Greenbelt Provides Winning Margin For Lesley Kreimer

Lesley Kreimer received 72% of the vote in Greenbelt to help her win a seat on the first elected school board in Prince Georges county. Her Greenbelt margin of victory of 652 votes was sufficient to overcome the lead her opponent Dolores Burcham had in the rest of District 2. The unofficial returns for the entire district showed Kreimer with 2,489 votes and Burcham with 2,236 votes. Greenbelt's vote of 1,500 made up 32% of the total vote cast in District 2.

The Greenbelt voting by precinct follows:

	Kreimer	Burcham
Center	457	140
North End	365	220
Springhill	254	64
	1,076	424

Mrs. Kreimer received her largest majority — 80% — in Springhill Lake. The majority was 77% at Center and 62% at North End. The 1,500 persons who voted represented 17.6% of the 8,521 voters registered in Greenbelt. The turnout was 25% at North End, 22% at Center, and 9% at Springhill Lake.

Mrs. Kreimer, who was elected to a 5-year term, will be one of nine members to take office on December 3.

On the question of fiscal autonomy for the new school board, the Greenbelt vote was much closer, with 426 in favor and 534 against. Only the Center school precinct showed a favorable vote.

Property Reassessment

Approximately 45,000 real estate reassessments, covering about a third of county properties, will soon be under way to Prince Georges property owners. The assessments average from 38 to 40 percent higher than those on same properties three years ago, warns county Supervisor of Assessments Harry Shipp. He attributes the rise to inflation and the law of supply and demand that increase the value of homes and apartments as new development in the county wanes.

Assessment increases of 36 percent or more will automatically be prorated on a taxpayer's bill over the next three years.

The pink-colored assessment package includes a form for property owners to protest their assessment and arrange for a hearing in the assessments office. Protests must be filed within 20 days after an assessment notice is received.

VANDALISM AT NURSERY SCHOOL

The Greenbelt Cooperative Nursery School has been the target of vandalism over the weekends in recent weeks. An equipment shed has been broken into, four bikes were stolen, and routinely the large playground equipment is knocked over. At the last parent-teacher meeting the members decided to periodically drive past the school as an additional surveillance measure; and the police also plan to patrol that area more often.

Parkdale Shooting

(The following article is reprinted in full from the Parkdale Senior High School student newspaper Collage.)

John Knupp, math teacher, was wounded in the left shoulder and five teachers were robbed in an incident occurring sixth period, in the teacher's lounge (by the gym) yesterday (Nov. 1).

Knupp was listed in "good condition" as of 5 p.m., Thursday, after being rushed to Prince Georges Memorial Hospital. The other teachers in the lounge at the time were Warren Smith, Mrs. Edith Belitza, Mrs. Vivian McGhan, Tom Antonelli, and Mrs. Martha Pase.

"Corsine Kayanan said that at about 2:30 p.m. two young, black men walked into the lounge, said "this is a hold-up," and told all the teachers to lay down. Pistols were in the hands of both men. Suddenly, without warning, they fired one shot, which wounded Knupp. The pair ran out of the room, leaving by the exit nearest the Girls Gym, by the lockers. Police were immediately called, as well as an ambulance. The school nurse attended to Knupp, until he was taken to PG Hospital.

"No suspects had been apprehended as of 5 p.m. yesterday, although police officers were using K-9 dogs to search the surrounding woods.

"Mrs. Belitza, one of those in the lounge said, "I was sitting on the couch and the other teachers were sitting around the table, in the lounge, when two young men entered the lounge from the direction of the Boys' Gym. They couldn't have been over 20, and seemed about school age. I could tell that they were not any of my students and none of the other teachers recognized them.

"They apparently had handkerchiefs around their faces. One said "Awright, get down on the floor." All the teachers laid on the floor face down. The only sound was the shuffling through purses and walking that the men did. Then, there was complete silence for a couple of seconds which was broken by a shot. After the shot, one of the men said "Let's get outta here."

(Parkdale vice principal Gerry Boisvert told the News Review on Tuesday that Knupp was expected to be back in school Wednesday or Thursday, but that police still have no suspects.)

Stop Work Order Hits Greenbriar

by Elaine Skolnik

The Prince Georges County Department of Licenses and Permits (DLP) announced this week that a stop-work order has been issued on one of the three parcels making up the Greenbriar apartment complex. The parcel involved contains the on-site temporary sewage treatment plant and four apartment buildings. Work will now cease on these buildings until corrective action is taken by the developer, Greenbriar Associates.

DLP indicated that it will initiate proceedings to bring the existing special exception before the county council sitting as District Council and will file the petition with the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNC-PPC). A public hearing would be necessary if this route is taken. The developer, according to county officials, may also have the alternative of asking the District Council to validate the permits that were issued in error or seek a court ruling.

The basis for county revocation of the building permit is that the site plan accompanying the approved special exception (1971) for the Greenbriar apartments did not show the on-site sewage treatment plant. The later inclusion of the plant reduced the amount of green space to less than 70 percent green space — a requirement of the code. To make up for the loss of green space the developer eliminated one apartment building, and the MNC-PPC last March recommended approval of the building permit.

Prior to the issuance of a building permit by DLP, various county agencies such as MNCPPC, Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, and the County Health Department, are required to sign off on the permit before one is issued. In the case of Greenbriar, all appropriate agencies recommended approval of the permit before the county executive gave the go-ahead for DLP to issue the permit on March 22, 1973 for the construction of the apartment buildings and recreation center only.

At that time, the Office of Law had informed the county executive that all legal requirements had been met. However, after a recent review, the Office of Law determined that the deviation in the site plan from that of the original was improper. After studying the matter, MNCPPC agreed with this interpretation, but maintains that it is now up to the county to take appropriate action.

Council Votes Cable TV Committee, Gears Up for Greenbriar Hearing

by Jim O'Sullivan

The creation of an ad hoc citizens committee on cable television took another step toward fulfillment Monday night as the Greenbelt city council directed the city manager to draw up a resolution for the establishment of the advisory group.

The proposal, introduced by councilman Thomas X. White, would establish a seven member committee composed of five Greenbelt citizens appointed by the council, a member of the city staff, and one councilman. All seven members would have voting privileges.

Among those matters which the committee would consider are: the pros and cons of the city awarding a franchise, the evaluation of ordinances of other cities where cable television is operating or planned, performance requirements for an operator of cable television, the making available of channels for public use, the compatibility of a city system with other systems, regulatory aspects, and requirements for bidding on a franchise.

The council also introduced for first reading a charter amendment resolution to provide authority to grant franchises for cable television.

Greenbriar

The Greenbriar controversy came up for discussion as White declared that the city has not replied to a NASA request for a city statement on the easement on NASA property. White urged the city to reply before the public hearing on the application for a discharge permit for the temporary sewage treatment plant. The hearing, conducted by the Department of Water Resources, is scheduled for November 21 at 9:30 a.m. in the city council chambers. The council decided to discuss this matter as well

PRAB Holds Public Information Meeting

The Greenbelt Park and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB), in cooperation with the Greenbelt Recreation Department, will hold a public information meeting on Thursday, Nov. 15 at 8:15 p.m. in the Youth Center Addition. The purpose of the meeting is to evaluate and receive input on recreation operations in a continuing effort to provide public recreation services to the expressed needs of all residents.

All civic, athletic and religious organizations in the city are invited to attend. Each organization will be allowed five minutes to present its views. There will also be an open question period. Those organizations interested should call the recreation department, 474-6878. The meeting is also open to all interested individuals.

P.G. Listening Post

Prince George County citizens with problems, complaints and suggestions may call the Prince Georges County Executive Listening Post, 627-5544. The Executive, or a member of his staff, will get in touch with callers.

as prepare a public statement for the hearing at a work session next week.

The Council also agreed not to display an 8' x 8' model of the Greenbriar development in the council chamber, at least not until after the Water Resources hearing on November 21. White suggested that the model be displayed in the library or some other neutral area. He said the city should not support a commercial venture in this way. Councilman Gil Weidenfeld said that there might be room for the large model in Beltway Plaza. Councilman Richard Castaldi said that another location might be better because few people would have a chance to see it in the council chamber. Councilman Charles Schwan saw no objection to the model's presence. Mayor Richard Pilski said that it was a matter of courtesy which the city should extend to any business enterprise and felt the model should be displayed in the council chamber.

Police Union

The council heard City Manager James K. Giese outline some of the questions involved in deciding what the city's policy should be with respect to the membership of police officers in Teamster's Local Union #246. The city is still in the process of gathering information on this matter prior to drafting the text of an ordinance.

Greenbelt CARES

Robert Fields, administrator for Greenbelt CARES, appeared before the council to request a hearing on its budget for the coming year. The public hearing is scheduled for November 26 in the council chamber at 8 p.m. A public hearing was considered appropriate since the city is considering committing a portion of its budget in advance of the coming fiscal year.

Tax Differential

Acting on the recommendation of the city manager, the council went on record as opposing a proposal of the county executive which would have the effect of eliminating the tax differential. The council, on the other hand, voted its support of a proposal for the State Legislature which would remove a roadblock to the tax differential.

Appointments

Ms. Katherine Keene was appointed to the Community Relations Advisory Board by Mayor Pilski who also named Peter J. Waters as chairman of CRAB. The Council introduced for first reading an ordinance which would give the council rather than the mayor the power to make appointments to CRAB.

The council is seeking resumes from persons interested in serving on the citizens advisory committee on Health and Environmental Planning for the Council of Governments. A number of other COG committees including Human Resources, Land Use, Public Safety and Transportation Planning also have vacancies.

Ford Statement

Citing recent vandalism at Platteau Place and the case of a youngster taken to the hospital for sniffing cleaning fluid, Fred Ford told the council that there was a need to identify the interests of Greenbelt youth in order to plan recreational programs that will involve them. Ford said that times have changed and that many young people today are "not sports minded." The council thanked Ford for bringing the problem to the council and asked him to present his ideas to PRAB at a public hearing later this month.

Other Business

In other action the council voted approval of the master agreement between the city and METRO, took note of a letter from PRAB requesting what action had been taken on other PRAB recommendations, and heard a request from Phillip Mason of the Allied Vending Corporation to lower the amusement tax in Greenbelt.

Youth Needs

To the Editor:

For the past few years the citizens of Greenbelt have been led to believe by the News Review that our problem is the Greenbriar Apartment complex, environment, etc., but what about the human resources in this city, our youth? In my campaign for city council I tried to alert you, the people, to some of the serious problems, such as the growing vandalism involving our 13 thru 15 year old youth, the increasing drug problems around Greenbelt and local schools, the idle and thoughtless gangs of our youth who have nothing better to do but to be disrespectful, egg and destroy private property, etc. . . . Has the News Review through their article Police Blotter let us know about the many drugs and vandalism arrests (without giving names) of our youth? Is it possible we are to believe that no such problem exists?

Well, it does, and if we don't start facing this cancerous growth by searching for a cure, we as a community are doomed. Until we realize the shortage of recreation space, the lack of discipline at home, school, as well as the Youth Center, the deficient programs for our youth; the availability of helping hand programs such as Greenbelt Cares, etc., are more important than whether or not an apartment complex is allowed to be built, we are slowly dying. Our Youth are our Tomorrow.

Every section of this city has been infested with this disease, but we are like the three monkeys who hear, see and say nothing. I would also like to add, do nothing.

Take a good look at your youngsters and answer this, when was the last time you showed some love and concern for them? To borrow an announcement on a TV station at night, "Do you know where your children are right now?" Do you? Or better still Do you care? Please care! ! !

WSSC Expansion

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the expansion and improvement of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission's Western Branch Wastewater Treatment Plant in Southeastern Prince Georges County took place recently. The $19.5 million contract, which will raise the capacity of the WSSC plant to 15 million gallons a day and also add advanced treatment processes, is scheduled for completion in about 15 months. The Greenbriar apartments are slated to be hooked into the public system at that time.

Praise for Tom White

To the Editor:

Tom White sent a letter last July to the county executive reporting Greenbriar zoning violations, and it took the county and the Planning Commission four months to decide where the buck stops before ordering the work to stop.

Tom's success in re-opening the zoning process comes two years after the county council refused to reconsider their approval. I petitioned for reconsideration of the special exception grant on November 15, 1971, after discovering that plans for an on-site sewage treatment plant had been concealed during the hearings.

Tom co-signed the petition with Charles T. McDonald for the Save Our Community Committee, Dorothy Baluch, Nancy Neupert, Mary Welsh, Irene Hensel, Sharon Courtemanch and Robert F. Mueller for the Prince George's Environment Coalition. Now, thanks to Tom, the public will have a chance to be heard.

Ground Maintenance Honor

City Parks Superintendent Dennis Doornekamp of Greenbelt, has been given the 1973 Professional Grounds Maintenance Honor Award for the best maintained median or roadway in the United States for Southway.

The award, co-sponsored by Grounds Maintenance Magazine of Kansas City and the Professional Grounds Management Society, is designed to encourage and recognize well-kept landscapes throughout the country, according to Robert E. Hertel, publisher of Grounds Maintenance, the nation's leading magazine of landscape design, construction and maintenance. Doornekamp was honored as the person responsible for maintaining Southway grounds, and received his award recently at a special ceremony at the industry's annual conference. In addition, Southway Road will be featured in full color in the magazine's 1974 Planning Guide Calendar in the December issue.

Cub Pack 202

Cub Scout Pack 202 held its first meeting of the year on November 2 at the Greenbelt Community Church. Plans were announced to conduct a Donut Drive this coming Saturday morning, November 8. Organizational announcements and cub activities were the highpoints of the meeting.

Additional den parents are needed. Persons interested in serving as a den mother or father are asked to contact Robert Sanford, 345-1840.

Task Force on Energy Crisis

To the Editor:

The citizens of Prince Georges county are facing a crisis, an energy crisis. It is not as dramatic as the Nixon administration scandals or the Mid-East conflicts, but it is real. Government, the energy producing industries and most important, individual citizens, must work together to prevent what could be a long cold winter. That is why I have introduced a resolution that would establish a special task force that will study the energy crisis as it relates to our county.

The Conserve and Preserve Task Force called for in CR 131-1973, would consist of representatives from the energy producing industries, a representative from the County Council and citizen representatives. The charge of the task force would be to submit ideas to County government on methods of conserving energy.

The four major energy industries that will be researched are oil and gasoline, heating oil, electrical heating and lighting and natural gas heating. Government can adopt policies that will conserve energy use. However, this savings will be insignificant when compared to what individual citizens could save if they knew certain energy saving procedures.

The industry is constantly attempting to encourage conservation of energy. When they send out the bills to customers, they occasionally include tips on energy conservation. Unfortunately, these notices often go unnoticed by the customer. We need to draw more attention to their efforts and encourage county residents to devise their own programs for energy conservation.

A major problem is that people don't honestly believe that their individual efforts can have a substantial impact. BUT THEY CAN! For example, we could conserve a substantial amount of gasoline by just driving slower. When driving the Beltway, drop five miles off your speed. When you start your car on a cold morning, don't race the engine. Not only is this practice bad for your car because the engine oil is cold and not totally circulated, but it wastes gas. Home heating and lighting can be reduced to show a substantial savings. If you are not home during the day, simply lower the thermostat 10 degrees. Also at night before going to bed, lower the thermostat. Remember not to turn off the heat entirely. The energy required to raise the temperature from 32° to 70° far exceeds the energy required to keep the heat constant. Turn off those lights when not in use as well as other electrical appliances.

These are but a few tips for meeting energy shortages. By creative use of our energy supplies, we can guarantee enough to go around and save a few dollars in the process. But, new ideas and policies are needed.

The Conserve and Preserve Task Force will serve as a central receiving point for new ideas. While awaiting action by the County Council on the Task Force resolution, I encourage citizens to send their energy saving ideas to my office in Upper Marlboro and I will transmit them to the task force when it convenes.

Until then, remember: turn down, slow down and save.

The purpose of this show is to provide handicrafts at reasonable prices for gift-giving during the winter holiday season.

There will be a children's room with inexpensive items and special activities for the children to participate in.

Craftsmen interested in participating in the Christmas Crafts Sale can pick up entry applications at the Youth Center.

Volunteers are needed to help with the other events following the crafts sale. For further information call 474-6878.

CITY NOTES

Work on the Center Mall is continuing. The contractor has begun to pour new concrete. The general crew did more work on electrical and light conduits and additional work for the general contractor.

The general crew also repaired the backs of some benches outside of the Youth Center. Weight on the backs is believed to have been responsible for the breakage.

The special details crew picked up debris from the roadsides recently.

One member of the special crew was detailed to grinding glass and sorting aluminum. The city collects glass and aluminum for recycling. However, cans with just aluminum tops have been found in with the aluminum cans. Since only cans made entirely of aluminum can be recycled, sorting is necessary until the public becomes more aware of the difference in the cans.

2 weeks ago the paper collection totaled 8 tons, 770 lbs. This is less than the usual weekly collection but there was only one pickup because of the holiday week-end.

There are two positions vacant on the parks crew. The city is looking for applicants for these positions.

Municipal League Discusses 1974 Legislative Proposals

Members of the city council attended a two-day work session of the Maryland Municipal League in Baltimore on Friday and Saturday, October 26 and 27 for the purpose of establishing the League's legislative program for the coming legislative session. Attending were Mayor Richard Pilski, Councilmen Richard Castaldi, Gil Weidenfeld and Thomas White, and City Manager James Giese.

The members of the League intensively discussed legislative proposals dealing with revenues, street, sidewalk, and bicycle path planning and construction, cable TV, drug control, and other matters.

As a result of proposals by Greenbelt officials the League added two items to its list of studies. Reflecting the broad support expressed by Greenbelt residents on the election survey, city officials urged, and the League agreed to seek legislation for the funding by the state of pedestrian-bicycle overpasses across major state highways. The League also agreed to undertake a staff study of State aid for police protection for the purpose of preparing legislation to extend and increase this aid to local governments.

Other significant legislative proposals adopted by the League at this work session are:

1. Increase the city's share of income tax paid by city residents from .37% to 1%.
2. Permit cities to levy as a surtax the share of the state income tax now paid to cities so that the cities will be credited with the taxing effort for federal revenue sharing purposes. Federal payments are based upon the taxing efforts of local governments.
3. Exempt cities from paying gasoline tax on police and fire vehicles and sales tax on materials used in construction projects.
4. Require the District Courts to treat violations of municipal ordinances in the same manner as state law and to rebate to the cities fines collected for the violation of city ordinances.
5. Require the State Highway Administration, County Council, and County Delegation to the Legislature to seek and consider the comments of the municipalities prior to adopting the State Highway 2-Year Needs Study and the Five-Year Primary and Secondary Highway Construction programs.
6. Require open trucks to be covered with a tarpaulin to prevent spillage and contractors, operators, or owners to remove mud, dirt, or other debris which has been tracked or spilled upon public roads.
7. Permit counties to place municipalities in separate taxing districts for the purpose of providing county tax credits for services provided by the county only to residents outside the municipalities.
8. Oppose efforts to exclude municipalities from franchising or participating in the franchising of cable TV companies.
9. Require mandatory jail sentences without parole for convicted drug vendors, pushers, and, in some instances, possessors.
10. Require the appointment of municipal representatives to regional and district planning councils.
11. Oppose legislation to require local governments to make purchases of professional services and supplies on the basis of bids from state approved lists of consultants and suppliers. Principal objections to this proposal, which has been submitted to the Legislature as a result of the Baltimore County-Agnew investigation, were that the state has not exhibited superior judgment in the qualification and selection of consultants and contractors, that state qualification could eliminate small businesses that now do small

The Police Blotter

There have been four cases of vandalism at High's in recent weeks. All happened shortly after the store had closed. Police Chief William Lane indicated that there were suspects.

Juveniles who are charged with vandalism are referred to the County Juvenile Services. There a decision is made whether each youth is bound over to the court or whether a juvenile worker will handle the case. If the case goes to court, it is up to the individual judge to force the parents to pay for the damage.

When a house on Plateau Pl. had stereo equipment stolen, two informants gave information which led to a house on Ridge Rd. where the equipment was held. The lady resident was charged with receiving stolen goods and two local juveniles (not related to the woman) were charged with theft. The next day her own children were charged with vandalism of a playground.

SGT. Van Valkenburgh closed six different cases of housebreaking on Plateau Pl. and Northway. Four local youths were charged.

A car stolen by five youths, four boys and one girl with ages ranging from 11-15, was recovered in a field on the Agricultural Research Center. The youth drove the car until it ran out of gas then abandoned it after inflicting severe damage to the car.

Officers Smith and Janney received commendations for arresting without injury a man charged with the attempted murder of his ex-wife.

With the use of the computer terminal, the police were able to return a tape recorder stolen from North End School last April that had made its way to Raleigh, N. Carolina. It was discovered after that city's police made its routine check of pawn shops. A gun was also returned from Raleigh the same way. The computer terminal located two cars stolen on the same day; one was in Greenwich, Conn. the other in the southern part of this county.

Corporal Brumley is on sick leave from injuries sustained in apprehending a suspected car thief. The officer spotted the car at Beltway Plaza, then the suspect sped off with the officer in pursuit. The operator lost control of the car which spun around and hit the police car. The male suspect then rammed the car again and sped off with Corp. Brumley still in pursuit. The suspect again lost control of the car which slid into a ditch. The already injured Brumley arrested the suspect.

Three male juveniles were arrested as they were attempting to steal a car on Ridge Rd.

A young woman was charged with assault with a knife after an argument with another woman in a Lakeside North apartment. A police lookout stopped her before she could leave town.

Officers Stair and Fulham completed a training course in Traffic Accident Investigation.

Detective Sgt. Krob was promoted to Lieutenant effective October 28. He will be in charge of Field Services while Lt. Zoellner will be in charge of central services. Including Chief Lane, the department will be able to have a senior man on duty at all times and thus the force will be strengthened.

jobs for municipalities, and that the legislation would infringe on local governments' right of self government.

12. Require that no municipality other than Baltimore be placed in more than one election district.

New Maintenance Director

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. announced last week the appointment of Nicholas Dunlap as its new Director of Maintenance. He fills the position which David Kane vacated last May. As the Director of Maintenance, Dunlap will oversee the day-to-day operations of the maintenance department at GH.

Currently a resident of Alexandria, Virginia, Dunlap has lived in the Washington metropolitan area off and on since 1945. He graduated from Georgia Tech, receiving a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering. Dunlap has had extensive experience in the maintenance management area both in governmental and non-governmental agencies.

Dunlap summarized his impression of his new job by saying: "It is a very challenging job: in all my years of maintenance management I have never seen so much work to be done by such a small work force."

Beltway Plaza Mall Celebrates Second Anniversary

2,000 Beltway Plaza Mall Sport Boosters and Greenbelt residents were on hand to honor Redskin's own Charley Taylor and Sidney J. Brown, the Mall's executive officer, when Greenbelt Mayor Richard Pilski presented awards to both men.

Charley received the Touchdown King Award and Brown received a proclamation congratulating him on the observance of the second anniversary of the Beltway Plaza Mall.

Charley Taylor kicked off the second anniversary event at the mall on Greenbelt Road. Taylor's fans voted him Washington Redskin "Touchdown King" just after he caught two passes to beat Dallas in the 1972 playoff. The "Taylor Bomb" is still the talk of the Redskin Fans.

Senator Meyer M. Emmanuel, Jr. and Delegate Dr. Arthur Dorman were special guests of the Mayor who commented that "Beltway Plaza Mall Shopping Center has become a viable asset to the community, providing consumer services to Greenbelt residents and people of the surrounding areas," and that "during the comparatively short time of operating stores within the Beltway Plaza, the businessmen have evidenced their community spirit by participating in and supporting various community organization fund raising and publicity efforts."

Rhea Cohen Wins Star-News Trophy

Rhea Cohen was named by the Prince Georges Civic Federation to receive this year's Star-News trophy for rendering outstanding service to Prince Georges County. The presentation was made at the November 1 meeting of the Federation.

The trophy will remain in Ms. Cohen's possession for a year at which time she will be given a Revere Bowl as a memento.

Ms. Cohen was cited for her efforts to protect citizens against violations of pollution laws. Noted was her service as county executive William Gullett's environmental consultant which brought to light the many sewer connections approved by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission during the sewer moratorium. She was also recognized for her efforts in bringing to attention possible irregularities involving the Greenbriar Sewage Treatment Plant that has resulted in Grand Jury investigations into several governmental agencies. Her recent acquittal of Circuit Court Judge Perry Bowen's contempt charges was viewed as giving new courage to all citizens who have been afraid to criticize governmental officials.

Boys and Girls Club

The Greenbelt Boys Club football teams call your attention to their vastly improved records for the 1973 season. Their records are as follows:

	1973	1972
95 lb. team	5-2-1	0-8-0
85 lb. team	2-6-0	1-6-1
75 lb. team	3-4-1	0-7-1
65 lb. team	7-1-0	3-3-2

Congratulations! All the hours of hard work and the bumps and bruises have paid off. Greenbelt has four fine football teams to be proud of.

Special recognition should be given to the 65 lb. team (the "Little Green Machine") for their excellent record. They have scored 178 points against their opponents while allowing only 18 points to be scored against them in their one loss to top-ranked Hyattsville. They have held all their other opponents scoreless. Running-back Marco Buteau, 9, has run for a grand total of 1,025 yards this season. Coach Perry Bonner says that all the boys have shown tremendous improvement and he is very proud of them all.

The Second Annual Turkey Bowl will be played on Nov. 17 at Braden Field. Further details will be available in next week's News Review.

As in the past years, parish committee will be working with Hubert Bellmon Promotions to stage the show. Dealers from Maine to the Carolinas annually make the St. Hugh's show a stop on their exhibition schedule.

What to do if you smell gas.

Natural gas is odorless. We add a disagreeable smell to alert you in case any should escape. Should you ever smell gas, do this:

1. Call Washington Gas at 750-1000.
2. If the gas odor is very strong indoors, open windows and doors for ventilation. Go outside. Do not light matches. Do not turn any electrical switches on or off.

All forms of energy should be handled with care. Yet as a cause of accidents, gas ranks lower than the bicycle, the bathtub or being struck by lightning.

But don't take chances. If you suspect gas is escaping, play it safe and call us at once.

How come this kid has more money saved than you do?

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Because over the years his parents have invested in U.S. Savings Bonds—in his name, for his future—by participating in the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

He probably doesn't even know. And right now, he couldn't care less. But when he's older, that money can be used for a lot of things—a car, a college education, or even a new home.

The Payroll Savings Plan is an easy way to save money for you and every member of your family. When you join, an amount you designate will be automatically laid aside from your paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. It's a painless way to save.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, $5\frac{1}{2}\%$ when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra $\frac{1}{2}\%$, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and make your son the richest kid on the block.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Work Progressing On FDR Senior Hi

Construction of the $9.5 million Franklin D. Roosevelt Senior High School in Greenbelt is moving on schedule and about 17% of the work has been completed. Most of the footings have been poured, and work is progressing on the building's exterior walls. Slated for opening in 1975-76, the school will have a capacity of 2400 students.

Roy Parker, Director of Plant Planning and Construction, told the News Review that there have been no significant problems. Erosion control measures have been accomplished, and grass should soon be sprouting on the baseball field adjacent to Greenbelt Road and on the east slope of the parking lot along Hanover Parkway. An earlier concern about the availability of structural steel is no longer a problem. There is enough material to complete the structure.

Two ways to heat a new room without knocking a hole in the wall. Or your budget.

Adding a new room to your house, or building one in the basement? There's an excellent reason not to cut into your walls and existing ductwork. It would only steal heat from the rest of the house and still might not heat your new room adequately. Instead, PEPCO recommends a couple of electric heating systems especially suited to a new room.

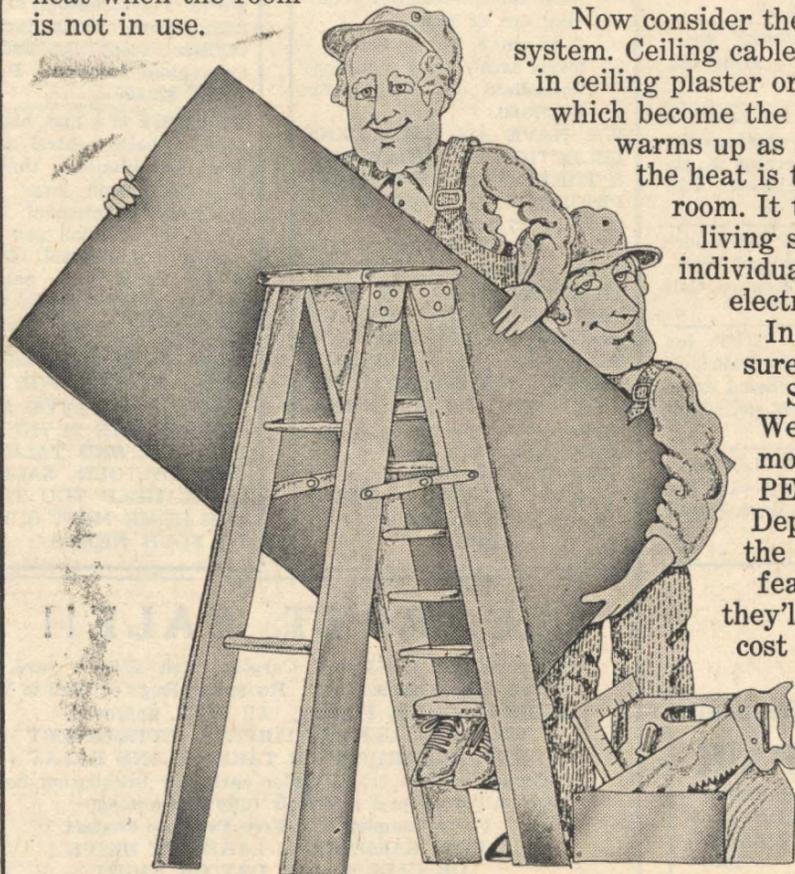

Consider first the electric baseboard heating system. Compact units, available in many different lengths, fit along the outside walls on the floor. They generate heat and transfer it to the living area by radiation and convection. All it takes is a little wiring and installation of the units themselves. You get temperature control right in the room, and you can save money by simply turning off the heat when the room is not in use.

Now consider the electric ceiling cable heating system. Ceiling cable comes as wire to be imbedded in ceiling plaster or as pre-assembled panels which become the actual ceilings. The cable warms up as electricity flows through, and the heat is then radiated down into the room. It takes up absolutely no usable living space. And you get the same individual room control as with an electric baseboard system.

In planning your new room, be sure adequate insulation is added.

Saves energy—and money, too. We'll be glad to give you even more specific information. Call PEPCO's Residential Services Department at 872-2229. Give them the dimensions and construction features of your new room, and they'll give you the estimated heating cost and suggested equipment size. We think you'll find it a pleasant surprise.
