ILGWU TROUPERS IN MUSICAL ON FESTIVAL STAGE SATURDAY

by Sandra Barnes

A unique theatrical experience will come to the Festival stage on Saturday night at 7 p.m., when eight members of the Ladies Garment Workers' Union will perform in an original play called "The Work I've Done." This drama consists of the spoken and sung views on the members' work, family, neighborhood, love, religious, and dream lives. The sentiments expressed are those of the actors, as the script was developed from 50 hours of taped conversation with the individuals in conjunction with Antioch College's Theatre Project.

At first the show was done for special union-centered audiences in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. but in February and May of 1975 it was performed for the general public.

The lone male in the cast, Albert Vanlandingham, has a lot to say about the way his boss treats him. "He'd just as soon flush me down the drain... but he digs my work." He will sing some original songs as well as "How High the Moon" and "Take the A Train."

When she was a little girl in Puerto Rico, Irene Perez fell and broke her hip. The doctors predicted she would never walk again and that she could not bear children. "The doctor who said that . . . I wish he is still living so that I can show him my beautiful daughter."

Marie Prunkl, the oldest member of the cast, says, "I just love to sew. Whenever I get nervous I go down to the basement of my home and sew . . . I don't ever want to retire." Another member of the cast is Argentine Cheatham, who will describe how she was converted, became religious, and wished that she could have a house in a nice neighborhood with a lawn in front and in back. She will sing "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen."

Arleen Jackson will tell how she was trained to become an office worker but ran into a stone wall of racial prejudice when she went looking for a job and ended up in a raincoat plant. Lorraine Royster, a presser, describes a club in the Hotel Martinique in New York City and will lead the cast into a club scene in which Albert sings "Young Girls."

These are a sample of what is in store for the audience. The play has been described as "a moving, powerful statement of worker aspirations and realities."

During the Threadbare Thirties the ILGWU produced a musical, Pins and Needles, for presentation to the Union. It had a long Broadway run and was a hit across the United States when it became a road show.

Two Displays Featured At Labor Day Festival

During Saturday, Sunday and Monday a mobile unit called the Money Mover will be on display at the Festival in the carnival area. The MONEY MOVER has been described by Suburban Trust as "The newest and most exciting 24-hour, 7-day a week banking service." Uniformed attendants will be on hand to demonstrate how the computer terminals will operate, and will be giving away "funny money".

Following the parade, on Monday, C & P Telephone Company's Seatbelt Convincer will be on display and adult volunteers are urged to give it a try. The convincer will demonstrate the importance of using a seatbelt by simulating a 5 mph crash.

Sucher To Challenge City Chess Players

Greenbelt chess expert Joseph Sucher will present a Chess Marathon at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival, under the sponsorship of Greenbelt CARES. For the fourth year in a row, Sucher has issued a challenge to local wood-pushers saying: "You don't have to be a Fischer to be a Pusher, so come on out and push for Greenbelt CARES!"

The Chess Marathon will take place on the fairgrounds on Sat. evening, August 30 at 8 p.m. Sucher will play up to 12 games, simultaneously, on a first-come, first-served basis. As games end, newcomers may play (time permitting). All proceeds will go to the Greenbelt CARES Youth Services Bureau. Players are asked to bring sets.

Sucher, whose chess marathons have become an annual feature of the Labor Day Festival, is a physics professor at the University of Maryland. He has lived in Greenbelt for 18 years.

He first became interested in chess as a teenager in New York, and used to play at the Marshall Chess Club, where he met some of the greats of the American chess scene, such as Larry Evans, Edward Lasker and the late I. A. Horowitz. Eventually, Sucher gave up chess because of the demands on his time made by teaching and research in theoretical physics, as well as by a growing family (he has four children). Although he seldom has a chance to play, he retains a lively interest in the game and avidly follows the news of national and international chess competitions.

LONG DISTANCE RACES

On Sunday, August 31, two long distance running races will be held, both starting at Braden Field at 6:30 p.m. and finishing there. These races are a traditional part of the Labor Day Festival with a total number of over 200 joggers and runners expected. The 134 mile race goes around Greenbelt Lake and is basically for joggers where time is not important and everyone who finishes receives an award.

The featured race is 15 kilometers (9.3 miles) over a certified course from Braden Field up Northway, left on Ridge, right on Research, down the hill into the Agricultural Farm, right on Beaver Dam for about 21/2 miles to turnaround point and return. Highly competitive runners from all over the East enter and awards are given to various age groups and all Greenbelt finishers. It is urged that all joggers and runners try running the course or an equivalent distance before race day. Please start signing up at the Youth Center at 5:30 p.m. A fee will be charged.

These races are co-sponsored by the D. C. Road Runners, the Labor Day Festival and the Greenbelt Recreation Department.

The Greenbelt Concert Band will ope

The Greenbelt Concert Band will open the Labor Day Festival with a concert Friday evening at 7 p.m. on the Carnival Stage. Master of Ceremonies, Jim Reed of WDON radio will introduce the dignitaries and Charles Graham of C & P Telephone will present the Outstanding Citizen Award in memory of Pop Cipriano. Chairperson Sharon Moore will be on hand, as will be the Labor Day Festival clowns, who will present the free carnival ride tickets to some lucky winner.

Having conferred with a certtain local weatherman, the Labor Day Festival Committee has been assured of a rain-free weekend with the possibility of a few cool breezes. However, should that forecast fail, neither rain nor high temperatures will dampen the Parade, which begins at 10 a.m. Monday at Laurel Hill and Ridge Rd., proceeds down Ridge to Northway, Northway to Hillside to Crescent, and Crescent past the reviewing stand opposite the Municipal Building.

Pre-parade activities will find the Parade Marshals meeting at the reviewing stand at 8 a.m. to assist in the distribution of tact, diplomacy, smiles and aspirin. Shortly thereafter, parade participants will begin arriving for assembly at designated areas,

As we move along the parade route and approach the reviewing stand, we will hear the Master of Ceremonies, Jim Fitzgerald of radio station WLMD in Laurel, review the first units of the parade. Chief Lane of the Greenbelt Police, the First U.S. Army Band, the Greenbelt City Council, national, state and local dignitaries will comprise part of this unit. Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen of 1975 will be honored as the Parade Marshal.

The ever-popular Greenbelt Golddiggers, Miss Greenbelt of 1975 and her Court, clowns, seven floats, majorette units and almost every available convertible in Greenbelt (remember convertibles?) will add to the festivities.

Keen competition among the float entries is expected, with a-wards to be presented for the best float depicting the Bicentennial theme and the first place award being presented by the Cipriano family. Twinkie the Kid and Gino's Genie will be there to add a youthful touch. Antique cars will be fol-

Area Auto Accidents

Almost one-third of the automobile accidents occurring in Greenbelt in 1974 took place along various intersections with Breeze-wood Drive in Springhill Lake, with the prevalence increasing in proximity to Cherrywood Lane. According to computer data furnished by the State Highway Administration, 12 accidents, including one motor-cycle fatality, occurred at Breeze-wood Drive and Cherrywood Lane; 6 at Breezewood Drive and Cherrywood Terrace, and 5 at Breezewood Drive and entrance to parking area.

Less than half of the 101 total accidents occurred in areas of town other than Springhill Lake. Of the total of 101 accidents, 73 involved only property damage, 27 resulted in personal injury, and 1 resulted in death.

The data furnished by the SHA did not include accidents along Greenbelt Rd.

lowed by decorated tricycles and bicycles sponsored by the Greenbelt Lions Club. Drill teams, "Miss Zip," fire departments and Scouts are but a few of the other units to be seen along the line of march.

Maryland HELP

Communications along the parade route and between assembly areas will once again be the responsibility of Maryland HELP Radio Club, Inc. under the leadership of Mike Fisher, Although Mike is a Riverdale resident, he has been a very active year-long participant in planning the Labor Day Festival. Other responsibilities assumed by HELP during the Festival range from coordinating with the Facilities Chairperson for setting up the stage between events to helping to locate "lost parents."

Americans at Work

The second annual Salute to Americans at Work, originated and chaired by Mary Clarke, will be held on the Center mall on Monday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. This year's "Salute" will be directed to current occupations of American workers rather than to crafts or hobbies. Participants will be traveling to Greenbelt from as far away as Hagerstown to bring to the program a complete representation of everyday occupations.

The field of communications will be represented by C & P Telephone which is sending a telephone installer-repairman and cable splicer; the Radio-Television-Film Department of the University of Maryland, to be represented by a television cameraman; and the Columbia Typographical Union - Central Labor Council AFL-CIO, which will give us insight into the printing trade.

The Greenbelt Police will again have a demonstration, artist Ann Bolt will show how a painting originates on canvas and potter Sue Taylor will demonstrate the techniques which she uses at our local Recreation Department. Carpentry, dry cleaning and shoemaking are a few other occupations to be recognized on Monday's program. Of special interest will be the chicken hatchery display which, if we counted correctly, will be showing the hatching of live chicks during the demonstration.

From Federal Programs Greenbelt Homes, Inc. general

Limited Funds Available

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. general manager Roy Breashears reports that prospects are bleak that federal aid will be forthcoming for a frame home solar heat demonstration project. The corporation is in receipt of a letter from Federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official, Claude E. Barfield, stating that the department is not contemplating funding projects of the scale outlined by GHI.

GHI has been receiving help from NASA for a brick home solar heat project. The housing cooperative had sought help for an expanded program which would include the frame homes from HUD under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Barfield said that the authority under this act for solar energy research had been superseded through Congressional passage of a national solar heating and cooling demonstration program. Apparently this new program limits the scope of HUD's residential demonstration program.

Community Involvement

Games, food, carnival rides, contests, concerts, dances, demonstrations and the parade all contribute to the Labor Day Festivities. However, to everyone involved in any small way with such a large endeavor, nothing is more obvious than the "Unity Through Community Involvement," which is appropriately the theme of the Labor Day Festival.

Many people are overheard saying, "you couldn't pay me to do this job," and yet perhaps it's the lack of pay which permits the freedom of those persons involved to be creative and dedicate so much of their time. The Festival involves many chairpersons for each category; the exepertise of Ken Voigt, who provides the Festival with stage sound and other help: the participation of local citizens who help distribute programs or run errands; the city work crew, who work in unbearable heat to erect carnival booths and install electric wiring for the carnival area; the Recreation Department; the Police Department and Fire Department; and the newspapers which make available to the public the information regarding the Fes-mainder of the week will follow the normal schedule.

Praise to Rec. Dept.

To the Editor:

The theatrical production of Stranger," presented on August 8 and sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department, was a thoroughly enjoyable event. The members of the cast were all children, some quite young, but the quality of the presentation was surprisingly high. Much of the credit for this goes to the director, Jean Ann Raesly, whose patience as well as talent must be extraordinary. The scenery and costumes, executed under the supervision of Carol Collins, were charming. And many others contributed as well.

My 9-year-old daughter was in the cast, and this event was the highlight of her summer. For this reason. I want to express publicly appreciation of the efforts of those who made it possible. Good things should not be taken for granted - and Greenbelt's Recrection Department is definitely a Good Thing.

Crab Apple Recipe

To the Editor:

The streets of Greenbelt are lined with Vitamin C in the form of litle red crab apples from the nowering crab trees. My Scottish blood has rebelled at this waste, and for three years I have been experimenting with methods of using them. I think I finally have it, with the assistance of Marcy Myers, our County Home Economics Extension Agent, in the matter of proportions of sugar, etc. Here it

Pick the plumpest fruit-it is least likely to have defects. Both the City Manager and the Manager of GHI say it is O.K. to pick them. from trees in common areas if you do not damage the trees. Next take off stems and cut out defacts. If defects are large, throw that one away. Wash them as you would cranberries, drain them and cook them in a pressure cooker with 1/2 cup of water for eight minutes. If you do not have a pressure cooker, cook them on low heat on the stove, just covered with water, until they are soft and the skins burst. Push this mixture through a wire strainer pressing with a large spoon, a wooden one if you have it, and scrape the mash from the bottom of the strainer time to time

For every cup of the mash add: 2/3 cup sugar; 1/3 cup light corn syrup; 1 teaspoon lemon juice; cinnamon; 14 teaspoon each of allspice and cloves.

Bring this mixture just to a full boil, stirring from time to time, so that sugar is fully dissolved. Pour it into jelly glasses and top with paraffin. Good Health and Bon

REMINDER

This is to remind readers of News Review policy with respect to the printing of campaign and election material. The newspaper will not publish in its last edition preceding an election letters to the editor and similar materials that inject for the first time highly controversial issues and charges. Lastminute introduction of such material without an opportunity for refutation is considered an unfair campaign practice.

Letters to the editor and other copy on election issues must be submitted by 9:30 p.m. Tuesday night, so as to give the News Review editorial board sufficient time to review content.

THANKS

To the Editor:

"Thank you" seems a small gesture but I wish to use this gesture of thanks to the Greenbelt News Review for the fine article concerning a part of my living here this community. Especially. thanks to Mrs. Elaine Skolnik and ito the young lady, Wini Milan, who produced the article. Thanks to all who make my life good here in Greenbelt. Thanks to all who try to make our community a worthwhile place in which to live.

Boy Scout Troop 1253

By Jerry Garfinkel, Scoutmaster Boy Scout Troop 1253 has just returned from a week of camping at Camp Goshen in Virginia. Eleven of the Boy Scouts and Percy Catchpole and myself went by bus with Troop 245, of Hyattsville on July 27 and returned on August 3.

The boys had an eventful camping experience. J. R. Holloman, John Nogrady, T. J. Karch and Mike Stansbury all swam the mile course and were awarded the mile swim patch. Jeff Wright completed almost half of the course.

John Nogrady received swimmer and first-aid merit badges, plus swimming, cooking and camping skill awards. J. R. Holloman completed his first-aid merit badge and hiking and conservation skill awards. (He also caught a 101/2 inch large mouth bass.) Jeff Wright received a canoeing merit badge; Frank Knowles, rowing merit badge plus a cooking skill award; George Beall, cooking and swimming skill awards: and Phil Catchpole received his pioneering merit badge by building a 30-foot tower. T. J. Karch worked on fishing and first-aid merit badges; Jim Snyder received swimming, camping and cooking skill awards; Mike Stansbury, received swimming, cooking and camping skill awards; Eric Bullock worked on first-aid and leathercraft merit badges; and Artee Bright on leathercraft and cooking merit badges.

The high point was the return trip. The bus broke down near Luray Caverns but the scouts took event in stride. Parents of both troops came to our aid and picked us up. Steve Bullock brought three Red-Cross vans and a station wagon to transport us and John Holloman and Bill Clelland drove the vans.

Boys between the ages of 11 and 16 who want to join should call Jerry Garfinkel, 474-8154 or John Holloman, 474-8996.

Edna B. Farmer

Mrs. Edna B. Farmer, 55-A Ridge Road, died Aug. 23 at her home.

In four years as members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Farmer rarely missed a Board meeting. They walked to the board room on Hamilton Place and walked home again unless some of their friends with cars could catch them before they got away and convince them it was a pleasure to give them a ride. Mrs. Farmer frequently contributed to discussion at board meetings and everything she had to say was good. Mrs. Farmer was buried Monday, Aug. 25 at Ft. Lincoln Cemetery, and the GHI manager, a board member and a city councilman were among the pallbearers. She will be missed.

She is survived by her husband, a grandson, Ronald Epp of Springfield, Va.; and sisters, Eleanor Thompson of 2-M Laurel Hill, Elsie McElroy and Elizabeth Lowery of Hyattsville, Ruby Keeney of Silver Spring, and Virginia Mills of Colmar Manor.

New Rock Combo Plays at Festival

Directly following the Labor Day Festival parade on Monday, a new rock combo, "Theory in Practice," is scheduled to perform on the bandstand at the carnival grounds. This will be the second full-fledged program within a week for the Greenbelt-based group. Tonight (August 28) they will play a full program of almost three hours at a teenage dance.

The leader of "Theory in Practice" is Michael Sucher, who has lived in Greenbelt most of his 17 years. Mike says he first began to consider playing in a rock group when he was in junior high school after learning to play the guitar in sixth grade. "It seemed to me a lot of people were doing that sort of thing and enjoying it - even making money. But the hardest part, and it took a long time, was finding musicians I could deal with. It's not enough to find somebody who plays the guitar or drum. The personalities have to fit, and the level of musicianship has to be sim-

About eight months ago, the six young people who now call themselves "Theory in Practice" began to acquire their equipment and meet fairly often to "jam."

There are two guitarists — Michael and Joel Kastner; a bass, Pete Wilson; a keyboard player (organ and plano), George Beauchamp; a saxophonist, David Spiegelthal; and a drummer, Velma DeShields, who also plays flute with the group and is a French horn player. Among them they play a total of about 15 instruments. All have had experience in various school or local orchestras, bands, and choral groups.

Views on Piggy-back Tax Get Airing in Capital

The Maryland Municipal League has given "top priority" status to getting tax legislation passed in the next session of the Maryland General Assembly that would benefit municipalities such as Greenbelt.

Representing the League in Annapolis on Aug. 19, Greenbelt Mayor Pro Tem Gil Weidenfeld urged the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Local Government of the Maryland House of Delegates to support legislation that would require that the percentage rate of the county income tax (piggy-back tax) that is shared with municipalities be increased. The County now returns only a small percentage of the piggy-back tax paid by Greenbelt residents to Greenbelt.

Weidenfeld pointed out that while the county piggy-back tax has increased from 20% of taxable income in 1967 to 50% in 1974, the municipal share of this tax has remained at a fixed percentage rate. He stated that while Greenbelt's property tax has increased by 20% in the past five years, the county tax rate has decreased by 5% and Greenbelters have had to bear the burden of both an increased county piggy-back tax and the increased city property tax rate. He submitted that this is inequitable and should be rectified.

Prince George's County delegate Ann Hull presented two proposals to provide financial aid to municipalities. The proposals, however, would benefit the larger rural municipalities which receive few county services. Under Delegate Hull's proposals, Greenbelt would receive

Flood Insurance Available

In the wake of the flooding caused by heavy rains in the Washington area in mid-July, the Prince Georges County government wishes to remind county citizens of the availability of flood insurance through the National Flood Insurance Program. Established by Congress in 1968 and expanded in the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, the program provides inexpensive flood insurance supported by federal subsidy. All residents of Prince Georges are eligible to apply for coverage under this program.

Most permanent structures, excluding gas or liquid storage tanks, are eligible for flood insurance coverage. In addition to direct flood losses, losses from mudslides, erosion losses from river and stream flooding, and other flood-related losses are covered under the program. Sewer backups resulting from conditions of flooding are also covered under these policies.

Flood insurance policies may be purchased from any property and casualty insurance agent or broker licensed within the State of Maryland. Further information can be obtained from the HUD Regional Insurance Specialists, State Coordinating Agency, servicing company of the National Flood Insurers Association and the Department of Natural Resources Division, State Office Building, Annapolis, Md. 21401

Everyone Welcome

"Unity Through Community Involvement," the theme of the Labor Day Festival, describes a weekend when all Greenbelters can come together, both in volunteer work and in enjoying entertainment and educational events. Founded twenty-one years ago, the Festival has traditionally given Greenbelt organizations an opportunity to earn money and show off their activities. The Festival is a non-profit organization directed by a Steering Committee elected each year. It receives its operating expenses from donations of local businessmen and from a percentage of the profits from booths and carnival rides. All Greenbelt residents and organizations are invited to participate in the planning and activities of the Festival.

P. G. Citizens Asked To Register Complaints

Prince Georges Councilman William B. Amonett, chairman of the newly-formed Truck Operations Task Force, is calling for citizen input to identify irksome, unsanitary and plainly illegal practices of some truckers.

The task force's report will be delivered to the County Executive Sept. 1 and will probably include recommendations for major changes in state law to outlaw dumpsters from other jurisdictions unloading sludge and debris in vacant lots in Prince Georges County. At the same time the task force which includes industry representatives and county government officials, will study methods of controlling speeding trucks, debris flying from the top of overfilled dumpsters, and sand and gravel leaking from improperly sealed vehicles. Noise pollution created by too many trucks traveling a single route late at night will figure in the task force's considerations.

Citizens who can provide an insight into the problems that should be addressed are invited to write Councilman Amonett at the Prince Georges County Council, Courthouse, Upper Marlboro 20870.

It's a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Guy F. Sparks, 7-F Southway. Heather Ann made her debut on August 8 weighing 7 lbs. 6 oz. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs J. E. Sparks reside at 22 Empire, and her greatgrandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Rhoades, live in College Park.

Clarence Britt, board member of the Prince Georges Soil Conservation District, and his wife attended the 1975 meeting of the Northeast area of the National Association of Conservation Districts in McAfee, New Jersey.

Marg Harman has been working this month with the Greenbelt CARES Youth Service Bureau. Due to her volunteer efforts, the Job Corporation for youths 14 years and older was able to continue while staff members were on vacation.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery, to Pearl Levine, 3-H Eastway who was recently hospitalized.

Mrs. Ginger Williams, Laura Mongelli, age 13, and Margaret Williamson, age 7, all of the 45 court of Ridge, have just returned from a gala two-week trip to Mexico. On the spur of the moment Ginger decided to visit her parents, sister and niece in San Miguel in the mountains north of Mexico City. Then she thought it would be more fun if someone else were going along and found two neighbors instantly ready. They went to see a silver mining town and a Portuguese bull fight where Margaret insisted they stay till the end. At the markets they bought colorful blouses, straw bags and leather sandals for themselves and their families and neighbors. And now the 45 court looks almost as colorful as Mexico itself. Ginger's niece, Balsorah White, 8, returned with the travelers to visit here for two weeks.

The occasion brought former Greenbelter, Mrs. Mildred Murrow, back to town. Accolades also to "Chef" Seymour Kaplan and to all of Leo's fisherman friends.

Greenbelter Hugh Cottington won the Eighth Annual Men's Amateur Golf Tournament on August 11, at the University of Maryland Golf Course. He won with a round of 35-34-69, which was a new low score for medalists in the history of the eight-year tournament. The
