Improvements for City Parks Earmarked In Budget; Public Works Holds the Line

by Mary Lou Williamson

The budget proposed for the city's Public Works Department for the coming year holds no surprises. "We are programming the same activities as last year," said city manager James K. Giese, at the open work session on April 25.

The public works crew operates in all areas of city responsibility and thus, while the major costs fall under the public works section, the cost of their labor can be found in accounts scattered through the budget from municipal building to traffic control to recreation and parks. Their funds come from taxes including the 7c Capital Improvements Reserve (for street repair) and from federal revenue sharing (for new equipment).

No changes are proposed this year for refuse collecting — fee or program. Public Works Director George Smith is concerned that the Wednesday newspaper haul is hard on the load-packers, but council was not inclined to cut back on Greenbelt's efforts in recycling.

Capital Improvements

Most noticeable to residents is the work undertaken with funds from the Capital Improvements Reserve. Council has for years set aside a constant amount in each budget — first 3c, then 5c and beginning last year 7c — of the tax rate for reconstruction and repair of streets, sidewalks and curbs and gutters. Next year's 7c will net $120,400; another $58,200 is rebudgeted from funds not spent this year. (See box for list of proposed projects.)

STREET REPAIRS

To Be Funded through the Capital Improvements Reserve

Centerway: resurface, new curb, replace city sidewalk	$25,000
Centerway: new street lights	9,500
Ridge Road: resurface, Southway to Westway	36,000
Entrance to Buddy At-tick Park: reconstruct	12,000
Hamilton Pl: resurface	7,400
Tennis Courts: Braden Field, reconstruct 4	80,000
Steps: Center Mall to Post office, replace	2,500
Northway: Ridge Rd. to athletic fields, grade, widen, gravel top	6,200
Total proposed	$178,600

But none of this work will be done right away. Giese feels it is advantageous for the city "to collect two years' funds and then do the work under one contract." Councilman Richard Pilski advised his colleagues that he is not convinced of the need to continue the 7c rate — upped last year to help the city catch up on the backlog of needed street repair. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld reminded him that the policy has always been flexible — "Some years we do bigger projects. We agreed we need not spend the money all in one year."

Pilski, however, was still not ready to make the seven-cent rate permanent.

Miscellaneous

Cemetery — gets limited maintenance. This past year saw some dressing up of walkways within the cemetery.

Roosevelt Center (Center Mall) — new steps are planned leading down to the Post Office.

Municipal Building — cleaning crew still spends too much time in some buildings, not enough in others.

Traffic Control — flashing yellow light in front of Green Ridge House may offer a false sense of security. "People don't use the cross-walk and don't push the button (to turn the light on). Residents there need some education, because not all drivers will stop when the light is flashing."

Smith would like new energy-efficient doors for the public works warehouse and electric door openers to prolong their life. He'll get some. A new hy-

VOTING FOR BOARD AND AUDIT COMMITTEE MEMBERS ON THURSDAY, MAY 19, 7 a.m. - 8 p.m. AT THE MUNICIPAL BUILDING.

Seven Candidates Compete In GHI Annual Election

Members of Greenbelt Homes will be asked to vote on whether to sell the old boiler plants that are no longer in use and on four motions petitioned by members at the Annual Meeting next Wednesday, May 18 at 8 p.m. in the Center School auditorium. Next year's Nominations and Elections Committee will be elected during the meeting.

All voting for Board and Audit Committee positions will be by voting machine in the Council Chambers, Municipal Building, all day Thursday, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Seven candidates will compete for the five GHI board seats to be filled in this year's election and only three candidates will vie for the three Audit Committee positions. Running for board are incumbents Margaret Hogensen, Frank Gervasi, Don Volk and Wayne Williams, present Audit Committee member Debbie Hartwick and former board member Ed James. The seventh candidate, June Didas, has not yet held any elected position in GHI. Candidates for Audit Committee are incumbents Steve Miller and Katherine Keene, with Diana Gobbett seeking election for the first time.

Four candidates are running for the five slots of the Nominations and Elections Committee. They are incumbents Mary Moien, Steve Sinden and John Taylor and newcomer Sandra Smith.

Agenda

One item of business at the Annual Meeting will be a proposal to sell the boiler rooms attached to units to individual members should any wish to purchase them. These are all in frame courts and would be sold to members in units adjacent to the vacated boiler rooms.

There are also four member-petitioned motions. The first of these provides that the sales of the four free-standing houses completed in 1968 and the 25 four-bedroom townhouses completed in 1970 be sold as are the other GHI houses without GHI's repurchasing them as was provided in the original membership directives on the resale of these houses. It also would provide that any repurchase by GHI should have board approval.

The second petition, one that will probably generate considerable argument, asks for censure of a former board president for assenting to a loan made to a former townhouse member in advance of GHI's repurchase of the member's equity in that townhouse.

A third petition directs Board of Directors and management to enforce existing rules and regu-

Another Spring Bouquet

"Illegally parked," this assortment of trash belongs on private property until the City collects it. The Aesthetics and Environment Committee of GHI aims to eliminate such eyesores in its clean-up campaign this week-end.

Water Main Flushing Continues in City

The Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission plans systematic water main flushing in the following Greenbelt areas next week:

Sunday evening, May 15 (to Monday morning)—Area bounded by Greenbelt Road, Interstate 95 and Kenilworth Avenue (Golden Triangle), Edmonston Road from Greenbelt Road to Springhill Drive and Springhill Drive from Edmonston Road to Springhill Lane;

Monday evening, May 16 (to Tuesday morning)—Beltway Plaza, Springhill Drive from Springhill Lane to Cherrywood Lane and Cherrywood Lane from Springhill Drive to Breezewood Drive;

Tuesday evening, May 17 (to Wednesday morning) — Area bounded by Greenbelt Road, 60th Avenue, Ruatan Street and 56th Avenue, Breezewood Drive from Edmonston Road to Cherrywood Lane and Springhill Lane.

The work, which involves the opening of fire hydrants to clear sediment from the pipelines and control water discoloration, will be done between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. in order to minimize inconvenience to customers. Any customers in the areas being flushed who have discoloration should wait until the water runs clear at the tap before doing any clothes laundering or dishwashing.

Smith Chairs His Last

Tonight, May 12, is the last Board meeting which Jim Smith will chair as President of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI). During his 11 years as GHI President, Smith has chaired more meetings than any other GHI member.

However, in slightly more than a month, Smith will be leaving Greenbelt for an overseas assignment. To recognize Smith's achievements and especially the help he has given GHI through the years, a group of Greenbelt individuals has formed the Friends of Jim Smith Committee.

The committee is planning a reception for Sunday, June 12 from 3 to 6 p.m. in the Greenbelt Recreation Center Multi-purpose Room. Official recognition of Smith's work will be given. Light refreshments and entertainment will be provided. So that all who are interested are able to attend, there will be no charge for this event. It is hoped that everyone will take this opportunity to say good-bye to Smith and his family.

GREENBELT DAY COMING

Sunday, June 5 marks the 46th Anniversary of the City of Greenbelt's founding and incorporation in 1937. Traditionally, the first weekend in June is celebrated with a host of community programs, special events and a wide range of recreational activities. All events are open to the public.

Scheduled for the weekend of June 3, 4 and 5, all Greenbelt organizations, groups, clubs and businesses are invited to participate in the celebration. Residents are encouraged to attend the variety of commemorative happenings. Participation may be no more than preparing and displaying home-made posters or perhaps a birthday banner acknowledging the occasion. For a more active involvement, citizens could consider a special program observing Greenbelt's past, present and/or future, in relationship to their units, that can be included in the published weekend schedule of events.

Annual activities include the Anniversary Address by the Mayor and City Council and the performance of the Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County on the Roosevelt Mall. Special events will be held at the Municipal Swimming Pool, a teen dance, plus weekend tournaments in tennis, golf and softball. Table games, Recreation Center's Open House, city historical displays, and much more will be available for the residents' enjoyment. This year, additional programs include a fund-raising Art Show by the Cultural Arts Center to benefit the Utopia Theater.

All Greenbelters are invited to add activities to the list of weekend happenings. Contact the Greenbelt Recreation Department Business Office, weekdays 9 a.m. - 5 p.m., at 474-6878 for additional details.

Democratic Club

The Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club will hold its regular May meeting on Friday, May 20 at 8:30 p.m., at the Greenbriar Party Room. County Councilman Richard Castaldi will speak on vital county issues. Refreshments will be served following the meeting. Visitors are welcome to attend.

OPEN LETTER

To GHI Members:

In his rebuttal last week to my letter in the News Review of April 28, Steve Curtis declared that he was the author of the petition to which I had taken exception. He deplored my having questioned his intent, declaring that, "If GHI's image is tarnished, it is a consequence of personal attacks against the petitioners and not owing to the petition itself."

My "personal attack" — every last word of it — was in stating that bringing up the matter again ". . . serves only to prove that among GHI members there are some who are reckless, irresponsible and vindictive."

Now please, GHI member, compare my "personal attack" with the copy of the petition you received from GHI, the one that concerned a "former GHI board President who is now a GHI Board Member. What is to be deplored is Mr. Curtis' taking advantage of the petition procedure to vent his spleen. On the other hand, the same evidence suggests that he is more than well qualified to judge what is a "personal attack." Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

"Twigs" Opens at Utopia, Betty Xander Directing

by Susan Rema Boscov

With the opening of "Twigs" tomorrow night at the Utopia Theater we'll have the privilege of seeing the results of a labor of love.

Betty Xander, directress, actress and Greenbelt resident, has been working closely with a mostly Greenbelt cast.

Known throughout the metropolitan area for her award-winning directing and her superb acting, with major roles in shows such as "Guys and Dolls," "Sunrise at Campobello," "Equus," and "Da," and in Greenbelt for her witty performance in Cliff Smith's "Kaleidoscope," Xander has selected a cast she is pleased to work with and a play tailor-made to Greenbelt players.

Appearing in "Twigs" are Margot Tully, Charles Bortel, Trix Whitehall, John Ward, Loren Ziller, Melanie Fishkind, Bruce Pope, Skip Pocock, Tom Schreiber, Mary Yurkovich and Avrim Fishkind.

Xander says of the cast, "They are anxious to learn, and I have some things to teach them."

By selecting a play consisting of four subtly connected vignettes, each of them self-contained and with its own mini-cast, Xander is able to work more closely with individuals in rehearsals. "I broke it down to a scene prisoners and their electric enthusiasm during workshop discussions made a lasting impression on Xander.

Directed with her characteristic energy, "Twigs" explores male/female relationships using four very different couples, related through the women-three daughters and their "Ma." Often humorous and at times touching, the play provides a depth of range for actors and audience.

"Twigs" plays May 13, 14, 20, 21, 27, and 28 at 8:15 p.m. and May 22 at 2:30 p.m. in the Utopia Theater.

a night," she says.

The caring which goes into Xander's work provides the unmeasurable ingredient in her acting and directing. With the "Fine Line Actors Theater" she has gone into the D.C. Detention Center and Alderson Federal Women's Prison in Alderson, WV, acting and doing workshops with the prisoners.

Of presenting the play "Getting Out," about a woman getting out of prison and the choices she can make, Xander says, "That was an experience of my life." The tremendous impact on the

An Open Letter

This is a plea for help... It is addressed to a relatively small group — those who have the time, inclination and ability to be of service to their fellows:

For years the News Review has been asking that persons come forward to assist in putting out the newspaper. Obviously some success was achieved — the paper has always met its publishing deadline — but the effort has had to be carried on more or less continuously just to keep the staff adequate to meet immediate needs.

Now it is apparent that Greenbelt Homes, Inc., is suffering a similar malaise. As early as 20 years ago, when I first went on the Board of Directors, it was difficult to find enough qualified persons to serve on advisory committees. Between then and now the difficulty in finding qualified persons has come to include even those who might serve on the Board.

It is vital to the continued good health of the community that the News Review and the GHI Board attract capable persons. If either institution should fail the shock to the community would be calamitous. If either should fail the fault would lie with those who are qualified to serve and who might have but chose not to do so. If you are one such person this letter is addressed to you.

Greenbelt Metro Line May Be Jeopardized by College Park

by Edith Beauchamp

The proposed Greenbelt Metro Station may be in jeopardy again as the result of a Resolution passed by the College Park City Council April 12. The College Park Council voted to recommend that the proposed Calvert Road station be moved further south, to the border between College Park and Riverdale. Metro site planner, Lee Skillman, reached by phone Tuesday, May 3, predicted that if the resolution were upheld by the Prince Georges County Council, "I think you can safely say it would kill the route." The cost of altering the site plans, the additional studies involved and the general unsuitability of the alternative site, according to Skillman, would probably result in the cancellation altogether of both the College Park and Greenbelt stations. That sentiment was echoed May 3 by County Councilman Richard Castaldi.

The issue of the College Park resolution was raised at the regular Monday night meeting of the Greenbelt City Council, but because of lack of information about the contents of the proposal, Council decided to delay taking any formal action on the matter until they had had an opportunity to discuss it with the College Park and Riverdale City Councils.

Castaldi has not "tested the waters" to see how his colleagues on the Council would vote on the issue, and he says, "I'm not going to bring the issue up. I'm going to leave sleeping dogs lie." However, if County Council Chairman Frank Casula does decide that the Council should take action on the resolution, Castaldi says, "I will be right out there fighting." The Council is not bound by statute to take action on a municipal resolution.

"I would hope that Council would not make that change," Castaldi said. "We can't keep changing the route every time there is a new municipal election," he added.

Previous College Park Councils approved the Calvert Road site in August 1979, May 1980 and March 1981.

Skillman estimates that at the very least the College Park proposal would cause a minimum of two years delay in constructing the line, and millions of dollars in additional costs. Metro is currently completing final designs for the Calvert Road station, a process costing millions of dollars by itself. This would have to be halted, general and environmental impact studies completed for the new location, and additional public hearings scheduled.

In addition, Skillman cited numerous other objections Metro has to the College Park proposal. The new proposed station would be underground—underneath a creek bed which in earlier environmental tests proved to have the worst soil in the system as a foundation for a station. Operating costs for the station would be increased and capital costs sizably increased over those for the Calvert Road site.

Metro Projections

Metro estimates that the Calvert Road station would have 7,830 riders per day, many of them University of Maryland students, the fifth lowest daily ridership projection in the entire Metro system. By contrast, the Prince Georges Plaza station would have 36,000 per day—the most at any station in the County—and Greenbelt would have 30,000 riders per day. Metro predicts that University of Maryland students would not use the alternative station proposed by the College Park Council, because the Prince Georges Plaza station would be closed to the University. Therefore, the new station would have even fewer daily riders, and according to Skillman, would have so few that "the costs of the station would not be justified." On the other hand, the largest station in the county would become more crowded.

The resolution was introduced at the College Park Council meeting to resolve a long-standing issue about location of the Paint Branch Parkway, an alternative route through to U.S. 1, once Calvert Road is bisected because of the Metro station. Opponents on the Council of the Calvert Road site for the Metro station used that issue to propose a new site for the station.

The measure was controversial even in College Park. According to College Park Mayor Alvin J. Kushner, the resolution passed over his objection, five to three.

The location of the Parkway has long been a bone of contention between Riverdale and College Park, and the Riverdale City Council passed a resolution Monday night informing the County Council that the location of the Parkway and the new proposed site for the Metro station are totally unacceptable to the citizens of Riverdale.

According to a Metro spokesman, the mayors of Hyattsville and Berwyn Heights have also expressed opposition to the College Park resolution.

Greenbelt Police Offer "Ident-A-Kid" Program

The Greenbelt Police Department will offer parents the opportunity to participate in the department's Ident-A-Kid program at its exhibit to be held in Beltway Plaza during National Police Week, May 16-21. Every day during that week, 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Greenbelt police personnel will provide parents with materials to make a personal identification package that could be used in case the child was lost.

The child will be fingerprinted and the parents will be asked to fill out a questionnaire with information that would be helpful in locating a lost child. This information would include physical marks and characteristics, and the child's interests and habits. The only copy of the fingerprints and the questionnaire will be kept by the parents with suggestions about storing them in a safe place. Pfc. Doug Sappington, Greenbelt police department crime officer, suggests that a good quality snapshot of the child also be kept with the other information. The snapshot should be updated every six months.

ATTEST: Gudrun H. Mills, CMC
City Clerk

Capital Improvements, Other Special Budgets of the City

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

In his letter to City Council as he presented his budget recommendations for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1983, City Manager James K. Giese pointed out that the "budget document has evolved from a simple financial report with proposals for expenditures and estimates of revenues into what has become the most comprehensive document published each year concerning the state of the City and its government, and where it is going in the future."

The "form" that has evolved over the years divides the "budget." It covers almost all the receipts that are anticipated, including those from boat permits ($50, estimated) to real property tax receipts on most such property in the city ($1,497,150 estimated). Total planned expenditure may not exceed anticipated revenues or receipts. For fiscal year 1983-84, the manager estimates this figure to be $3,948,800.

There are budgets for six "other funds" included in what the manager has submitted to council which, with the general fund budget constitute the entire financial plan for the ensuing fiscal year. Together these other funds add up to much less than the general fund total. To understand the city and to appreciate what it does, however, require that they, too, be paid heed.

Capital Improvement Budget

The capital improvement budget balance at the beginning of the fiscal year (July 1) is estimated by city manager James K. Giese to be $55,800. He anticipates receipts of $33,900 in the form of a Maryland Open Space Grant and $4,700 in interest. He proposed that $46,800 be expended, almost all of it—$45,200, for softball field poles and lights at Braden Field.

This fund was set up to handle the 1969 bond issue of $950,000. By using the bond issue money and interest earned on its unexpended balance as matching funds for state and federal grants-in-aid, more than twice as much as the original bond issue has already been expended from the fund. At the end of the ensuing fiscal year, the fund balance is estimated to be $47,600.

The city has received, through the county, Community Development Block Grant funds for each of the past four years. The manager anticipates that the city will receive an additional grant for the 1983-84 fiscal year of $130,000. In his view, a grant application of $104,000 the following fiscal year (to reconstruct Plateau Place) will be the last that the city will receive. The city became eligible for such grants when the original area of Greenbelt was declared to be a Neighborhood Strategies Area thus making Greenbelt Homes Inc. and the city potential grant recipients. Through the next fiscal year grant allocations will total $484,000 of which $30,000 is expected to be used in 1983-84 to reconstruct Ridge Road between Southway and Gardenway. "When this is done," the manager reports "Ridge Road will have been widened and curbs and gutters installed for almost its entire length — Southway to Research Road."

Equipment Maintenance

The Motor Equipment Maintenance Fund is the third of the "other funds." It has been set up to account for the cost of operating the city's motor equipment. The manager states "... when fully operational, motor equipment will be 'rented' to the various operating budgets in which they are utilized based upon cost accounting data. Due to limited available staff time, the work required to make the cost accounting fully operational has not been accomplished." For 1983-84 receipts and expenditures of $187,200 are anticipated.

Some interesting and possibly meaningful data indicate that of 13 police vehicles, the least expensive to operate last year were, in order, a 1982 Diplomat, 1982 Malibu, 1975 Malibu and 1981 LeBaron. Most expensive, all Malibus, were two 1980 and two 1979 models. All the latter cost more than 30 cents per mile to operate. The least expensive all cost less than 20 cents per mile to operate. There seemed to be a high correlation in 1981-82 and 1982-83 cost data.

Replacement Fund

As its name suggests the purpose of the Replacement Fund is to ensure that when major items of equipment need to be replaced there will be funds available to do so. Its existence tends to stabilize from year to year what must be included in the budget to achieve this end. Additional funds are secured from interest earned on investment money not needed immediately. As of June 30, the end of the current fiscal year, it is expected that the fund balance will be $205,400. Receipts for the 1983-84 fiscal year are projected to be $84,900 in transfers from the general fund and $17,000 in interest earned. The manager proposed spending $59,200 which would leave a fund balance of $248,109 at year's end. Proposed for purchase for the police are a mobile radio ($2,300); for public works a wheel balancer ($3,400), flat bed truck, ($14,000) tractor with mower ($7,500), and dump truck ($17,000) and for recreation a van-bus ($15,000).

Revenue Sharing

The Revenue Sharing Fund is the repository of funds received from the federal government under a program last reenacted for a three-year period which ends September 30 1983. There are three possibilities for the post-October 1 period: the program will be reenacted essentially without change, it will be reenacted but increased or decreased in amount, and it will not be reenacted. Either of the latter two possibilities would require modest to drastic change in the city budget. The first is the most likely possibility, however.

As of the beginning of the fiscal year there will be a fund balance of $26,200. Receipts the manager estimates will be a grant of $73,500 and interest of $2,000 (which would make available $101,731). He proposes expenditures of $96,200: $40,000 for bond redemption and most of the rest for various pieces of equipment—which would leave $5,531 in the fund at the end of the year. Alternative recommendations are made for spending the estimated $58,400 that would be available if the program were not reenacted.

Unemployment Compensation

The sixth "other fund" is the Unemployment Compensation Fund. The city is a self-insurer. It strives to have on hand as a minimum a sum adequate to pay 10 unemployment claims (estimated to be $39,800). Funds not needed to pay claims are invested to earn interest to add to the fund and to reduce the need for the city to appropriate to the fund. As of the beginning of the next fiscal year it is estimated that $43,400 will be on hand. Interest that will be earned is estimated to be $3,500. The total of $46,900 is all available for expenditure but it is expected that very little will be used. In the last fiscal year $843 was expended while $5,068 is the estimate for the current year.

Tennis Tournament Finals In City This Weekend

by Jim Harbaugh

Come out this weekend for exciting tennis play at the Braden Field courts behind the Youth Center. The quarter and semi-finals start at 9 a.m. with play going on until late afternoon. The finals will be held Sunday in five events, men's singles "A" & "B", Women's singles "A", mixed doubles and men's doubles "A" starting at 9 a.m. The participants are local citizens and could very well be your neighbor.

Already several seeded players have been eliminated. Bob Creco ousted top seed Ed Kaplinger from men's "B", and will play Jerry Forbes at 9 a.m. Saturday in one semi-final. Howard Savage second seeded, will play Bob Dies in the other semi-final at 3 p.m. Saturday.

John Moore, playing in the "A" bracket, pulled off the other weekend upset, by eliminating third seeded Benson King in the first round of play. He plays Pete Allen Saturday at 3 p.m. for one semi-final, while Joey Hess, back from the military tour he served, will play top seeded "A" player George Thompkins, in the other "A" semi. The finals will begin at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Play goes on continuously both days in all five events. Women's singles play shows a very strong field this year. GTA (Greenbelt Tennis Association) members are reminded that the next tournament will be held Memorial weekend, and is co-sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Department. That's not far in the future. Applications will be mailed to members soon, and others may join the GTA in order to play in this and other tournaments by calling GTA secretary Joni Dies 345-3163, president, Jim Harbaugh 345-6557 or the Recreation Department 474-6878. Besides tournaments, there will be other social events held (picnics, wine and cheese party, etc.) throughout the year.

Recreation Review

Police Blotter

Compiled by Mavis Fletcher
A residence on Hedgewood Drive was broken into on May 4 between 1 and 4:30 p.m. Apparently the culprits entered the victim's residence through a window and, after taking jewelry and money, fled out through the back door.

Officer Daniel Ollwang arrested a female non-resident for shoplifting at Marshall's.

A woman resident was the victim of a theft from auto when her purse was removed from the locked vehicle while she was playing tennis.

Two vehicles were reported stolen this week, both from Cherrywood Terrace.

A bicycle was stolen when it was left parked outside the Post Office.

Officer Juan Turner arrested two male non-residents for shoplifting in Marshalls last Friday. Officer Turner and a security guard from Marshall's observed the subject removing items and leaving the store and effected the arrests when the suspects attempted to drive away in their car.

draulic lift would provide another bay for working on city vehicles — pick up trucks and other smaller vehicles.

Mosquito control will again cost $400 (or less). "The budget doesn't increase, but the mosquitoes do," someone quipped.

Tennis Courts

With no discussion on the matter, it was impossible to tell how council will react to the proposal to reconstruct the four lower tennis courts on Braden Field. With extensive base failure requiring a major expenditure ($80,000), Giese laid it on the line to council — pay or abandon.

Parks

"There will be more emphasis on Parks this summer," Giese promised. Last year the city's crew spent more time than usual on street repair and reconstruction. No additional personnel are planned for in this budget.

"As we add acreage and develop that acreage, we place a greater burden on the public works crew," Smith told council. "For example, we already have a substantial increase in the number of ball fields that have to be maintained. This year we have more trail activity — the Perimeter Trail and the Gladys Spellman Overpass Trail."

"Does that mean," asked Weidenfeld with a wide grin, "that you have enough work to do?"

"Too much," replied a dour Parks Superintendent Dennis Dornekamp.

A major project planned for this year is landscaping the entrance to the Buddy Attick Park ($3,000) and reconstruction of the entrance road ($12,000). Multi-year development plans call for continued improvements to Greenbriar Park (small picnic shelter, $2,100, and sheltered bench and table, $800) and to Springhill Lake Park (multi-purpose play area at golf course $3,300).

Improvements to ball fields this year include night-lights for Braden Field. Council hopes the old lights can be used somewhere else within the city. Yes, but we'll need poles and a new power source, replied staff.

A tiff developed between Pilski and Dornekamp over beautification plans for all areas of city-owned land. Pilski pushed hard for more "passive recreation" and beauty spots "as pretty as you have on Southway. I'm looking for someone with imagination . . ." he continued, looking straight at Dornekamp. "The Crescent Road area is also an entrance to the city . . . We need to come up with a plan."

But Dornekamp wasn't biting. When confronted with the question, "What do you want to see?"

Dornekamp, still dour, replied, "Ballfields."

"Mr. D. hasn't drawn up an overall plan," intervened Weidenfeld after some moments, "because council hasn't directed that it be done and his boss hasn't told him to do it."

Giese then ticked off the list of beautification efforts that have been accomplished since the Southway project — at Springhill Lake and Greenbriar most recently. Putens added the Windsor Green entrance, which Dornekamp designed and the homeowners association paid for.

Pilski, again pushing his point, retorted with Candy Cane City and the adjacent creek: "What can we do with that area? Is it really attractive?" He insisted an overall plan be drawn up and something listed in the "special objectives" section of the Parks budget.

"If we don't have a good program in parks, and that costs money," said Giese, getting in the last word, "it's because we haven't budgeted money for that."

North End Community Center

Giese has proposed a budget of $86,000 for the North End Community Center, a rough estimate of what it might cost to operate the building annually. Initial cost of reopening the old school (major repairs) would come from two sources: (1) $45,000 budgeted for use this year but not spent because the board of education has not yet released the property and (2) unappropriated reserves.

A yearly appropriation of $86,000 equals 5c on the tax rate. Some portion of that cost could be covered through rental of space in the building. For example, the city has received one inquiry for a day care center there. Though no definition has been set on who would use the building, its primary purpose would likely be to house city programs and maybe office space for community non-profit organizations. The city is sharply restricted on how much income can be realized from the building before antagonizing the county (which is essentially giving away the valuable property) and the state (which is still paying off the construction loan for the last addition and renovation of the building).

Giese sees the building as a heavy financial burden for the city and wants council and the taxpayers — both very enthusiastic about obtaining the property — to be aware of the cost involved. These costs are "one reason for (my suggesting a capital improvements) bond issue," Giese told council. "There is a need here for decision-making by council."

lations concerning minimum upkeep of members' premises.

The last petition, also likely to engender debate, requests the board to present a list of "approved actions of the board" during the year preceding the annual meeting for the information of members. The preamble to this resolution, however, states that members could "have an opportunity to review board actions and question any particular item before voting their approval of the board's conduct of GHI business." It is obviously not clear whether or not those who signed the petition want all board motions, even including ratification of contracts, to be approved by the membership at the annual meeting or if they still wish the board to represent the membership and reach decisions on the conduct of GHIs affairs.
