Pastor Birner to Be Honored For His 50 Years of Ministry

by Marat Moore

The Rev. Edward H. Birner, a well-known and respected member of the Greenbelt community, will be honored on Sunday, August 31, in celebration of the 50th anniversary of his ordination as a Lutheran pastor. His many friends, his family and members of the Holy Cross Lutheran Church will gather at a special "Festival Worship Service" at 10 a.m. that day. The public is invited to the reception that will follow in the fellowship hall. A dinner in his honor, which some 250 invited guests are expected to attend, will be held later in the day.

Although Birner served as pastor of Holy Cross for 40 years before retiring in 1993, his service to Greenbelt reaches far beyond the pulpit. He was the first and long-time chair of the Community Relations Advisory Board and for many years has been a member of the Outstanding Citizen Committee for Greenbelt's Labor Day Festival, a role he still enjoys.

The Church Down Under

Birner's experience and memories of the development of Holy Cross are interwoven with milestones of Greenbelt history - church meetings held at the Center School and Old Greenbelt Theatre, negotiations with Congress to acquire church land and the coming of the Capital Beltway.

An Illinois native, Birner grew up in the ministry. His father served as pastor for Lutheran churches in the small community of Bunker Hill, Ill., and the larger town of Mattoon. His older brother studied for the ministry at Concordia High School and Junior College in Fort Wayne, Ind. After boning up on the required languages, including Latin and Greek, Birner transferred early to Concordia to meet the language requirement and in his pastoral studies was assigned for a oneyear internship to a place he'd never heard of - Greenbelt, Md.

"I thought, where in the world is that?" Birner recalled. When he arrived in 1951, Greenbelt was a town of 7,000 people - half of whom were children - and few roads. "There were kids everywhere and very little development," he said.

Birner helped build Holy Cross church, literally, from the ground up. Since the federal government owned the land, churches had to petition for the right to acquire building sites. Ground had been broken at 22 Ridge Road - the current site of Green Ridge House - for construction of the building. Meanwhile, the small congregation of about 100 still met at the Center School.

"It was a hole in the ground," says Birner with a laugh. "I was in charge, but knew nothing about construction."

His internship year complete, Birner returned to seminary and at graduation, received his parish

Ed Putens Is First to File For Re-election to Council

Edward V. J. Putens filed this week for re-election to the Greenbelt City Council. He is the first person to file, as he was two years ago. Nine other sets of nomination forms have been taken out according to City Clerk Kath-leen Gallagher. While incumbents Judith Davis and Rodney Roberts have indicated their intent to seek re-election, the other two incumbents, Thomas White and Alan Turnbull, have said that they will not run again.

Biography

Putens is completing his 11th term on the Greenbelt City Council. If re-elected, he would be the most senior member of Council in length of service. Putens has been a resident of Greenbelt for 36 years, living in Springhill Lake, Charlestowne North, Windsor Green and now in Greenbrook. He was born in Hazelton, Pa. and grew up in Baltimore. His family includes his wife Becky and three grown children – Kim, now married, and Ryan and Amy, both now living in GHI. Putens has worked for the Federal government for $\overline{31}$ years and has received many awards and commendations.

Since 1987 he has been with the Food and Drug Administration. Putens previously served in a variety of senior management and staff positions for the Department of Labor, Office of Personnel Management and U.S. Postal Service.

Putens has continued to take a leading role to improve police protection and crime prevention. The council supported his initiative to use video cameras in strategic areas in the city (currently now in use at Roosevelt Center); to place two School Resource Officers in Greenbelt schools for security; and establish the Public Safety Advisory Committee. Music Takes Over Stage On Every Festival Day

by Patti Brothers

The stage at this year's festival will host some of the area's best bands - as well as a very ecial one from Hollywood. Shoe Suede Blues

The day-time stage this year ill host a band that is a real eat for the festival. That band Shoe Suede Blues, featuring ter Tork (of The Monkees) who will perform on Monday, September 1 from noon to 3 p.m. This is a return engagement for this group and the festival is fortunate to have them back. This band was formed in 1994 when Peter Tork and friends Tadg Galleran and Michael Sunday were asked to put together a band for a benefit dance. Following the performance requests began to arrive for performances at other benefits, local night clubs and local events. The band was then asked to perform on Cox Cablevision and at the 30th Anniversary Monkees Convention in 1997. The band plays a lively and unique combination of blues, rhythm and blues, blues rock and pop from such legends as Muddy Waters, Wilson Pickett, Chuck Berry, Little Richard, Bob Dylan, The Coasters and The Monkees, of course.

Band members include Peter Tork, a former member of the world-famous 1960's pop group The Monkees. He plays a myriad of instruments, including the 5-string banjo, piano/keyboard, drums, guitar and bass. With Shoe Suede Blues he mainly plays guitar and sings lead and backup. Tadg Galleran, who appeared in the original cast of Hair in both Broadway and Los Angeles, and has performed with the well-known King Brothers Blues Band, plays the keyboard and harmonica and adds both lead and backup vocals. Michael Sunday, who played with the Greenbelt Pageant for all viewers and a good time to be had by all. It is the traditional end to summer in Greenbelt, when friends and neighbors catch up with each other and reminisce about old times and past festivals. There will be plenty to do the entire weekend.

Contingency Plans

Rain is not expected but in the case of short, spotty showers, all outdoor activities will continue. In the event of heavy. continued rain, entertainment (as well as the pageant) will move into the Community Center gym and bingo will move into the Youth Center gym. The Information Day tables will be in the multi-purpose room in the Community Center. Food booths, game booths and the book sale will move into the hallways of the Community Center, as space allows. The festival's Information Booth will be at the intersection of the two main hallways of the Community Center on the first floor.

Games/Activities

In addition to the ongoing activities on the stage and at the carnival, which were highlighted last week, the festival features a variety of games, shows and other activities, sponsored by the city's Recreation Department or the Festival Committee. Participants are welcome to all events, the registration to which is free (except the 15K run). Registrations in most events are accepted right up to the start of the activity. As with all festival events, attendance is free. Check for details about each event in the pullout/program included in last week's edition of the paper.

The Table Tennis tournament will be held on Friday beginning at 5 p.m. at the Youth Center. The David R.S. Craig Memorial softball game takes place at 7 p.m. on Friday at Braden Field #2. On Saturday morning at 8:30, the Kid's Games (sponsored by the Recreation Department) will be held on Braden Field. Women Lose by One Run in Benefit Game

by Jarrett Eppard-Wilcots

Greenbelt's "hottest matchup of the season" took place Wednesday, August 13 at Northway Fields between the SKG men's slow-pitch softball team - named after Steve "Kiko" Gingell, a teammate who died of cancer three years ago - and members of the Greenbelt Women's Fast-Pitch Softball League (GWFPSL). The exhibition game, which was organized to raise funds for the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department (GVFD) in order to help restore an original 1935 Ford-Howe Pumper, turned out to be a scintillating contest between two talented teams.

Prior to the game an anxious Jay Remenick, president of the GVFD, looked up at an overcast sky, expressed concern about the weather and said, "I just want everyone to have fun and have a good turnout." And that's exactly what he got, an exciting game enjoyed by many. It was such a success in fact that organizers, who came up with the clever "The Beauties and The Beasts" title, hinted at plans to make this an annual event.

Onlookers, who didn't seem bothered by the sticky heat and the swarms of mosquitoes, got more than their money's worth as the SKG men's team earned a 4-3 victory against the women – who ironically wore jerseys labeled "Beast" – with solid team defense and smart baserunning. The teams played fast-pitch, the women supplying the men with a pitcher and catcher.

In the first two innings neither team was able to generate much offense and it looked as though a pitcher's duel was in the making. In the top of the third inning, however, the men scored the first run of the game on a sacrifice fly to center with one out. The strategy they talked about before the game of just wanting to hit the ball seemed to change to a focus on winning almost immediately. By the next inning the men had opened up a 3-0 lead that appeared difficult for the women to overcome.

The highly-competitive women were not ready to give up though and with the crowd behind them the women rallied back in the bottom of the fourth scoring three runs to tie the game 3-3. At one point during the rally the women squelched worries about their strength when one team member hit a line drive that whizzed past a surprised SKG third baseman. The well-hit single drew applause from the crowd and snickers from the SKG bench.

The men quickly struck back in the top of the fifth inning on an RBI double to take the lead 4-3. To begin the seventh and final inning, the women's team looked to play catch up once again, but after the leadoff batter reached first base upon being struck by a pitch, their hopes for victory were stifled by a nice double play on a bunt to the catcher.

According to third baseman Rita Horning, the women "were surprised by the men's speed and ability to adjust to the fast-pitch and were disappointed by the loss but [they] were most concerned about the turnout and glad to see the support. We can't wait for next year's rematch." On the men's side third baseman Tony Pultz summed up his fellow players' sentiment and stated that he "has much more respect for the women and their game" after playing against them.

Women's team coach Tony Callaway, strongly confident of his players, seemed surprised at the end result. But he was delighted at the way that "neither team laid down and everyone gave it their all" and was also excited about the opportunity to make this an annual event.

Kelly Ivy, head of the GWFPSL and one of the event's organizers, had a lot riding on this game since a lot of people he had talked to thought it was a bad idea and were worried about the women getting hurt by the men's strength. Ivy, full of smiles after the game, spoke of how successful the event was and estimated that of all the money generated 80 to 85 percent of it would end up as profit.

Supporters who were unable to attend the event who would like to support the fire truck restoration efforts are encouraged to send donations to GVFD, P.O. Box 35, Greenbelt, MD 20768.

BARC Allowed To Hunt Deer

by Elain Skolnik

John Van De Vaarst, Deputy Area Director of Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) has advised the city that BARC has been given a "crop damage permit" which allows the removal of up to 50 deer, according to a memorandum David Moran, assistant to the city manager, sent to the Greenbelt City Council. The permit was issued by the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

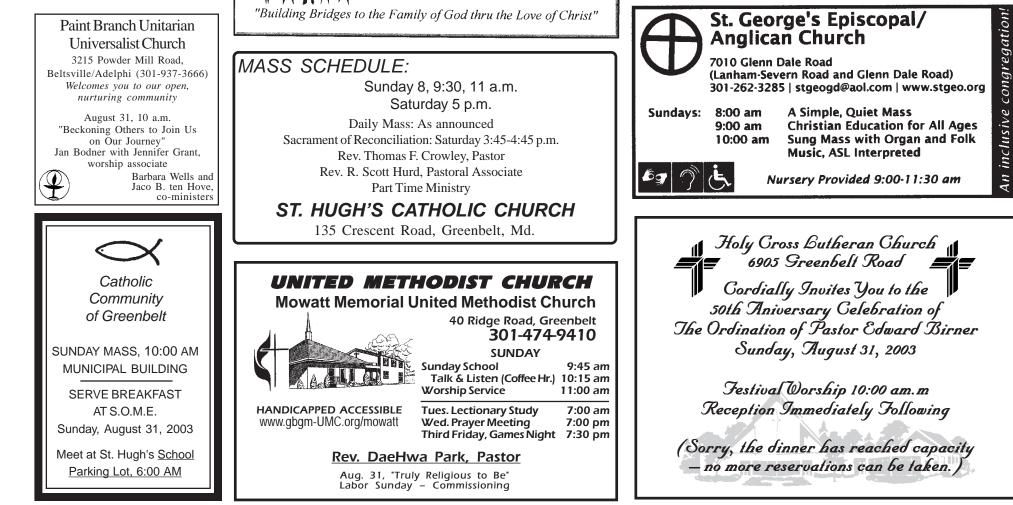

Over population of deer has caused serious problems on the approximately 6,600-acre research facility, causing extensive damage to research being done on its fields. Phyllis Johnson, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beltsville Area told the city council at a July 28 meeting that hunters have helped keep deer under control during the official hunting season but that deer continue to be a serious detriment to the land.

Van De Vaarst told the city that the hunting will be done during daylight hours by certified BARC employees using tree stands. It will occur in several locations, including the Getty Tract (also known as Golden Field) near Research Road.

Greenbelters were saddened to hear of the death of two Greenbelt pioneers. John Kramer, once manager of the the Greenbelt Band and a longtime member of Greenbelt Community Church, died on August 25, 2003. Our sympathy to his daughter Mary Ann Halley and family.

Dayton A. Hull, former president of Greenbelt Consumer Services and Greenbelt Cooperative Homeowners, died on August 7 in Largo, Fla. Our sympathy to his family.

Our sympathy to Jeannie Smith and family on the death of her mother, Lena Sidone.

Dorothy McGee, the creator of the "Our Neighbors" logo, celebrated her 97th birthday on August 23 at home with her family at 7-D Hillside Road. Artists from New York City, Dottie McGee and her husband Johnny came to Greenbelt in 1942 when he was stationed in Washington.

Johnny McGee had seen the film "The City" at the 1939 World's Fair and put their names on Greenbelt's waiting list even before they were married. When they got to Greenbelt, they were delighted to find that friends from New York City, Mollie and Izzy Reuben, were their neighbors. Their daughter Barbara was born after a blizzard and Dorothy McGee with daughters Barbara (Simon) and Kathleen, taken at 25 Court Ridge in 1947.

Dottie remembers that getting into D.C. during war time was not easy. When Kathleen, their second daughter, came along, the McGees moved from 2-C Crescent Road to 25-D Ridge Road and, in 1953, to Hillside Road. Staunch co-operators from the start, Dottie was for several years a member of the News Review's staff. Later, when friends were retiring to Florida, Dottie wondered "Why? Why would anyone want to leave Greenbelt?"

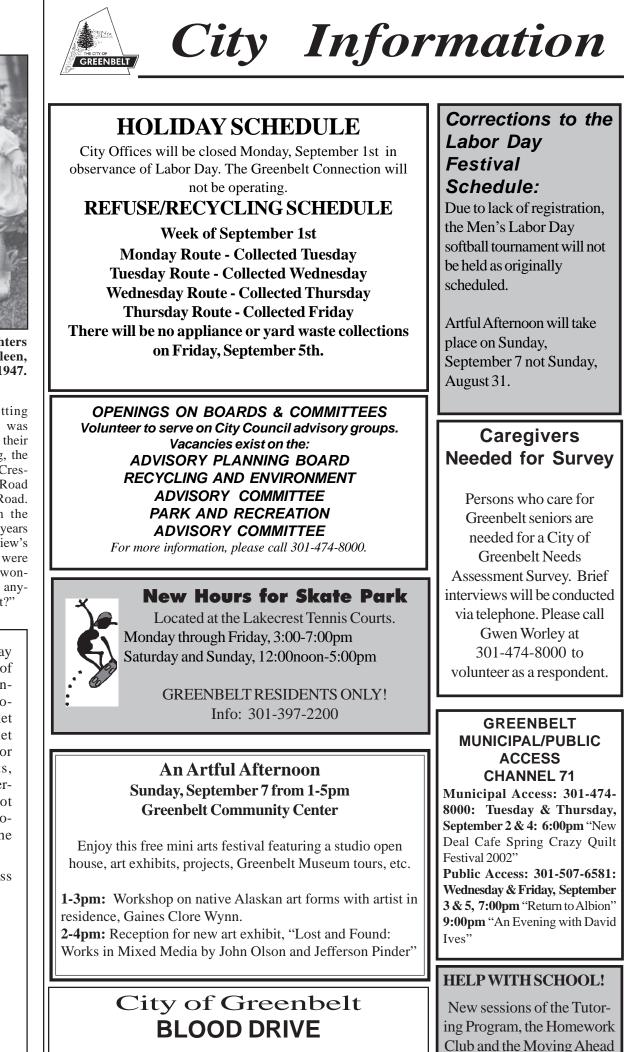

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc.'s Labor Day booth will be raffling off two "Best of Greenbelt" baskets. The baskets contain certificates and merchandise docooperative nated by local businesses. One basket contains donations worth over $1,000 and one basket over $500. The cost for a ticket is 50 cents each or

Greenbelt Police Sting Motorists

On Wednesday, August 20, the Greenbelt Police Department conducted a pedestrian violation 'sting' in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway. During the operation, police masquerading as pedestrians normally across marked crosswalk areas. Other officers pulled over violators who did not stop for the pedestrians.

As a result of the 'sting,' which took place adjacent to Eleanor Roosevelt High School, an average of 25 motorists an hour were stopped. Among the violators, one person was arrested after he was found to have an open arrest warrant; one was arrested for driving while his operator's license was suspended and a juvenile was arrested for driving without a license. Several drivers were also cited for having fake or altered tags.

Officers actually witnessed many more violations. They were able to stop only a fraction of the violators because motorists continuously failed to stop for pedestrians even as officers were busy citing motorists who had been pulled over.

The 'sting,' the first of three planned this year, was supposed to coincide with Greenbelt's Pedestrian Safety Month, which takes place in June. It was extended to Pedestrian Safety Summer because of the many rainy days.

The 'stings' are funded by the Maryland State Highway Administration. They go hand in hand with the department's efforts in the city's elementary schools to educate students about pedestrian safety.

ated the Advisory Committee on Education (ACE), as well as the Four Cities Coalition among Green-belt, College Park, New Car-rollton and Berwyn Heights, to expand inter-city cooperation.

Putens has taken a leading role on senior citizen concerns and initiated establishment of the Senior Task Force, which led to establishment of the permanent Senior Citizen Advisory Committee. He has been active in efforts to control development and address the traffic concerns arising from proposed developments. He (with the mayor) met with Governor Glendening to urge successfully that the state purchase 75 acres next to the Metro property, to which additional acres will be donated by the owners. He initiated the eventually successful effort to have a traffic light installed at Greenbelt and Putens has also been active in a variety of community organizations, including Greenbelt Consumer Co-op, Friends of the Greenbelt Museum, the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club, and previously the Greenbelt Arts Center. He was an active participant in the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club programs when his children were younger.

While on the City Council, Putens has served on numerous county, state and national committees to represent Greenbelt's interests. He is a member of the regional Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments (COG), Prince George's County Municipal Association, Maryland Municipal League, and National League of Cities (NLC). He currently serves on the COG Human Resources and Public Safety Policy Committee, which he previously chaired, and was a member of COG's Transportation Planning Board. Putens has served on several committees of the National League of Cities, including the Public Safety Policy Committee, and is now on the Steering Committee of NLC's Small Cities Council. Putens is a graduate of the University of Maryland where he earned his degree in microbiology and was a member of the University's lacrosse team. While attending college, he was employed in various research capacities for medical and research development companies and coauthored several patents dealing with eliminating air pollutants. Mandan Roads, and a guard rail installed at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

One of the trends during Putens' tenure which has pleased him most has been the expansion of the City's recreation facilities (Community Center, indoor pool, renovated outdoor pool, renovated Youth Center, Schrom Hills Park) and recently upgrading of the GHI playgrounds, lighting of Braden field and the plans for a skateboard park.

Until 1993, Putens was the only Council member living in Greenbelt East, and he has worked actively with the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee (GEAC), of which he was a co-founder. He was an original member of the Windsor Green Board of Directors, and served for eight years.

He is currently Board President of the Greenbrook Estates Homeowners Association. He has served as an usher at St. Hugh's Church for many years.

assignment – back to Greenbelt. When he returned, the church had found him a new residence at 18 Court Ridge, which he christened by having the kitchen painted bright red. Soon after, he met a young Lutheran schoolteacher at a training camp in Baltimore.

Nancy, a native of Ohio, had trained as a teacher at a college near Chicago and then worked in a New Jersey school. When she and Ed first met at the camp, "Neither of us was too impressed with the other," she says, laughing. But it didn't take long for them to correct that false start. They fell in love and married in 1957 and he brought Nancy back to Greenbelt, where she was warmly welcomed by the church and community.

In the early years, Birner faced one frustration with Greenbelt.

"I thought we needed to provide activities for young people, and for adults, but none of the activities I was familiar with – bowling leagues, softball teams, arts groups – were needed. Everything was already organized," he said.

So as pastor he stressed family, limiting the number of church meetings to allow members time with their loved ones. He and Nancy focused on their family as well, having four sons and holding church kindergarten in their home when their children were young. With their family growing, they moved to 13N Ridge Road, a three-bedroom block end unit that a member offered to the church at cost as a parsonage.

"To us it was a palace," says Nancy. She hosted Sunday school for preschoolers in their home, held Bible studies during the week, was active in the church women's group, babysat, drove members to church and substituted in the Greenbelt school. With her background as a Lutheran teacher, she believed that her eldest son should go to Lutheran school. "When they opened the Beltway, I thought the Lord had put it there so I could take Andy to Lutheran school. And then someone gave us a car," she joked. "But we realized that it separated him from the Greenbelt community and it separated us, because we wanted to be active in school activities here. We were happy when he came back to school here."

A New Church

The congregation, too, was outgrowing its basement sanctuary. Once the church basement was completed, the room was set up for Sunday school and two church services. A temporary solution became a long-term challenge when cost overruns and construction problems forced a series of delays. "The budget that we projected was already used up just in building the basement, so we decided to stop right there," Birner recalled.

For nearly a decade, church members faithfully walked down the steps every Sunday to hear Birner preach. With room for 200 and a membership topping 330, members of the church set up the room for Sunday school, then for two church services. Members who lived outside the city had a difficult time finding the church. Others who did saw that it was just a basement and drove off, he said.

When he heard about news of the planned development of the Beltway in the 1960s, Birner saw a possible solution – and a way that the church could gain a more visible location.

"The Beltway was going to cut off some land from Greenbelt Park, and I wondered what was going to happen to that little piece of property," he said. Birner pursued the issue with the planning district and then contacted Rep. Richard Lankford, who introduced a bill for the land transfer in the U.S. House of Representatives.

After he made numerous trips to Capitol Hill to testify and lobby for the land, Congress passed the bill. Ten years after the basement church was opened, the new building opened in 1969 at 6905 Greenbelt Road.

On opening day, the congregation crowded into the basement and spilled outside and formed a procession to travel together to the new church, where they filled the pews and the halls in celebration. In the new church, no basement exists – it was too expensive and, as Nancy says, "People were mighty tired of going down the steps."

An Active Retirement

After his retirement in 1993, Birner widened his church orbit, serving as interim minister at churches in Crofton, Laurel and Bowie and other nearby locations. He and Nancy stayed in Greenbelt and as members of Holy Cross to the delight of their church family and friends. They look forward to the festivities next Sunday.

Their four sons – Andrew, Paul, Jonathan, and Joel – will be there. Paul has carried on the family tradition by becoming a minister and Jonathan is a church musician. Birner's brother is coming from California and his sisters will travel to Greenbelt from Ohio and Illinois. One family is coming in from Florida to the celebration, which is expected to draw quite a crowd.

"It will be wonderful to see everyone," Birner said. " The challenge will be remembering their names."

The slow pitch tournament (which requires pre-registration) is on both Braden Field #2 and the fields at Schrom Hills Park. The horseshoe tournament is being held at the pits which are located adjacent to the Aquatic Center. Registration for the horseshoe tournament is from 9 to 9:30 on Saturday morning.

Kids can parade their pets (of any and all kinds) and win prizes in a variety of categories at the Children's Pet Show which takes place at 9:30 on Saturday morning on the front lawn of the Community Center. Following the Pet Show, there will be a petting zoo with rescued farm animals from Carol's Critters.

The Home Run Derby is on Braden Field #2 starting at 12:15 p.m. Registration is from 9 a.m. to noon on that day. There is an entry fee and entrants must provide their own pitcher. The Closest to the Flag Golf Contest is at 1:30 p.m. on the Braden Football Field. Registration is at 1 p.m. There are trophies awarded to winners. Both the Home Run Derby and the Golf Contest are sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The 44th Annual Larry Noel 15K Foot Race will be held on Sunday at 5 p.m. Registration is at 4 p.m. at the Youth Center. The starting line is on Northway and Woodland Way. A 3K Fun Run will begin at 5:10 p.m. from the Braden Field Tennis Courts. These two events are sponsored by the DC Roadrunners.

And finally, for the kids, the Lions Club will once again sponsor the annual "Bikes and Trikes" entry in the Labor Day Parade on Monday morning. Contestants will meet at the Mother and Child Statue in Roosevelt Center at 9:30 a.m.

The annual Art Show which is sponsored by the Greenbelt Association for the Visual Arts (GAVA) and a separate Photo Show open on Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Community Center. These events showcase the wealth of local talent in Greenbelt and surrounding areas. Entries are judged and ribbons are awarded in various age categories for art works and in general categories for photos. A tour of these two galleries provides a very enriching experience. It also provides a cool and quiet respite from the activity of the carnival and the stage events.

CMARC

The Central Maryland Amateur Radio Club (CMARC) holds its sixth annual "Open Tent" on the Community Center Lawn from noon to 10 p.m. on Saturday. CMARC members will attempt to contact ham radio operators around the world. Hands-on exploring is encouraged. CMARC plays an integral part in helping to organize the parade on Monday morning.

Information Day

Many of the community's service groups and several Greenbelt businesses and business organizations will operate information tables on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. These tables will be located in Roosevelt Center. It's a good time to talk to the volunteers of some of the city's nonprofit groups and the owners of businesses. There is no selling at these tables, but information abounds.

Festival Committee

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Committee will be operating an information booth throughout the festival as well as a phone line (301-345-0204). The booth is located directly across from the stage and will also be the center for the committee's fundraising activities. Raffle tickets for $200 worth of Co-op groceries will be sold as well as raffle tickets for two Longaberger picnic baskets. These drawings are on Monday. Patriotic T-shirts will also be available for purchase the entire weekend. Even as this festival goes on, fundraising (which is very important to the success of the festival) continues.

The individuals in the information booth (as well as raising money for the festival) can provide directions to a favorite booth (although maps are provided at two locations on the grounds) and answer questions relating to any other part of the festival. While there, thank the volunteers (or any volunteer seen at the festival – these will be identified by badges, shirts and baseball caps) for a job well done. None of the committee members is paid, from the president on down. Their only reward is the pleasure of having been a major part of building "Unity Through Community Involvement" and keeping this wonderful festival alive.

Blues Underground, plays the bass for Shoe Suede Blues; John Palmer, who has toured with Ronnie Dawson, The 5th Dimension, The Diamonds, The Penguins and Sha Na Na, plays the drums; and Richard Mikuls, who has performed as Rufus with Chaka Khan, BB King, Ike and Tina Turner, Chuck Berry, Ray Charles, Little Richard and Jerry Lee Lewis, plays guitar and sings lead and backup.

Diamond Alley

On Friday night, the stage will host Diamond Alley, one of Washington, D.C.'s most popular groups. Diamond Alley is a five piece dance/rock and variety band performing a diverse mix of contemporary and classic hits as well as original tunes. Diamond Alley is best known throughout the Mid-Atlantic region for their unusual vocal talent (all five members sing), outstanding live performances and audience rapport. This group is one of the few bands that perform tunes by Oueen.

The band has received numerous awards and has worked with groups such as The Rembrants, Eddie Money, Nils Lofgren, Roger Clinton, The Four Tops, The Coasters and Mick Fleetwood of Fleetwood Mac. Band members are lead vocalist/keyboardist Kris Fath, bassist David Oliver, guitarist Marc Musser, keyboardist/ saxophonist Bill Baker and drummer Doug Macuch.

Mary Shaver Band

The Mary Shaver Band is new to the festival this year and will perform on the Labor Day Festival stage Saturday night. They are a four-piece blues band that was formed in 1999. The band has captivated audiences with its ability to consistently deliver strong and clear vocals on a bed of thick and gutsy guitar riffs. The drummer (Raice McLeod) and bass guitarist (Wade Matthews) instinctively and impeccably lock in the rhythm, allowing Mary Shaver and the lead guitarist and vocalist (Keith Grimes) great flexibility in performance. Whether the band is working an audience up with a quick soul song or reeling them in with a sultry blues ballad straight from their hearts, the Mary Shaver Band delivers.

2nd Conspiracy

The final night of the festival will feature Wayne Brown & 2nd Conspiracy on stage. This band is a good time rock 'n roll band with a professional performance and solid sound. Formed 15 years ago, a product of the Louie Al-Phontz Conspiracy (a NW Washington band), Wayne Brown has been playing keyboards and performing all his life. Along with him are Frank Burton on lead vocals, Chris "Pooter" Brown on drums. Mike Greco on bass and vocals and Jerry "JP" Pickholtz on lead guitar and vocals. This group has performed with legends such as Dion, The Mammas and Pappas, The Crystals, The Bogues, The Grass Roots, Three Dog Night, Dennis Yost, Gary Puckett, The Buckinghams and the Fabulous Hubcaps to name just a few.
