Planned Sale of BARC Lands Worries Council

by Jim Harnisch

The Greenbelt City Council, on Wednesday, October 6, found that what many had hoped would be only a case of Federal deficit-cutting zealotry is turning into much more: Uncle Sam is in the real estate business — for real.

Dr. Paul Putnam, Director of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC), briefed the council on the effect the Reagan administration's plan to sell "underutilized" parcels of federal land at BARC will have on the center's boundaries, and on development bordering Greenbelt.

The two parcels, totaling approximately 260 acres, include a 13-acre tract adjacent to the research library at BARC, and a 247-acre parcel bordered by Odell and Springfield Roads, south of Laurel along the Baltimore-Washington Parkway.

President Reagan issued an executive order (Feb. 25, 1982) setting up the Federal Property Review Board to screen available federal land for sale, in the hope that the proceeds will help reduce the federal deficit. Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.) has introduced a resolution calling on the administration to evaluate, and sell, as many underused parcels of land as possible. The General Services Administration is serving as the selling agent for the government.

The administration has said that all interested non-federal agencies will have to bid for the available land at fair market prices. This is a departure from past policy which allowed other federal agencies to acquire federal lands less expensively.

The council members present seemed to agree that the BARC land is likely to bring competitive bids from private sources, thereby making it difficult for the state or local governments to purchase the land.

Putnam told the council the two BARC parcels have been officially "excessed" and are now under consideration by GSA, and the Review Board, though he could not be sure exactly how close the land is to being put on the selling block.

Putnam, a former Greenbelt resident, presented a brief synopsis of the development of the Master Plan for the Center, approved by the National Capital Planning Commission in 1979, and the subsequent transfer of BARC land to both the Treasury Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. He then went on to explain the current situation regarding the latest possibility that the center's land holdings will be further reduced.

The problem faced by the city council is that the federal screening process, so far, has effectively excluded local government from any participation. Mayor Richard Castaldi characterized the process as a tube, into which the council has no input, and which it must eye with concern, while waiting to see "what drops out the other end."

Councilman Ed Putens said the council's first goal should be finding out where the process stands, and which federal agencies and officials to address with the council's reservations about the proposed sale. He said the city's attorney should be consulted to find out if there are legal avenues to pursue.

The councilmen agreed that loss of the land to a private concern, or any concern wishing to use the land for non-compatible development, could severely damage the aesthetic quality of the unimproved parcels now provide.

Council instructed City Manager James K. Giese to inquire about the current status of the two BARC parcels insofar as the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and the Federal Property Review Board are concerned. Council also discussed the possibility for a consolidated meeting of interested citizens groups and city and state officials concerned with preserving the Agricultural Research Center. In additional discussion, council sought for ways to discourage further reduction of BARC land.

Pow-Wow In Park

An Oklahoma-style Indian Pow-wow will bring some of the best "fancy dancers" and drum players to Greenbelt Park this weekend. Contests and exhibitions are scheduled on Saturday, October 16 from 2 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, October 17, from noon to 7 p.m. Arts and crafts will be on display and Native American food will be available.

Participants, all ages, representing 22 tribes from all over the United States and Canada, will compete for more than $2,000 in prize money.

The pow-wow is sponsored by the Native American Inter-Tribal Association, a non-profit group organized to encourage Native American spiritual tradition and cultural awareness in the Washington, D.C. area. Blue Pahdocony is the Chairman.

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

Illustrative of the intense interest that the threatened sale of parts of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) has for Greenbelters is that this is the fifth time stories on it have appeared this year in the News Review. Earlier stories appeared in issues of April 1 (Would that the date were significant! Ed.), April 15, June 10 and Aug. 26.

Strongly protesting the possible sale of the BARC parcels have been the Prince Georges County and Greenbelt City Councils, Senators Charles McC. Mathias and Paul S. Sarbanes, and Congressman Steny Hoyer. It has been pointed out that sale of the property, particularly the larger piece, could jeopardize the continued functioning of certain NASA instruments and interfere with the operation of the nearby Patuxent Wildlife Refuge and BARC research activities.

The land used at present represents valuable green space in the heavily developed Baltimore-Washington corridor, much of it wetlands which provide drainage for a much larger area. Both parcels are now being put to appropriate use pursuant to the 1979-approved BARC Master Plan which, in turn, enjoys the support of state and neighboring local government agencies.

Also disturbing and strongly protested is the apparent chipping away at BARC. Originally much larger—14,000 acres—the center is now about 7,200 acres, having lost about 1,200 acres in the past dozen years alone. These earlier losses were less threatening, however, in that they were to other federal agencies (Goddard and Patuxent among them) and local governments or their instrumentalities, including the City of Greenbelt and the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission. Moreover, as recently as 1978, the center underwent a land utilization survey after which the Master Plan was prepared.

PG Philharmonic Opens Season at Northwestern

The Prince Georges Philharmonic will open its 1982-83 season on Sat., October 16 at 8 p.m. at Northwestern High School. Jan Turkiewicz of Greenbelt is the concert master.

Music Director Ray Fowler will lead the 80 member Philharmonic in the premiere of "Essay for Orchestra", composed in 1981 by Kenneth Lieberson of New York City.

William Montgomery, well known flutist and Professor of Music at the University of Maryland, will be the featured soloist in Mozart's Flute Concerto No. 2 in D Major, K. 314.

The Symphony No. 4 in E Minor, Op. 98 of Johannes Brahms will conclude the performance.

GREENBELT METRO LINE SEEMS CLOSER WITH RECENT FUNDING

by Rema Boscov

The hoped-for construction of Metro's Green Line from Fort Totten to Greenbelt is now a probability.

Last week the Urban Mass Transportation Administration granted Metro $35 million to buy land and build parking lots along the proposed rail line, which will also include stops in West Hyattsville, Prince Georges Plaza and College Park.

The Federal government has made a commitment to fund the completion of 75 miles of a proposed 101-mile rail system. The segment reaching to Greenbelt represents a distance outside that 75-mile limit.

Metro was granted $284 million in fiscal 1982. Of the $35 million allocated for the Green Line, $17.2 million has been appropriated for the building of a 500-space parking lot and access ramps in Greenbelt, and $2.2 million for a lot the same size in West Hyattsville.

At this time money for construction of the line has not been appropriated, explains Gerry Gough, Greenbelt resident and Metro's government relations officer for Maryland. "We have the fishing license to go fish for it but we don't have it on the hook yet," Gough says.

Even though the administration justifies this funding for use beyond the 75-mile limit because the lots can be used for satellite parking without the rail line, Metro considers the funding a good omen.

"There's no question in my mind that it will be built," Gough says. "We're into fiscal design, we're into buying land, we're one step closer."

Plans for the Greenbelt lot are currently on the drawing board. Construction is at least a year away. Metro projects at this time that the line will be open sometime in the early 1990's.

In the event there are any plants left beyond 4:30 p.m. Friday, they will be left on the ground outside the warehouse gates for those wishing to pick them up.

Greenbelt Museum?

Greenbelt's history goes back only 45 years, but our city has been the focal point of many historic events in city planning, architecture, land use, and co-operative living and this history should be preserved. Members of Greenbelt Homes have met and discussed the possibility of a "Greenbelt Museum" within the co-operative. Some of the ideas that have been considered included making a home or homes within GHI into a museum, using an occupied home as a "living" museum, expanding the idea to cover the entire New Deal era. Methods of acquiring items, financing the project and running it have also been brought forth. It was determined that any museum for the city would need to include participants from the entire city.

All citizens interested in helping make the museum concept a reality are invited to attend a meeting at the Library meeting room next Tuesday, Oct. 19. This meeting will explain a little of the background leading up to the museum discussions, more about some of the plans discussed, and conclude with the formation of a city wide committee to get down to the business of creating a museum. The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m.

Court Parent Program

Center School PTA is revitalizing the Greenbelt court parent program. Volunteers of all kinds are needed to help with the program.

On Wednesday, October 20 from 7:30-9 p.m. an open session about the program will be held in Center School. Individuals will be present to answer questions and hand out applications to anyone wishing to serve as a court parent. Court parents provide a valuable service by offering aid to any child who needs help. Several volunteers in each court will be needed. Volunteers are also needed for the Coordinating Committee. Please Wear Helmets

To the Editor:

I was recently involved in a dirt-bike accident on Greenbelt Rd. and would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to the following people who were a big help to me:

First of all I would like to say thank you to my good friend Jesse Cohen, who stayed with me the whole time and accompanied me to the hospital by ambulance. I would also like to thank the William Houchens family who called the ambulance and kept my motorcycle in their yard. They took the time to get involved. Finally, I would like to say thank you to my parents, my aunt and uncle, my good friend John Moore, Greenbelt police officer, Michael D. Craddock, the ambulance crew and Dr. Norman Rogers for putting my leg back together.

To my friends who ride bikes in Greenbelt: I know the law allows you to choose whether or not you want to wear a helmet. Without my helmet I don't think I would be alive today. I came out of the accident lucky with only 45-50 stitches in my leg. Please wear your helmets.

Concert a Sellout

To the Editor:

Last Friday, October 8, there was a rock concert, the first of its kind at the Jtopia Theater, put on by the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center. The concert was a sellout, and I would like to thank the members of the groups Sterkx and Silencer for putting on a great show, and the audience for having a great time, and helping the Cultural Arts Center by coming.

The concert went for the most part without incident. It was more than just music; it was the young people of Greenbelt coming to see their own, their friends and neighbors who had practiced and worked and wanted to show their fellow Greenbelters what they could do. This is part of the true spirit of the Cultural Arts Center, and part of the need that it fills in giving a showcase to local talent that might not otherwise find its way into a spotlight. One thing that was so gratifying about this event was that it was seen by so many people, as so many of the other great events at the Center have played to just a few. The greatest loss to most of us who work there is not the money or the recognition that the Center does not receive because of such poor showing by the local citizens, but the fact that so much good entertainment is going to waste.

There is a return engagement being worked out for both groups sometime in the Winter, and I hope that all who attended this last concert will come to the next one. In the meantime, I urge all Greenbelters to take advantage of the other fine entertainment that we have to offer, including plays and films; and the workshops we run, in both dance and photography. Supporting us is easy—all you need to do is come and enjoy yourself.

Criticism of Council Unfair and Unfounded

To the Editor:

In a letter to the editor which appeared in the September 30 issue of the News Review, Katherine Keene berated the Greenbelt city council for its "most unfortunate" selection of the Center for renaming in honor of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Implying that this site was beneath the historical dignity deserved by our 32nd President, she claimed that "the city council clearly doesn't think much of Roosevelt." With all due respect for Ms. Keene's obviously heartfelt sentiments, I feel compelled to register my objections to them as being both unfair and unfounded.

As a member of the Roosevelt Commemoration Committee, Ms. Keene must certainly recognize that Greenbelters (including our city councilmen) proudly joined together in celebration of FDR's 100th birthday because they fully appreciate that it was under his administration that our fair city was created in 1937. Through many marvelous events, the city regaled by turning back the pages of time in reflection of those early pioneer years of the 1930's - a period synonymous with the Roosevelt era and his efforts to shepherd our nation out of the throes of deep depression and poverty through such innovative projects as the creation of Greenbelt. Thus, we commemorated not only the birthdate of a man, but also an extraordinary era in our nation's history.

The Greenbelt Center epitomizes this monumental time in both our nation's and city's pasts. Although our city continues to grow and expand its horizons, the Center has remained the heart and hub of this one-time federally planned community and stands as a constant reminder that we are a city born of the 1930's, rich in history and tradition that was made possible by the vision and initiative displayed by Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Therefore, I applaud the city council's decision to approve the naming of the Greenbelt Center in honor of Mr. Roosevelt for, among the alternative city facilities proposed for this purpose, there is no more representative site which so appropriately befits the occasion.

Thank you for this opportunity to express some differing views on this meaningful issue.

GHI NOTES

The GHI Board of Directors will meet on Thursday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room. GDC and GHDC Board meetings will follow the GHI Board meeting. Items on the GHI agenda include reserves and maintenance of oil heat for 3, 6 and 7 Woodland Way, preliminary discussion of rehab for the Administration Building, the issue of coverage for meter pads, easements for Ridge Road improvements and preliminary presentation of the 1983 budget.

The Personnel Committee will meet on Monday, October 18, in the GHI Board Room.

Since heat and hot water conversion began last March, management has conducted 28 pre-conversion meetings and 8 post-conversion meetings. Although these information meetings are completed, members may still call the rehab hotline (474-6644) for information about rehab. In November, GHI will begin offering Energy Management Workshops for interested members.

NURSING CENTER HOLDS OPEN HOUSE OCT. 22

National Community Involvement Month will be celebrated at the Greenbelt Nursing Center on Friday, Oct. 22 from 3-6 p.m. The Center will hold an open house to celebrate this event. The public is cordially invited. For further information call Cynthia Farley, activities director. 345-9595.

One way to save energy is to turn down the hot water tank thermostat. However, because of code regulations, the thermostat cannot be set lower than 120°. Read the directions on the hot water tank or call the GHI Maintenance Department (474-6011) to do the job. Members may also be interested in the PEPSCO average payment plan. Although GHI has informed PEPSCO when members become eligible for the all-electric rate, members should check their bills to see that the correct all-electric rate code (55) appears. Call the PEPSCO customer service number (833-7500) for more information.

Toastmaster's Club Winner

Larry Noel of Northway was the winner of the Columbian Toastmasters Club's Humorous Speech Contest. The subject of his speech was the lighter side of being a track coach. He will compete with five other contestants in the area contest which will be held on Friday evening, October 15, at the old Knights of Columbus Hall, 9300 Baltimore Blvd.

Another feature of the area contest will be that of selecting the best table topics, or extemporaneous speaker. The Columbian's winner was Steve Polaschik.

For further information about the contest or the Toastmasters Programs, call Polaschik on 474-9352.

Our Neighbors

Greenbelt's City Clerk Gudrun, Maplewood Court, is home recuperating from surgery last week at Holy Cross Hospital. Gudi reports that she is getting along better than she had expected and that she is glad to be home.

Visiting Tony and Becky Molden this week is their grandmother, Betty Meyers, from Kokomo, Indiana. Traveling with her are two friends, Doris Stitt and Alice Boring, also from Kokomo. Besides enjoying their visit, Tony and Becky will be taking the trio sightseeing in Washington. A hearty welcome to the Hoosiers!

Glad to hear that Rachel Derin is recuperating nicely from a fractured wrist

Timothy Moore, Lakeview Circle, has been named as an Outstanding Young Man of America for 1982-83. A graduate student at the University of Maryland, he was named to the list because of his achievements as a scholar athlete. Moore won Atlantic Coast Conference academic honors as an undergraduate member of the University track team. He continues to compete as a graduate, and has also been active with the Special Olympics program and other youth oriented programs in the Prince Georges County area. Moore is a member of the Prince Georges Jaycees.

Marvin L. Gay and Ronald G. Rothgeb of Greenbelt have qualified as members of the 1982 Executive Council of New York Life Insurance Company. The Executive Council is composed of New York Life's outstanding agents, and membership is based on 1981-82 sales records.

County Executive Larry Hogan has recommended to the County Council that Dr. Till Bergmann of Greenbelt be reappointed to the Nursing Home Advisory Committee. Bergemann is the Medical Society Representative to the Committee. His term will continue through June 1985.

One of the most successful student athletes at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington is Greenbelt's own Paul Felsher. Felsher, a senior at UNCW, has been on the Seahawk soccer team for the past three years and served as co-captain on the 1982 squad. He plays fullback position on the high-ranking team. Maintaining a 3.82 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) with a double major in physics and mathematics has added to Felsher's college success and to his pride. A 1979 graduate of Roosevelt High School, he chose UNCW by a computer system at Roosevelt designed to aid students in choosing colleges.

Tech Sergeant Richard Tatum, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carlton Tatum, 14 Laurel Hill Rd., has been selected for inclusion in the 1982 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America. He was nominated by the president of the Alaska Jaycees for his work with prisoners at Eikelson Air Force Base in Fairbanks. Tatum, the regional Jaycee director, founded a Jaycee group in the prison, which built a dogsled, raffled it off and donated the money from its sale to help crippled children.

William E. Mills, son of William

Boo and Hiss Villain

by Paula Lipman

The Maryland Traveling Repertory Theater will perform the Gay Nineties melodrama, "Caught in the Villian's Web" (or More Sinned Against than Sinning), at the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center (Utopia Theater) on Friday and Saturday, October 22 and 23 at 8:30 p.m.

For an evening of sheer entertainment come boo and hiss for the villain, ooh and aah for the heroine and cheer for the manly-bosomed hero, as Malvern Lark-geld thwarts the dastardly Cyril Bothingwell in his attempts to lure the beautiful Felicity Fair into his web.

This family entertainment brings a form of theater rarely provided in this area and presents in repertory the highly regarded cast of the Maryland Traveling Repertory Theater. The first play the company put on was the bedroom farce, "Not Now Darling."

Portions of the proceeds will be donated to the Kilby Easter Seal Center. Don't miss this opportunity to participate in a great evening for the whole family and at the same time support a worthy cause.

Two other highly entertaining

E. Mills of Hanover Parkway, recently completed the rigorous seven week "Plebe Summer" program for the class of 1986 at the U.S. Naval Academy.

Airman Ronald A. Reed, son of Elvina G. DeWitt, Laurel Hill, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force Base, Texas. He is earning credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force. Reed will now serve at Langley Air Force Base, Va.

Sean E. Davis, son of Vivian E. Davis of Cherrywood Terrace, has completed a food service specialist course at the U.S. Army Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va.

Elizabeth Phelps of Greenbelt, a junior at Ohio Wesleyan University, has been inducted into Phi Sigma Iota, the national Romance Language Honor Society. She is the daughter of Mrs. Harriette D. L. Phelps of Hanover Parkway.

Navy Gunner's Mate 1st Class Michael J. Lee, whose wife, Su Jane, is the daughter of Fen Lein Lang of Springhill Court, recently returned from a deployment to the Mediterranean Sea and the Persian Gulf. He is a crew member aboard the destroyer U.S.S. Briscoe, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Joy Lynn Johnson was on the Honor Roll for the Spring semester at Stetson University in DeLand, Florida.

Edward M. Rosenberg, son of Solomon and Evelyn Rosenberg, Cherrywood Terr., is a gas turbine systems technician, a specialty created by the Navy a few years ago to help care for new engines used to power Spruance class destroyers. Rosenberg is stationed aboard the USS Cushing, a destroyer homeported in San Diego. Rosenberg said he was happy working on the ship and looks forward to his future in the Navy.

At Utopia Melodrama

evenings are in store on Halloween weekend. On October 29 the folk music of Clam Chowder will be making a second appearance at the theater by popular demand. English, Irish, American and Scottish ballads, and well-loved sea chanteys, are on the program at the Utopia.

On October 30 the Rusty River Band will bring the country western music of Merle Haggard, John Hartford, John Prine, Alabama and Hank Williams Jr. The audience was wildly enthusiastic when this concert was performed in July at the Utopia. Both programs will begin at 8:15 p.m.

The theater is expected to be packed with folk and country western music lovers. For information call 474-7763.

Roosevelt Democratic Club To Discuss Trim

The Roosevelt Democratic Club will hold its October meeting Friday, Oct. 15 at 8:30 p.m. (note time change) at the Greenbriar Community Building. Question K, the TRIM modification plan on November's ballot, will be presented and discussed. As the Democratic Central Committee has recently endorsed a yes vote on Question K this program will be timely.

Nominations for Democratic Club officers will also be called for at this meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Food Day To Be Observed At Agricultural Center

World Food Day will be observed at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center on Saturday, Oct. 16 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the front lawn of the Center's administration building (with the clock). There will be exhibits and live research demonstrations. The United Nations created World Food Day in 1979 to raise awareness of world food conditions. The research center demonstration is open to the public.

BIG KICKS

Midway through the soccer season, Greenbelt soccer teams are playing close competitive games showing off their newly acquired skills and talents. In interleague, both six year old teams are presently covering 1st and 2nd place in their division (Greenbelt 2 is in first place, Greenbelt 1 is in second). Greenbelt 1 beat Hyattsville 4-0. 2 goals scored by Steve Klem, one each by Shawn Haines and Bobby Bromley. Greenbelt 2 beat Cheverly 2-1, goals scored by Mike Davis and Mike Sweeney.

The 8-year-old team lost to Cheverly 3-0. This is a newly formed team, yet they are improving every week and coach Theresa Alfaro has taught her team much about teamwork, as well as the most fundamental skills necessary for beginners.

The 10-year-old team took a tough 2-1 loss also to a Cheverly team. Molly Ahearn scored on a penalty kick for Greenbelt.

County games, played on Sunday at Broden Field were as exciting as any professional game. The 8-year-old team played a tough Cheverly squad and tied with no score for either team. The 9-year-olds lost 2-1 to Oxon Hill, and Jonathan Schacter scored his first goal of the season. The 10-year-old team played Hyattsville (previously undefeated) and won with a goal scored by Andrew Knoll. The 11-year-olds played an equally talented Allentown team but lost 1-0. The 13-year-old team lost to South Bowie 3-1 with Scott Swah scoring once.

As is evident in these scores, Greenbelt is giving other teams a tough way to go. Players work hard 2-3 times a week at practice with drills, laps and scrimmages and have much to be proud of, individually and as a member of teams. Spirits are high as they work at learning new strategies, working closer as a team and improving their own individual skills.

Big Kids Soccer

Undaunted by a few unfortunate injuries, Big Kids Soccer continues along an uncharted path of organized adult soccer. In spite of the fact that there is no co-ed league in which to play in all of Prince Georges County, practice is still being held at Greenbelt Middle School Mondays and Wednesdays at 6 p.m. and Saturdays at 4. Games will be scheduled soon, so serious (not necessarily experienced) players are encouraged to come out to practice as often as possible. Scrimmages are held at every practice.

This is an organized program to draw Greenbelt soccer people into learning more about the game as well as perfecting their own individual skills.

Please don't be discouraged at the seemingly slow development of the program. Organizers are working hard to find team sponsors, uniforms and scheduling games. Call 937-0388 or 345-6081 to offer any suggestions or helpful hints.

AFTER CONVERSION

With heat and hot water conversion complete, GHI members may find the following information helpful:

ABOUT YOUR HOME

- Floors — Many members have asked about floor refinishing. GHI does not normally do this work and rehab does patching only. GHI does have the names of people who have refinished GHI floors. If you would like this information, call the hotline (474-6644).
- Supplies — The GHI Warehouse has many reasonably priced or free materials to upgrade the appearance of homes. Among other items, the Warehouse has vapor barrier and outside house paint, trash storage sheds, roach powder, and smoke detectors. Call the Warehouse (474-7476) for details.

ABOUT YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

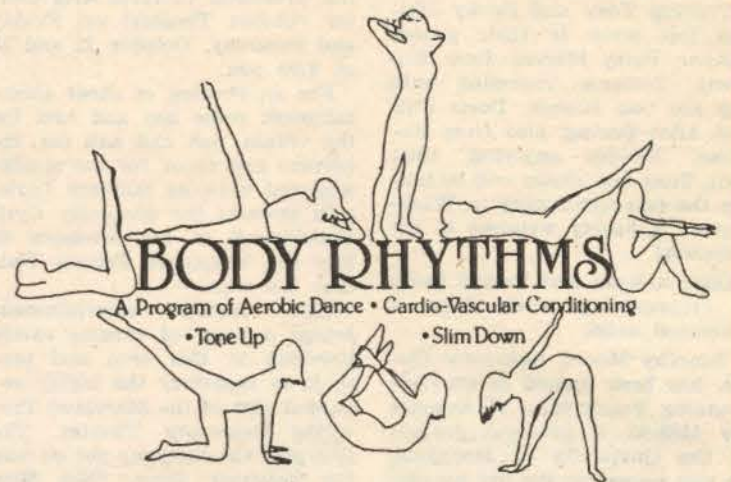

- All-electric rate — GHI notifies PEPCO when homes are converted and become eligible for the all-electric rate. To verify that you are on this rate, look for the all-electric rate code (55) on your electric bill. Call PEPCO (833-7500) if necessary.
- Average Payment Plan — With this plan, heating payments can be spread out over the year instead of coming only in the winter. Call the PEPCO customer service number (833-7500) if you want this plan.
- Energy Management Workshops — GHI will begin a series of Energy Management Workshops next month. These workshops will provide tips on saving energy and cutting your electric bills.

Pepco Substation Has Historic Name

by Arthur Donn

Pepco's new Greenbelt substation, located on Greenbelt Road at the Beltway overpass, will allow for more power for the new heavy electrical users in the area. A 34,000 volt line enters it and is reduced to 13,000 volt lines that exit. Although the substation has capacity for 12 such lines, only five exit it now.

This substation replaces the old one in the Lake Park near Crescent Road at Greenhill, which had only a 13,000 volt line entering and 4,000 volt lines exiting.

Pepco calls the new substation "Toaping Castle Substation" after a previous structure built near the site.

Toaping Castle was built in the early 1750's by the Walker family from Scotland. They named it in memory of their home in their native land.

The Walker family, brothers Isaac, Charles and Nathan, were forced to flee from Scotland and obtain temporary secrecy and security in France when George I was crowned King of England and Scotland. They later came to America to settle and start a new life.

Police Blotter

Compiled by Mavis Fletcher

A female resident was assaulted with a deadly weapon on Oct. 11 at 8:10 a.m. when she left her apartment near Lakecrest and Lakeside and was getting into her car. Two non-resident males blocked her car and one leaned into the woman's car and threatened her with a knife. The woman managed to drive off but was pursued by the men when she attempted to return to her residence. After the police were called, the two men were located and charged. One of the men was charged with assault and battery and carrying a deadly weapon with intent to injure; the other was charged as an accomplice. The former was incarcerated in lieu of bond; the latter was released on personal recognizance.

Detective Terrence M. McGrath closed a breaking and entering case which occurred last March in a Springhill Lake apartment. Part of the property was recovered and a nonresident was arrested.

According to Police Chief William T. Lane, several Greenbelt officers were commended by the F.B.I. for their assistance on Sept. 27 in arresting a fugitive drug dealer who had eluded capture for the past two years. The officers who were commended were Sgt. Phillip L. Coombes, Cpl. John A. Lann, Pfc. David R. Kress and Officer Ralph J. Cancelose.

A 3rd floor Springhill Lake apartment was entered by way of the unlocked balcony door. It was later determined that a neighbor had seen the suspect climbing up to the balcony but had failed to call the police, thinking that the person might have been the resident who was locked out. Chief Lane urges all residents to call the police immediately when any suspicious activity is seen and let the department check it out. The police emergency number is 474-5454.

Theft from auto is the most frequently reported crime in Greenbelt, according to Chief Lane. The past weekend there were four cases of car radios or speakers being taken. Three of the cases occurred on Hanover Parkway and one in Springhill Lake. In addition there was a car stolen and a case of attempted auto theft on Mandan Road. The auto was later recovered. A motorcycle was also stolen on Hanover Pkwy.

Currency was stolen from a cash register at Delta Hosiery Mills Inc. in Greenway Shopping Center.

Tires were stolen from a yard on Gardenway. An auto which had been stolen from elsewhere in Prince Georges County was recovered in Cherrywood Lane.

Three department communications specialists, Cindy McKnew, Angelica Weigand and Bill Holland, attended a Public Safety/Dispatcher Seminar conducted by the University of Delaware at Seaford, Delaware, from Oct. 8 to 10. In commenting on the importance of such specialized training, Chief Lane noted that the Police Department dispatchers provide the most important link between the citizen and the police officers.

GHI Board Again Tackles Heat Exemption Requests

by Mary Moien

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) Board of Directors met in regular session on Thursday, September 23. The board made final determinations on what might have been the last requests for rehabilitation-related exemptions. In addition, resale inspection requirements were discussed.

At the Sept. 9 meeting, there had been a discussion regarding changing the two solar unit courts to electric heat and hot water. As requested at that meeting, management prepared cost estimates for both methods. In addition, the affected residents were asked to inform GHI of their wishes. The solar systems appear to be more costly to run and maintain. Since the majority of responding residents indicated a wish for electric heat and hot water, the conversions will be made.

Heat exemptions were approved for three of the five free-standing homes on Woodland Way, with details to be worked out with management. These homes already have individual furnaces.

A member in the 3 court of Eastway was represented by her lawyer and a letter from her physician indicating that the stress of changing heating systems would be detrimental to her health. Details were presented of a hot water system to be placed in the boiler room of her court. In the discussion that followed, another court member complained that the whole court had applied for an exemption last year and had been turned down and now this member is applying individually. The board, however, approved the exemption.

A member in the 6 court of Plateau requested to be allowed to change from electric baseboard heat (already installed) to water coil heaters. Although this topic had been casually discussed in the past, no formal acceptance or rejection had been voted. Since the heat changeover has already occurred, the board is not sure what this member wants to do. Improvements at a member's expense are often allowed. The member is being asked to make a specific written proposal to the board.

A final evaluation of resale inspection requirements was conducted. These are requirements that, once published, will be available to members contemplating moving from GHI. The requirements were amended and approved by the board.
