Greenbelt Voters Give Democrats A Clean Sweep, Pass All Questions

by Elaine Skolnik

A small turnout with no surprises best characterizes Tuesday's mid-term general election in Greenbelt where there was a Democratic sweep for state and county offices as well as for the United States Senate and Congress. Only 46.8% of the registered voters cast their votes in the city's four precincts. (See table page 10) In the city, the Democrats hold an almost three to one edge over the Republicans, and about a four to one margin in the county. Statewide, they outnumber the Republicans three to one.

Greenbelt results pretty much mirrored those in the county and state. With a commanding lead in the polls, Rep. Barbara A. Mikulski, a five-term Democratic member of Congress from Baltimore, chalked up an impressive victory over GOP nominee Linda Chavez with 67.7% of the Greenbelt votes, 67% countywide but 61% statewide. Unlike retiring Senator Charles MacC. Mathias, Jr. who was a consistent winner in Greenbelt, Chavez was unable to attract significant Democratic support.

In the Fifth Congressional District, two-term incumbent Steny H. Hoyer continued his winning ways garnering 82% of the vote locally and the distinction of top vote getter. Baltimore Mayor William Donald Shaefer (and running-mate Melvin A. Steinberg) crushed his opponent, reaping 80.6% of the city's vote, 81% in the county, and 82% statewide.

The county executive race was a breeze for incumbent Parris Glendening, who defeated his opponent R. Dan Ritchie, one of the most visible Republican candidates. The first county executive to be reelected since the office was established in 1970, Glendening collected 75.4% of the vote in Greenbelt, and 77% in the county.

Residents Richard J. Castaldi and Suzanne Plogman both did well in the city. Castaldi scored second in number of votes, Plogman received the highest percentage. In his bid for reelection, incumbent County Councilman Castaldi overwhelmed his Republican challenger James E. Graves, reaping 3096 or 84.8% of the votes cast in the city and 77.2% in the fourth councilmanic district. (19 out of 21 precincts reporting.)

Plogman, in her first bid for public office — the non-partisan second district school board seat — was given a resounding vote of confidence amassing 86.5% of the Greenbelt tally and about 80% in the district.

The interesting States Attorney race concluded with Democrat Alex Williams defeating Republican David M. Simpson. Locally, Williams received 61.5% of the ballots. Williams, who beat long-time State's Attorney Arthur Marshall in the Democratic primary did as well on the county level where he received 61% of the votes (170 of 171 precincts reporting.)

On the state level, in the 23rd district, incumbent State Senator Leo Green chalked up an impressive victory with 78.1% in the city, 76% in the district. In the contest for three seats in the House of Delegates, incumbent Joan Pitkin was the top vote getter, with incumbent Mary Conroy and Charles Ryan close behind in Greenbelt and in the county.

The chart below gives detailed results of the vote in Greenbelt precincts.

Questions

In Greenbelt all four of the proposed constitutional amendments (Questions 1-4) passed by a wide margin. The three county charter amendments all passed; however, Question B, the proposed raise for county council members, barely squeaked through by a vote of 1369 for and 1282 against the proposed salary increase. All six bond issue authorizations passed by handsome margins. Question G, the $80 million bond issue for roads and bridges, passed by 2363 to 563.

Prince Georges Competes For All-America Title

Prince George's County was recently named as one of 16 finalists in the annual All-America City competition, sponsored by the National Municipal League's Citizen's Forum for Self-Government and USA TODAY newspaper. The County was selected for the finals from a field of several hundred applicants.

County Executive Parris Glendening explained that the county's presentation to the awards jury focused on citizen action and the renaissance in county affairs over the past few years. In particular, the county emphasized the citizen-led rollback of the TRIM Amendment in November, 1984; the Advisory Council for Business and Industry's support for the county's school system; and the accomplishments of the Prince Georges County Economic Development Corporation.

A group of Prince Georges citizens will now go to Kansas City, Missouri to make a final oral presentation to the awards jury. These presentations — by all 16 finalists — will be made from November 7 to 9. The awards jury will then do an independent investigation of the communities in the finals and several will then be named All-America Cities in January.

County citizens chosen to represent Prince Georges County at the All-America City finals include Parris Glendening, Lance Billingsley, Vaughn Barkdoll, Bonnie Johns and Winfield Kelly.

Prince Georges County will make its presentation on November 9. All presentations are open to the public and the press.

GCC Has Annual Meeting Sales Reach Record High

by Joe Timer

Members of Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative who attended the October 25, annual membership meeting heard Manager Bob Davis report that supermarket sales are 14 percent higher than year-ago levels. Davis noted, "This sales increase can be attributed to additional advertising and a recognition by our customers that the Co-op represents a good alternative with quality products at a competitive price."

Concerning the price war between Safeway and Giant, Davis said the Co-op cannot sell groceries at a loss, "but in response to that price war, the Co-op has reduced prices on about 300 high-volume items (e.g. coffee, milk, paper products) that are particularly important to price-sensitive shoppers. Sales at the Co-op supermarket reached a record high last week ($101,000).

Manager Dave Meadows reported that the service station continues to sell about the same amount of gasoline, but revenues are substantially lower since gas prices have dropped about 35 percent in the last 7 months. Meadows said he is currently emphasizing services. One member commented that most customers are attracted to the station because of the technical abilities of the mechanics. Meadows reported that the mechanics will be attending an additional 2 hours of classes in November and December to maintain their skills.

Previously, the Co-op service station accepted used oil from individuals who changed their own oil. New laws have changed this, since contaminated oil is now considered hazardous waste. Rather than being paid for it, used oil, the Co-op must now pay 10 cents a gallon to dispose of used oil.

Treasurer Joe Timer reported

Right Idea, Wrong Place

No one disputes, we think, that a second housing facility for senior citizens in Greenbelt would be a good and timely idea. This is an ideal community for active older folks who enjoy sharing interests with others like themselves. That Greenbelt is a community with almost all needed services and facilities within walking distance is an added inducement. And in a town that is almost fifty, many of its population, aging along with the city, will need an appropriate kind of low-maintenance home. Long waiting lists for Green Ridge House suggest that clearly.

But we were pulled up short when we heard the proposal for where to place the seven-story cooperative apartment building that a citizen committee has envisioned. This group is requesting use of a city-owned site between St. Hugh's School and the Pepco substation property on Crescent Rd. This site—Parcel 12—is a wooded section of the Lake Park that serves as the eastern anchor of a long stretch of forest land on the lake side of Crescent Rd.

Twenty years ago that entire forest border was privately owned. Old timers will recall the community's dismay when a private developer projected constructing a hospital on a neighboring section of that same border. Community leaders and private citizens rallied at once to protect the belt of green that surrounds the lake. The battle that followed was happily won, and the city then took action to acquire, and thus to protect into the future, almost the entire buffer strip from Kenilworth Ave. to St. Hugh's School.

Would it really be so bad for another building to rise beside the three existing structures belonging to the Catholic parish and the fire station farther along? Yes, we think it would be bad. Another building at that place would destroy a planned effort that has kept the Crescent Rd. vista in forest land as far east as Northway. (Even the houses across the way have been buffered from view by city property full of trees.) Visually a seven-story building would intrude on the lovely view from the lake and the road; it would conflict as well with the scale of other buildings in the neighborhood.

We urge the committee to find a less fragile site. Parcel 12 is a crucial part of our Greenbelt heritage; it should be preserved just as it is.

Correction

In last week's story on Steve Polaschik, his extensive involvement with Greenbelt Homes, Inc., both as board member and as a member or chairman of numerous committees over many years, was inadvertently omitted.

In the front page election story one sentence was omitted: "Greenbelter Suzanne M. Plogman, recently appointed to fill a vacancy on the school board from district 2, is opposed by John Zeiba."

The "City Council to Decide on Purchase of House for Museum Wednesday" article also on the front page listed the proposed budget for the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum for the coming year. The anticipated expenditure for utilities should have read $520.

The News Review regrets the errors.

Halloween Spirit

At Masquerade Ball

Miss Piggy danced with a Monk. A life-sized Hershey Kiss took the admission tickets. Count Dracula greeted all visitors by rising from a real coffin. And everywhere there were masques and costumes at the Masquerade Ball. There were 4 witches of all sizes, a jailed inmate, and an outrageously funny clown.

A Tarot Card Reader, Rosemary Downs, told fortunes until after midnight in the Haunted Attick.

A Disc Jockey kept tunes for all seasons coming at this colorful Halloween Ball.

Prizes were awarded to the Funniest, Brenda Hancock; Scariest, Maurice Smet, and the Most Original, Casey McCoy.

"The Fountain Lodge appeared to be an Old Haunted Mansion," said Shelby Capel, a resident of Springhill Lake.

Otilie Norris

Otilie Norris, 89, formerly of Green Ridge House, died of a heart attack on October 28. She was the wife of the late Elmer Norris. They had 8 daughters, two of whom are deceased.

She and her husband were one of the first couples to apply for a house in the original Greenbelt but were turned down because their income was a little too high. In 1960, they had picked out a house to buy in old Greenbelt, but her husband's death kept her from moving. After two unsuccessful attempts to put down roots in Greenbelt, Mrs. Norris was happy to finally come to live with her daughter, Alverta Shanahan, and later was one of the first to move into Green Ridge House.

Mrs. Norris took an active part in activities in Green Ridge House. At their first valentine party in February, 1980 she was named the Sweetheart of Green Ridge House.

One of her favorite activities was taking care of her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She often had them with her in her apartment.

Until about a year and a half ago when she had a stroke, Mrs. Norris was able to take care of herself. Then, one of her grandchildren, Debbie Brunatti, a student at St. Hugh's elementary school, came every day after school to help to care for her great-grandmother.

Last year a tree was planted by her family in her honor at Green Ridge House so that Mrs. Norris could watch it grow.

Because of her ill health, Mrs. Norris moved recently to the National Lutheran Home. She celebrated her 89th birthday there with ten of her great-grandchildren, the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Shanahan.

She is survived by her daughter, Alverta Shanahan of Greenbelt, 5 other daughters, 21 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren, many of whom live in Greenbelt.

Services were held on October 31 at the National Lutheran Home.

Lakewood Civic Group Holds Annual Election

The Lakewood Civic Association held its annual meeting Tuesday, October 28, in the Library meeting room. The business meeting was preceded by a showing of the 50th Anniversary Slide Show. President—Cheryl Jones; vice president—Carolyn Horvath; secretary—Diane Timbs; and treasurer—Shirley Pray. The association is looking forward to another successful year. Last year's officers Ann Pisano, president, Irene Hensel, vice president, Kathleen McFarland, secretary, and Shirley Pray, treasurer, were thanked for a job well done.

Motorists Caught Speeding At St. Hugh's Crosswalk

Acting Chief of Police, Lt. James Craze reports that between October 23 and October 30 over 60 speeding citations were issued to motorists stopped for speeding violations in the school zone at St. Hugh's School, located in the 100 block of Crescent Road.

Speed enforcement was increased in response to complaints from citizens fearing for the safety of school children from Center Elementary and St. Hugh's Schools who must cross Crescent Road going to and from school.

Through the combined efforts of officers from the Patrol Division and the Selective Enforcement Unit, over 130 motorists were stopped for speeding in the school zone.

The majority of motorists issued citations had exceeded the 15 mph speed limit by 10 mph or more.

There are four signs with flashing yellow lights, clearly visible, as well as a flashing yellow light above the crosswalk in the school zone. Motorists are encouraged to obey the 15 mph speed limit in effect when the yellow lights are flashing.

"Speed enforcement in this area," Lt. Craze cautions, "will continue periodically until the situation has improved."

We're Not a Gang

I have been reading all the letters that have been in the News Review about the Roosevelt Center, and I think it is time that people who don't "hang-out" there get a real idea of what goes on.

I have been a resident of Greenbelt for almost 18 years, and for the past two years I have been "hanging out" at the center. I don't know where people got the idea that we were a gang (we're not), and that we harass people. It's not like we think we own the center. We don't purposely scare people away. They just don't understand us. Most of the fear comes from the things that you are reading in the News Review. We are just there for a place to go and be with our friends. I have never seen any "no loitering" signs up in the center. As long as I can remember, people have been going down to the center to sit and enjoy other people's company. Isn't that what the center was made for? So what if we're loud? We're young, we are not going to be as quiet as older people. Anyone who has kids knows that.

Anyway, when you have a group of people (any people) it gets loud. It just means you're having a good time. And about the drinking. Any town, city, or state you go to, it will be the same, teenagers trying to get away with drinking. However, I've seen many older people drinking at the center. You can't get away from it.

To those of you who agree with the unknown person who wrote "A trip to the center," I don't understand why you dread coming there. Just so everybody knows, the center does have foot patrol. And Mr. or Mrs. Unknown, on behalf of the "undesirables," most of us come from middle-class families and don't appreciate being considered the dregs of Greenbelt.

GHI NOTES

The Architecture and Environment Committee will meet Monday, November 10, at 8 p.m. in the Board Room.

GHI offices will be closed Tuesday, November 11 in recognition of Veterans' Day. For emergency maintenance that day, members may call 474-6011.

The GHI Audit Committee will hold its November open meeting on Thursday, November 13 at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room. All GHI members are invited to attend. Roy Colvin has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the Audit Committee.

Volunteers Needed

Prince Georges County Hotline and the new Suicide Prevention Center are looking for volunteers to become crisis counselors. Persons who have a few hours to spare each week, who are caring and nonjudgmental and who would like to help others are needed. Shifts can be arranged to suit the applicant's schedule, daytime, evening, or weekend.

There are no age requirements. Training is provided and no experience is necessary. Young people between 16 and 18 years old are especially encouraged to apply to work the newly developed teen line. Interested persons should call 577-3140 for an application.

Thanks for Noticing

I would like to express my appreciation to the person who wrote the letter in the October 30 edition about the Center. We did a lot of work to the old barbershop and I'm glad that people take time to notice these things. I would also like to let that person know what the merchants are doing to make Roosevelt Center more desirable.

The merchants held a meeting last Tuesday where they invited the acting Police Chief, James Craze, and PFC Patrick McAndrew. We were all concerned about just the things you mentioned.

Chief Craze told us that unless there are complaints, there is not much the police can do. The Center's purpose is a gathering spot for the city, and unfortunately it can attract the wrong crowd. For the past month, there have been foot patrols regularly patrolling the center. Their presence has been welcomed by the merchants and the Greenbelters who do business here, but their powers are limited. There is no longer a curfew for teenagers in effect in Greenbelt, and they are perfect citizens while the Police walk by.

As a merchant in the Center, I can tell you that we are working to clean things up. We now know what our rights and responsibilities are concerning the "undesirable element." We are considering a Watch Program where each one of us takes part.

As for the problems you mentioned about High's in the evening hours, I think they would be receptive to any comments you might have. High's is owned by the Capitol Milk Producers Co-op, Inc., in Laurel. I am sending them a copy of your letter and inviting them to come to the regular merchant's meetings. It will take a group effort to restore the Center to its former state.

Again, thank you for the letter and I welcome the interest you've shown for Old Greenbelt. I think that if we work together, we will see improvements in Roosevelt Center.

Soccer News

by Kevin Wheatley

Sunday's game against New Carrollton brought the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club 9 and under's season to a close.

Despite its record, the team fared well against a barrage of very talented all boy select teams. They should be very proud of themselves for never giving up, always trying their hardest no matter how big the opponent was.

By playing in a league that was over their heads, Greenbelt acquired some very important soccer skills that will be extremely valuable to them when they return to their regular league next spring. They also will be noticed by their opponents.

It is time to bid farewell to the players born in 1977. They will move up to another team next spring and will be greatly missed. They are: Jackie Byerly, Scott Lubey, Miguel B. Pereira, Shannon Shea, Kris Todd, T. J. Trimble, Scott Watson, Adam Wheatley, and Shawn Wilson.

As for the rest of the mud puppies, don't get fat and lazy over the winter. We have a championship to win . . . believe it!

Maintain the Spirit

I basically support the desire of many Greenbelt citizens to establish a museum. However, I can't help wishing that the same degree of energy and enthusiasm that has gone into the museum concept could also be applied to maintaining the spirit and environment of our unique community.

In the past several decades we have witnessed a steady erosion of many of the qualities that most of us consider central to Greenbelt. It is my view that Greenbelt itself is its best and only true legacy, and that our priority should be to preserve its green heritage as much as possible. However, it seems that many of us have adopted an attitude of resignation in the face of the massive drive toward so-called "progress" in this county, rather than to actively pursue alternatives to some of the development that has been thrust upon us.

I understand the historical importance of a museum, as well as its value in promoting Greenbelt as a place to live. However, I find it sadly ironic that we can pursue this goal so passionately while so much of what we value about our unique community is being erased unchallenged.

False Savings

I wish to bring to your attention the fact that, for at least the last four months, several lights on the Old Greenbelt side of the pathway leading to the Gladys Spellman Bridge over the Baltimore-Washington Expressway have been out. Within the past few weeks, I have noticed to my chagrin that none of the lights on that side of the bridge have been functioning. It is a very harrowing experience walking along those dark woods without the benefit of lamplight anytime after 6 p.m.

I cannot help but feel that the lampposts were put there for a reason. Those on the bridge itself are always on at night, but it necessitates a mad rush to get to their relative safety.

The defacement of the bridge by Satanic cult-type writings (which seems to have occurred some time in August), on the other hand, is merely aesthetically displeasing. The lack of adequate lighting when the means for illumination are there is both perplexing and disconcerting. Can anyone tell me why there is a pressing need for the community to save electricity in this manner?

THANKS

I want to thank the Greenbelt community for the thoughtfulness and concern that was shown to me and to my family during the sudden passing of my husband, Steve. The prayers, cards and kind words were appreciated more than words can ever express.

It is such a deep loss for me personally but I take comfort in the fact that I am surrounded by people that Steve deeply cared about and I live in the town that Steve truly loved. Thank you everyone.

Delivery Appreciated

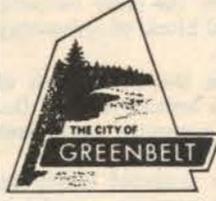

We have been Greenbelt residents for 17 years and moved to Greenwood Village one and one-half years ago.

We were pleasantly surprised when a copy of the Greenbelt News Review began arriving on our doorstep every Saturday, knowing how difficult it is to get competent delivery since both our sons had delivered in Springhill Lake until they left for college.

It is great keeping up with Greenbelt news by reading the "local paper." We thought this was a promotion for our new neighborhood and later, at our first block party, learned that a News Review staff member and neighbor is responsible for the circulation—Jim Coleman.

We thank him for his time and devotion to the community.

Police Blotter

During the morning recess on October 29 at the Springhill Lake Elementary School, in the 6000 block of Springhill Drive, a man merged from the woods and tried to lure a nine-year-old girl into the woods with him under the pretense of looking for his "lost" dog. He was described as white, 30 to 40 years, 5'8", 170 lbs., with brown hair, beard and mustache, wearing a flannel shirt and jeans.

A 25-year-old female pedestrian was the victim of an indecent exposure about 10:20 p.m., October 28 in the 9000 block of Breezewood Terrace. The man approached her exposing and fondling himself, then fled. He was described as white, 25 to 30 years, 5'10", 170 lbs. brown hair, full beard, wearing a dark leather jacket and dark pants.

About 1:20 a.m., October 28 a 28-year-old Greenbelt man was arrested at the Roosevelt Center Mall in the 100 block of Centerway after he threw a container of beer at an officer, then fought the officer making the arrest. He was charged with assault and resisting arrest. The Prince Georges County sheriff's office also had an outstanding arrest warrant against this man. He was held on $7000 bond pending court action. The officer was not injured.

Officer Troy Harding arrested a 29-year-old non-resident man about 3:40 a.m., October 25 near the Candy Cane city park opposite the Roosevelt Center mall for possession of drug paraphernalia. He was held on $2,000 bond pending trial.

Officer David Buerger, after stopping a motorist for speeding about 6:55 p.m., October 25 on Mandan Road, arrested a 24-year-old Greenbelt man for possessing a Smith and Wesson .357 magnum handgun. The man was charged with unlawfully transporting a firearm and released on personal recognizance pending trial.

Officer Maria Arthur arrested three Lanham juveniles about 2:45 p.m., October 27 for trespassing after a resident saw the three using inverted garbage cans to boost themselves over six-foot privacy fences at the rear of a row of townhouses in the 7200 block of Morrison Drive. They had entered the yards with the intent to steal two bicycles and a motor bike which were locked. The alert resident telephoned police and responding officers arrested all three as they were fleeing on foot.

A 34-year-old Greenbelt man who had been in a fight about 12:20 a.m. October 26 in Denny's restaurant at Greenway Center and had refused to leave was arrested and charged with trespassing. He was released pending trial.

Construction materials consisting of various sliding glass window sets valued at $1600 were stolen on October 28 from a site in the 7700 block of Jacob's Drive.

A Motorola pager, model BPR 2000, valued at $350, the property of a business in the Maryland Trade Center I, was stolen about 11:30 a.m., October 28 from an auto parked in the office building lot in the 7500 block of Greenway Center Drive.

An office in the 6400 block of Ivy Lane was broken into on October 27 and computer equipment was reported stolen.

A tire was reported stolen on October 26 from a car parked in the lot at the rear of the Mishkan Torah synagogue at Ridge Road and Westway.

On October 27 a screen was removed from a ground floor window in an attempt to break into an apartment in the 7900 block of Mandan Road. Entry was not gained.

Peace Committee Hosted A Discussion on Nicaragua

The Greenbelt Peace Committee conducted a slide show and discussion on Wednesday, October 29 at the Greenbelt Library from 7:30 to 9 p.m., entitled "Nicaragua, a Personal Report." Discussion focused on policy alternatives and solutions to the U.S. sponsored intervention in Nicaragua. Winthrop Wright of the University of Maryland moderated the discussion. Scott Custer, Nick Carroll, and Eli Crupain, who visited Nicaragua at different times between 1984 and 1986, showed the slides and presented their views.

This presentation included many aspects of life, changes brought about by the revolution and the new Sandinista government, and the current situation in Nicaragua. They talked about child care, medical services, cooperatives, church-state relations, degree of freedom of expression in the press and on the street, and the movement towards autonomy for the Indian and English-speaking minorities.

The general conclusions of the group were that while there are faults in Sandinista policy, their concern for the welfare of the Nicaraguan people remains clear. Moreover, several legal opposition parties continue to flourish. By contrast, the operations of the U.S. supported contras are illegal, serve to devastate civilian communities and bring the United States closer to armed conflict in Central America.

Council Hammers Out New Greenbrook Roadway Agreement, Funds Shelters

by Diane Oberg

At its October 20 regular meeting the Greenbelt city council approved sites and funding for five new bus shelters, discussed signage problems at the Golden Triangle and authorized the city solicitor to begin proceedings to establish a non-profit corporation to oversee public access cable programming.

The bulk of the council's time however, was spent in hammering out a compromise with the lawyer for the Greenbrook developers to waive the normal city road construction requirements.

These proceedings provided a lesson in local government for members of Boy Scout Troop 1274 working on the Citizenship in the Community Merit Badge. Scoutmaster Mike Vaccaro introduced troop members Ed Ford, Ken Granata, Jim Soule, Jaime Barcus and Jay Vaccaro to the council.

The road construction waiver involved the who, how and when of improvements to Hanover Parkway. Prior to Monday's meeting, the county planned to widen a portion of Hanover Parkway, up to the entrance to Greenway Village apartments (formerly known as the Goddard Space Village) to a full 52-foot width, as part of the project extending Hanover Parkway to Good Luck Road. The remainder of the road would be a 24-foot width.

Under city law, the Greenbrook developers would be required to improve the road along the length of their property, including the mandatory dedication for parkland to full width with curb, gutter and sidewalks, on their side of the road. (Greenbrook is the property on Hanover Parkway opposite to the Greenway Shopping Center. It extends from slightly north of Hanover Drive, the southern entrance to the Maryland Trade Center Park, to opposite the entrance to the Hunting Ridge condominiums.)

When the undeveloped parcel of land opposite the Greenbrook land is developed, the developers of that parcel would have to improve the other side of the road.

This land is currently owned by the Hunting Ridge Limited Partnership. Since no rezoning requests have been received, it is not known when this parcel will be developed.

City Manager James K. Giese said the county plans to advertise for bids for the project in December and award a contract in early spring, but difficulties in obtaining the rights-of-way for properties further down Hanover Parkway could delay the project.

Greenbrook Proposal

The developers of Greenbrook, represented by attorney George Brugger, proposed that they construct a full width section of Hanover Parkway to just below the entrance to Greenbrook, with full curbs and gutters, sidewalks and street trees. Because there is no guarantee of when the county work would be completed, and because the developers want to meet a self-imposed March deadline to obtain use and occupancy permits, which requires that a bond for roadwork be in place, they requested this change in responsibilities to solve their problem.

In reciprocation, according to both Brugger and Giese, the county would use any funds not spent to do the remainder of the work for further improvements to Hanover Parkway as directed by the city.

Giese, however, was concerned that, given the recent inflation in construction costs, there might not be any funds left over, though he noted that if the county had "sufficient money to cover the project, there will be leftover money just by what Greenbrook is proposing to do."

The Greenbrook proposal was designed to cost the same amount as doing the work required to complete the full width roadway only on their side of Hanover Parkway. Giese said that if the county did no additional work, the proposal would result in asking the Hunting Ridge Limited Partnership to develop more roadway than required by law. He suggested that Greenbrook widen an additional 215 feet to avoid this problem.

Greenbrook, in previous conversations with the city, refused this request, but did offer an additional $15,000.

At the council meeting, Brugger estimated that that amount would pave an additional 70 feet of road. Council member Antoinette M. Bram then said that if they made it an even 100 feet, she could support the proposal. She and council member Edward Putens spoke in favor of "quality" in terms of more full-width roadway.

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, however, said he could not risk the city's having to pay $20,000 to widen the additional 115 feet. Brugger countered that the city would not be at risk, that in the worst possible case they would have a slightly shorter length of the wider road.

Council member Joseph Isaacs said he did not have enough information to make a decision that night. He wanted further information on county plans and commitments. With mayor pro tem Thomas X. White out of town on business, that left council with a 2-2 split.

Brugger said that to delay three weeks to the next council meeting would postpone the project for a year. At that point, with the council deadlocked, Greenbrook developer George Shay authorized Brugger to offer to put the cost of paving the remaining 115 feet in escrow for one year. At that time, if the money to complete the construction were not available, the escrow amount would go towards the construction work.

Under these conditions the road construction waiver passed unanimously.

Bus Shelters

Council unanimously approved construction of five bus shelters. The shelters will be located at the following intersections: Hanover Parkway and Mandan Road, Breezewood Drive and Cherrywood Terrace, Springhill Lane and Breezewood Court, Crescent and Greenhill Roads, and Lakeside Drive and Westway.

When council members began discussing possible future shelter sites, Giese cautioned that "shelters are set in concrete, but bus stops are not," and that Metro, the University of Maryland and school bus routes have and will continue to change.

Public Access

Council authorized the Public Access Advisory Committee and city solicitor to proceed with the creation of a nonprofit corporation to oversee public access programming on the Greenbelt cable system.

The only debate on the issue concerned the sunset provision. The committee recommended a provision allowing the council to decertify the corporation after the first two years and every five years thereafter. Council approved a provision allowing decertification after the first two years and every three years thereafter, by a 3-1 vote with Bram, who favored a review every two years, opposed.

First American Bank

Council unanimously voted to send a letter to the First American Bank expressing their disappointment that the bank did not comply with an agreement reached at an Advisory Planning Board (APB) meeting. The only disagreement came from White, who had written that the issue is not significant enough to justify generating ill will between the bank and the council with a strongly worded letter.

At issue is the content of the three signs on the bank kiosk in the Golden Triangle, but not the size or number of the signs. The agreement called for two Money Exchange and one First American Bank sign. However, two First American Bank signs and one Money Exchange sign have been installed.

City Planner Celia Wilson told council that APB's position was that the signs served as additional bank advertising, rather than the agreed-upon function of helping customers locate the kiosk.

Other Actions

—Accepted APB report 86-38 on Parcel 15 property covenants. A work session on the covenants and rezoning petitions was scheduled for November 5.

—Accepted the Community Relations Advisory Board (CRAB) report on harassment of citizens at Roosevelt Center. CRAB recommended greater police visibility between 9 and 11 p.m. at the Center, and that citizens be encouraged to report physical and verbal abuse to the police. This report will be discussed at the November 10 regular council meeting. Putens thanked the police department for the recent increased police presence at the Center.

—Authorized the negotiated purchase of a Criminal Justice Information System at a total cost of $19,152.

—Granted city employees a special holiday on Friday, December 26.

—Scheduled a work session on a proposed Parks and Recreation Advisory Board questionnaire concerning parks needs and the Schrom Hills Park for November 12.

Goldfaden Ends Service At Community College

Benjamin P. Goldfaden, a 47-year resident of Greenbelt, announced his retirement as a member of the Board of Trustees for Prince Georges Community College. Appointed by Gov. Marvin Mandel in 1970 and reappointed by Gov. Harry Hughes in 1982, Goldfaden has been a member of the board for 16 years.

Dr. Robert I. Bickford, president, PGCC, lauded the former professional basketball player for his dedicated service and deep personal commitment to the mission and role of the college. "I have never seen him waiver for what's right and good. He has always been a strong advocate for helping and doing for other people—asking nothing in return," Bickford said.

Goldfaden, who played for the original Baltimore Bullets and Washington Caps, was a New Jersey all-state player and an All-American for The George Washington University. He also taught and coached basketball for PGCC and was a physical education teacher for the Prince Georges County Public Schools.

As active in the community as in sports, Goldfaden served as recreation director for the City of Greenbelt and later as a member of the Greenbelt City Council. He is also a former member of the Economic Development Committee of Prince Georges County.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Goldfaden recently retired from his position with the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. He is a graduate of The George Washington University, from which he was awarded a bachelor's and a master's degree in education. He also took extensive post-graduate courses in educational administration from the University of Maryland and the Catholic University.

City's Advisory Board Hears Citizens Views on Uses for North End School

by Leta Mach

In the continuing quest for the answer to the question—what to do with North End School—the Community Relations Advisory Board (CRAB) has held two more meetings with citizens. Citizens for North End Center (CNEC), a group with which CRAB talked earlier, has distributed a short questionnaire to residents of the North End. The questionnaire is preceded by a one-page fact sheet on the uses CNEC proposes for the North End School. On the other hand, CRAB is sending its own questionnaire to City Council for comments before distribution to residents.

Because it had been suggested that a meeting should be held in the North End where the people most directly affected lived, CRAB held a Saturday morning meeting on October 18 in the school. Response was initially low but by the time the citizen hearing had concluded, over 25 people had trickled in. Not all of them, however, were from the North End of town.

CRAB Chair Konrad Herling began the hearing by summarizing the possibilities: 1) do nothing, 2) renovate all of the building at a cost of one and one-quarter million dollars, 3) renovate part of the building at a cost of $728,300, and 4) demolish the building, which would also involve costs. Herling then opened the meeting to the citizens present, asking first to hear from those living in the immediate neighborhood who had not already spoken to CRAB. Nevertheless, many of the people present had already expressed their views. CNEC representatives, in particular Keith Chernikoff, were happy to answer questions about their proposal to use the whole building for a combination of multi-generational activities.

One concern of the nearby residents was the effect on traffic and noise generation. As a taxpayer and Lakewood neighbor, Mary Dorsey wondered about the costs. "Is there a need?" she asked. Elizabeth White and John Leslie also wondered about the possibility of crime. Nevertheless, White supported use of the building for senior citizen activities and Leslie felt sports activities for the 20-35 year old age group would be appropriate.

Uses

One need which Ruth Bond felt was "desperate" was for a polling place. Another need mentioned was for meeting rooms which would be open after the library meeting room hours. CNEC proposes to use the building for artist studios, a photography lab, a pottery workshop, a senior activity center, non-profit day-care for children, senior day-care and recreation programs. Mary Gardner supported the total renovation, feeling that "current concepts point to getting more interaction between generations." Alice Robinson also supported multi-generational uses and renovation of the entire building. She suggested a cafeteria that could provide low cost food to all age groups.

Cost Concerns

The cost was another major concern. Eunice Coxon reminded people that the city had been collecting money for North End ($243,500). "I think that was a commitment to do something," she said. The possibility of getting grants to do the senior portion of the project was again mentioned. A new idea, thrown out by Eileen Peterson, was to have volunteers do some of the easy jobs, such as clean-up. Greenbelt has a tradition of helping, she noted.

"You guys are living in dream time," commented James Kizale. Volunteers, he felt, would eventually give out and he doubted that much money could be saved on renovation costs by using volunteers. He felt the idea of getting State and Federal subsidies could evaporate in the light of the Gramm-Rudman Act. The responsibility for the building would be ongoing and he foresaw the increase of taxes to meet this responsibility. He recommended getting figures for operating costs of the building.

Based on the school's maintenance costs of $3.05 a square foot in 1980-81, the city staff is estimating maintenance costs of $3.50 a square foot, broken down into energy—$1; replacement reserve—$.50; cleaning and operation—$1 and maintenance, repairs, trash, etc.—$1. Debt amortization expenses of $2.50 a square foot bring the yearly operating expenses to $250,000. CNEC proposes to pay 51% of maintenance costs, excluding debt amortization. CNEC is hopeful of finding other sources, such as grants, to fund renovation. Herling noted that none of the proposals would totally defer the costs. In fact, noted City Council Member Toni Bram, the city must use the building for a public use and cannot make a profit on it.

Many public uses have been offered for the building. In an October 2 meeting with CRAB, Greenbelt Arts Center representatives talked about how they could use the building. The group could use four classrooms for set construction, rehearsals and storage. In return, Nick Mydra offered the Utopia Theater for meeting space for the community. John Ward felt the school was a marvelous opportunity which, if nothing else, should be retained for future use.

CARES

David Pellegrini, Ph.D., consultant to Greenbelt CARES, is quoted in the September, 1986 issue of Science magazine, in an article entitled "Researchers Grapple with Problems of updating Classic Psychological Test."

Paul Fischetti chaired the children's committee of the Human Services Coalition on October 16. The meeting included a presentation by Dr. Fenton of the P.G. County School system on teenage pregnancy and sex education programs in the school system.

On October 15, Paul Fischetti and Wendy Wexler re-started the Teen Group at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. The group will meet weekly on Wednesday from 4:15-5:15 in Room 137. All Roosevelt students are welcome.

G.E.D. study classes resumed on October 21 and will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to noon in the city council room. Anyone aged 15 and older is welcome.

The Great Peace March To Pass Near Greenbelt

by Gail Drake

The 700 men, women, and nine children who have been walking 3235 miles across America for the last nine months as The Great Peace March will be passing Greenbelt on November 13 as they head toward the final mile of their trek to the White House. They will be leaving Baltimore on November 11, heading towards Washington, D.C. along Route 1. They have crossed the desert, the Rockies, and the Great Plains, claim the marchers. Miracle is the word frequently repeated as contagiously high spirits retell favorite stories of threatening circumstances overcome.

Another miracle is expected as marchers approach Greenbelt and look for a place to spend the night. Organizers had expected the group to camp in Greenbelt National Park, but were unable to find the funds necessary to cover the cost of the liability insurance the National Park Service requires for large group permits. Therefore, sleeping space is being sought for 1 to 100 to 1000. Anything from a bed to a basement floor will be welcomed. Anyone with a housing "miracle" to offer should contact Jose at 347-0790.

Greenbelters are also welcomed to join the marchers in their last evening of "Breaking Bread Together," a solemn pot-luck supper to be held at St. Paul's College on Friday, November 14. Those interested should bring food for 12 and contact Esther Webb for arrangements, (474-6890).

All are welcomed and encouraged to share the "Last Mile" with the marchers on Saturday, November 15 as they walk from Meridian Hill Park to the White House on November 15. Carpools will be leaving the Greenbelt Library parking lot that morning at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. For more information please contact Esther Webb at 474-6890.

that the Co-op completed its third year of operations in good financial condition. To begin operations in mid-1984, the Co-op borrowed $425,000 from the National Co-op Bank. That loan will be completely repaid in the next 30 days. For the third consecutive year, employees have shared in Co-op's profits through employee bonuses.

The Co-op has declared a patronage refund of $53,612 for the fiscal year ending July 31, 1986. This patronage refund amounts to 3.58 percent of member purchases at the supermarket and the service station. Board Member Margaret Hogensen reiterated the importance of member's recording their sales. Members benefit since this increases the amount of any patronage refund that they may receive; the organization benefits since it aids in maintaining non-profit status as a co-operative. Patronage refunds will be mailed to members in early December. "In its first three years, Co-op has declared a total of $204,680 in patronage refunds," commented Bob Davis. "This is another reason to shop at Co-op. Frequently, these refunds are overlooked in determining the actual price difference between two stores."

Joe Timer reported that Co-op has exercised an option to lease the supermarket facility for another 10 years beginning February, 1987. At that time, rent for that facility will increase about 75 percent; that rent is tied to the Consumer Price Index.

The Supermarket facility is leased from Greenbelt Consumer Inc. (GCI), who maintains the master lease on the entire building, including the Post Office and the Archery Center. Chairman Jim Cassels stated that GCI has recently expressed a desire to sell that lease to GCC. Currently, GCC is willing to discuss this issue, but a decision will be made only after a careful evaluation

GHI's Proposed Budget Projects Lower Charges Because of Reduced Interest

by Mavis Fletcher

The corporation's 1987 budget was the central subject of the meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on October 23. According to General Manager Ron Colton's notes on the budget presentation, the monthly charges of the majority of GHI members would decrease under the proposed budget. Since the interest rate on the rehabilitation loan has decreased drastically (from 13.25% to 8.84%), most members in the frame homes who had the largest per unit rehab costs will see a decrease in their charges. Members in masonry homes will see a small increase in the monthly charges because of planned capital improvements. The charges of members in the larger townhouses will also be increased because of the recently completed rehabilitation program.

Under the proposed budget, income from members would increase less than one percent. Moreover, no money would be taken from the rehab stabilization fund or other reserves; on the contrary, reserves would be strengthened, Colton said, by a $65,000 payment to replace money used last year for asbestos removal and legal fees.

Colton's report noted that costs are up in areas which are beyond GHI's control, such as real estate fees and liability insurance. Interest income is down because of the use of money from the reserves for unbudgeted expenditures last year and because of the sharp drop in interest rates.

Colton outlined several new undertakings proposed in the budget: (1) a computerized preventive and routine maintenance system which will eventually help plan equipment replacement needs; (2) the hiring of a half-time draftsman who will, among other tasks, produce drawings of the specific plumbing installations in individual units and of plumbing mains so that GHI will know where they actually are; (3) a 5-year plan to install ridge vents and aluminum-capped, ventilated fascia boards on all buildings with slate roofs in order to reduce moisture problems. (4) installation of footing drains on some buildings with serious cracks; (5) replacement of plumbing risers in 130 frame homes; (6) blacktop sealing in parking lots where the surface is good enough to warrant the cost; (7) construction of at least 15 parking spaces under the new parking policy.

Personnel Actions

On the matter of personnel, the budget proposes no additional administrative staff. Colton proposed a four percent cost of living increase, which he admitted was partly designed also to give some kind of raise to long-time employees at the top of their salary range. The board voted to approve a 3.5% cost of living adjustment.

Directors Debbie Hartwick, Janet Cantwell and Ray McCawley opposed the amendment made by Director Charles Hess to Hartwick's original motion to approve a 3% increase. Cantwell said she felt that cost of living raises should be just that—cost of living raises—and should not be used to give pay raises.

The board passed unanimously a motion by Director Wayne Williams to put money in the budget to provide short-term disability insurance for GHI employees. While this insurance was described as a valuable benefit to the employee, Colton said that the cost would be partially recoverable by GHI in savings to the corporation. When overtime has to be paid to a regular employee to get necessary work done in addition to paying the employee who is not able to work, the corporation ends up paying 2½ times the regular cost. The insurance would pay the employee's salary during absences up to 26 weeks due to non-work-related injuries or illnesses.

Approval of the budget is expected at either the first or second board of directors meeting in November.

Meetings

The board of directors will meet on the first and third

Thursdays in both November and December because of conflicts with the holidays. The November meetings will be held on the 6th and 20th; in December the meetings will occur on the 4th and 18th.

Executive Session Concerns

The Audit Committee reported on some concerns about the board's executive sessions. The committee recommended that the GHI bylaws be amended to spell out more clearly how the decision to go into executive session is made. They noted that the board does not usually take a formal vote about holding an executive session, as required by the bylaws, nor is the subject always announced, another requirement of the bylaws. The committee also suggested that some matters could have been dealt with in open session except for details that might have revealed a member's finances. The report indicated that some matters be discussed in open session, with adjournment to closed session only if confidential areas must be dealt with.

The committee also suggested that two sets of minutes be prepared for executive sessions, one version with details and one with general subjects which could be released to the members. The board seemed to balk slightly at this because of the work involved. However, Hess suggested that the open session minutes could include the announced subjects of the executive session and the general actions taken in the executive session could be announced at the next regular meeting.

The audit committee report emphasized that "... we see no evidence that there was any attempt involved to hide things from the members. In particular, we have not seen the Board discuss policy issues or make policy decisions in these sessions."

Museum Motion Tabled

At the end of the meeting, McCawley made a motion to support the city's acquisition of a GHI unit for use as a museum. He based his motion on the fact that the history of Greenbelt is "basically the history of GHI." It was immediately apparent that the motion was not going to enjoy the unanimous support of the board and it was tabled on a motion by Hess. The motion to table passed 6-2 with McCawley and Williams opposed

Adopt-A-Tree Now
by Michael Burchik

One of the many projects of the 50th anniversary committee of the City of Greenbelt is ADOPT-A-TREE. The project began in 1985 and will continue into the fall of 1987 - the 50th anniversary date. Thus far, 162 trees have been planted on city and private property. The object is to put the GREEN back into Greenbelt, replace dead trees, plant trees throughout the city where needed, and provide beauty and freshen the air.

Persons or groups such as churches, clubs, organizations, businesses, etc., can become involved in the ADOPT-A-TREE project. The names of all donors and/or memoriums will be enrolled on a scroll or plaque and kept on display. Some trees are best planted in the spring and fall, donations are needed months in advance, so place orders now.

Sites for planting are all over Greenbelt, including parks, commercial areas, playgrounds and throughout the neighborhoods. Trees donated for city property will be planted by the city and those for private property by the donor. Donors may also purchase their own trees for planting on their private property.

An application for the ADOPT-A-TREE can be found elsewhere on this page. Applications for trees are also available from the city office, CO-OP Supermarket and subcommittee members: Bill Phelan, city horticulturist, (345-1131), Joanne Volk, landscape architect (474-2406) and Mike Burchik, chairman (474-6587); city manager, Jame Giese has agreed to act as consultant.

Osteoporosis, the brittle bone condition that results in broken hips and other fractures annually, affects 20 million Americans, including one-fourth of all women over the age of 45, and is the 12th leading cause of death in the United States. Few people realize, however, that osteoporosis can be prevented.

The hour-long program includes a slide presentation followed by a question and answer period about osteoporosis and ways it can be detected, prevented and treated.

Reservations are requested, but not required. Call 725-6786.

First Grading Completed For Hanover Office Park

by Lisa Feinberg

Rough grading work has been completed on Hanover Office Park, a 162,000 square foot professional office condominium park located on nine acres at Hanover Parkway and the future Greenbrook Drive in Greenbelt. Twenty-seven contemporary three story brick office buildings of townhouse design will be divided into nine clusters, the majority located on Greenbrook Drive.

Plans for the areas surrounding the office park include single family homes, townhouses, professional offices and a lake.

Completion of the first phase of buildings is planned for the spring of 1987, said Steve Catalano, project manager and associate broker for Consolidated Commercial Realty, Incorporated located in Greenbelt.

The timetable for the remaining buildings is contingent upon sales, he noted, adding "I am an optimistic sales person. I'd like to be out of there in two years."

"The response has been excellent on this project," said Joseph B. Gildenhorn, a partner of Hanover Associates Limited Partnership (HALP), developer and owner of the land. HALP has developed similar projects in North Springfield, Virginia and Gaithersburg, Maryland.

According to Catalano, the first phase of Hanover Office Park has been reserved by many doctors. He explained that "Doctors are moving into the area because it is central to Laurel, Holy Cross, Doctors and Prince Georges Hospitals. They also like to own their suites."

Attorneys and other professionals have also begun to reserve space in the park, "They also like to own suites unlike large conglomerates that seem to like to lease," said Catalano.

Trade Center III

Thomas J. Long, Vice President of Leasing for Coakley & Williams, Inc. has announced the initiation of a "Lease With Equity" marketing campaign for Maryland Trade Center III. The program is aimed at providing ownership opportunities for businesses and/or the principals of businesses leasing space in the building.

Trade Center III is the third office tower to be located in Maryland Trade Center Park. The MTC III building will be a 15 story 230,000 curvilinear structure with an average floor size of 16,000 square feet. The building will feature a two story atrium lobby and private tiered balconies on the upper floors. Construction is scheduled to begin in early fall.

Additionally, the Greenbelt Hilton has promoted Kirk Howard to Director of Catering from Banquet Maitre d'. Howard, who has been with the Hilton since its opening in 1985, was previously in food and beverage management at the Annapolis Hilton Hotel.

The Hilton's newly appointed General Manager, Patrick J. Duffy, has already traveled the short distance to Springhill Lake to meet with Kim Andreadis, Director of Marketing, to discuss cooperative efforts between the luxury hotel and its neighboring apartment community.

"The Greenbelt Hilton has graciously offered to sponsor one of our Happy Hours, and provided a gift certificate for dinner for two in their dining room, St. George's," said Kimberly Andreadis. "The entire Springhill Lake staff joins me in welcoming Patrick Duffy back to the area where he was raised."

Duffy, a native of Washington, D.C. is a 14 year veteran of the Hilton Hotels Division. Prior to returning to the Greenbelt area, he held a number of positions with the Hilton, such as Resident Manager at the Waldorf Astoria, and the General Manager of the Somerset Hilton and the Jacksonville Hilton.

Coakley & Williams Reports Progress

Coakley & Williams is preparing to break ground on the 230,000 square feet curvilinear designed Maryland Trade Center III in Greenbelt. City Planners from Korea And Iraq Visit Greenbelt

by Dorrie Bates

On October 23, sixteen city planners from Iraq and Korea visited Greenbelt as part of a global tour of new cities sponsored by the United Nations.

The two-hour visit began at the Greenbelt Municipal Building. The group, accompanied by translators and tour coordinator James Canestaro, met with Planning and Development Coordinator Celia Wilson and watched the videotape prepared for Greenbelt's 50th Anniversary. According to Wilson, the visitors were particularly concerned with the underlying social goals and philosophies which played a major part in the development of the city. Specifically, the group focused on how a planned community encompassing a wide range of social and economic elements balances individual differences with group concerns within the town design and operation.

The next stop was the Greenbelt Carryout where a feast of hamburgers and fries was consumed. Following lunch, the group explored Roosevelt Center, a gathering place for the community. Then it was on to a walking tour of the city led by Wilson.

During the walk through Old Greenbelt, the planners expressed a great deal of interest in the variety of GHI housing. The planners could see how there is overall unity yet also individuality as each member/owner gives the unit a special touch. The governing structure of the housing cooperative was discussed as the group worked their way on the inner walkway system to Green Ridge House and then back to the center of town.

The Center School Complex was the final stop on the whirlwind tour as discussion highlighted the link between the original plan of the library and school design and the final product. Wilson said that the group was told of the considerations which went into the development and execution of that particular project.

The city planners were in the United States for three days, beginning their visit in Houston, Texas. In our area they also visited the planned communities of Reston and Columbia before flying to Boston to participate in a seminar in economic development at Harvard University.

Golden Age Club

by Mary Gardner

The "Stress Management Class for Senior Citizens" starts Friday, November 7 at 1 p.m. at the Greenbelt Youth Center. This is a six-session course, scheduled each Tuesday and Friday (except holidays) from 1-3 p.m. It will be given by Prince Georges Community College. Interested Greenbelt senior citizens may still enroll at the first class on November 7.

Members enjoyed a very professional performance of "Can-Can" on October 21 at NASA. Thanks to the MAD (Music and Drama) Players for inviting the Golden Age Club to see their production.

The club's Halloween party on October 30 was colorful and very enjoyable. From two very realistic looking Statues of Liberty to Little Red Riding Hood to a medieval Monk; from comical clowns to country gals, exotic ladies, a surfer, a scholar and a hobo (the identity none could guess); it was evident much imagination and creativity had gone into costume preparation. The judges awarded prizes to all entrants! Thanks to Louise Hooper, co-ordinator, Hank Irving, Recreation Department Director, and all others who helped to make this such a delightful event.
