

Council's 20 Years of Discussion Ot Lake Park Concludes With Plan

by Diane Oberg

By a unanimous vote, the Greenbelt City Council passed Councilmember Antoinette M. Bram's motion to approve the Buddy Attick Park Master Plan "with the suggested minor, hairsplitting changes" of her council colleagues. The July 27 vote occurred after more than two decades of sporadic discussion and debate on the issue. It should be noted, however, that discussion of additional changes followed Mayor pro tem Thomas X. White's seconding of the motion.

City Manager Daniel Hobbs said that the final draft incorporated more than 70 percent of the comments made at the last public hearing on the issue. The plan establishes city policy for the development of the park, permissible recreational uses, preservation, maintenance and enforcement of park rules. The master plan is accompanied by a park improvements plan and maintenance schedule that are described in the master plan document.

Development

"Development of the park should not exceed the current level . . . Proposals which would (1) cause a net increase in facilities for active recreation use, (2) substantially alter the physical characteristics of the park, or (3) in any other way increase the overall level of development are inconsistent with this policy."

More specifically, the plan calls for controlling erosion and sedimentation, minimizing the development of additional perma-nent facilities, limiting motorized accessibility to provide for essential services and safety. without damaging the environmental and aesthetic characteristics of the park. The plan also calls ofor establishing a review procedure by council for all proposed facilities, including referral to affected citizens, civic associations and advisory boards. Recreation Use

"User activity should never reach levels which result in physical deterioration to the park, its facilities, or the natural environment . . . The predominant recreationa haracteristic of the park should be an atmosphere of quiet relaxation."

This section of the plan would exclude active recreation uses that would cause park deterioration, including team sports. It also calls for the integration of able-bodied and disabled persons in all leisure activities.

Preservation

"The park's natural environment should be protected, improved through an active restoration program, and preserved at the higher level. Preservation of land and water areas shall have equal importance. Visual and accoustic intrusions . . . should be avoided. Development and activities on adjacent lands should be controlled to minimize and avoid impacts and intrusions on the park.'

Among other items, this section of the plan calls for additional tree planting to buffer the park from adjacent properties. Councilmember Rodney M. Roberts, while not objecting to this section, argued that it does not actually preserve or conserve any areas of the park. He at-tempted to move that as part of the master plan the city donate conservation easements to an appropriate conservation group. However, Mayor Gil Weidenfeld ruled him out of order, as Bram's motion was already on the floor.

Maintenance

"The physical and natural environment of the lake and park are subject to wear and tear from many forces. A comprehensive, longterm maintenance program designed to protect and preserve the complete park environment, and also to keep the park and recreation areas safe, clean, operational and aesthetically pleasing, shall be adopted and updated as necessary."

While Director of Planning and Development Celia Wilson noted that the city as a condition of its grants, is committed to maintain the water quality at the lake, she was "very concerned" about committing to a schedule for dredging the lake. She noted that this is an expensive process and there are some alternatives to dredging. She said that the city will dredge one of the lake forebays within 60 days.

Lakeside resident Hugh Jascourt questioned what he called the city's "resistance" to studying sources of sedimentation and other problems that affect the lake park. White pointed out that under Wilson's direction, the city had undertaken several water quality improvement projects that are increasingly extending beyond the limits of the park. City So-licitor Robert Manzi added that, as of July 1, the city government is responsible for regulating sediment control, giving it additional power to control water quality.

forcement

"The quality of the lake and park depend . . . also upon the standards for use and behavior established for all park patrons. Standards setting forth rules for park use should be adopted, clearly posted, and fairly and consistently enforced."

Hobbs said that the enforcement will be done using patrols by police officers and cadets. Jascourt noted that the police are now patrolling at night but argued that some people are afraid to walk at the lake and noted that people are throwing frisbees and baseballs in the middle of the park path.

While Roberts argued that bike and foot patrols would be more effective than motorized patrols, the council member was unwilling to make a specific police commitment at the lake park. White, Bram and Weidenfeld agreed, stating that the police must have freedom to allocate officers where they are most needed. Only council member Edward Putens was agreeable to committing police resources to a specific purpose but felt this should be done as part of the budget process.

The master plan also includes a description of the scale drawing laying out future park improvements. While the plan describes what the city would like to do with the park, the timing and finding of the projects will be determined through the regular capital improvements budget process.

The improvements plan prohibits new picnic tables, shelters and barbecue facilities and would consolidate the picnic areas around the open fields. It also requests that the city consider moving the recycling center to the rear of the Public Works property.

New projects requested include an information kiosk at the en-See LAKE PARK, page 4

Festival Notes

Contributions

Greenbelt businesses still have time to contribute to the 1992 Festival. Through a fund-raising drive in cooperation with the Greenbelt Rotary Club, the Fes-tival hopes to gain the necessary support or underwrite a specific entertainment and parade units. Businesses can provide overall suppo t or underwrite a specific event or award. For more infor-mation contact Festival Committee President Bobbi McCarthy on 474-5888 or Rotary Representative Helen Svenson of Greenbelt Travel Services at 474-1300.

Talent Show

Talent Show Chair Jean Worley, 464-6788, is looking for more acts for this year's Talent Show. The Talent Show is open to performers of all ages, and for all types of performances from dancers to singers to musicians. Jugglers, comedians, tumblers, magicians, and all others are welcome. Performers can perform a solo act or as a duet, trio, or larger group. This is a once-a-year opportunity for performers to take part in the Labor Day Festival.

Bicycle Trail Plan for Metro

by Bill Clarke

Bicycle access to Metro stations is a top priority for the state of Maryland, according to Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) policy makers.

MDOT has committed to spend $2.2 million (0.4 million in FY 92) to complete the stream valley trail system along the Northeast and Northwest Branches of the Anacostia River. MDOT's expenditure will be matched by $2.2 million raised locally. Construction should be finished by the time the Metro Green Line opens in 1994. The bike trail will link the Greenbelt Metro Station to the College Park Metro Station, the West Hyattsville Metro Station and the Prince Georges Plaza Metro Station.

Senator Arthur Dorman chaired an information meeting on August 5 at the State Highway Administration offices in Greenbelt. MDOT and Maryland-Na-tional Capital Park and Planning Commission (M-NCPPC) pre-sented the plan, including funding sources and spending plans. MDOT funding will be drawn from funds appropriated through the federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991. The act provides $5-6 million per year ($4.9 million in FY92) to the state for trans-portation enhancements. Bicycle transportation projects are eligible for this funding. The local contribution will come from many sources, including Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission funds, bond issues, private develcpers and M-NCPPC funds. The presentation did not analyze how well the plan meets the policy objective of improving access to Metro Stations from nearby communities by foot or bicycle. Elected officials attending the meeting included Senator Leo Green, Delegates Tim Maloney and Jim Rosepepe and County Council representatives Anne MacKinnon and Steve DelGiudice. Several of these officials expressed concern that the allocation of funds did not adequately or fairly serve the spending priorities of their constituents. None of the $4.4 million allocated for the project would be spent to make it easier for Greenbelt residents to walk or bike to the Greenbelt Metro Station.

Bicycle advocates expressed concern about the safety of the plan. No funding was allocated for an overpass across U.S. Route 1 in College Park or across MD 500 in Hyattsville. Most road crossings will be at grade.

Another safety concern is trail width and clearance. Plans call for an 8-foot wide trail. An 8 foot paved width was the standard in 1976 when a primarily recreational trail was envisioned. Subsequent experience shows that trail width should be increased by at least 50% on trails that carry both bicycle and pedestrian traffic. Current trail standards recommend a 12-foot paved width for bike trails that are shared with joggers and other pedestrians.

to attend an organizational meeting at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Au-gust 27 in the Greenbelt Library meeting room.

Notlim the Clown

Notlim the Clown, a Labor Day tradition now for 13 years, will again open the Carnival. Notlim roams the carnival grounds as the Festival begins, greeting children and entertaining them. Children remember him from year to year and he is a very popular feature of the Labor Day Festival. Later the Greenbelt Concert Band plays and Greenbelter Jean Cook will sing the National Anthem. Greenbelt officials then take the stage and the Festival officially begins.

Miss Greenbelt

The Greenbelt Co-op will be presenting a $150 scholarship to the winner of this year's Miss Greenbelt Pageant. The Coop has supported the Festival in many ways in past years and this year becomes the first donor of scholarship money to the Miss Greenbelt Pageant.

Pet Show

All types of pets are invited to participate in the Children's Pet Show. No advance registratered as they arrive at 10 a.m. on Saturday, September 5. Dogs must be on leash and all other pets in appropriate containers. This year's Pet Show is organized and managed by the Girl Scouts of Cadette Troup 3030.

Guess Where? Game

The popular Guess Where? game returns. Festival goers have a chance to identify photos of 10 Greenbelt businesses. The game was tough last year, and organizers Sue Schultz and Cass Cooney promise an even more challenging game this year. First prize winner receives dinner at Beijing restaurant and a show at next door's P&G movie theater. Second prize winner can relax at home with a pizza from and video from Greenbelt Video.

"Blues" to Perform

At Lake Sunday

The "United States Army Band—The Army Blues" will will perform Sunday August 23 at "Buddy" Attick Park at 7 p.m. Bring a chair or blanket and come enjoy the music. The rain location will be the Youth Center.

NeighborsDispute Sidewalk Closing

The city has received a complaint from a Forestway resident dealing with her neighbor's plans to close off a sidewalk which crosses his property The side-walk has been used by other residents since about the time the experimental pre-fabricated steel houses on Forestway were constructed by the Fisher Brothers and the original Greenbelt was built by the Federal Government.

The sidewalk extends from Forestway to Crescent Road. While used by residents for probably more than 50 years, the sidewalk was never dedicated as a public walk. Instead, a covenant was placed in the deed for the adjacent home requiring that access be maintained to the sidewalk for the four nearest homes.

The owner of the sidewalk, who intends to fence his entire property, has advised the city that the four homeowners will have access to the walk along with other neighbors in the Forestway subdivision and others who use the sidewalk on a regular basis.

The neighbor who has complained to the city is concerned that these residents will begin to use her property as a short cut if the neighboring property is blocked off with a fence. She cites a reference in a family legal guide book that indicates that an easement can be acquired to use private land simply by using it long enough-from five to 30 years depending upon in which state the property is located.

Letters to the Editor

Make a Call

I'm sure most Greenbelters have become aware of Lucy Nuaimy's fight to have her son, Qussay, returned to her. He has been parentally abducted by his father, perhaps taken from this country.

Those of us supporting her have made great strides in getting this story out. We have made posters, cut hundreds of yellow ribbons, made hundreds of phone calls, protested in front of the Iraqi consulate in Washington, held a candlelight vigil, followed every lead and prayed. This story has been covered by television stations and newspapers. Unfortunately, this has not resulted in the return of the child, yet.

Qussay is five years old. If you are a parent, I'm sure you have experienced the feeling of helplessness, or even panic, when your child has wandered away and you can't locate him for a period of hours, or even minutes. Qussay has been lost for over a month.

Lucy has had support from Greenbelt Police Departthe ment, friends, old and new, and even complete strangers. But now we need the citizens of Greenbelt to join us in this quest to return a child.

Please call your government representatives. If every parent in Greenbelt called their senator, representative and governor and asked, "What is being done to find the missing Greenbelt boy?" we would get somewhere. Right now government doors are being slammed in Lucy's face. They are not listening to one mother. They will listen to an entire city.

Hang a yellow ribbon. Give one to a neighbor or friend. This may seem like a small gesture, but it gladdens a mother's heart and keeps this story alive. When you see one of the many yellow ribbons in Greenbelt, think of a broken family and a missing child. Make a call. Or two. Or more.

Greenbelt, don't let this story fade from your minds. One of our own is missing.

How to Get Around It All

Work has begun on the Greenbelt Road bridge over the Baltimore Washington Parkway. The first phase, during which the median strip will be removed, includes the installation of concrete barriers, narrowing of the traffic lanes and reducing eastbound traffic to two lanes. As a special service to the readers of the Greenbelt News Review, Douglas L. Love of the Committee to Avoid the Greenbelt Road - Kenilworth Avenue Interchange, offers this advice.

Many of us who are still avoiding the disaster area where Kenilworth Avenue sneaks beneath Greenbelt Road have had years of practice in finding our way around traffic impediments. For the sake of our friends and neighbors who have not yet figured out how to cross the Parkway while the Greenbelt Road bridge is being messed with, the Committee to Avoid the Greenbelt Road-Kenilworth Avenue Interchange hereby offers the following suggestions.

One of the easiest ways to get from Old Greenbelt to the Safeway is to:

Go South on the Parkway to the southbound ramp just over the Beltway. Get on the Beltway, then immediately get off on the northbound Parkway. Go North to Greenbelt Road.

There are other more difficult ways to get there, including taking Good Luck Road all the way to Cipriano, or even turning around on the Parkway at 410.

Going west is somewhat easier. Take the Parkway north to either the Goddard or Powder Mill exits, circle back onto the southbound Parkway, and exit at Southway. It is still possible to go around Goddard on Soil Conservation Road to Beaver Dam, and come down Research Road between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. on weekdays, or on Edmonston at other times.

The Kenilworth Disaster is still with us, and continues to provide us with practice for our continually fragmented roadways. A protest is planned in Upper Marlboro. We plan to go through Hagerstown and Glen Burnie. It looks like the fastest way to get there.

Help forHomeless Prizes for Pupils

The city of Greenbelt maintains several funds to assist individuals in times of need and to enhance the self-esteem of children so that they may succeed in the future.

The Good Samaritan Fund assists out-of-town persons stranded in Greenbelt or of low income who are in need of a few dollars to purchase gas or groceries. The Greenbelt Police Department will issue vouchers for the purchase of gas or merchandise at local cooperating stores. Persons in need must first contact a local church for help. The fund is supported by the local churches and other civic organizations; the city only administers the disbursement of funds.

The Academic Achievement Program rewards elementary school students for excelling academically. Awards are given at the end of each grading period and consist of certificates, prizes, games and other incentives. A "Kids Night" honors the students and gives local businesses and community leaders the opportunity to give recognition to these achievers. Business donations have included everything from cash and prizes to company tours and guest speakers. The program was established by the Greenbelt Recreation Department.

The Eviction Relief Fund provides short-term financial assistance to individuals in a homeless situation or threatened with eviction. Help may be in the form of one-month's rent in order to avoid eviction or to provide temporary housing until a more permanent housing arrangement can be made.

Businesses or individuals who would like to make a donation to any of these funds or obtain more information can contact the Greenbelt Finance Department at 474-1552. Melvina Comproni

The Beijing of Greenbelt is one of the city's newest restaurants, celebrating its first year anniversary this month. Located in the historic Roosevelt Center Mall, at 131 Centerway, the Beijing offers a wide variety of Szechuan and Hunan cuisine.

To celebrate their first anniversary, the Beijing offers an outstanding all-you-can-eat dinner buffet of 11 different items for $8.95. This includes such appetizers as sesame shrimp toast, spring rolls and crab Rangoon. The latter is a cream cheese and crab mixture wrapped in wonton skin and then fried to a golden crispy texture.

The buffet menu is an oriental sampler designed to encourage people to try some Chinese dishes with which he or she may not be familiar. While a few items are spiked with hot peppers, most are pleasantly spiced with the traditional soy sauce, vinegar and tomato base. Any can be ordered from the regular menu either mild or incendiary. The buffet features sesame chicken and vegetables; orange chicken; beef Szechuan style; and string beans Szechuan.

Restauranteur Dennis Liu is very proud of the fresh vegetables served daily. The string beans were thin, sauteed to a crisp texture and coated with soy sauce. Fresh asparagus was also available this week. Thinly sliced, the asparagus also comes bathed in soy sauce, and is a welcome addition to the summer's vegetable fare. The asparagus is available as a solo dish, or mixed with beef, pork, chicken or shrimp. The Liu family owns and manages both its Greenbelt restaurant and a similar one in Laurel. Dennis Liu lived in Springhill Lake after immigrating to America from mainland China at age 16. He attended Greenbelt Junior High School and is a graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School and the University of Maryland. Although he has a degree in electrical engineering, he was drawn into the family business and finds it to be a satisfying career.

Liu's two brothers-in-law are the chefs at each of the restaurants. The Chef's Chicken is the specialty of the house available at $8.95. It consists of cubes of chicken coated with a corn starch batter and fried so that it maintains its crunchy texture when bathed in a tangy sweet sauce and sprinkled with sesame seeds.

Trademarks of the Beijing are the large portions and the attractive presentations. Each dish is prepared and served on a bed of fresh broccoli with a carrot floret as decoration. Two diners can easily share one entree.

Other interesting dishes include the Kung Po Scallops in which the large succulent scallops are coated in an egg batter, deep fried and served with peanuts and a spicy sauce. It is $9.95.

The highest priced dish on the menu (other than the Peking Duck at $17.95) is the $10.95 Beijing Combination — seafood, beef, chicken, pork and vegetables in a mild mushroom brown sauce. Most dinner entrees range from $7.75 to $8.75. Smaller portions are available on the lunch menu for $5.25.

A special $4.95 lunch buffet is available daily and consists of soup, appetizer, and a selection of entrees including Hunan Pork, Kung Po Chicken and shredded lamb in garlic sauce. Also available is a dieter's menu with dishes prepared in chicken broth. No sugar, fat, corn starch or oil is used. Dishes range from chow mein to a combination platter of seafood, beef and chicken with vegetables.

Greenbelt's

While Chinese restaurants abound in Greenbelt, the Beijing offers a variety of tempting dishes at moderate prices. The large portions should satisfy diners who like to share an entree as well as those who want to take a doggy bag home. Located in the heart of the core city, it has breathed new life into the historic shopping area and deserves the support of the community.

Receives State Grant

The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum (FOGM) is the recipient of a $2,000 grant from the State of Maryland's Historical and Cultural Museum Assistance Program. FOGM applied for the grant to enhance its collection management program. The FO-GM board intends to use the funds to purchase a computer and computer software which will enable it to maintain accurate and up-to-date records on artifacts in the museum collection.

Governor William Donald Schaefer notified FOGM that it was a recipient of this grant which is awarded competitively to small museums throughout the state. The State Office of Museum Services sponsors the grant program, the only one of its kind available to small museums in Maryland to promote the state's historical and cultural heritage.

FOGM is grateful to State Senator Leo Green and House Delegates Buzz Ryan, Joan Pitkin and Mary Conroy for supporting legislation that encourages the development and growth of small museums by offering opportunities to apply for state grants.

Police Blotter Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt

Police Department

Around 9:30 a.m. on August 10 police responded to a report of abduction in the 9000 block of Breezewood Terrace. According to a witness, a man began arguing with his estranged wife in front of the apartment building in the 6200 block of Breezewood Drive and then grabbed her arm and forcibly took her into the wooded area across from 9000 Breezewood Terrace. Police dogs and a US. Park Police helicopter searched for them, but to no avail.

Later that day, around 2 p.m., a switchboard operator at a business in the 9000 block of Edmonston Road reported a woman with minor injuries in their lobby. The woman believed that her assailant was somewhere around Beltway Plaza. Again all units responded, but again with no effect.

The next day, however, an officer noticed the man they were seeking at a bus stop on Crescent Road and promptly arrested him, charging him with kidnapping. A nonresident, the man appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $80,000 bond pending trial.

Domestic Dispute

At 2:30 a.m. on August 14, officers responded to a report of a domestic dispute in the 6000 block of Springhill Drive. Unable to settle the dispute, the officers tried to leave. As they were doing so the woman in the dispute started walking towards one of the officers in a threatening way with a large kitchen knife raised in his direction. Another officer noticed this, drew his duty weapon, and warned the woman to drop the knife. After a second warning, she did. She was then arrested and charged with common law assault and concealed deadly weapon with intent to injure. A 39-year-old resident, she appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $7,500 bond pending trial.

Assault

Around 4:15 p.m. on August 11, officers responded to a report of an assault with a deadly weapon at the pool on Cherrywood Terrace. Apparently a youth with a folding, pocketstyle knife in his hand had been walking around a man sitting in a chair at the pool; after a little while the youth walked away without ever saying anything and without causing injury. Neither the man in the chair nor witnesses knew the youth or his purpose. The youth is described as black, 14 years old, 5', 180 lbs., wearing wire frame glasses, red shirt, red shorts, and black tennis shoes.

As a woman was trying to make a deposit at the night depository at the Maryland National Bank (6000 block of Greenbelt Road) around 9:30 p.m. on August 10, a thin man wearing a ski mask and Jark clothing came up to her, pushed her, displayed a handgun, and demanded her money. After making a pizza delivery in the 9100 block of Edmonston Terrace around 1:45 a.m. on August 8, a man came up to the pizza deliverer and demanded his money. After getting the money, the man drove off in the pizza deliverer's pick-up truck. The man is described as black, in his 20s, 5'10", 170 lbs., wearing a white T-shirt, denim cut-offs, and a multicolored skullcap. The truck is a red Toyota, MD tags 155054, with a Domino's Pizza sign on top and numerous Grateful Dead stickers. Threats

After receiving threats of bodily harm from an ex-boyfriend during a domestic dispute in the parking lot of Beltway Plaza around 8 p.m. on August 7, a woman reported to the police that her ex-boyfriend was still in the parking lot, sitting in his vehicle drinking; also, she believed that he had a loaded revolver. Assisted by some Beltway Plaza security officers, police searched the vehicle and did find a loaded .32 caliber revolver in the glove compartment and additional ammunition under the driver's seat. Consequently, a 25-year-old nonresident man was arrested for unlawful possession and transporting of a handgun. He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $5.000 bond pending trial.

"Watching"

A woman reported that as she was walking home from the Municipal swimming pool around 10 p.m. on August 11 in the area of Westway and Ridge Roads, a man drove up to her, asked her for directions, and told her that he had been watching her. She did not say anything and the man drove away. He is described as white, in his 20s, unshaven with short brown hair, and driving a van with no windows except for driver and passenger seat windows.

On August 12 a female employee of the Holiday Inn reported that an older man appreached her while she was working, told her that he was the owner of the hotel, complimented her, left the hotel, and then repeatedly would call her both at home and at work offering her job promotions and asking her if she had any young friends who were interested in making some extra cash in their spare time. It has been verified that the man is not the owner of the hotel. It has also been found that a woman working at another hotel has had similar experiences. The man is described as white in his 60s. wearing a sport T-shirt and slacks; he gives the name William.

While purchasing something from a concession stand at the Beltway Plaza AMC movie theaters around 5 p.m. on August 8. a man had his wallet stolen from his pocket.

He appeared before a District Court Commissioner and was held on $10,000 bond pending trial. Then, as he also had two open warrants with the Prince Georges County Police Department for failure to appear in court, he was released to the Prince Georges County Sheriff's department.

Funniest Home Video Contest at Festival by Konrad Herling

Do you have an interesting or funny film you'd like to enter into a home video competition? Or, would you like to send a video post card to a friend or family member you haven't seen in quite a while? You can do either or both at this year's Labor Day Festival courtesy of Greenbelt Access Television Inc. (GATE).

GATE, which produces "Greenbelt 20770" and "Greenbelt in Focus" is this community's local public access television production organization. Its programs feature interviews with community leaders, personal viewpoints of different issues confronting Greenbelters and coverage of recreational and cultural activi-ties. The new program "Green-belt 20770" is directed, and coproduced by Greenbelt's youth, with a focus on topics of particular interest to that age group. Most of the "20770" team is made up of volunteers who signed up at GATE's Labor Day booth last year. While GATE is still interested in recruiting more volunteers to help with television production, this year's booth will be geared more towards the entertainment of observing the home-video competition or the video postcards some of which may turn out to be as humorous as the home videos. There will a prize for the best video which will be announced at the Festival.

Anyone interested in participating in the home video competition must submit an entry by Tuesday, September 1. Tapes must be at least five minutes long but no longer than 10 minutes. Please call either Bob Zugby at 345-2065 or Konrad Herling at 345-9469 to arrange a pick up or to receive the tape. Also, please use VHS tape.

Learn to Fish At Cash Lake

Patuxent Wildlife Research Center is sponsoring a free "Pathway to Fishing" program to teach basic fishing skills on Saturday, August 29, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon (weather permitting) at the Cash Lake fishing area located on Route 197 between Bowie and Laurel.

During a one-hour instruction period, participants will rotate to different teaching stations to learn about fish: where they live, how to catch them and how to cast. New classes will begin every 5-10 minutes between 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. After the program, participants may fish.

Fishing tackle and other demonstration equipment is being donated.

The lake area is accessible to persons with mobility impairments. Sign language services for the hearing impaired can be arranged if requested at least a week in advance.

Persons wishing to participate can register by calling (410) 674-0334 or (301) 497-0539; TDD: (410) 674-5631. Children are welcome.

Election Judges Needed

ity.'

The Board of Elections is now welcoming inquiries from any registered voter living in Prince Georges County who is interested in serving as an Election Judge for the November general election.

Election judges fulfill a variety of responsibilities before, during, and after each election. Most importantly, however, they make certain that qualified voters who are properly registered are able to cast their votes in an orderly and trouble-free environment.

There are three types of judges who participate in each election: Chief Judges, Election Judges, and Alternate Election Judges. In each precinct, the Chief Judges (one Republican, one Democrat) have the overall responsibility of operating the polling place. They pick up and return the supplies needed to conduct election day business, hold a meeting of all judges the Monday before the election, check that machines are delivered and operating properly, open and close the polling place, and supervise the precinct tally of voters, among other duties.

Those assisting the Chief Judges in a polling place are called Election Judges. There are two types of Election Judges: Book Judges and Machine Jud-ges. Book Judges greet the voter and verify that each individual attempting to vote is properly registered. Machine Judges admit the voter into the voting machine and permit the individual to cast his or her vote. Machine Judges also instruct the citizen how to use the equipment if such instruction is needed.

Alternate Election Judges also play a vital part in the election process. Because appointed judges sometimes request the Election Board to release them from their obligation (due, for example to sickness or a sudden change in business obligations). Alternate Election Judges receive the same training as Judges but are on standby until after the election is held.

All judges are compensated for the service they provide to the community. Alternate Election Judges are paid the same salary as the person for wnom they substitute. All judges are also required to attend a training session.

Anyone interested in serving as an election judge this November or in future years, should contact the Republican or Democrat registrar (according to party affiliation) at the Board of Elections. 952-3270. From Key Notes-June, July 1992
