SCORECARD ON GREENBRIAR

2 ISSUES RESOLVED, 3 MORE TO GO

Land-Clearing Compromise Approved by 4-1 Margin

by Elaine Skolnik

Spectators at last Monday's city council meeting heard a vigorous summary of the major arguments on the Greenbriar land-clearing controversy before the council finally cleared the item off the agenda by reaching a compromise solution. Since last November, council has devoted at least four meetings to this subject.

By a 4 to 1 vote (with Mrs. Cohen dissenting), council agreed to an amendment to the city's anti-burning ordinance which would permit open-pit burning, also known as the air curtain destructor (ACD method) but only for the disposal of stumps.

As part of the compromise solution, Alan Kay, the developer of the Greenbriar apartment project agreed to dispose of the remaining tree products (trunks, branches, twigs) by chipping and donating the chips to the city. Kay said that he has already cleared about 25 acres of the Greenbriar tract located east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway through chipping and hauling.

The approved amendment also provides that the developer will pay an inspection fee of $20 for each acre of land to be cleared. This money will be used to pay the salary of a supervisory city employee to assure that the operation of the ACD meets regulations.

Kay and the construction company clearing the ground for the Franklin D. Roosevelt senior high school originally wanted to use the ACD method for disposing of all trees, branches, and limbs, six inches or more in diameter. The Greenbelt Environmental Action Committee (GEAC) and other civic groups opposed the use of ACD in any form because they feared the pollution effects on vital air resources.

How Much Pollution?

The major issue boiled down to a question of which method of clearing — burning of stumps or hauling away of stumps — would produce the most pollution. A third alternative — that of using a newly-devised stump grinder machine together with a scissor-chipper operation which had been demonstrated to council at Fredericksburg — ran into a problem of the availability of the equipment and its assurance of performance over a long period.

Proponents of the ACD method stressed that the hauling away of tree stumps to far-away landfills would produce just as much, if not more, pollutants through diesel exhaust fumes as would the ACD method. Opponents of the ACD method disputed this contention. In the words of Herman Ammon of GEAC, "There is not one shred of evidence to cite that ACD causes any less pollution than trucks. Just because you can't see the smoke from ACD, it doesn't mean that pollutants aren't there. It is the function of the developer to show that ACD is as clean as he thinks it is." Ammon also noted that volatile fuel would be needed to start the burning of stumps.

Council member Elizabeth Maffav in reply put the shoe on the other foot. "I have waited in vain," she said, "for evidence as to the degree of pollution caused by ACD. We know that truck exhausts cause pollution, but we don't know about ACD."

Councilman Charles Schwan echoed the same theme. "For two weeks clearing operations have proceeded on Greenbriar. Trucks are hauling away waste material to landfills and many trips are required. This operation is contributing little or nothing to recycling.

WSSC Okays Emergency Sewer Plant Connections

On April 18, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission approved a request for an emergency connection between the Greenbriar temporary sewage treatment plant and the WSSC's permanent sewage system. Such a connection was a requirement of the Prince Georges county in approving the on-site temporary treatment plant so that if a problem developed at the plant, the sewage effluent could be placed in the WSSC system instead of directly into the receiving stream.

To provide the emergency connection it will be necessary to increase the size of certain relief sewers and to build other relief sewers in the Bald Hill Branch. The cost of this augmentation is estimated to be $206,670 and is expected to be borne by the developer, Rozansky and Kay.

In addition, the developer is expected to pay the proportionate share of the cost of the pumping station and force main needed for providing water and sewer facilities to the Greenbriar apartments. This cost is estimated at $304,750.

Expense

The temporary treatment plant itself will be built by the developer and will be operated at his expense by WSSC. It will remain in operation until such time as service can be provided by either the permanent Western Branch or Anacostia sewage systems. WSSC will also require the necessary financial commitments from the developer to ensure construction of the force main and gravity sewers necessary for the abandonment of the temporary plant.

Responding to questions raised by the Prince Georges Environment Coalition (PGEAC), the WSSC engineering staff said that before approving the plans and issuing the permit for the construction of the Greenbriar temporary treatment plant, it will obtain assurance from county health officer Perry Stearns that the plant complies with the requirement of the county 10-year water and sewer plan that the effluent be enclosed in a pipe to a point in the stream where there will be a continuous year-round flow of water.

The staff said that WSSC will transport the sludge from the temporary plant by tank truck to a point of disposal at one of the WSSC's permanent wastewater treatment plants.

The WSSC staff further said that it will include in the construction permit the requirement that the developer shall, at his own expense, undertake promptly any modifications or additions to the treatment plan to insure compliance with all required treatment standards.

Sewer Plant Still Awaits OK For Piping

by Al Skolnik

With the Greenbriar land-clearing controversy out of the way, attention shifted this week back to the problems raised by the proposed on-site temporary sewage treatment plant for the luxury apartment project on the Smith-Ewing tract east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway.

Yet to be settled is the question whether the sewage effluent from the plant will be discharged into a "flowing stream." The Greenbelt city council and county health officer Dr. Perry Stearns had recommended that the effluent from the Greenbriar plant be piped from the plant to the northern boundary of the city. The developer's current plan calls for piping the effluent to a tributary of the Beaver Dam Creek on NASA property, with the point of discharge located just east of the Parkway. From this point the effluent would run under the Parkway and northward through parcel 1 (land between GHI properties and the parkway).

Concern has been expressed by Stearns and the Save Our Community Committee that the receiving stream is not adequate to accept the sewage effluent.

At the direction of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (SDHMH), the State Department of Water Resources (SDWR) conducted a reevaluation of the receiving stream on NASA property. An on-site inspection of the stream was made on April 11 by representatives of the county and State health departments and the SDWR. Reportedly, the SDWR has informed SDHMH of its conclusion that the receiving stream was a continuously year-round flowing stream.

Stearns had recommended that the stream be evaluated in the summer during the dry period, rather than at this time of year.

A final decision from SDHMH is expected this week.

NASA Easement

A second problem that has arisen concerns the granting of an easement for the pipeline across NASA property. NASA told the News Review that before such an easement is approved, it would need additional environmental information. A NASA spokesman said that the developers would have to comply with certain federal standards before it could permit the discharge of effluent into a stream on its property.

Another problem of concern to NASA officials was the location of the temporary treatment plant and the tanks. A covenant on the Greenbriar tract requires that any construction be set back from the NASA property line by 50 feet. A legal question is whether the tanks would be deemed "construction" within the meaning of the covenant.

Appeal

A request by the Save Our Community Committee for reconsideration of the decision to grant a point of discharge permit for the Greenbriar plant was recently turned down by the SDHMH. SOCC will now take its case to the Board of Review of the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

GREENBELT CARES GETS GRANT FOR A YOUTH SERVICE BUREAU

by Dorothy Sucher

The Greenbelt CARES Counseling Center, through the City of Greenbelt, has recently been awarded a grant of $59,000 to carry on and expand its operation for the coming year. The Counseling Center has been in operation one evening a week since last May, staffed on a voluntary basis by Dr. Leopold Walder, a Greenbelt psychologist, and the members of his organization, Behavior Service Consultants, Inc. (BSC).

Three groups have shared in planning the facility and applying for the grant: government (the City of Greenbelt); citizens (Greenbelt CARES, Inc, a non-profit group); and professionals (BSC, the consultants who direct and staff the center). Each has its own role and responsibilities in the continuing operation of the facility, which must meet the requirements established by the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice, when it authorized the grant under the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Act. The Center will be expanded into a Youth Services Bureau as part of a state-wide program aiming at the reduction and prevention of delinquency.

Services Offered

Since last May, Greenbelt CARES has been serving people with all kinds of problems; couples who want to improve their marriages; parents seeking help in dealing with their children; youngsters with problems at school or at home; individuals wishing to increase their social skills.

Small groups sit at tables with professionally-trained counselor teams. Individual counseling is also available.

Greenbelt CARES uses the principles of Behavior Modification in approaching the problems of the client. All the members of the staff are familiar with this method, and additional training programs are planned for the future, both for new staff members and for citizens who would like to learn these principles so they can apply them to their daily lives.

Behavior Modification is described by Dr. Walder as "the application to human problems of the analysis of behavior; this analysis considers behavior to be the result of the person's interaction with his social and physical environment. This point of view permits adjusting these interactions to bring about an increase in desired behaviors. This method has been successfully applied to problems as far apart as toilet training and anxiety."

The Counseling Center, located in the basement of the Community Church, is open to the public on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Plans for the Future

The Youth Services Bureau function of Greenbelt CARES is now being organized, and will occupy an office in the Center. The aim is to provide effective out-of-court services for young people whose troubling behavior comes to public attention in Greenbelt — including those who have committed criminal acts and those whose problems at home, in school, and in the community may lead them to criminal behavior if they do not receive help.

Role of the City

The responsibility of the City of Greenbelt is to monitor and oversee the overall administration of the grant. Dennis Piendak, assistant city manager, will serve as project director. His duties will include responsibility for the proper functioning of the program, as well as insuring participation of city employees who deal with youth in the course of their jobs.

Also planned are training processes GREENBELT CARES, p. 2, c. 3

Two Candidates File For GHI Elections

The first two candidates to officially file for the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors are Joseph D. Compton 13-A Ridge, and Janet M. James, 1-D Plateau, it was announced by chairman Alex Chavrid of the Nominations and Election Committee last week. The last named is an incumbent who is expected to be joined by two other incumbents, Donald Volk and Norman Weyel. The News Review has received word that Theodore Byerly, 6-J Ridge, has also indicated an intention to run.

Five spots are open on the 9-man board for 2-year terms.

The only official candidate to announce for the 3-man Audit Committee is James R. Foster, 4-H Hillside Rd. Tony McCarthy, 19-U Ridge, has indicated a decision to run also.

The election will be held in conjunction with the annual membership meeting on Wednesday and Thursday, May 16 and 17, at the Center School. Balloting will begin that night and continue the next day at the Youth Center. Voting machines will be available in both places.

Candidates' Consent Forms are to be completed and returned to the Nominations Committee by midnight, Saturday, May 5. The forms can be obtained from committee members, or from this issue of the News Review.

In order for biographies of candidates to appear in the News Review issue of May 10, they must be submitted to the Nominations committee no later than 8 p.m. May 7. They should be limited to 200 words and confined to the background, education, training and experience of the candidate.

To appear on the official ballot, all nominations-by-petition and all written consent-to-serve forms must reach the Corporation office by 5 p.m., Wednesday, May 9.

GHI Board Fights 47% Tax Increase

What Greenbelt Homes, Inc., hopes to be the last in a series of hearings on its appeal of a 47 percent increase in its 1972 tax assessment was held on Monday, April 9, at the county service building in Hyattsville. Earlier hearings were held on January 4 and February 12. The Appeals Board of Prince Georges County, sitting as a Board of Tax Appeals, has not yet announced its decision.

The reassessment by the county, if allowed to stand, would increase the valuation of GHI from $7,840,570 to $11,515,640. This would be equivalent to an increase in annual taxes of $181,000.

GHI is arguing that the reassessment is excessive and out of line with assessments on other comparable properties. The appraisal by the county was based on sales prices of certain GHI homes. GHI believes that the sales prices of these homes include values other than house and yard — space and that such values, not being real estate, should not be included in a real estate assessment.

Testifying for GHI at the April 9 meeting were Melville Peters, a real estate appraiser, and Joseph Pignatoro, a contractor — builder. The latter was called in because one of the issues involved was the value of site preparation in a subdivision.

GHI counsel Albert Ginsberg presented GHI's position in the appeal GHI manager Roy Breashears and GHI comptroller Don McGinn testified in the earlier hearings and answered questions in the final hearing.

REMINDER

This is to remind readers of News Review policy with respect to the printing of campaign and election material. The newspaper will not publish in its last edition preceding an election letters to the editor and similar materials that inject for the first time highly controversial issues and charges. Last-minute introduction of such material without an opportunity for refutation is considered an unfair campaign practice.

Letters to the editor and other copy on election issues must be submitted by 9:30 p.m., Tuesday night, so as to give the News Review editorial board sufficient time to review the content.

Letter from the Mayor

To the Editor:

Mayor Pilski took the time to write me concerning the B-B shot incident at my house. His message is such that should be shared with the whole community, which he has consented to let me do.

"I was distressed to hear of your problems with a vandal using a B-B gun on March 31. The shooting of firearms within the city is prohibited and parents should never permit their children to have or use such weapons within the city. They are a very great danger. However, B-B guns are easily available, and we have a continuing problem with children having them and firing them recklessly. While it is unusual for them to shoot at an occupied house as happened in your case, the city suffers extensive loss of property as a result of B-B guns being shot at lights and at windows in city facilities. You can be assured that our police department makes every effort to find and confiscate any weapons that are being used in an illegal manner.

"I am pleased to learn that you did get prompt response from our police. I regret that they were not able to apprehend the trouble makers, but under those circumstances that is a very difficult thing to do.

"Thank you for advising me of the matter.

Sincerely,

(signed) Richard R. Pilski
 Mayor"

There is nothing more to say. The rest is up to every parent who puts weapons in the hands of their children to instruct them and supervise them in their use according to our City laws and regulations.

Anne L. Meglis

Thanks

To the Editor:

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my relatives and neighbors.

Special thanks to many of my husband's friends from Laurel, Beltsville and Greenbelt Fire Dept., for their kindness, cards and personal tributes during his recent stay in the hospital.

Half-Marathon Race For Cancer Research

Greenbelt, because of its excellent facilities and already laid out long-distance running courses, has been chosen as the location of a Half-Marathon long distance race against cancer, Sunday, April 29.

The race will start and finish at Braden Field, go out Northway, Ridge, Research and Beaver Dam Roads through the Agricultural Farm, and return. Monitors will be located at each mile mark to log the distances run. The race starts at 10 a.m. Call 474-9362.

LITTLE LEAGUERS

by Joel Kastner

This Sunday is the opening day of the Greenbelt Little League, after six month's rest and one month of hard practice for the eight teams.

Sunday's activities will begin with the annual parade at 1 p.m., originating at Hamilton and Ridge and proceeding to McDonald Field, where the opening game will be played. The teams for the first matchup will be the City Champion Tigers against the American League Champion Athletics. Refreshments will be available, so come out for a good time.

GHI - A Significant Election

To the Editor:

In three weeks GHI members will be called upon to exercise their rights and obligations to vote to fill 5 vacancies on the Board of Directors and 3 on the Audit Committee. Every GHI election is important, but this one may be more important than any in the last 10 years. Issues of the greatest significance are facing us.

The problems of inflation and the aging of homes will not go away. The cost of materials, labor, services, utilities — all costs — are rising. As our heating plants become more obsolescent it is increasingly difficult to repair them; with increasing frequency a row of houses will suddenly be without heat and hot water because the elderly furnace is sick again, and increasing steam leaks cause more floors to buckle and paint to peel.

There are no easy answers to these problems. They cannot be met by proposals that offer simple solutions to complex problems, or by riveting our attention on matters of little or no significance while the big issues are ignored.

These problems must be met by leaders of courage, ability, and common sense, and by a membership dedicated to careful, sober consideration of far-reaching programs.

In the past only a minority of GHI members have participated in elections and an even smaller number in annual meetings. Those who do not participate do a great disservice to themselves and their fellow members by permitting decisions to be made which may not represent the will of the majority. This is most serious because these decisions affect the value of their largest investments, their homes.

Finally they do a disservice to the candidates by denying to those who win the vote of confidence they need to function effectively, and leaving in the minds of those who lose the nagging thought that the results might have been different if more members had voted.

Behavior Service Consultants

The professional consultant, BSC, first set up the program last spring. The original suggestion for this new facility came from BSC president Dr. Leopold Walder, a longtime resident of Greenbelt, who saw in it an opportunity to combine service to his community with the development of his professional interests. Dr. Walder had previously organized and directed a walk-in consultation center in Anne Arundel County when he was on the staff of Crownsville State Hospital. He has served as Professor of Psychology and Coordinator of Clinical Psychology Training at The American University, as well as Associate Professor of Psychology at the University of Maryland. He has had wide experience as a consultant to schools, and is co-author, with Eron and Lefkowitz, of a book, LEARNING OF AGGRESSION IN CHILDREN (1971).

For ten months, Dr. Walder and his staff have provided the town on a voluntary basis with a service that combines an informal atmosphere with a high degree of competence.

The final choice of BSC as the consultant to the project came when it was selected over several other candidates in the competitive bidding procedure which are a requirement of the state.

Greenbelt CARES, Inc.

Greenbelt CARES, Inc., is a committee of citizens that has been meeting since last spring, when the idea of a counseling center in Greenbelt was first raised by James Cassels, who is now chairman of the Board of Trustees. The organization also has an advisory board consisting of prominent local citizens, many of them with backgrounds in law, medicine, mental health, and law enforcement.

Members of the Board have met frequently with City Manager James Gies and Dr. Walder, as well as with representatives of the staff of the Governor's Commission. Their role has been to provide a link with the community, so that citizens can have a voice in the design and evaluation of the center. They are now seeking volunteers to provide some of the services that will be needed as the center expands into a Youth Services Bureau under the terms of its grant from the state. Greenbelters who are interested in participating in any capacity are asked to call Rick and Barbara Barber (474-6162); Dennis Piendak, assistant city manager (474-8000); or Behavior Service Consultants (474-2117).

At the Library

Library volunteers are needed for a few hours a week. Needed are people to tell stories to children, take books and records to nursing homes, work with librarians — with the public or behind the scenes — and help process library materials. Those interested should call the Greenbelt library.

A folk sing will be held on Wednesday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Meeting room.

"The Bay Trap" by Ellen Peck (an attack on the motherhood myth) will be discussed on Thursday, May 3 at 7:30 p.m.

Fox - Gerring

Mr. & Mrs. Saul Fox of Silver Spring announce the engagement of their daughter Eunice Marla to Mark Roy Gerring, son of Mr. & Mrs. Irving Gerring of Greenbelt.

The bride-to-be teaches elementary school in Montgomery County. The prospective groom is with the U. S. Postal Service in Greenbelt and with the Greenbelt Realty in real estate sales.

An August wedding is planned.

BIKE RODEO SATURDAY

The Recreation Department is sponsoring a Bike Rodeo on Saturday, April 28, at 11 a.m. in front of Center Elementary School. Sgt. Van Valkenburgh will run the activities for the day. Prizes will be awarded. Rain date, Sunday, April 29 at 11 a.m.

Dear Greenbelters:

We are happy to announce that a number of families have graciously consented to open their homes for our Spring Home and Garden Tour on Sunday May 6. This informal, unescorted tour will start at the Board Room of the GHI office where you may pick up a list of home addresses between 1 and 4 p.m. The tour will conclude at 5 p.m.

On display will be additions, remodeled kitchens and bathrooms, changes in floor plans, space savers and built-in equipment, and other improvements. In addition, many gardens and interesting exterior changes will be shown.

The tour also includes several types of GHI houses — frame, brick, masonry (some with basements), freestanding, and new townhouses. Unit prices for a number of improvements will be available to assist you in your future planning and budgeting.

There will be no admission charge since this tour is being provided by GHI as a community service.

Sincerely,
 1973 GHI Home and
 Garden Tour Committee

Council Mends Fences And Tends To Business

by Jim O'Sullivan

At the April 23 city council meeting a communications gap that apparently had developed between council and the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board was closed. During a discussion and comparison of past PRAB reports and council actions, Joseph Wilkinson, chairman of PRAB, declared that council had not kept PRAB adequately informed in the past.

He said that until seven months ago PRAB did not receive the relevant minutes of council meetings, that no member of council had sat in on a PRAB meeting since October 5, 1972, that PRAB had no opportunity to examine the budget in advance, and that most recently PRAB had received no notification of the four members who were just newly appointed to PRAB. The four members whose appointments were approved at the meeting were Gregory Fazakerley, Michael McMahon, Leonard Modzelewski, and James V. Parochetti.

Council admitted that not getting the names of new PRAB members to the board was a great oversight, and immediately took other steps to improve communications with PRAB. Mayor Richard Pilski directed the city manager to provide the members of PRAB with a copy of the proposed budget. Council member Elizabeth Maffay asked if minutes of the council meetings were now being regularly sent to PRAB and learned that they were. Council member Gil Weidenfeld asked if getting the minutes would solve the communications problem and Wilkinson said that this was satisfactory. Wilkinson also added that there was room for improvement on both sides. Council member Charles Schwan said, "We are making progress and hope to make more." Council member Rhea Cohen smoothed out the last wrinkle by expressing appreciation to PRAB for their work, and the communications gap was officially closed.

Wilkinson then asked the city to respond to PRAB's call for a uniform plan-for-use-of-parks-and-recreation-facilities. He expressed a pressing need for a uniform set of rules. The council directed the city manager to prepare a statement of existing regulations.

Environmental Issues

The council also considered a number of environmental issues. It discussed the possibility of retaining the services of Ecology Recycling, Inc. (Ecocycle), a recycling consulting firm. City Manager James Giese pointed out that the city has already done extensive study on its own recycling systems, was presently recycling paper and glass, and considering the recycling of aluminum cans in the future. He did not believe that the minimum services of Ecocycle would be worth the expense. The council decided not to retain the services of Ecocycle at the present, but to inquire further into the services that Ecocycle could offer.

Council passed a motion to endorse a Council of Governments' plan to build two dams, one at Sixes Bridge, Maryland, and the other at Verona, Virginia, in order to help meet the area's growing need for water. Council member Cohen objected to council taking a position on a project that was so far removed from this area, and that was opposed by people in the neighborhood of the dams. The other members of the council, however, voted to endorse the construction, citing the strong possibility of water crises in the near future.

Council member Cohen also tried to persuade the council to make another attempt to obtain from the Office of Environmental Administration documents relating to the discharge of sewage from the Greenbelt project. The documents include a report from Water Resources, the approval letter to the applicant which lists specifications, and the amended application for point of discharge. The other council members, however, felt that a second attempt to obtain the documents would be futile since a letter from the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene indicated that the documents were impounded because of an impending appeal.

Council passed a motion introduced by Rhea Cohen to call on the Prince Georges County Council to restrict the height of high-rise multiple-family dwellings to 110 feet or eleven stories.

Council expressed its displeasure with County Executive William Gullett's refusal to recognize police services as a service eligible for tax credit or repayment under the County Tax Differential Bill.

Council also took up three Advisory Planning Board Reports. It approved the report relating to a special exception for the Jewish Community Center, referred the report on the Mobil Gas Station back to the city manager for further consideration, and asked APB for a further clarification and expansion of the report on community goals.

Super Majority Still Required To Thwart City

Reassertion of municipal influence over rezoning within town boundaries was at the heart of a Maryland Court of Appeals ruling by Judge Irving A. Levine, last week.

The judgment overturned a 1972 Circuit Court decision that declared unconstitutional a state law requiring a super majority of Prince Georges County Council, sitting as the district council, to override a municipality's objection to rezoning within its town limits.

The case was appealed by Prince Georges county against Joseph F. McBride, who initiated the case in an effort to get rezoning for land in Bowie that had been okayed, against the town government's wishes, by a majority of the district council, but not the two-thirds of the "super majority."

In the original decision, Circuit Court Judge Earnest A. Loveless, Jr., held unconstitutional the super-majority provision of the 1969 state Regional District Act, declaring the provision was an unconstitutional delegation of zoning powers given to Prince George's district council by the General Assembly.

Judge Levine held the requirement was not an unconstitutional delegation of the council's zoning powers, but only an "added protection against unwanted or ill-considered change upon those property owners who would be most affected by it."

The Appeals Court said further the equal protection of the laws conferred in federal and state constitutions applies to equality between persons not areas, such as municipalities and unincorporated places.

McBride's application called for the rezoning of 11,000 square feet along Chestnut Street from the local commercial to the light industrial zone. The City of Bowie recommended against the change in April 1970. Prince George's district council, then composed of the five county commissioners, voted 3 to 2 in favor of the application on the basis of a substantial change in the character of the neighborhood since the land was originally zoned. Since this was not the two-thirds majority required to override the recommendation of a municipality, the rezoning application failed.

If a municipality is in favor of a rezoning application, the district council may accept or reject the application by a simple majority, according to the judge's opinion.

POSTAL WEEK

As part of the observance of National Postal Week, (April 29 - May 5), the Greenbelt Post Office will join with the nation's 31,000 other post offices in issuing ten special stamps honoring postal employees. Postmaster Emory A. Harman announced that there will also be tours of the Post Office during postal week.

Refuse Crew Leader James P. Weiss is shown here collecting paper under the City's new paper collection system for recycling (see accompanying story).

City Paper Collections

The City's new mandatory paper collection system for recycling got off to a successful start two weeks ago. During the first week of operation almost 17 tons of paper was collected, while last week over 15 tons was collected. These totals represent a doubling of the tonnage collected during the previous voluntary program. However, it has been noted that a number of residents have not yet been acclimated to the new collection procedures.

Residents of GHI, Woodland Hills, Lakewood, Boxwood and Lakeside are reminded that their middle collection each week (either Wednesday or Thursday) will be for paper only. The paper must be bagged, bundled or tied and placed near the regular garbage can and in plain view of the collector. A separate can may be used for deposit of the paper if clearly marked with the word "Paper," and placed next to the regular garbage cans. Paper that is placed in the regular garbage can will not be sorted out by the collectors.

Apartment residents other than Springhill Lake have their paper collected on Wednesday now instead of Friday. For Springhill Lake residents collection is Thursday. For the apartment residents in the above locations paper should be placed at the curb for collection on the designated days.

MISHKAN TORAH MEETING

The annual membership meeting of the Mishkan Torah Congregation will be held on Sunday, April 29 at 8 p.m. Elections will be held.

FREE HOME INSPECTION

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad will make an inspection of the home of any Greenbelter requesting the service during the month of May. Since Springhill Lake is the responsibility of the Berwyn Heights Volunteer Fire Department, inspections will not be made in that area. To make arrangements, call 345-7000. Inspections will be seven days a week from 1 to 4 p.m. on week days and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on weekends.

Easter Egg Hunt Winners

Watercolor Artist Holds Exhibition

For the third year, Greenbelt artist Jacqueline Crabtree will hold an exhibition of her watercolors at the Paint Branch Unitarian Church, 3215 Powder Mill Road, Adelphi. The exhibit of her recent watercolors will be on display until May 17.

A reception is scheduled for April 29 from 5 to 9 p.m.

G.H.I. MEMBERS

At the Annual Membership Meeting and Election to be held May 16 & 17, 1973, Greenbelt Homes will elect five directors to serve for 2-year terms and three members to the Audit Committee to serve for one-year terms. If you are interested in serving in one of these capacities, please fill out the form below and give it to a member of the Nominations and Elections Committee: Alex Chavrid, 30-A Ridge Road, 474-2195; Evelyn Barcus, 2-T Gardenway, 474-4617; Janet Stotler, 18-Z-1 Ridge, 474-9406; Cathy Foster, 36-J Ridge, 345-2025; Bud Dean, 2-A Ridge, 474-5586.

How come this kid has more money saved than you do?

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Because over the years his parents have invested in U.S. Savings Bonds—in his name, for his future—by participating in the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

He probably doesn't even know. And right now, he couldn't care less. But when he's older, that money can be used for a lot of things—a car, a college education, or even a new home.

The Payroll Savings Plan is an easy way to save money for you and every member of your family. When you join, an amount you designate will be automatically laid aside from your paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's a painless way to save.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and make your son the richest kid on the block.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Tony Pisano made it two tops in a row at last Friday's duplicate bridge session. This week he teamed up with Gloria Schulstad; last time with Sid Barnett. Second place went to the team of Bob Pasternak and Alan Haga. Next game: Friday, April 27.

If you want to know how Mayor Dick Pilski feels about many local and county issues suggest you pick up the April 5 issue of the Prince George's Post. Columnist Paul Fowler has the mayor as the subject of his weekly personality sketch and also includes a picture. The mayor celebrated his birthday on Monday and we extend our best wishes.

And if you want to know about former Greenbelter Izzy Parker's philosophy of life, read the April issue of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission publication Outlook. Izzy former Greenbelt News Review editor, is featured in an article entitled, "Isadore Parker: Planner, Cartoonist, Antique Buff."

John F. Downs, Jr., 4-D Crescent, has been named to the county's Water and Sewer Task Force to review the 10-Year Comprehensive Water and Sewerage Plan and related plans. Downs is representing MNCPPC.

Several Greenbelters were among the winners at the Prince Georges Area Science Fair, held on the weekend of April 7 at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House. Participants in the Senior Division from Parkdale included Karen Goldstein ("Effects of Ions on Plant Growth" and Steven Gunn, whose project, "Morphactins IV," won him first place in Botany, plus a Sparkle award. Gabriel Sucher won first place in Planning and Architecture "Transpokinetics: Some Ideas," which also earned him special awards from the Institute of Environmental Sciences and the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

In the Junior Division, Ellen Kessler of Mary Bethune Junior High earned first place in Mathematics for her project "Music and Mathematics Notation."

GREENBRIAR from pg. 1 but much to air pollution and traffic hazards." He did not know how much ACD would contribute to pollution, but he didn't think it would match in significance the pollution caused by diesel trucks hauling to Virginia.

Councilman Gil Weidenfeld also noted that valuable space at landfills is taken up when the stumps are hauled.

Objections to ACD

Councilwoman Rhea Cohen acknowledged that the question of which method produces more pollution may be a trade-off, but she felt that the safe way would be to keep the present law intact until something definite is known. Tom White from the audience also expressed concern about amending a city ordinance to meet "the economic plight" of a developer.

In reply to concern over use of ACD during periods of an air pollution alert city manager James Giese assured council that the ordinance gives the city power to suspend ACD operations during time of alert and that he would not hesitate to use these powers.

Wrap-Up

Schwan concluded the discussion with a mollifying statement aimed at healing wounds. He said that he originally intended to vote against the ordinance change as he was convinced that the Fredericksburg operation is far better than, and far in advance of, (in terms of resource use), the ACD method. However, he realized that the lack of ready availability of the equipment limited its present use and precluded it from use on the Greenbriar tract.

He thus thought that the compromise finally worked out is the best that can be achieved — minimum of burning and a maximum of return of resources to the soil (in terms of chips).

Schwan concluded by praising GEAC and its leaders, Gabe Huck and Herman Ammon, for acquainting council with the Fredericksburg operation, and by commending Weidenfeld for his authoring the compromise and Kay for his willingness to compromise. He also praised Kay and his associates for displaying much patience with council and closed by stating his confidence that they will conform fully with the terms of the ordinance as amended.

Parkdale Band Winner

Parkdale Senior High School's Symphonic Band conducted by Bruce Nale was entered at the County Music Festival held at Northwestern High School on March 17, where it received a 1 rating. This rating entitled it to perform at the State Music Festival held at Parkdale on Saturday, April 14. Parkdale's Symphonic Band was the only one of 35 bands performing to receive a straight 1 rating.

Funds are still being raised for equipment for the band. A yard sale will be held on the Methodist Church Parking Lot on Saturday, April 28 for this purpose. Anyone having articles to contribute may contact Ruth Dee at 474-2973 after 7:00 p.m.

Applications are now available, at the Youth Center Business Office, for entry into the Seventh Annual Greenbelt Arts Festival on Sunday, May 6. Paintings and crafts to show and sell will be accepted. No entry fee to show; only a nominal fee to sell, but no commission. Set up time 10-12 noon Sunday, May 6. For further information call the Recreation Department, 474-6878.

Betty Lehman Named Outstanding Employee

At the recently held City Employees' Banquet, Betty R. Lehman, Recreation Department Secretary, was the recipient of the outstanding City Employee award. Betty out-distanced nine other fellow employees who had been nominated for the award. In announcing Betty as the this year's winner, Mayor Richard R. Pilski noted that each of the ten employees nominated was deserving of the award and that Council had a difficult choice in making its selection.

Betty was nominated for the award both by fellow employees, and the membership of the Greenbelt Golden Age Club. Those who nominated her cited her as an employee who consistently performs her duties in a pleasant manner, as well as always being helpful to citizens no matter what the incident, situation or occasion.

Other presentations at the banquet included certificates to the other nominees for outstanding

City employee, as well as service pins to several employees. Those receiving certificates as nominees were Judy Boone, Secretary, Police Department; Ralph Diest, Foreman, Refuse Crew; Barbara Havekost, Secretary, Administrative Office; John Krob, Detective Sergeant, Police Department; Joseph Lonesky, Crewman, General Crew; Hubert Michaels, Crewman, General Crew; Henry Sacra, Foreman, Building and Grounds Maintenance; Thomas Van Valkenburgh, Paul Williams, Administrative Assistant, Public Works Department.

Service pins were awarded to Ernest Brumley, Ralph Cancelose, Thomas Miskell and Kenneth Stair, all of the Police Department and all completing five years' service to the City. Receiving a ten year service award was City Manager, James K. Giese.

An additional surprise presentation of a plaque was made by the members of the Police Department to Chief William T. Lane in recognition of his efforts in making Greenbelt's Police Department one of the outstanding municipal police departments in the State.

Library Lecture "Survival In the Supermarket"

As mealtime becomes the most controversial time of the day, "Survival In the Supermarket" is the topic for the third of the discussion-lecture series at the Greenbelt Public Library. Wednesday, May 2 at 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The series boasts as its speaker an author and frequent contributor to Congressional hearings, Dr. Michael Jacobson.

Babysitting will be provided in the Public Library's Meeting Room. Registration is required for this as well as for the talk in the Conference Room. Even those who attended previous talks are required to register.

Revenue-Sharing Down Here

According to a release from Congressman Larry Hogan's office, the county government's allocation of funds for the first half of 1973 under the Federal revenue sharing program will be up by 12.7% while that of most individual municipalities within Prince Georges will be down. Greenbelt is expected to receive only $36,390 in revenue-sharing funds for the first half of 1973, compared with $43,645 received in the second half of 1972.

Results of GHI Survey

In an advisory mail-in survey sent to Greenbelt Homes, Inc. members, the members who responded disapproved the establishment of a new position of director of member relations, approved the redesignation of engineering positions, and split almost evenly on the establishment of a new position of accountant. The membership also voted overwhelmingly in favor of retaining the present size of the 9-member board and the current two-year term of office. Also favored was retention of the Audit Committee.

Through April 17, 430 mail-in ballots had been received. There are 1,608 GHI members. The tabulation of votes follows:

	Yes	No	No Vote
New position of accountant	192	210	28
New position of director of member relations	157	248	25
Redesignate position of staff engineer	228	153	49
Redesignate position to director of maintenance	247	139	44
Retain board at present size	339	76	15
Retain term of office for board	346	66	18
Retain Audit Committee	334	71	24
