Council Hears from Greenspring Handles Housekeeping Chores

by Sandy Smith

At its regular meeting on June 13, the Greenbelt City Council dealt with a number of ordinances, for first or second reading, to transfer funds among budget categories, streamline purchasing procedures, and grant city employees a 1.5 percent cost of living increase. The council also heard several peti-tions, including one to recognize the citizen's association of the Greenspring commun-

Ordinances

The council passed on second reading a supplemental appropriation in the General Fund Budget due to unanticipated expenses in responding to snow emergencies, operating the Aquatic and Fitness Center, and maintaining city parks. Also approved was a transfer of additional funds to the Public Safety and Public Works Departments. The council granted a 1.5 percent cost of living adjustment to all classified employees as of July 1, 1994 and established a performance level above the maximum rates in the pay plan. Presented for first reading was a proposal to create an Employee Appreciation Day, a new holiday for each em-

To streamline purchasing procedures for the city, council heard a proposal to change the bid limit from $5,000 to $7,500.

Another procedural change would require a purchase order for purchases in excess of $300 rather than the current $100. Council Member Tom White suggested this be raised to $500. Manager Daniel Hobbs agreed with this change and emphasized that proper controls and record keeping exist for each purchase, that a purchase order simply requires additional paperwork. Another procedural change waives bidding procedures in favor of negotiated purchases from selected vendors.

Petitions

Anthony Altieri Perez spoke on behalf of the Greenspring Home Owners Association requesting official recognition for this group and introducing its offic-ers. His second petition dealt with the operation of the city parks. He suggested that city parks open from sunrise to sunset rather than operating on set hours which meant individuals could be in the parks after dark, citing safety and manage-

That situation causes parking problems, traffic and speeding problems in the Greenspring com-Hobbs indicated the city has directed additional resources to maintenance and monitoring of Schrom Park. Council Member J Davis cited some problems she had identified in park maintenance and Hobbs promised followup.

Gail Martin, a representative from Top Banana, a non-profit grocery delivery service, ad-dressed the council to describe the service available to residents of several local counties, including Prince Georges. Top Banana is aimed at senior citizens, disabled individuals and others who may be homebound or have transportation difficulties. Council members suggested contacting Green Ridge House, GHI and other housing organizations; notifying senior and other volunteer organizations; a display at the Labor Day Festival; articles in the News Review; and other means of publicizing the service. The service is available to anyone who requests it. There is a nominal delivery service charge in addition to the cost of the groceries.

Follow Up?

Bertram Donn, Greenbelt resident, asked about the followup to proposals for preventing crime in the community. Mayor Toni Bram outlined a number of actions which have been taken recently, while commenting that the problem is one which will not be solved with a single, quick solution. Doug Love protested the improper use of "Greenbelt" for developments which are not actually in Greenbelt but nearby.

Jean Snyder gave the council an update on the development of the private tract bounded on three sides by the Greenbelt Park. She requested that council again contact officials to protest the private development of this area. Council agreed to support the efforts of the Friends of Greenbelt Park which has been organized to stop development. Council Member Rodney Roberts suggested that the group

Barbara Havekost was recog-nized for receiving the Personnelist of the Year Award from Prince Georges County Chapter of the International Personnel Management Association. Havekost, a one-person personnel office for the city is a generalist who performs all personnel functions from recruiting to hiring to staffing. City Manager Hobbs presented a special award to Daphne Quinn, a planning in-tern, for the preparation of a major planning report concerning the five year capital improvements program. Head of the planning department Celia Wilson, was also recognized.

Cop Takes Bite Out of Crime

An undercover city police officer posing as a pizza deliveryman foiled an armed robbery and nabbed two suspects, according to a press release issued by Greenbelt Police.

Police were notified by the manager of a Seabrook Pizza Hut that they had received a suspicious phone call. The caller had asked for pizza delivery to the same address at which a pizza delivery person had been robbed the day before.

Police then dispatched an undercover officer, outfitted as a deliveryman, to the address.

Waiting out front, said police, were two suspects, one of whom produced a handgun and demanded money. Police said that in response, the officer reached into the pizza bag. Instead of retrieving money, however, the officer produced a handgun.

Arrested and charged with robbery with a deadly weapon were Frank Malcom Dubouis Campbell of 7433 Morrison Drive in Greenbelt, and a 15-year-old Greenbelt youth. Campbell was held on $75,000 bond, and the youth was released to his par-

The juvenile was similarly charged for two other armed robberies in Greenbelt of pizza delivery persons that occurred in Greenbelt on June 21 and 23. Police said investigation is con-

A man who identified himself as a driver for the Pizza Hut, located at 10595 Greenbelt Road, said, "The arrests gave us a great amount of relief." He added that the driver who had been robbed was still upset about it. "He hasn't worked since." he

He also praised Greenbelt Police.

"Greenbelt acted fast and were willing to cooperate with us," he said.

Band Plays, Rockets Glare As July 4 Crowd Cheers

by Randolph Fillmore

On Monday, July 4, with an abundance of red, white and blue, plenty of good food, rousing music and vivid fireworks. Greenbelt residents celebrated Independence Day for the fifty-seventh time since Greenbelt first became a model community.

Starting at eight in the morning under threatening skies, celebrants began staking out pic-nic tables in "Buddy" Attick Park. By early evening skies cleared in time for several thousand people to hear The Greenbelt Concert Band play from seven until dusk. Fuses on what many residents decribed as "the best fireworks ever" were lighted just after nine. Pyrotechnics and breath-taking concussions drew the right kind of oohs and aahs from the dense and happy crowd until ten.

The Greenbelt Concert Band, under the direction of John Del-Homme, began with the "National Emblem" march and proceded to the "Light Calvary Overture." Proving that the tuba can be a solo instrument, one of the highlights was the tuba solo performance of Norman Carey on a piece entitled (appropriately) "In the Depths."

A concert band version of Tschaikowsky's "1812 Overture" and, of course, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" led and Stripes Forever" led up to the fireworks and the real birthday celebration began.

At the end of the display applause and shouts of "more!" brought a final burst of fireworks from across the lake. That should keep everyone happy until next year.

August 15 is Deadline To Register for Primary

County residents who are not registered to vote must do so by 9 p.m. on Monday, August 15, in order to vote in the September 13 Primary Election. At the time of registration, a citizen may choose to join a political party. Only Democratic and Republican parties hold primaries. There-fore, on September 13, citizens not registered with these parties may only vote for School Board candidates. The school board seat for District 2, which includes Greenbelt, will be on the ballot this year. The General Election will be held on November 8.

According to Prince Georges County Board of Election Supervisors, "Registration is permanent as long as the voter remains a resident of the County, keeps his address current with the Supervisors of Elections, and does not let five years go by without voting."

To register by mail, residents may call 627-2814 anytime and leave their name, address and telephone number. A form will be mailed within three days. Mail registration applications also may be obtained at any post of-fice, library, municipal office, school or social service office in the county. Fill out the form and return to the Board of Elections.

The hearing impaired should call TDD 627-3352 Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Persons registering (1) must be citizens of the U.S., 18 years old on or before the next general election and a resident of the county, (2) must not have been "convicted more than once of an infamous crime, and not currently under a sentence imposed pursuant to a conviction of an infamous crime" and are "not under guardianship for mental disability."

Call the Election Office at 952-3270 with questions.

Fireworks Display. July 4, 1994

A Grand Display

Last year there was criticism of the city's fireworks. Our city leaders took note of that criticism. This year's incendiaries were purchased from the same supplier used by New Carrollton, whose show attracted much praise last year. The result was an outstanding aerial display with new and different shell bursts. Greenbelt's display was everything one should expect from a small town fireworks

Congratulations to all those involved in producing this spectacular show, and in particular to the Public Works Crewmembers who set off the display and the members of the Greenbelt Police Department who once again handled a large crowd with efficiency and dispatch.

Grad Night Congratulations

Much of today's news deals with problems in education -the failure of our schools to teach, the failure of students to learn, the increasing amount of crime and violence taking place in and around our schools. Then along comes a story like the one in last week's issue that reminds us that many good things are happening in our schools as well.

The parents of the graduating class of Eleanor Roosevelt High School put together one fine all night party for their "all star" graduates. To do this, the parents obtained the help of the City of Greenbelt, particularly the staff of the Greenbelt Recreation Department, the high school staff and many local merchants who donated prizes and gifts.

The parents decorated the Youth Center and the Aquatic and Fitness Center and obtained a variety of games to supplement the many recreational opportunities offered by these two fine facilities. From our story account, two-thirds of the graduating class attended. They, along with the parents, faculty and city staff had a great time, alcohol free and drug free.

Our best wishes to the graduates as they take another step towards becoming an important contributing part of our sociey. Our hearty congratulations to all those parents and many others who made this a great celebration.

Correction

In last week's article about the All-In-One liquor license ap-All plication being postponed until August, Roy Rogers was incor-rectly identified as one of the three franchise fast food restaurants to be located in the former Kangaroo Katies restaurant facility. Kentucky Fried Chick-en, KFC, should have been listed instead.

The computer system at all
Prince Georges County libraries will be upgraded this summer. Beginning July 18 terminals in all branch libraries will be 'down" for two weeks.

During the two-week downtime, library materials will be checked out manually. Library customers will need to have a library card with them to check out. While the system is down, no new cards or replacement cards will be issued.

The library's catalog, also computerized, will not be accessible during the July 18-30 period. Library staff will help customers find information and materials without the aid of the catalog.

"The upgrade will make it possible for library customers to access Internet via Sailor, the new state network," according to Library Director William R. Gordon, "The upgrade will provide some aggravations and frustrations, but the net result will be worth the trouble."

Spotlight on the Arts

by Frank Pearlman

The new 1994-1995 dramatic season promises to be an exciting one with many plays and events you won't want to miss.

In today's column we would like to tell you about just two of them: "Play It Again, Sam" is a hysterical comedy by Woody Allen - in which a love lorn young man gets all the right advice from his idol - Humphrey Bogart. Critics called it "one hilarious evening. A cheerful pump." The second event is "War of the Worlds" - a dramatic radio presentation of the famed H.G. Wells novel. You will see the radio presentation with live sound effects and commercials - just as it might have been done in 1939.

For more information on the rest of this exciting season call 441-8770 today!!

A Greenbelt Gardener

by Rosie Rhubarb

Weeding and watering are the main garden tasks this time of year. There have been a number of thunderstorms in the last few weeks, so for the first time in 10 years the summer season is starting off with a good amount of moisture in the ground.

spring or fall, but some plants can be started now when there is relatively less work to do in the garden. Finding the seeds may be a bit difficult since many stores seem to operate by the notion that all planting is done in the spring. Some stores will still have seeds, however, in out of the way spots. Those of you planning to plant a fall vegetable garden should also look for seeds now since it will get harder and harder to find seeds as the season progresses.

In the vegetable garden carrots and bush beans can be planted now. Carrots will be ready to eat in the fall. Bush beans can be planted several times to prolong the bean harvest.

Growing Flowers

Biennial and perennial flower seeds can be started in early July Growing them now means less work in the spring.

Biennials are flowers that start as plants one year then bloom the next. A handful of old-time garden favorites are biennials: foxglove, sweet william, money plant, and canterbury bells. I have found all but the latter easy to grow. Starting these plants now is really the easiest way to grow them.

Some perennial flowers can also be started now. Perennials come back year after year. And since many favorite garden perennials bloom in late spring or early summer, starting these means they will bloom next year.

Perennials I have grown successfully from seed this time of year include shasta daisy, painted daisy, maltese cross, columbine (old-fashioned varieties and the native variety), evening primrose.

Most planting is done in the And there are many more types that can be tried.

> Start the seeds in good quality soil in pots and keep the soil constantly moist. Put the pots near the house on a deck, bench or picnic table so you will remember to water them as needed. Remember that with very hot weather pots can dry out fast, so check them at least once a day. Conversely, several thunderstorms in a couple days can drown out seeds. So if the seeds are storm drenched, cover them if it rains that day or the next. Cover only during the rain storm.

> All in all, starting seeds now is easy since there's no worry that the seeds are warm enough or that they are getting enough light. Just place them in sun or part shade and nature takes care of the rest.

The little plants should sprout within two or three weeks. As they grow, thin them out. ie. pull out the excess (weak) plants so the remaining strong plants have room to grow, at least an inch on all sides. By the end of September place the little plants in a sheltered spot for the winter. Sheltered spots include: by a wall: on the south side of the house or garden; and out of the direct force of the north winter wind. And believe it or not, many will survive the winter so that next spring they can be planted into their permanent spots.

After Hours

Residents may now call the city offices at 474-8000 after working hours to request information. Calls will be returned later.

House Okays Pay Raise

The House Appropriations Committee has approved a pay increase of approximately 3% for the federal civilian workers in the Baltimore-Washington region, including every county in the 5th Congressional District. The salary compensation was proposed by Congressman Steny Hoyer (MD-5) as part of the 1995 fiscal year Treasury, Postal Service, and General Government Appropriations bill, whose program jurisdictions Hoyer oversees.

"I believe that in view of the tight fiscal constraints that our government is operating under, that we have accomplished our objective in providing pay increase for our federal workers," said Hoyer. "While it is not as generous as I would have liked, it does provide them with a well-deserved recognition of their hard work. In addition, these raises will aid our local economies and businesses by increasing the purchasing power of our federal employees."

The Appropriations Committee actions includes a 2% across the board pay increase for all federal employees nationwide and the so called "locality pay" adjustment, which is intended to close the pay gap between federal and private sector employees in those areas where nonfederal worker salaries are higher than those of their public sector counterparts. For the Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area, the locality pay adjustment amounts to around 1% of additional pay, making the total pay increase around

ACE and SRO-Two New Ways City May Work for Education

by Leta Mach

Throughout history, philosophers and leaders have linked education, prosperity and happiness. One hundred and twenty years ago, British Prime Minister Benjamin Disraeli asserted, "Upon the education of the people of this country, the fate of this country depends." The Greenbelt City Council recognizes the value of education. In particular, the Council is moving forward with plans for an Advisory Committee on Education as well as a school resource officer for Eleanor Roosevelt Senior High.

The charter for ACE has been developed in recent council work sessions with input from citizens, School Board Member Suzanne Plogman and Eleanor Roosevelt Principal Gerald Boarman. The draft preface to the ACE charter indicates that Council believes that "the solutions to the problems that confront our nation, the key to improving life for all of our citizens, begins with education."

ACE Composition

While Council has been clear on the reason for establishing this committee since the proposal was placed on the April 25, agenda, work session on the proposal have involved considerable discussion of how the committee would work and who would serve on it. Council members were divided on whether ACE should include non-Greenbelters and if they should be able to vote.

Council member Judith Davis felt strongly that teachers should be represented on the committee. She feared that there would not be any teacher applicants from Greenbelt.

Three visitors to the work session felt that the committee should not limit itself to Greenbelt issues or members. Greenbelt schools do have students from outside Greenbelt and Greenbelters do attend schools outside of the city limits. The visitors suggested that committee members could be parents from non-Greenbelt areas. Dr. Mary Anderson from the University of Maryland and an Eleanor Roosevelt High School parent spoke eloquently on the theme that Greenbelt was not an island.

Nevertheless after a long discussion, Council agreed that the committee members would be Greenbelt residents. Mayor Antionette Bram pointed out that the Greenbelt City Council was responsible for Greenbelt and reported to Greenbelt residents. The committee, she explained, "belongs to this city and the taxpayers of this city." The committee's job would be, Council Member Ed Putens explained, "reviewing Greenbelt schools and what we can do."

The individual composition of the committee — the talents and knowledge of its members — was extensively considered. Teachers, school administrators, PTSA representatives and students were viewed as desirable members of the committee. While hoping that Council received hundreds of applicants for the advisory committee, City Manager Dan Hobbs, noted, "This is a desirable profile, but you may not get it the first time out."

Because desirable committee members might be non-Greenbelters, it as suggested that non-residents could be non-voting members of the committee. Council Member Thomas White felt that a vote would not be that important because everyone who attended a committee meeting would certainly be able to express their opinions. After more discussion, it was decided that all committee members would be voting members. However, outside experts and other interested people would be welcome to participate.

The final composition of the advisory committee was settled at nine voting members who would be citizens of Greenbelt. Representation from the PTSA, students, teachers and administrators of Greenbelt schools should be sought.

Council Member Rodney Roberts suggested that the Youth Advisory Board should be represented on the ACE Board. Other members responded that this board would work much like the city's other advisory boards. ACE would complement and refer reports to other boards — Parks and Recreation, Community Relations, Youth, etc. — as appropriate.

Committee Activities

The idea for an advisory committee on education was proposed by Plogman nearly five years ago. The U.S. Department of Education and the National League of Cities have encouraged local communities to become part of the educational process. Bowie and Rockville already have such committees.

In a work session on June 7, Boarman noted that the Bowie group put on the finest school appreciation program he had seen. It included scholarships for deserving students. Council felt such activities could certainly be part of the ACE program.

These are the objectives of the proposed committee:

- To keep the Mayor, Council and community informed of all current and long-range Board of Education policies and programs which may affect the Greenbelt community.
- To provide a Greenbelt perspective and presence before the Prince Georges County Board of Education.
- To represent City of Greenbelt interests before the Prince Georges County Board of Education.
- To serve as a liaison between the Greenbelt community and the Mayor and Council on matters of public and private school education.
- To facilitate Greenbelt community involvement in public and private school education.
- To develop approaches for the recognition of student achievement and teacher excellence, PTSA activities and specific school contributions to the community.

Council envisions a committee which would become involved in many different issues when addressing these objectives. The committee could conduct public forums; identify special educational needs in the Greenbelt community; review truancy policies, school safety issues, the Board of Education budget and issues involving long-range facilities planning such as school boundaries, transportation policies, racial balances, community use of buildings and vacant land disposition.

School Resource Officer

Another new and innovative city program aimed at the educational process is the School Resource Officer Program (SRO). Under this program, Greenbelt will provide a Greenbelt police officer for Eleanor Roosevelt High School. The SRO program is a joint venture between the Board of Education and the City of Greenbelt. During a work session on June 7, Council members, Bram, White, Putens and Roberts; Plogman and Boarman reviewed the concept paper on the program which Police Chief James Craze had developed.

Craze stated that the program was a preventive one, not an apprehensive one. The officer would concentrate on preventing juvenile delinquency through frequent contacts with students. The officer would be assigned to the school campus and work closely with the principal and school staff.

Council members were impressed with the scope of the program and suggested that the officer could become involved in other Greenbelt schools after the program was well established at Eleanor Roosevelt. Boarman felt the program was educationally sound and was looking forward to its implementation.

Both new initiatives demonstrate Council's belief, as stated in the Agenda notes of April 25, that "The quality of schools is one of the most important factors in attracting people to a community — and keeping them there. A municipal government which sees itself as having responsibility for the health, safety and well-being of its residents must pay attention to this important community factor."

According to Sherwood, a fee-based program will be offered to parents of children attending Springhill Lake Elementary School, with startup due this September.

On Wedesday May 25, Wendy Wexler completed her teen discussion group at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. Thirteen students participated for eight weeks. Some students have already signed up for next year's group.

The Maryland Association of Youth Services Bureaus held its annual meeting in Greenbelt on May 26. John Wilson, acting administrator, Office of Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention, was the guest speaker. Richard Friedman, director, Juvenile Justice Advisory Council and Joseph Newman representing Mary Ann Saar, secretary, Dept. of Juvenile Services, attended, as did all state directors of Youth Services Bureaus. Rosalyn Collier, Foundation for Peace in The Community, Inc. addressed the group over lunch about conflict resolution processes.

An average of 21 families a week participated in regular, scheduled counseling during May. Forty-eight individuals were involved, 47% of them children and youth under 18 years of age. Weekly tutoring sessions were held in a wide variety of subjects including math, reading, history and the sciences, Eighty students participated this month.

The Securities Division of Curran's office has joined with other state securities regulators around the country to issue a special Investor Advisory outlining major fraud schemes that have been detected. Investors who wish to receive a copy of the Investor Advisory may write to the Securities Division at the Office of the Attorney General, 200 St. Paul Place, Baltimore MD 21202-2020.

The Investor Advisory includes the following key pieces of advice for investors:

• Don't expect to get rich quick in cyberspace.

 Don't assume that your online computer service polices its investment bulletin boards.

• Don't buy thinly-traded, littleknown stocks strictly on the basis of online hype.

 Don't act on the advice of a person who hides his or her identity.

 Don't get suckered by claims about "inside information," including impending news releases, pending contract announcements and new products.

 Don't assume that just because someone says that they have checked something out that they have done so.

 Don't forget to always be on the look-out for conflicts of interest.

 Don't forget to make sure first that an investment opportunity and the person promoting it are properly registered with the Securities Division.

Don't post your name, address, or phone number online.
 This information will become available to millions of people.

Curran urged anyone who believes that he or she has been victimized by an online investment scam to contact the Securities Division of his office.

Minority Business Study

Transportation Secretary O. James Lighthizer announced that the Department of Transportation is taking the lead in developing a comprehensive study of minority and women business owners in the State of Maryland. The study, to be conducted by National Economic Research Associates, Inc., will seek to measure the level of minority participation in state economic opportunities as well as the overall effectiveness of Maryland's minority business enterprise (M-BE) program.

Legislation passed by the Maryland General Assembly in 1990 requires that Minority Business Utilization Study be submitted to the Legislative Policy Committee by November 1, 1994.

Maryland has several programs in place to provide technical and financing assistance to minorities. State analysts will use the results of the study to evaluate how well these programs have worked. The study will also help the state respond to the U.S. Supreme Court's 1989 Croson v. City of Richmond decision that state and local entities can only operate MBE programs under certain restrictive circumstances. Data will be collected through a survey mailing to approximately 12,000 MBE groups, interviews with 50 MBEs and two public hearings. Minority and women entrepreneurs who would like to participate are invited to contact Andrea Littlejohn of Alexander Gebhardt Aponte & Marks at (301) 589-2222.

LaJazz Orchestra a Hit Poolside in Greenbelt

by Alex Barnes

"Greenbelt has rhythm" stated Maria Rodriguez after her performance at the Greenbelt Arts Center's fifth annual free pool-side concert Saturday night. Rodriguez is the pianist and di-rector of the "Paul Hawkins and LaJazz Orchestra." She and the other nine members of "LaJazz" had Greenbelters dancing to Cha Cha Cha, Merenge, and Jazz. The pool and the evening weather provided a pleasant setting for the concert. When they weren't dancing, people sat in chairs arranged around the pool or listened from the comfort of a blanket on the grass. This environment was a welcome change from the crowded and smoke filled rooms I am used to enduring in order to hear live music.

The concert started about 10 minutes late because one of the band members (I won't mention her name) had trouble finding Greenbelt. (Can you believe it?) Notwithstanding, "LaJazz" quickly had the audience off of their seats and dancing to the beat. At one point in the evening, a 20 person Conga line, led by Derek, danced in front of the band! It had been too long since I had so much fun! This music was hopping! It included composi-tions by Dizzy Gillespie, Tito Puente, and originals by Rodriguez and Pepe Rodriguez (the band's bass player). The other band members were Sam Turner (bongo), Julio Miranda (congo), Frank Gantt (guiro), John Junker (trumpet), Ben Hall (trom-bone), Fred Foss (alto saxophone and flute), Aaron Walker (drums), and of course, Paul Hawkins (leader and timbales). These musicians, especially Rodriguez, are well respected in the Washington area. In addition, Turner and Foss used to play with Lionel Hampton.

Here are some future "Paul Hawkins and LaJazz Orchestra" performance dates, for those that are bummed about having missed "LaJazz", or are like me and want to hear them again: Freedom Plaza (July 23-24), Strathmore Hall Arts Center (July 27), and Carter Barron (August 12).
