Conservation Plans Are Discussed By the GHI Woodlands Committee

by Leslie Robinson

The campaign by Robert Rashkin and other members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) to scuttle the current Forest Management Conservation Agreement on GHI's 82.5 acre tree farm and replace it with an environmental easement took a surprising turn last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the GHI Woodland Committee. A featured speaker, Nick Williams of the Maryland Environmental Trust (MET), made it clear that although the environmental easement was in perpetuity, it was otherwise extremely flexible if no development was involved. It is so flexible that the GHI membership can have an environmental easement run concurrently with the present forest management plan.

There were two other speakers at the meeting. Lester DeCoster explained the Tree Farm system of the American Forest Council. Steve Stadelman, Project Forester for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, described the Forest Conservation Management Plan now in place on GHI's 82.5 acre tree farm.

The Woodlands Committee was formed by the GHI board of directors in response to a petition presented by Rashkin and nine other GHI members at the annual membership meeting in May. The petition, which would have terminated the present forest management plan, would place an easement on the land specifying that the forest would be left in its natural state except near homes adjoining the forest.

The Environmental Easement
An environmental easement, also known as a conservation easement, would be granted by the MET, a State sponsored program. The goal of this program is to help preserve farmland, forestland and other kinds of rural land. Williams said there soon will be 40,000 acres of land under easement.

The easement is in perpetuity. There is no other term of years available. If GHI members donate an easement on their forestland, it is only the development rights they are donating. The easement is transferable to a new owner should the forest be sold.

Williams said that for the first 15 years of the easement there would be no property taxes to pay. After that the land would be taxable at the Maryland agricultural rate. Answers to questions about future agricultural tax rates were inconclusive.

In answer to a question by Bill Phelan, committee member and city horticulturist, Williams said that the deed could provide for a number of things, including a maintenance shed and a shelter for hikers. In answer to committee member Carole Levin's question about amendments to the easement, Williams said that was no problem as long as no development rights were involved.

The question was raised about the possibility of including the mini-parks along the inner walkways in historic Greenbelt as part of the easement. Williams felt there might be some problems, but it might be worth a try.

The goal of the Maryland Environmental Trust is to help preserve farmland, forest land and other kinds of rural land.

As to the initial cost of an environmental easement, Williams said that GHI would have to pay the cost of a lawyer to draw up a deed and the cost of a land survey. GHI probably would have to bear the cost of an appraisal of the forest.

Forest Conservation Management Plan

Currently GHI's forest is under a Forest Conservation Management Plan, a contract be-

B/W PARKWAY PLACED ON HISTORIC REGISTER

Prince Georges County Executive Parris Glendening has been notified by the Maryland Historical Trust that the Baltimore-Washington Parkway is now a part of the National Register of Historic Places.

In selecting the Parkway for this distinction, the National Park Service noted that, "The Baltimore-Washington Parkway is eligible for its exceptional historic and landscape architectural significance. Designed and built as part of the Federal government's planned parkway system for Washington, D.C., the Baltimore-Washington Parkway has served as the northern ceremonial entryway into the nation's capital and has played an important role in the history of transportation in the State of Maryland. Planned in the 1920s and built between 1942-1954 during the last period of parkway construction, the Baltimore-Washington Parkway exemplifies the aesthetic and transportation design principles of this important phase of American transportation history."

tween GHI and the State of Maryland. The purpose of the plan, according to Stadelman, is to prevent environmental degradation due to improper harvesting and to provide recreation and a wildlife habitat.

While under the plan, property taxes are at an agricultural rate. If GHI fails to follow written management recommendations by the State, or if GHI sells to a

Waste Collection Day At Eleanor Roosevelt

Used motor oil, pesticides, oil-based paints, swimming pool chemicals and more can be properly disposed of through the Prince Georges County Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day on Sunday, September 29 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

"This is the last opportunity until Spring 1992 to participate in this program and properly dispose of those household hazardous materials that have been collected throughout the year," said Karen Napolitano, Prince Georges County's Department of Environmental Resources' Public Information Officer.

The Office of Recycling will also offer residents the opportunity to recycle mixed paper. Materials such as old telephone books, computer paper, magazines, paper and cardboard boxes, and junk mail will be accepted. Unidentified materials, industrial, commercial or radioactive waste will not be accepted and only Prince Georges County residents may participate.

The Prince Georges County Department of Environmental Resources (DER) has conducted this program since 1988 and reports that participation and interest in the event has nearly doubled since 1990. The drive-thru collection site is staffed by volunteers from the county's Department of Environmental Resources, the Health Department and the Fire Department. Actual collection and handling of materials is done by a licensed hazardous waste handler.

Household hazardous waste management is important because it impacts on both health and environmental concerns. Improper disposal of these materials may poison ground water, harm vegetation and pose a threat to human life. Department of Environmental Resources' waste management specialists recommend using safer substitutes, recycling usable materials and limiting purchases so that unused materials are not left over.

For more information about the Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day, call DER's taped information line at 95-CLEAN. For information on mixed paper recycling, call the Office of Recycling at (301) 925-5963.

GHI Election Invalidated

by Betty Timer

Formal notice of the disqualification of a member of the Audit Committee, Craig Tooley, was received by the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) Board of Directors at its September 12 meeting. Vice President Ray McCawley chaired the meeting. Susan Walker, chairperson of the Nominations and Elections (N&E) Committee, presented a formal report detailing the events leading to the disqualification of Tooley. After the recent election it was discovered that Tooley was not a member of GHI and therefore his election was invalid and a vacancy has been created. The Audit Committee is required to fill that vacancy. The N&E Committee also recommended to the board that, in order to prevent a recurrence, the Audit Committee draft appropriate bylaw changes and devise a procedures manual.

The board took a lengthy look at two requests for exceptions. First, they granted an exception for a 5 foot 6 inch privacy screen upon an existing deck. Management was asked to address the related problem of eliminating double fencing with an adjoining yard.

Concerning the second request, Steven Wall asked the board to reconsider its policy requiring members to pay for the cost of correcting improper drains for washing machine. If nothing else, he requested an exception for his unit. Wall stated that when he moved into his unit a few years ago, he received a signed paper indicating that an inspection had determined that his unit complied with code. A recent inspection indicated that he would have to pay to correct washer drain code violations. "The violations were there when I bought it," Wall stated, "now I am told that I must pay $635 to fix it."

Since GHI units were initially built without washing machines, most hook-ups were installed by owners or contractors. Those hook-ups do not necessarily meet today's code requirements. After a drain has failed inspection, WSSC requires that the corrective work be completed by a licensed master plumber and then be reinspected by them, which includes a $75 fee. Another member stated that her bill dropped significantly by having an independent contractor complete the task. Manager Ronald Colton reiterated that different hook-ups mean different repair costs.

Although Wall's requests were moved by GHI Board Member

Donald Comis, they both died for lack of a second.

In other matters, a newly proposed Mutual Ownership Contract was discussed, amended and referred to legal counsel. The second-quarter financial statement was reviewed. Its outlook was positive. The first of three presentations about the 1992 budget was heard. A membership meeting will be scheduled in mid October to discuss the budget.

In September and October, meetings of the GHI Board of Directors will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays. November and December, meetings will occur on the first and third Thursdays. All meetings are scheduled for 8 p.m. at Hamilton Place.

UFOs Investigated At Science Center

UFOs?? Flying Saucers?? Thousands of people all over the world have reported seeing unidentified flying objects. The Howard B. Owens Science Center takes a scientific look at these claims in its planetarium program, UFOs: Saucers in the Sky?, as some of the most famous cases of the past 40 years are investigated. Are they really flying saucers? Have aliens actually visited earth? People can become UFO investigators and explore this fascinating subject.

This program will be presented at the Owens Science Center, 9601 Greenbelt Road, beginning October 4 and running every Friday evening at 7 p.m. except when schools are closed. There is an admission fee. For more information, call 459-1816.

MML Appointments

Three Greenbelters were included among the appointees to the standing committees of the Maryland Municipal League. Dan Hobbs, City Manager, was appointed to the Insurance & Benefits Committee; Antoinette Bram, council member, was appointed to the Planning Committee; and Thomas X. White, Mayor Pro Tem, was appointed as an alternate on the Legislative Committee.

The Maryland Municipal League is a non-profit, non-partisan association representing 149 city and town governments and four special taxing districts throughout Maryland.

Three More File

Three candidates filed this week for the city council election: incumbents Thomas X. White and Edward V.J. Putens and challenger Rodney Roberts. Their biographies will appear in next week's issue of the News Review.

Antoinette M. Bram was the first to file. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld has announced his intention to file and two more potential candidates, Joseph Isaacs and Robert Zugby, have picked up their papers from the city clerk but have not yet filed. The deadline for filing is Monday, Sept. 23.

Beatrice Hartman

Long-time resident Beatrice S. Hartman, 94, wife of the late Edward L. Hartman, died September 4. She is survived by her daughter Betsy L. Tropp, son-in-law Sterling E. Tropp, Sr. of Greenbelt, two grandchildren, Sterling E., Jr. and Tammy Marie, granddaughter-in-law Charlotte Lorraine, two great-grandchildren, Lisa Lorraine and Calvin John Tropp, and a sister Dorothy Connaughton of Florida.

Mrs. Hartman was among the first registered nurses to graduate in the state of Maryland in 1912. She was a member of ADAH Chapter No. 25 of the Eastern Star in Mt. Rainier, and was also a member of Greenbelt Golden Age Club.

Interment was at Mount Olivet Cemetery in Frederick.

Matthew J. Main

Matthew J. Main, 36 Ridge Road, died September 7 in Lorain County, Ohio. He was a member of St. Matthias Church, Lanham.

Mr. Main was a self-employed landscaper.

Survivors include his mother, Rosalie Smith, father, Michael Main and sisters Rosemarie Creasy and Robin Main.

Services were held at St. Matthias Church, burial was at Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Silver Spring.

All events are free with no tickets required. The address is 301 Largo Rd. For more information, call the Navy Band at (202) 433-2394.

Spotlight
On the Arts

The lights are set, the actors are ready, and only a few bits of scenery remain to be painted in the typical last-minute rush for this weekend's opening of "Heaven Can Wait." This is the first production of the Greenbelt Arts Center 1991-1992 Dramatic Series. The comedy opens September 20 and runs weekends through October 5. Evening performances are Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m., with a matinee scheduled for September 29. Performances are at nearby Capitol College (see ad in this week's News Review for directions).

"Heaven Can Wait" in its first version was set in the 1930s. The Arts Center's rendition updates the play to the 1990s. The play is a wonderful, whimsical tale of a boxer taken up to heaven too soon. Marie Tousignant directs and many Greenbelters perform in the play or are involved in its production.

"Heaven Can Wait" is produced by Arts Center Member Frank Perlman. This is his first outing as a producer, though he is a regular performer with the group. Perlman is working closely with May Lou Fisher the season producer for the drama series. Fisher says that the Arts Center productions allow those interested, experienced or not, to learn about and work in the exciting world of the theater. She is seeking a producer for a series of one-act plays to be performed in December in Greenbelt.

The Arts Center is sponsoring a "Gigantic" Flea Market in Roosevelt Center, Saturday, Oct. 19 and is now collecting items for sale. Arts Center volunteers will collect all the treasures and castaways to be donated. Call 441-8770 or 474-6677 to arrange for pickup.

For more information about current or future productions, contact the Arts Center Information Line on 441-8770. Discount season tickets for the drama and music series are available, in advance or at the door.

"Heaven Can Wait" is in rehearsal. From left — Frank Pearlman plays the doctor; Linda Earle is Ann; David Wilson is Joe Pendleton; Ina Shapiro, the Nurse; and Carlton Ray, Lefty. The play, a comedy by Harry Segal, and directed by Marie Tousignant, will open at Capitol College in Laurel on Friday, September 20.

Lecture/Screening
For Prostate Cancer

Washington Adventist Hospital and the Prostate Cancer Education Council are sponsoring a free prostate cancer screening on September 22, and a free lecture on the latest forms of diagnosis and treatment on September 23.

While prostate cancer is the most common cancer among men and the second leading cause of cancer death, it can often be cured when detected early, and it can be effectively treated even during its advanced stages. Prostate cancer screenings are being held at hospitals across the country in recognition of Prostate Cancer Awareness Week, September 22-29.

Registration is limited; call 891-5716.

The View from Ridge Road

by Christina O'Boyle

Sweater Weather

As the last marching band disappeared down Crescent Road, it felt like summer was going with it. After the parade we walked home kicking green acorns and crunching brown leaves underfoot. With school starting the next morning, signs everywhere added up to autumn.

The weather was cool that weekend, with temperatures in the high 70s — where they should be for autumn's entrance. Yet summer is with us still as the heat reaches up to break records this September. And that's the rub: while it looks like autumn, it feels like summer. We anticipate wearing sweaters but wake up and put on sandals again.

This extended summertime drains inspiration. I had planned to clean up the attic and have a yard sale. But who wants to work up there, baking while sorting boxes? I will wait for cooler weather. This same reasoning slows down yard work and gardening too. Sweating saps energy, leading me to procrastination and a housefull of unfinished projects. I stay inside and imagine all the jobs that will be accomplished once it cools off.

Eventually, we will turn off the air conditioners and fans and open the windows to let the fresh autumn air inside. My bet is that it won't be Sept. 21. No. Summer doesn't simply stop and autumn begin some neat prepackaged way on the assigned day. It ends bit by bit: with sweating days sticking around until October; with our yards filling with brown acorns; with evening darkness edging closer to dinnertime as each day passes.

Roosevelt '82 Reunion

Art Show Winners Named

This year's Labor Day Festival Art Show, displayed in the expanded space of the Youth Center and with show hours extended, produced a strong exhibit and an across-the-art-spectrum of winners, announces Barbara Simon, chairperson of the Greenbelt Visual Arts Coalition, cosponsors of the event.

First prize in the oil/acrylic painting category was awarded to Gary Cousin for his painting "Enlightenment." Second prize went to Marjorie Fugate for her landscape of rural Kentucky, and third prize was awarded to Tom Baker for his painting "Meghan's Christmas."

First prize in the watercolor/pastel category was awarded to Joan Tunny for her landscape of Greenbelt Lake. Second prize went to Marjorie Fugate for her winter landscape, and third prize was awarded to Jane Love for her watercolor "Before the Parade."

In the drawing division, Jo Pritchard was awarded first prize for her drawing/collage entitled "Visions." Tom Baker's "Jazz" earned second prize, and Irina Gomelsky received third prize for her cityscape of Praca.

Mary Halford was awarded first prize in sculpture for her "Topping Onions," and Ann Primack received second prize for her "Head #2." Charlotte Yakovlev received first prize in the prints category for her computer print "Untitled." B. K. Kennedy was awarded first prize in fine crafts for his stained glass panel "Sea Shells in Bloom." The Cipriano Award for best depiction of the theme "Americans at Work" was awarded to Gary Cousin for his painting "Tumultuous Journey."

Young Artists
The children's entries were awarded prizes within categories and age groups as well.

In the pre-school to 6 years age group, first prize in painting went to Ari Goldberg-Strassler and second prize to Noah Desch. First prize in drawings/prints was awarded to Janet Hagelgans, second prize to Rosanne Baker, and third prize to Tim Farris. Tim also won first prize in sculpture.

In the 7-10 years age group, first prize in painting was awarded to Erin Yokel, second prize to Nathan Yokel, and third prize to Katharine Stratton. First prize in drawings/prints was awarded to Angela Shehadi, second prize to an unusual group entry from Brownie Scout Troop 2427, and third prize to Jesse Goldberg-Strassler. In sculpture, first prize was awarded to Kathleen Broderick, second prize to Tessa Osborne, and third prize to Nathan Yokel.

In the 11-14 years age group, first prize in painting was awarded to Rena Hull and second prize to Lynn Hull. First prize in drawings/prints went to Josh Brettell, second prize to Cody Pierson, and third prize to Jon Amundson. In sculpture, first prize was awarded to Andrew Farris and second prize to Lynn Tucker. Andrew Farris also won the Cipriano Award for his sculpture "Loading Ice."

In the 15-18 years age group, first prize was awarded to Sarah Brettell for her print "Skeleton Fish," and second prize was awarded to Traci McNair for her drawing "Tranquility." Although there were only a few entries in this age group, they were all so fine that they were hung with the adult entries.

GHI Woodlands

buyer not willing to continue the program, the penalty is the payment of all back taxes. However, if at the end of the agreement period, the year 2001 for GHI, GHI decides to drop the agreement, no back taxes are due.

Exclusive of costs to manage the forest incurred by GHI, there is a one-time filing fee of $13.50 and a $100 charge for every 5-year inspection.

Under the terms of the plan, GHI placed its woodlands in the Tree Farm program of the American Forest Association in 1983. According to featured speaker DeCoster, vice president of the association, there are about 70,000 tree farms in the United States. Weyerhaeuser Lumber is a member. The tree farm system was established about 50 years ago. In the beginning most tree farm owners were interested in how many board feet of lumber they could harvest. But in recent years, tree farmers have shown increasing interest in wildlife, soil and water protection, global warming and recreation.

GHI entered into its first Forest Conservation Management Plan on November 30, 1973, on 54 acres. On March 9, 1983, an additional 28.5 acres were put under a management plan. Although the agreement of 1973 expired as of November 30, 1988, the 54 acres were carried on the tax rolls at the agricultural rate prevailing in 1973. On January 18, 1991, the 54 acres and the 28.5 acres were joined in a 10-year agreement.

Farm Problems

Stadelman said that GHI's Tree Farm has some serious problems from a professional forester's point of view. These problems and recommendations are spelled out in a document entitled "Forest Resource Conservation Plan," dated December 12, 1990.

Stadelman said that for the most part the forest was an even-age stand, that is, most trees have an age difference of no more than 10 or 20 years. The large number of oaks in the forest are subject to gypsy moth attack. Even-age stands tend to be crowded, which in times of drought causes trees to die. The plan calls for selective thinning and patch cutting to encourage new growth attractive to wildlife. Under questioning from Rashkin, Rodney Roberts and others, Stadelman was quick to say that the current plan could be amended to suit the wishes of GHI members. In fact, in a later telephone interview, Stadelman said, in effect, that if members wished, no logs, posts or any wood need ever enter commerce from GHI's tree farm.

Stadelman said the buildup of leaves, tree limbs and other trash discarded by GHI members in the forest is a serious fire hazard. The management schedule shows "fuel reduction" activities every year for the next several years.

Erosion control is scheduled for this year. Waterbars are recommended on paths where erosion is present. Gullies also should receive anti-erosion efforts.

Stadelman suggested that dangerous tree limbs overhanging the trails should be removed. Joe Whalen, GHI's forest supervisor, remarked that GHI is liable for damage if anyone is injured. He pointed out that if a forest management plan were in effect, the courts would take this into consideration should GHI be sued.

Eli Crupain asked, "Why not let nature take its course with no forest management?" DeCoster replied that for a selected area, it might make a good educational project.

New Member

Members of the Woodlands Committee present were chair Alan Freas, William Calderhead, Carole Levin, Phelan and Rashkin. Member Keith Jahoda was not present. Former member William Wilkerson has resigned. Since the meeting, his seat has been given to Don Volk. In the audience were key members of the GHI staff, members of the GHI board of directors, and a number of members. Patti Casou was the recording secretary.

Police Blotter

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Noticing someone throw an alcoholic beverage out the window of a vehicle in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane around 9:30 p.m. on Sept. 6, an officer stopped the vehicle. During a pat-down search of one of the vehicle's occupants, the officer found a 9 mm semi-automatic handgun. As a result, a 22-year-old nonresident male was arrested and charged with possession of a handgun; he appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was released pending trial.

A 27-year-old resident male was arrested for assault and battery after police responded to a report of domestic violence in the 8000 block of Mandan Rd. on Sept. 10. They found the man's girlfriend in a parking lot, where she stated that the man had struck her several times. She was taken to a hospital for treatment of shoulder injuries and a concussion.

Around noon on Sept. 9, an officer on routine patrol saw three youths in the parking lot of Eleanor Roosevelt High School get into a vehicle that the computer identified as stolen. The officer then arrested the youths, charging them with theft over $300. Two of them, 15- and 16-year-old nonresidents, were released to their parents pending trial; the other, another 16-year-old nonresident, was taken to Boys' Village jending trial.

Vandalism to, thefts from, and attempted thefts of autos were reported in the following areas: Beltway Plaza, Breezewood Ct. at Edmonston Terr., the 6500 block of Capitol Dr., the 5800 and 5900 blocks of Cherrywood Terr., the 7700 block of Hanover Pkwy., the 8100 block of Mandan Terr., Olivewood Ct., and the 100 block of Westway Rd.

Walter and Downs Lead Greenbelters in Race

On Sunday, September 1, on a beautiful day for running, temperature was in the low 80's. A total of 106 runners, 24 were Greenbelters, competed in the featured 15 kilometer (9.3 mile) and 3 kilometer (1.8 mile) races as a long-standing part of the Labor Day Festival. There were 11 Greenbelters in the 15 kilometer led by Dave Walter, 28, in 28th place in 68:03 followed by Jim Shaffer, 40, 32nd in 69:01, Marc Manheimer, 40, 37th in 69:43, Dick Good, 61, 38th in 70:12, Jim Keat, 59, 40th in 70:36, Dave Chitwood, 41, 41st in 70:49, John Munns, 44, 51st in 73:10, Joe Broderick, 52, 57th in 77:03 and Sid Conger, 62, 66th in 81:39. Two former Greenbelters were noted: Bill Bishop, 57, 50th in 73:00 and Chuck Farrell, 37, 76th in 1:42:25. There were two Greenbelt females who finished: Theresa Downs, 27, 4th female overall in 75:33 and Carolyn Crowley, 27, 5th female overall in 78:5.

15 Kilometer Winners
Eighty runners finished the 15 kilometer led by Michael Lieder, 36, Wheaton, who recently moved into the Washington area. He won by a minute and a half over Ted Poulos 53:21 to 54:28. The first master runner was Bill Wooden, 47, Silver Spring in 5th place in 58:13. First over 50 was Peter Monahan, 57, in 19th in 63:27. Dick Good, a Greenbelt was the first over 60 at age 61, 38th in 70:12. Veteran runners Al Guttage, 72, of Rockville and Bud Averitt, 71, now of Franconia, Va. were the last two finishers but they thoughtfully started early so as not to prolong the race. They finished in 1:57:15 and 2:00:28, respectively. Over half the finishers were over 40.

Women Winners

The first female finisher was Alice Roupar, 26, of Ashburn, VA in 36th place overall in 29, Jessup, in 71:34. Nancy Davis-Imhoff, 51, Arlington was the first master in 81:19.

In the 3 kilometer race, principally one lap around the lake, 26 runners finished. Bob Weimer, 44 of Accokeek won in 10:18. The first female was Heidi Trout, 25, of Columbia who ran 12:54 for 11th place. Andy Feeney, Jr. 35, in 3rd place was the first of 14 Greenbelters in the time of 10:42. Feeney in earlier years had held the record for two laps around the lake. Other Greenbelters were: Marshall Rheinsdorf, 35, 4th in 10:53, Jonathan Schachter, 18, 5th in 11:14. Jeff Cumberland, 36, 7th 11:54, Ben Barnes, 16, 8th 12:24, Joel Lichvar, 34, 9th 12:25, Brenda Clermont, 39, 13th 13:54 (first Greenbelt female), Chris Clermont, 39, 15th 14:11, Jim Harbaugh, 55, 18th 14:37, Shereen Remez, 43, 19th 15:23, Vicki Walker, 28, 21st 15:36, Andrew Farris, 12, 24th 21:22 and George Farris, 41, 25th in 21:23.
