HISTORY OF TRACT

Springhill Lake North Tract Planned For Commercial Use

by Elaine Skolnik

When the Prince Georges county executive and county council on August 2 recommended that sewage allocation be granted to the Springhill Lake North tract, previously drawn up developmental plans were taken out of moth balls, dusted off and sent to various governmental agencies for "re-review." Slated for the 31.57 acre property are five ten-story office buildings and a motor/hotel/convention center/restaurant facility.

The project will be developed in phases, with completion of the first office building in 1978-79. Depending on market conditions, the large scale commercial complex is expected to be finished by 1983-85. SHL north is located north of the Beltway and west of Kenilworth Avenue behind the State Highway Administration building—down the road a piece from the Greenbelt Triangle.

History

The SHL North tract was zoned R-18 (garden apartments, 21 units an acre) until 1969 when, at the request of the developers, Greenbelt Associates, the major portion of the property (about 23 acres) was zoned C-O (commercial office park); the remainder (8.5 acres) C-2 (general commercial). The rezoning petitions were supported by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNCPPC) and the city of Greenbelt. The commercial zoning was preferred because Greenbelt was already top-heavy in high density apartment developments. (Greenbelt Associates developed 3,000-unit SHL apartments.)

The city, however, agreed to the C-2 rezoning for 7.6 acres of the tract only after the developers guaranteed that the property would be developed as promised. Approximately 0.9 acres were slated for a gas station, which would require a special exception.

Plans for the commercial complex received the scrutiny of the city council and its Advisory Planning Board as well as the MNCPPC. At a city council meeting, Greenbelt Associates and architects from the firm of Cohen and Haft displayed a model of the site that showed four 100,000-square-foot high-rise office buildings, a motel/convention center and a gas station. A fifth building was added later.

In 1970 the State imposed a sewer moratorium that put the brakes on construction for Greenbelt projects such as SHL north and the Greenbelt Triangle. However, the county council and county executive later announced that sewage capacity would be reserved for "high quality" commercial developments at the Lower Anacostia Interim Sewage Treatment Plant which was then under construction. Anxious to be considered, the owners of both tracts submitted preliminary plans and applied for sewage hook-ups to the new plant. Two projects on the Triangle have already won approval and it appears that the total SHL commercial complex (66,900 gallons per day) will also get the green light from the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, which has the final authority in granting sewage allocations.

The recent lifting of the sewer moratorium at the Western Branch Wastewater Treatment Plant does not affect either the Triangle or SHL projects since both are located within the Anacostia Basin served by the Blue Plains Regional Plant, which is still subject to the moratorium.)

Preliminary Plans

In August 1974, the MNCPPC approved the preliminary subdivision plans and record plats for part of the property — parcels A, B and C. At the time the owners had asked approval for all the commercial property, but the Commission acted separately on portions of the tract. They approved the motel site (7.6 acres Parcel C), the gas station site (0.9 acres parcel A) and one 100,000 sq. ft. office building site (5.1 acres parcel B), subject to widening and improving of Kenilworth Ave. and relocation and dedication of the proposed 80-foot road serving the tract. Required also was adequate landscaping for the property fronting the Beltway.

The remaining portion of the tract (8.8 acres parcel D) containing four office building sites was also approved subject to "receipt of acceptance by the County Planning Board of a proposed staging development program agreement prior to acceptance of the final plat." According to MNCPPC, development could not take place until the roads could handle the traffic. (Parcel D preliminary plan was recently resubmitted to MNCPPC because the time period for completing the process had expired. See story on p. 1).

The Greenbelt Council in 1974 also recommended approval of the preliminary subdivision plan for the SHL north commercial property, provided certain changes were made such as the 80-foot right-of-way for the road entering into the tract off Kenilworth Avenue. The proposed right-of-way narrows to less than 80 feet at the Kenilworth Ave. intersection.

The problem was that an 80-foot right-of-way would either have to cut into city cemetery property or into the acreage zoned for a gas station. The city cemetery property is governed by a deed from the Federal government which prohibits its use for any purpose other than as a cemetery. (According to the developer's engineers, the necessary road widths will be achieved by using some of the adjacent land.)

Another change requested by council was provision for a right-of-way along the western edge of the parcel. This location would be a section of the road connecting the north and south parts of Springhill Lake. (The SHL apartments and the SHL industrial tract are located south of the Beltway.) Council also recommended that no construction take place until adequate public sewage is available.

EDP Committee Report

In evaluating the proposed commercial center, the county's Economic Development Program committee on August 2 reported the following to the county council:

Proposed uses appear reasonably well suited to location, and are in conformance with land use recommendations of the College Park-Greenbelt and Vicinity Master Plan which proposes general commercial development of entire subject parcel.

(2) Numerous projects with which the developers of the proposed project were associated — Springhill Lake Office Building, Tyson's Corner Center and Landover Mall suggest the developers are highly qualified from a marketing and financial perspective to successfully undertake the SHL center.

Council Studies Development Plans, Places Referendum on Sept. Ballot

by Mary Lou Williamson

On Monday evening, August 8, members of the city council worked doggedly through what Mayor Gil Weidenfeld called "an impossible agenda," almost completing the 36, or more, items. It took four News Review reporters to keep up with them.

Plats and Plans

The Advisory Planning Board sent council a packet of five reports, four of which were review and comments on development proposals within the city limits of Greenbelt: Springhill Lake North, Commercial; Springhill Lake North, Elderly Housing; Windsor Green, Parcel C; and Capitol Cadillac. Council accepted the reports.

In addition two site plans were received August 5 from Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission for review and comment: Stidham property office building (between Edmonston Rd. and Kenilworth Avenue south of the Beltway), and Windsor Green, Parcel B.

(These development plans will be the subjects of separate articles over the next few weeks.)

Fire Station Bonds

Council unanimously approved an ordinance which now must be approved by the voters in referendum September 20. The ordinance authorizes the city to issue up to $75,000 in general obligation bonds for a fire station addition. During the budget process last spring, the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc. had requested construction of additional bunk room facilities and office space. Construction would be financed by the city bonds, however, the city would be repaid by the fire department through a long-term rental agreement.

In response to a question by

QUERIES ON TRAFFIC AND ROADS DELAY COUNCIL OK OF SHL NORTH

by Elaine Skolnik

Voicing concern about the traffic impact of the proposed Springhill Lake North commercial complex, the City Council on August 8 recommended that the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNCPPC) not approve the preliminary subdivision plan for the 18.8 acre Parcel D site, on which four high-rise office buildings will be located, until matters relating to the road system are resolved. Preliminary plans for parcels A, B and C of the 31.5 acre property were approved by MNCPPC in August 1974 with conditions. (See history on p. 1)

In making the motion that the council adopt the city's Advisory Planning Board's recommendation and findings, Councilman Charles Schwan stressed the need to impress upon state and county officials and various governmental agencies (1) the enormous traffic impact of the combined Golden Triangle and Springhill Lake North developments on the already impacted Kenilworth Avenue-Greenbelt Road interchange and (2) the urgency to expedite improvements to the interchange. Schwan noted that design plans for these improvements are not firmed up and also warned that with the completion of Phase I expansion of the Western Branch Wastewater Plant, "we can look for developers to try to take advantage of that situation."

Conditions

The city requested that before MNCPPC approves the preliminary plan, the following concerns be resolved (1) No right-of-way is shown at the western end of Parcel D as proposed in the master plan. Consideration should be given to a connection at this point to a bridge that would cross the Beltway to the proposed METRO station on the SHL industrial property.

(2) The traffic impact that will affect the Greenbelt Road-Kenilworth Avenue intersection as a result of the SHL North development, in addition to the facilities proposed for the Stidham Property and the Greenbelt Triangle, must be assessed. Specifically, did the initial ceiling of 450,000 square feet of office space on the Greenbelt Triangle imposed by the County Planning Board take into consideration these two additional office developments? MNCPPC should use its influence to alleviate the impact on these roads.

(3) If deemed necessary by appropriate authority that Kenilworth Avenue needs to be widened up to the entrance road to this tract,

James Cassels, Northway, as to how this bond issue would affect Greenbelt's ability to float future issues, Assistant City Manager Dennis Piendak noted that a municipality is legally allowed a bond-er indebtedness of up to 10% of its assessed valuation. Thus Greenbelt's upper limit would be $8.9 million. The city's current debt is approximately one million dollars.

Metropolitan Growth Policy

Council put off until its next meeting consideration of a "Metropolitan Growth Policy Statement" by the Council of Governments (COG). COG had asked for comments by August 20. However, most members of council felt that the subjects covered by the growth policy statement would come up for discussion by COG's governing board (Mayor Gil Weidenfeld is Greenbelt's member on the board) over the next year and that there would, in fact, be ample time and opportunity for Greenbelt to make known its views.

City Manager, James K. Giese was then directed to draft a letter to COG for council to consider at its first meeting in September.

Cassels, a member of the COG's Land Use Citizen's Advisory Committee, served notice to council that it should not put off too long its response to the growth policy statement. He told council that already "communities need to modify their development in order to meet fed- See CITY COUNCIL, p. 3, col. 2

"Wizard of Oz"

"The Wizard of Oz," a play, will be presented by the Summer Children's Play Group on Friday, August 12, 7:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Youth Center. Children from the community will perform L. Frank Baum's timeless classic adapted into play form by Lynn Schwartz. Everyone is welcome and the program is free. The program is sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department.

City Elections To Include Referendum

At a Board of Elections meeting of August 9, a drawing was held to determine the order of candidates' names on the ballot. The order is as follows: Richard Pilski, Gil Weidenfeld, Robert Phillips, Jr., Thomas X. White, Charles Schwan, and Richard Castaldi.

While no new candidates have filed to run in the city council election (the deadline was Monday, August 8), September 20, citizens will have more to vote on than just council members.

Up for referendum approval will be an ordinance permitting the City of Greenbelt to issue up to $75,000 in general obligation bonds to fund the construction of an addition to the fire house.

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad has requested council to authorize such a bond issue for the purpose of constructing additional bunk room facilities and office space.

The city-owned building is leased to the Fire Department. The bond issue would be repaid (as rent) entirely by the Fire Department at no cost to the taxpayers, but with the city guaranteeing the bonds.

Questionnaire

As in the past, the city staff will prepare an informal, non-binding questionnaire which will be made available at the polling places. Details of the questionnaire will be worked out by staff and council during the next few weeks.

Voter registration will continue through Monday August 22. Residents may either come to the city offices, Monday - Friday, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. or call the city clerk's office, 474-3870 or 474-8000, to request a form to register by mail. In addition, two special registration days have been set for the next two Saturdays — August 13 and 20 — at the city offices, 9 a.m. - 2 p.m.

The biography of incumbent candidate Charles F. Schwan, which was not available last week, follows:

Summer Council Meetings

The "dog days" of August aren't what they used to be back when everything in town slowed down to a snail's pace, most folks went to the pool to beat the heat and council only needed to meet once a month to keep up with business.

Things have changed. And, we suspect, the slow summers are a thing of the past. Monday night's council meeting was chock full of items which required either immediate attention or work to be done by the next council meeting. Some items had come to council's attention since its last meeting (July 11, a month ago) and some had been hanging fire since the budget passed in early June. (Most action requires at least three separate council meetings.)

Monday night, review and comments were needed on a metropolitan growth statement for COG, preliminary plans and plats for Capitol Cadillac, Windsor Green, the Stidham building on Kenilworth Avenue, and Springhill Lake North; a refuse truck needs major repairs (requiring an okay from council), a bylaw change was needed to bring the Advisory Planning Board's meeting procedure into conformity with the State's new sunshine laws, a local grocery asked for support for a new liquor license to sell beer and wine on Sunday, their petition probably coming up with the county before the city council meets again.

The list goes on and on; so did the meeting — until 1 a.m., with all participants working hard. It might have lasted even longer but for a loud buzzing that came from an electrical box on the wall which gave everyone a case of the giggles. All in the room, we suspect, were beyond their limits of useful endeavor.

We could see frustration in the faces of the councilmen, frustration at having too much to do in too little time — council wanting to move quickly through the 36 agenda items and at the same time wanting to spend the necessary time on each item in order to do a good job. Occasionally they were caught in their conflict.

Yes, things have changed. We now (at least most of us) have air conditioning; the pools are pretty much left to the kids, and the council needs to meet twice a month during the summer.

THANKS

To the Editor:

Due to unforeseen problems I will not be able to devote the required time for campaigning for the position of city councilman. I want to thank everyone that gave me encouragement to pursue that route. May your efforts and help be available during the next elections.

A Rare Breed at Oxford A Female Rhodes Scholar

by Linda Orenstein

A remarkable young woman from Greenbelt has been making her way in the world by virtue of her admirable talents and perseverance. Alexis Pogorelskin, daughter of Margaret and the late Milton Pogorelskin, is currently on a Rhodes Visiting Fellowship to Oxford which began in 1976 and will last a total of three years. A Rhodes scholarship is by no means easily secured. Oxford University consists of thirty-four colleges in which all disciplines are taught. Five of these colleges are for women. Each of the women's colleges is permitted only one woman on a visiting scholarship, to be chosen from one of the specified areas of the world. The Rhodes Trust can draw on North America, the African countries and the British Commonwealth. Alexis Pogorelskin was one of five women chosen from that vast geographical area.

Katherine Keene, formerly a teacher at High Point Senior High where Alexis graduated, related that Alexis had been in the Program for the Academically Talented for three years. Upon graduation, she received a scholarship to attend Bryn Mawr College, receiving her Bachelor's degree there in Russian and modern history. Later she earned a Master's degree in Russian and Russian studies at Harvard as the recipient of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. From 1972 through 1976 she taught at Yale while working on her Ph.D. After one year of teaching, she was the recipient of a Prize Teaching Fellowship.

As she continued work on her Ph.D., Alexis spent 1971-72 in Helsinki, Finland, where she did research. At that time she simultaneously received an NDEA Fellowship and an American Scandinavian Fellowship. She was later awarded a Ph.D. from Yale in the field of Russian intellectual history.

On August 1, Alexis Pogorelskin will journey to Russia to spend one year as a Visiting Scholar at the University of Moscow. There she will conduct research on a book on Russian liberalism, which she will finish in England when she returns to complete the remaining two years of her Rhodes Fellowship.

Quite a list of scholarly achievements? This is by no means the end. Alexis speaks French, Russian, Finnish and Swedish, in addition to English, of course. Her articles have been published in the Journal of Baltic Studies, the Yale Review, the Oxford Slavonic Papers, and the Slavonic and East European Review.

Alexis has enjoyed Oxford, where she has relished the opportunity to meet people involved in other areas of study. She believes that in order to understand a culture the student must expose herself to it fully.

Alexis has plans for an academic career, looking forward to devoting her time to teaching and writing. She expressed the feeling that competition was and is stiff, and that in order to succeed one must stick to it and persevere. It seems that Alexis Pogorelskin has done just that.

Complete Trash Pickup

The city receives a number of calls concerning the failure of the city to pick up all special trash at one time. This is usually because the city disposes of different trash in different ways. Leaves are picked up by the leaf vacuum and piled at various locations in the city where they are used as soil conditioners after decomposition. Tree trimmings are ground up in the city chipper and are used in a variety of ways in the city parks. Old appliances are taken to a scrap salvage company. Other material is disposed of in the landfill. If a resident has more than one type of item to be picked up, it may necessitate the request being handled by more than one city crew. That is the reason for partial pick-up being made.

The city provides special trash service to all city refuse collection customers. Special trash should be placed near the location of the regular trash pickup and not on the street. The number to call to request a special trash pickup is 474-8004.

Dr. Weintraub Named To New Hospital Post

Dr. William Weintraub, a longtime Greenbelt resident, has been named provisional Chief of Family Practice at the Greater Laurel-Beltsville Hospital. The hospital will open its doors to patients in January 1978. The provisional medical staff will oversee the organization of the hospital and patient care until permanent appointments are made.

Dr. Weintraub's interest in Prince Georges County health care began in 1955 when he was an intern at Prince Georges General Hospital. He started the Department of Family Practice and the Family Practice Training Program at the hospital and served as its first chief. He has served as Chief of Staff at Prince Georges General Hospital and on numerous committees, including the County Health Planning Board and the Mental Health Liaison Committee. At present Dr. Weintraub is the chairman of the county's Disability Retirement Board. In addition to county activities he has held faculty posts in Family Practice at both the University of Maryland School of Medicine in Baltimore and the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond.

Dr. Weintraub has been in private practice in Greenbelt since 1959. He resides on Lakeside Drive with his wife Susan, their daughters Janet, Nancy and Sally and his mother, Mrs. Sara Weintraub.

PTA Book Booth

North End Elementary PTA is again sponsoring the book booth at the Labor Day Festival. However, the PTA is going to sell only paperbacks and children's books this time. Containers will be placed for residents' donations at Twin Pines and the Co-op on August 11. Also residents may bring their donations to the booth during the Labor Day Festival.

This year, Sylvia Lichvar, Second Vice-President of North End PTA is in charge of the booth.

Boys and Girls Club

Football and soccer practice has started but youth of all ages are desperately needed for the soccer program. Boys are also needed for the following football teams: 9 and under - 11 yr - 13 and 14 yr. If there are not enough participants by Friday, Aug. 12, these teams will have to be dropped. If anyone would like to play, come to Braden Field, Friday Aug. 12, at 6 p.m. Those who cannot make it at this time or those who know someone who wants to play but is out of town, call Jim Sacco, 345-7377 or Bob Hawks 474-3990. Also needed is a head coach for the 9 and under football team.

Girl Scout Leaders Needed

Two local Girl Scout troops are seeking additional adult leaders. Without them neither Brownie troop #1132 nor the Junior Girl Scout troop #95 can accept any new members. One does not need to have children in Girl Scouts to be a leader. Men are welcome as well as women.

Those interested in becoming Girl Scout leaders are asked to call Mrs. Jean Smith, 474-0543.

Brownies are open to girls in 1st to 3rd grade. Brownies meet Tuesday afternoon at the Community Church from 4 to 5:30 p.m. For information call Mrs. Jean Smith at 474-0543.

Junior Girl Scouts are open to girls in 4th through 6th grade. Junior Girl Scouts meet Tuesday evening at Mowatt Memorial United Methodist Church from 7 to 8:30 p.m. For information call Mrs. Christine Bender at 441-1963.

eral air and water quality regulations. Prince Georges County general plan (adopted in 1964 by the Planning Commission) is now being amended, a draft plan is being printed, and there will be public hearings in the fall jointly sponsored the County Council and the Park and Planning Commission."

Greenbelt, he implied, will be directly affected by such decisions at the county and regional levels and council should do what it can to influence these decisions.

For example, under the Transportation section of the general plan, the county is again considering construction of the inter-county connector (outerbeltway). The route would travel east from Interstate 70 at Rockville, north of Greenbelt, west of Bowie, south to U.S. 301 below Central Avenue to a newly planned county industrial park. Also under consideration, again, is the extension of Kenilworth Avenue (four lanes with median strip and bike lanes) north to Muirkirk Road.

Cassels again urged council to look carefully at the proposals from COG.

Refuse Truck Repair

Major repairs to the 1973 International Harvester refuse collection truck no. 61 required suspension of the rules to allow for final passage. The vehicle needs to be returned to serve at the earliest possible date. Council agreed.

Miscellaneous

Council unanimously approved a change in the way Greenbelt CARES classified personnel are paid, placing them fully within the city's pay system. The employees had originally been paid partially through a State Juvenile Services grant and thus under the State pay plan. The changeover actually occurred July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

In another action arising from the passage of the budget in early June, council authorized the transfer of funds ($47,800) to pay for the five percent salary increase for all classified personnel.

Salute to Americans at Work

The Festival will officially salute labor on Labor Day with a two-hour demonstration of what some people do all day. Willis Gault, a Greenbelt resident and violin-maker for 60 years, will demonstrate his art in the Center Mall on Monday, Sept. 5. Joining Gault will be representatives from the Bike Peddlers who will show how to repair a bicycle and will demonstrate the latest two-wheeled fad, the moped.

The National Park Service is bringing a cow all ready to be milked. And another Greenbelter, Jack Steiffer, who also teaches at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, will exhibit various sound equipment, courtesy of Sound Gallery.

Members of the Cheverly Community Theatre Assoc. will delight the children with face paintings and arm designs. Furniture restoration, repair, chair caning and rushing will be shown by Larry Craton of Chem-Clean, Laurel. The plasterers from Local #965 and the carpenters from the D.C. Council will represent organized labor.

Greenbelter Gerry Gough will have a model of the area's latest "toy," Metro. Hines Hatchery will have chicks hatching in an incubator and the 4-H'ers will be showing crafts.

Stage Events

Jerry and Diana Gaddis, also known as Zongo and Greebish the Clowns, will be in the carnival area on Monday, Sept. 5. Zongo, a lovable tramp, will be appearing with his guitar and his good buddy, Horatio Hare, a puppet. He will also be accompanying Greebish with her magic mime and juggling. The two clowns will be making balloon animals and vegetables for the children.

The Chinese Culture Club of the University of Maryland will be on the Festival Stage performing folk dances native to three regions of China including Taiwan. Another ethnic dance group to perform will be Peggy O'Neill's Irish Dancers. Peggy and her pupils have won numerous awards, appeared on television and danced at an Inaugural Ball.

The Greenbelt String Quartet, an amateur quartet devoted to playing chamber music, will also perform. The group is composed of Catherine Kerst, 1st violinist; Virginia Bishop, 2nd violinist; Willis Gault, violist; and Linda Simonsen, cellist. For the Labor Day celebrations, Don Reed will play the cello.

If you want to hear the toe-tapping rhythm of ragtime, see a spirited ragtime ballet, and dance to the joyous strains of the music of Scott Joplin, come to the Festival stage on Sunday at 4 p.m. to hear the Rosebud Ragtime Ensemble and the Maple Leaf Ballet.

The Rosebud Ragtime Ensemble, led by Greenbelter Tom Pacl, is a 7-piece group that plays Joplin's music with the full sound of the original orchestral scores, where the instruments range from tuba to piccolo. The four members of the Maple Leaf Ballet, formed from the Modern Dance Group of the Paint Branch Unitarian Church, will present their boisterous interpretation of Joplin's ballet, "The Ragtime Dance." The group will also show members of the audience how to dance to ragtime.

Other members of the group besides pianist Tom Pacl are Bob Hesselton, clarinet and arranger; Marcia Freedman, flute and piccolo; Bille Stevic, trumpet; Bob Sullivan, trombone; Jim Adkins, tuba; and Tom Yodzis, drums. The four members of the Maple Leaf Ballet are Pat Tompkins, Berniece Pott, Gordon Allen and Brian McNamee.

The Greenbelt Library will be sponsoring a variety of events on Saturday, Sept. 3. Greenbelters can watch videotapes of the Greenbelt Day festivities. In addition, the camera-librarian will be roving the carnival area taking movies. Puppet-making and storytelling will also be featured.

Labor Day Parade

Latest entrants in the parade are Delegate Leo Green's Gymnasts, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission float featuring water-saving and waste-reduction, members of the Washington Capitals' hockey team and the Dahlgren Division of the United States Naval Sea Cadet Corps. The Sea Cadets are one of 163 such youth units across the nation sponsored by the Navy League of the United States with the cooperation of the Navy. The cadets are 14-18 years old and receive training in naval disciplines and maritime history. About 100 youngsters will be marching in this unit which is led by Lt. j. g. Henry Mooberry.

New Vice-Principal At Eleanor Roosevelt

by Barbara Likowski

Dennis J. Curry has recently been appointed vice-principal of Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High School. He takes over the position vacated by Dr. Charles Cockrell, who became principal of Parkdale Senior High School following the death of Dr. G. Allen Sager.

Curry, a resident of Bowie, received his bachelor's degree from the University of Dayton in 1959 and his master's degree from Villanova University in 1966. Prior to his employment in Prince Georges County in 1969, he taught in Ohio, Puerto Rico, Pennsylvania and Baltimore schools for 12 years. He was a guidance counselor at High Point High School from 1969 to 1971, and at Largo Senior High School from 1971 to 1976. During the 1976-77 school year he was Administrative Assistant at Largo Senior High School.

At Roosevelt Curry will take care of scheduling for the eleventh grade. He will also head the athletic program.

Look for Ducky the Clown at the Labor Day Festival on Saturday, Sept. 3, making balloon animals and performing magic tricks.

While at Largo, Curry was responsible for building up a student medical training program. Students in this program were certified in such things as CPR (coronary pulmonary resuscitation) and Red Cross Training. These students cover athletic teams and are available to tape legs, treat aches, pains and bruises, thus relieving the coaches. Eventually it is hoped that this program will become county wide. A similar group was formed at Roosevelt last year and Curry hopes to see it continue.

In an interview Curry said that he believes in being very straightforward and direct with students.

He looks forward to the opening of school.

Twin Pines Passes 10 Million

On July 15, Twin Pines marked a major milestone as total assets reached 10 million dollars.

At the end of another six months of continued growth, member savings have grown by almost $1.5 million to stand in excess of $9.5 million. Of this, 45% is in savings certificates. In the same period, loans have risen to just under $9.5 million, an increase of $1.7 million. Particularly important in the loan department is the significant increase in first mortgages. First mortgages have increased $1.1 million and these loans are on properties spread over most of suburban Maryland.

Already this year Members have received $277,000 in dividends, a healthy increase over the previous six months. And amid all this activity Twin Pines maintains its good standing with MSS-IC both in its reserves, including reserve credits, and liquidity.

Bylaw Review

The By-Law review that was voted at the Annual Membership Meeting has begun with the organization of a special committee. John F. Unger, chairperson of the committee invites membership participation in this important project. One of the major portions will be drafting enabling articles so that "One Member-One Vote" can be implemented. This is now permitted because of the action of the State Legislature this year. Other issues will be clarification of the election procedures and guidelines for the Nominations and Elections Committee in the selection of candidates.

Festival Sponsorship

Twin Pines is continuing the tradition of providing financial support to the Labor Day Festival in Greenbelt. In addition to providing prizes for contests, a Labor Day Festival Queen Contestant is being sponsored.

New Certificate of Deposit

The Department of Building, Savings and Loan Associations has granted authority to Twin Pines to issue a new Certificate of Deposit in addition to other Certificates. This new CD is a one year, one thousand dollar minimum Certificate that pays 6 1/2% annually when held to maturity. As with the other Certificates there are no cancellation penalties for withdrawal before the maturity date. The sale of these CD's is scheduled to start in October. The delay is a result of the conservative management procedures that are part of the computer operations.

"One Member-One Vote"

The State Legislature has passed a modification of the corporation laws that now permits Twin Pines to return to the "One Member-One Vote" method of elections. Members of the Twin Pines Board and the Member Relations Committee helped bring this about by appearing to testify before both State Senate and House of Delegate Committee hearings on the duplicate bills. These bills were submitted by the Prince Georges County delegations. The previous law did not permit this form of voter eligibility.

Police Blotter

Two reports of alleged child molesting were reported last week. The girls involved were not injured in the incidents. Suspects are known in both cases and investigation is continuing. Parents are reminded to warn their children to beware of strangers and to not accompany people who are not well known to them into apartments or homes. Parents should also request they be told immediately by their children if anyone should make any unusual requests of them.

A resident of Springhill Lake reported that while walking on Edmonston Road at 9:30 p.m. on Aug. 1 he was robbed of $27. He was apparently approached from behind by a subject armed with a revolver; he was not injured in the incident. Investigation is continuing.

Several ceiling tiles and two cabinet drawers were vandalized at the Youth Center. An investigation is underway.

A door at the Greenbelt Library was broken by a youth on a bicycle which he ran into the door. No one was hurt in the incident nor has anyone been apprehended.

Cpl. Craze, while on routine patrol, recovered a vehicle that had been reported stolen to the Prince Georges County Police in April. The vehicle has been returned to the owner.

PFC Blake observed a youth to the rear of a vehicle in Springhill Lake at midnight, attempting to siphon gas from it. The suspect, a 17 year old male from New Carrollton, was apprehended and charged with tampering with an automobile.

An 18 year old female resident of Plateau Place reported that as she was walking home on a wooded path she was assaulted by a man with a knife. He grabbed her, but she pulled free and went to a nearby house for assistance. Lookouts have been issued.

After observing a motorcycle being operated without lights in Greenbelt at 4 a.m., Officer Craddock attempted to stop it. He was joined by a Prince Georges County officer. The chase ended when the motorcycle operator turned and struck the County cruiser. The subject, a 16 year old male resident of Laurel, ran from the scene. He was charged by both departments, including larceny of a motor vehicle which had been stolen earlier from Springhill Lake.

While attempting to curtail subjects drinking late one night in the Candy Cane City area, Officer Sappington was approached by a large group of young people who had congregated in the area. Other officers responded and the incident ended with a 26 year old male and a 28 year old male, both residents, being arrested on various charges.

PG School Guidance Counselors Available

While most children, perhaps, don't even want to think about going back to school for another month, summer may be a good time to see a school guidance counselor. All Prince Georges County junior and senior high schools have guidance counselors available during portions of the summer. Counselors can assist with educational planning or career or college information. They also are available for personal counseling and for help for students new to the county school system. Guidance Offices can also provide information on special programs operating in the county.

Parents too may make appointments to review their children's school records. Some elementary schools also have part-time guidance services during the summer. Parents or students should call their school for information or an appointment.

"Grnbtl" - a green bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich? One Greenbelt resident whose telephone bill came addressed to "Grnbtl" considers this disrespectful to a community that has received historic recognition. It may be man against the computer but the resident hopes that the City Manager and City Council can convince the C&P Telephone Company to convince its machine to learn the proper spelling of Greenbelt.

SPRINGHILL LAKE NORTH HISTORY CON'T

(3) Employment generated by the project is estimated at 2,000 office workers with salary levels of $14,000 to $16,000 annually and 166 hotel-related employees with salaries averaging $6,715 annually.

(4) The fiscal impact is highly favorable; the estimated market value of the project at full development, is $23.7 million.

(5) Environmental problems are not likely to exceed normal range associated with conversion of raw land to higher density utilization.

(6) The likelihood of the project coming to fruition is dependent on the market. Given the past record of developers, the proposal should be considered more than speculative. Market success of hotel development at Beltway interchanges within the county has been reasonably good, with occupancy rates, according to a 1975 study averaging 90% to 100%. Office space demand, for similarly located buildings, has also been quite high. With this in mind the two to three year build-out proposed by the applicant does not seem unrealistic.

While the county last week set the wheels in motion for the project to proceed, the following public actions must still take place: (1) Final approval by WSSC for sewage treatment capacity, (2) MNCPPC approval of a preliminary subdivision plan for Parcel D, (3) a landscaping plan for the motel property abutting the Capital Beltway; (4) State Highways Administration approval of road improvements needed to serve the property and (5) Approval of other construction-related permits.

M. L. Beall Featured For Research Project

Greenbelt resident M. Leroy Beall is featured on the front cover and accompanying story in the June 1977 U.S. Department of Agriculture bulletin "Agricultural Research" by S. M. Berberich.

The cover photo shows plant physiologist Beall and soil scientist Ralph Nash with their five laboratory model "agroecosystems," (chambers measuring 60x45x20 inches - large enough to culture most crop plants to maturity).

Inexpensive, versatile, and easy to operate... "the eco-systems now permit scientists to simulate field conditions (including temperature, air currents, and rainfall) for measuring pesticide residues in soil, plants, water and air simultaneously." Using commonly available materials, Nash and Beall designed and built the agroecosystems - to overcome difficulties in monitoring in the field.

Currently they are measuring the volatility of different herbicides often used with blue grass. Their long-term objective is to reduce pesticide movement in the environment.

Senior Citizens Sought To Act as Tax Aides

The Volunteer Tax Aide Program is designed to provide this vital service to insure that senior citizens do not overlook deductions, exemptions and credits they may be legally entitled to.

To volunteer or to obtain further information, call Mrs. Bess Garcia, Tax Aide Coordinator, at 350-1456.

After the competitions, awards earned during the month were presented. Eric Sacratini earned a Wolf badge; Donald Bratz, a Wolf badge and Gold Arrow; and Chris Haynes, Outdoorsman and Traveller Webelos activity badges.

A watermelon feed was provided by Den 1, led by Mrs. Ruth Haynes.
