raise open. When no raise was granted by 1 July this year, the guards went on strike.

Since the strike began, security services of Goddard have been taken over by replacement workers; however, the strikers have maintained constant picketing in front of the center's main gate, with a large umbrella and a container of icy drink providing some relief from the summer's heat. The pickets claim that many of Goddard's contract employees refuse to cross their lines, thus stopping several construction projects going on at the center. Federal employees, of course, may not join any strike.

The dispute is now being negotiated with the aid of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service and the President's Missile Sites Labor Commission.

County Tax Accounts Increase In Number

Reflecting the growth in Prince Georges County, a record number—123,918—bills for taxes for the fiscal year beginning July 1 are being sent out this week. This number reflects an increase of 3,982 over last year.

This is the first year that taxes are being levied on a fiscal, rather than calendar year, basis.

While all districts in the County increased the number of accounts, the largest increase this year was in the Belair development, which is included in Queen Anne and Bowie districts. Queen Anne had an increase of 304, Bowie of 606 accounts, for a total increase in accounts of 910.

Spaulding District No. 6 increased by 699 accounts, Clinton District No. 9 by 278, and Piscataway District No. 5 by 259.

Other notable increases came in Laurel district No. 10, up 290; Lanham No. 20, up 322; Berwyn, No. 21, up 226 accounts.

Payments of taxes may be made at any bank in the County or at the Treasurer's office in the Upper Marlboro Courthouse.

Greenbelt Grab-bag . . . by Punchin' Judy

Our husband was home sick recently, with a rather bad case of flu. His fever went way up high and he was moaning and groaning one night. Around 3 a.m. he became talkative.

"Do you know Mr. So-and-so at Such-and-Such Agency?" he inquired.

We agreed that the name he mentioned was familiar.

"He's getting married," our spouse announced.

"That's nice," we murmured sleepily.

"In London, because there wasn't time to get ready for a wedding in Washington."

"Huh" we asked brightly, beginning to wake up.

"His mother is going along on the honeymoon, and so is his mother-in-law."

"You're making this up," we accused.

"They're going to Moscow with Gregory Peck and Audrey Hepburn," he insisted.

"Your fever must be going up," we worried.

"Last year the bride's father was made an ambassador and this year he won the Preakness," our patient continued.

"Oh, dear, he's delirious," we murmured. "Better call the doctor."

"The mother of the bride threw a party for the couple," he went on. "But her house was too small, so she borrowed someone else's home."

"Maybe it's too late for the doctor," we thought in panic. "Now what is that number for the rescue squad?"

"And Art Buchwald proposed the toast," he concluded triumphantly.

"Why, oh, why, didn't we post the Rescue Squad number near the phone?" we wailed.

Thanks

To the Editors:

It is often said that nothing reveals the depth of one's friendship, or the loyalty of relatives, like death. In our recent hour of bereavement it was comforting, encouraging, yet inspiring to suddenly find so many true friends and loyal relatives at our side offering kind words of sympathy and condolence and unhesitating assistance. In these kindnesses we found untold comfort and solace, and in the beautiful floral expressions—silent tribute to our loved one—we found peace.

May we offer our humble thanks.

To the Editor:

I want to thank the Council and the city workers for the nice fireworks we had at the Lake on the Fourth of July. The reflections in the Lake were beautiful.

All my friends think that this was the best time they had and we hope the city will never again forget the Fourth of July fireworks like they did last year.

Rita Polaschik
Age 10

"It was in the society section of the newspapers yesterday," our invalid assured us.

"Why would they print the Rescue Squad number in the society pages?" we asked in bewilderment.

"Who's talking about the Rescue Squad?" he demanded. Haven't you heard what I've been telling you?"

Desperately we hunted through the trash to find the newspaper, absolutely sure that we would find nothing to account for these feverish rantings.

Only there it was, in black and white, in a newspaper which we have up to now had reason to trust. Somewhat shakily we climbed back into bed, feeling that our eleven years in the sheltered life of Greenbelt had ill-prepared us for high life in the diplomatic set.

Failure to do so will eliminate the child from the pre-registered position. These positions would then be open for registration on Monday, July 12.
