

Council Puts Collective Bargaining For Police on November Ballot

by Marat Moore

On November 8 Greenbelt voters will decide whether Greenbelt's Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Lodge 32 will be able to engage in collective bargaining with the city. At the regular city council meeting on September 26 councilmembers and the FOP worked out the language of a resolution that will appear on a ballot initiative during the November city elections.

The resolution passed 4-0 after lengthy discussion, with strong opinions voiced by council and FOP representatives. Councilmember Leta Mach was absent from the meeting.

The vote capped months of discussion about the FOP's request for recognition of collective bargaining. Currently the police department has a "meet and confer" relationship with city council, through which the FOP asks for improvements in terms and conditions of work but has no written contract.

Why Words Matter

Finding common ground on the final resolution wasn't easy and reflected the ongoing negotiation process that is at the heart of collective bargaining and another truth inherent in the process – that words matter and some more than others. One word that helped bring consen-

The Resolution

The resolution that will appear on the November 8 ballot, if passed, would amend the city charter "to recognize and engage in collective bargaining with one or more designated bargaining representatives of non-managerial, sworn police officers of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, Police Department; to enter into a binding collective bargaining agreement with said representatives; and to enact by ordinance or amendment a system of rules and regulations to govern this process. The City Council shall approve all collective bargaining agreements entered into by the City with a collective bargaining representative prior to their becoming effective. In the event the parties negotiating a collective bargaining agreement are unable to reach agreement on one or more terms of a collective bargaining agreement, the City Council shall have the authority to set those terms and conditions of employment that remain in dispute upon a majority vote."

sus in the final text was "non-managerial," to replace "non-supervisory," a term which threatened to derail the resolution because it would have excluded sergeants and corporals from the collective bargaining process.

John Rogers, the chair of collective bargaining for Lodge 32 and a Greenbelt police officer, stressed the importance of including sergeants and corporals. "They are not management and should be included. As we've told you from day one, our goal is to include everyone from sergeants and below," he said.

Mayor Judith Davis expressed concerns about supervisors with disciplinary powers being in the same bargaining unit with officers they supervise. "We feel that is putting an unfair burden on some of the officers in your particular unit," she said, adding that the city's labor lawyer Stephen Silvestri, who was not present at the meeting, had advised council that the duties of police sergeants in Greenbelt differed from sergeants in other municipalities.

Jeffrey Gibbs, the FOP's labor counsel, disagreed. "Your police department is not that

We Pose Three Questions To Candidates for Council

The candidates are off and running. Six candidates, including all five incumbents, have filed for the office of city council with the election to be held November 8.

This paper assumes responsibility for helping voters make the decision. We have printed biographies for each candidate who has submitted the material for publication. Now we ask the candidates to answer three questions. Their answers will be printed in the next three issues of the News Review. In addition, we will report on what takes place at any timely candidate nights held in the city.

Three Questions

These are the three questions we ask the candidates to answer:

1. What are the three most important goals that you expect to accomplish as a city councilmember in the next term if elected?

2. In his last budget message, the city manager identified a "structural issue" caused by the city's expenses growing more quickly than revenues thereby necessitating increases in the property tax rate each year. What approach will you take to address this structural issue?

3. Explain why you support or oppose the referendum question on whether or not to establish collective bargaining for non-managerial sworn Greenbelt police officers and is it appropriate to give this recognition, as set forth in the referendum question, to one group of city employees and not any others?

Candidates are required to submit their answers to the News Review before 9 p.m. on the Monday preceding the question's publication date, preferably on disk or by email. Answers will be limited to 300 words. If an answer exceeds the limit, the answer will be cut off.

The answers to question 1 will be published in the October 13 issue of the News Review. Question 2 answers will be published on October 20 and question 3 answers will appear in the October 27 issue.

Rodney M. Roberts to Run For Re-Election to Council

Rodney M. Roberts, 47 years old, is a lifelong Greenbelt resident. He attended Greenbelt schools and was active in sports with the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club. Roberts is the sole proprietor of a small business that specializes in on-site repairs of various types of equipment and vehicles.

Councilmember
 Rodney Roberts

Roberts is serving his seventh term on council, the last two terms as mayor pro tem. He attended nearly every council meeting during the four years prior to his being elected to city council in 1991, becoming known as an outspoken community activist. During his 14 years on council Roberts has missed only one council meeting (a worksession). In 1991 Roberts proposed and worked through to implementation community policing and police bicycle patrols. Since then he has worked to increase bike patrols throughout the city. Roberts was a leader in the citizen movement resulting in the city's acquisition of 184 acres of woodland, part of the original Green Belt. Roberts continued to advocate for long-term protection of city-owned forests. This resulted in the 2003 passage of a city ordinance establishing a Greenbelt Forest Preserve

Colar Family of New Orleans Finds Shelter with Greenbelters

by Natalie McGill

The Greenbelt community is singing praises of Greenbriar Condominium resident Martha Moore and has every reason to do so.

Moore, among a number of Greenbelt citizens, has committed to and is continuing to support James Colar, his wife Mildred and their daughter Jamil after an evacuation from their New Orleans home during Hurricane Katrina's aftermath.

Moore, James' aunt, tried searching for the family upon learning of the hurricane's destruction.

"I was looking for them and I located their son in the Navy, James Colar, III," Moore said. "He located them and [Mildred and Jamil] were at the [Louisiana] Superdome."

James was separated from Mildred and Jamil throughout the ordeal. Their younger son, Adrian Colar of Baton Rouge, La., had to rescue James from their home after Mildred and Jamil were already in the Louisiana Superdome. James was relocated from the family home to the New Orleans Convention Center.

During their stay in the Superdome, Mildred said she and Jamil had to be aware of their surroundings because the area was prone to looting. Hurricane victims had anything taken from toothbrushes to cell phone chargers.

"They were actually searching people's bags," Mildred said. "If you had to take a shower, you had to take a shower in groups. You had to go in groups of two or three at a time."

James' mother Welhermina Hooks, along with her husband George Hooks, were caught in the storm while staying in a New Orleans nursing home. After being transported to the New Orleans Hyatt Regency, then back to another nursing home in Shreveport, La., George died in the storm's aftermath. After George's burial, Welhermina's flight was due to arrive in Maryland also to stay with Moore.

"I think the trauma from moving around in the hurricane did him in," Moore said.

Though the Colar family is starting to adjust to life in Greenbelt, vivid memories of the storm's aftermath still linger in Mildred's thoughts.

"The sound of the wind and rain, the sound of that metal peeling off the top sounded like someone was dropping bombs on the building," Mildred said. "Sometimes I hear it in my sleep." Mildred and Jamil stayed in the Superdome for five days before being transported to the Houston Astro-dome, where Moore wired the two plane tickets to come live with her in her Greenbriar condominium. Soon thereafter, Moore found James and bought his plane ticket for arrival in Maryland.

Within two days of their arrival, Moore secured the family an apartment at Brittany Place in Greenbelt, with two months free rent.

Local Assistance

Other Greenbelt residents have stepped up and helped the Colars. Dan Hamlin of the Greenbelt Community Church asked the community to make donations. On October 9 the Greenbriar community plans to present the Colars with money

Thanking a City

How do you thank a city? The Colar family not only survived Hurricane Katrina when it destroyed their home and all their belongings in New Orleans but they survived the chaos in the Superdome where the family became separated. The mother (Mildred) and daughter (Jamil) ended up in Houston, while the father (James) made it to Baton Rouge. They were finally reunited here in Greenbriar where they stayed with a family member.

When we learned they were here we wanted to help. In the past couple of weeks I have seen humanity at its best. I'd like to thank: the City of Greenbelt for helping us move donated furniture; Dan Hamlin and the area churches for asking for a list of items needed to get our "family" set up, then getting commitments for everything on that list; Brittany Place apartments for donating two months rent on an apartment; our Greenbriar neighbors for cleaning their closets, gathering furniture, getting gift cards, helping Jamil enroll at Eleanor Roosevelt High School and holding a fundraiser for the Colar Family Fund; Marty Moore for buying plane tickets for the family to come to Greenbelt and housing them for as long as needed; Bob Davis at the Co-op for providing a gift certificate to get them started; the people at the GHI yard sale for filling my van with household items from their tables; friends whom I called or ran into for recognizing a need and giving generously and Tony for his expertise in getting a donated computer ready for a new home.

Greenbelt, your response and generosity has been nothing short of amazing! We look at the abundance that surrounds us and we need to give. The Colar family has benefited greatly from all of you who saw a need and helped. I think the truly lucky ones are the people who got the opportunity to help in whatever capacity they were able. We are blessed!

Thank you, Greenbelt — you've done very good work.

Thanks to All

The Greenbelt Community Center staff would like to thank all those who assisted the Greenbelt Recreation Department and the Greenbelt Museum in hosting the Community Center's Tenth Anniversary Celebration at the Sunday, October 2 Artful Afternoon. The Community Center is a tribute to Greenbelt residents' commitment to a rich and lively civic life and it was wonderful to have so many individuals and organizations involved in the historical evolution and contemporary life of the Center join us in honoring the great accomplishment that this facility represents.

Thanks to the fourth and fifth grade students at St. Hugh's School along with their classroom teachers and their art teacher, Colleen Reed, for the students' creation of original prints for the current exhibition in the Community Center Art Gallery celebrating daily life at the Center. And thanks to artists Barbara Logan, Barbara Crammer, Amanda Gordon, Sondra Holland and Barbara Davis, who also donated original prints for the exhibition.

Several lucky visitors won prizes to take home through the arts program scholarship fund raffle. We raised nearly $190 to provide need-based assistance to Greenbelt residents who wish to participate in visual and performing arts classes. A big thank you to the Greenbelt Golden Age Club, which donated the grand prize picnic baskets and also helped run the raffle throughout the afternoon. Volunteers included Bunny Fitzgerald, Mary Hooper, Lori Moran, Ima and Don Davis, Ruth Huggins, Dorothea Leslie, Louvain Townsend, Ellie Rimar, Solange Hess, Phyllis Budin and Bill Souser. Thanks to the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum for donating a popular Museum Tote filled with Greenbelt-themed items as a raffle prize and also the many artists who donated original creations as prizes. Supports the FOP

I wish to express my full support for the Greenbelt Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) and their collective bargaining proposal.

As I travel through Prince George's County, I am reassured time and time again what gifts our community has been given and how truly fortunate we are. Without a doubt we have the finest public services right here. All of our city officials, city office staff, fire department and certainly our police department work hard to maintain that standard.

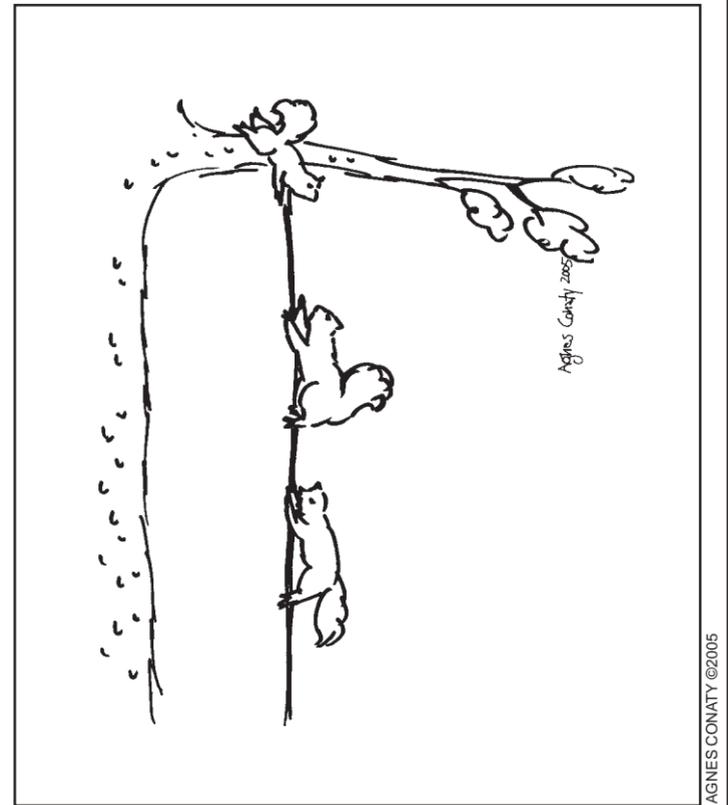

I attended our city council meeting on September 12 and listened as Officers Marty Parker and John Rogers gave an outstanding, detailed report on the school resource programs that they have been working on for the past several years at our Greenbelt schools. I sat in my chair much taller and was so very proud of their work and dedication. I wish to thank Officers Parker and Rogers and Chief Craze for providing another example of why Greenbelt is great and our police department is top-notch.

Also at that meeting I learned that the Greenbelt FOP has requested to be given the right of collective bargaining for their pay, benefits and working conditions. They feel that this is a basic right of employees everywhere. By being able to bargain for these things, they feel that it will be easier to attract qualified candidates and to be able to retain those officers once the investment has been made in their training.

As officers hug and kiss their loved ones before they go to work, it is unknown whether they have hugged, kissed and seen them for the last time. They put their lives on the line each and every day. They are here to protect you and me. Several months ago, Officer Steven Gaughan, a Prince George's County police officer and resident of Greenbelt, never made it home to his loved ones. He was killed in the line of duty following a traffic stop. Because of this tragic, senseless and cowardly act committed by the accused gunman, his wife and children will never feel his hugs, see his smile and receive his kisses ever again. Our Greenbelt officers face this scenario 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

I, along with a huge number

of Greenbelt citizens, want to keep all of our present police officers with the Greenbelt Police Department. We don't want them going to another jurisdiction for better benefits and the protection of collective bargaining. We have the cream of the crop right here. At the November city election, there will be a question on the ballot to determine if the officers of our police department should be given the right of collective bargaining. This is our chance to show our officers, our heroes, that we support them in every way possible.

Please vote for collective bargaining on November 8.

Correction

Oops, a case of mistaken identity. The big fuzzy bear of a dog held by Sharon Lefkowitz in the Pooch Plunge photo on page 12 last week is a "hunk of fluff" by any standard. But the name is actually Taanka. The News Review regrets attaching the wrong moniker to this handsome water puppy who we're assured enjoyed the Pooch Plunge immensely.

Learn About Islam

What is Ramadan?

October 2, 2005, marked the beginning of the lunar month of Ramadan when Muslims all over the world fast from dawn to dusk. It is described in the Holy Qur'an as, "... the month in which was sent down the Qur'an as a guide to mankind and clear signs for guidance and judgment (between right and wrong). So whoever among you witnesses this month, should fast in it, but if anyone is ill or on a journey, (they should make up) the prescribed period by days later. God intends ease for you. He does not want to put you to difficulties. (He wants you) to complete the prescribed period and to glorify Him, in that He has guided you; and perchance you shall be grateful."

Voter Registration Closes Monday

Electioneering signs were beginning to sprout up around town last week, though only on predetermined poles erected by city crews. Long gone are the days when candidates competed – prior to actual voting – with scores of yard signs in bright colors. The city council election campaign weeks ahead will be full of opportunities for Greenbelt voters to review what each of the individual incumbents – Judith Davis, Rodney Roberts, Edward Putens, Konrad Herling and Leta Mach – have done during the past two-year term and to examine the new challenger – Kelly Ivy – to see what he may offer.

The election will be held Tuesday, November 8 from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. For the first time any voter may request an absentee ballot.

Registration

But first, one must be registered in order to vote. The last day to register is Monday, October 10.

In order to vote in Greenbelt and to be registered with Prince George's County, one must be a citizen of the United States of America; at least 18 years of age as of November 8, 2005; domiciled within the corporate limits of the City of Greenbelt as of the date of registration; not convicted more than once of an infamous crime and not currently under a sentence imposed pursuant to a conviction of an infamous crime; and not under guardianship for mental disability.

Although the county Board of Elections will handle all registrations, registration forms may be picked up during regular office hours at the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road or at the Greenbelt Library on Crescent Road. Voters may call the Board of Elections at 301-430-8020 to request a form by mail or print from the web at <http://www.elections.state.md.us/citizens/registration/application.html>.

All completed forms must be received by the Board of Elections in Upper Marlboro by 4 p.m. October 10. Residents may also register to vote at Motor Vehicle Administration offices from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. or at the Board of Elections, 16201 Trade Zone Ave., Suite 108, Upper Marlboro from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Absentee Voting

New this year is the voter's right to cast an absentee ballot without need to show a reason why he or she cannot vote on election day. From October 19 to November 7 a voter may request and receive an absentee ballot. However, should the need arise, beginning at noon on November 7 one may request an emergency absentee ballot. All absentee ballots must be submitted by 6 p.m. on election day, Tuesday, November 8. New language to make this possible was inserted into the City Charter through an amendment process this summer. The move to expand the availability of absentee ballots is aimed at increasing participation in city elections and making it easier for residents to vote.

CITY ELECTION INFORMATION

NO MORE EXCUSES!

ANY QUALIFIED VOTER MAY VOTE ABSENTEE

Beginning this year, any qualified voter of the City of Greenbelt may choose to vote by absentee ballot in municipal elections. There is no longer any need to present an excuse for why you will be unable to appear at your polling place to vote on Election Day.

The purpose of the change is to give an additional option to voters and make it easier to vote in municipal elections. If you prefer to come to your polling place on Election Day, meet up with your neighbors, talk with the candidates and use a voting machine, you may still do so, just as before. But if you prefer to vote early or if you like the idea of voting by mail or filling out a paper ballot, you now have more choices. Just be sure to vote. No more excuses!

First, request a ballot in one of two ways. Separate, signed application forms or letters must be submitted by each individual requesting a ballot:

- Fill out an application form that you may pick up in the City Clerk's office, request from the City Clerk by phone at 301-474-8000 or e-mail at kgallagher@greenbeltmd.gov, or print from the City's Web site at <http://www.greenbeltmd.gov>; or
- Write a letter of application to the City Clerk, 25 Crescent Road, including your full name, domicile address in Greenbelt, signature, and telephone number.

Military servicemembers, their families, and other U.S. citizens abroad who are covered under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act may also use the Federal Post Card Application (<http://www.fvap.gov>) to request an absentee ballot for City election. Applications to receive absentee ballots will be received from Wednesday, October 19, until noon on Monday, November 7, 2005. The completed ballot must be received by the City Clerk no later than 6 p.m. the day of the regular election, November 8, 2005. No absentee ballots will be distributed prior to October 19.

Return your executed absentee ballot by sending it through the U.S. mail in time to arrive by November 8, hand-delivering it to the City Clerk's office, or placing it in the locked drop-box at the east door of the Municipal Building at 25 Crescent Road. Questions? Call the City Clerk at 301-474-8000.

unique," he said. "Every collective bargaining ordinance or statute in Maryland includes at least the rank of sergeants.

"The concern of the FOP is that 'supervisor' can be broadly interpreted," he said. "The question of whether people are excluded from collective bargaining is different from the question of whether they are in the same bargaining unit. In the public sector supervisors are included in collective bargaining but managerial employees and major policy makers, like police chiefs, are excluded."

Davis said, "This is the city's decision," noting that the city's labor attorney had reviewed job descriptions. She also expressed budget concerns.

Rogers stated that if the language in the resolution wasn't changed, they did not want to go forward with the resolution. Gibbs agreed, adding, "We know this is a community that respects and appreciates its police officers and we're just asking for the basic right for collective bargaining in this amendment."

As the debate heated up – with some lawyer-baiting from the council that was mostly good-natured – Councilmember Edward Putens said he did not want an adversarial approach to affect the city's interactions with the FOP and said that the issues could be worked out later. But Rogers and Gibbs disagreed, noting that the resolution would exclude sergeants outright and could not later be changed.

"If you pass this amendment, you can define supervisors differently every day," Gibbs said.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts, seeking to break the impasse, said, "I think we need to put this before the citizens as to whether they want collective bargaining. Can we use different wording?"

Davis cautioned that council could not approve substantive changes in language because Councilmember Mach was absent.

Gibbs then offered a compromise based on two minor changes – the insertion of "non-managerial" for "non-supervisory" and a revision of the last sentence important to the FOP. The original sentence stated that if the parties are unable to agree on one or more terms of the collective bargaining agreement, that council has the authority "to set those terms of the collective bargaining agreement" that remain in dispute.

Gibbs and Rogers pointed out that the city cannot set the terms of a labor contract, which is by nature a mutual agreement, so the phrase was revised to state that council could "set those terms and conditions of employment" that remain in dispute.

Rogers said, "We are in full agreement with those changes and with the changes, we ask you to put it on the ballot."

The revised resolution passed the council with a unanimous vote.

"I appreciate your working through this. I hope you appreciate our working through it," Davis said.

consisting initially of 225 acres. Roberts often testifies on behalf of the city before state and county officials concerning development, transportation, recreational, environmental and fiscal issues. In 2004 he testified before the State Board of Public Works (consisting of the comptroller, governor and treasurer). Overcoming initial opposition from Comptroller William D. Schaefer and Governor Robert Ehrlich, he secured $648,000 in Open Space Funds for the purchase of 10 acres known as the "Sunrise Property" in Greenbelt East, now the city's newest park. Roberts has consistently opposed yearly city tax increases for non-essential hiring and other items.

Roberts has enjoyed volunteering his practical skills to groups such as Greenbelt Volunteer Exchange Service (GIVES) and New Deal Café, among others. Roberts served as a member of the Metro Area Sector Planning Group. He is a member of the Council of Governments Transportation Planning Board, city council liaison to the Youth Advisory Board and Arts Advisory Board. Roberts is a member and former chair of the Committee to Save the Green Belt and a founding member of the Greenbelt Foundation for the Arts.

raised in a two-week "nest-egg" fundraiser. Retired Prince George's County school principal Jeanette Gordy helped Jamil enroll at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

"She likes it, she's adjusting," Mildred said. "It's hard for her to talk about things right now. She'll talk but she doesn't like to relive the things we went through."

The next step for Mildred and James is finding jobs but as of now their focus is on counting blessings.

"I cry every day because I have so many people to thank," Mildred said. The churches, the Greenbelt community, the stores, everywhere we turn people have been so helpful. I didn't think anybody could just drop everything they're doing."

Christmas Play Auditions Set

The Prince George's Little Theatre will hold auditions for a December production of "Miracle on 34th Street," a story by Valentine Davies, adapted by Sally Meyers. The play will be directed by J. James Baldwin and produced by Carol Baldwin.

"Miracle on 34th Street" is one of the most enduring of America's holiday stories. It reaffirms ideas of faith in a modern, often-cynical world. A little girl refuses to believe in Santa Claus until she meets Kris Kringle, who might just be the real deal.

The audition will consist of cold readings from the script; all roles are open. Four women, 13 men and seven children/youth are needed. Audition dates are October 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the New Carrollton Municipal Center, 6016 Princess Garden Parkway, New Carrollton. Performance dates are December 8, 9, 10 and 11 at the Prince George's Publick Playhouse in Cheverly. For audition information call 301-470-4297 or email JJCAB@comcast.net.

Band Battle, Expo Are Part of Classic

A part of the Prince George's Classic October 7 to 8, which culminates in a football game on October 8 between two historically black universities, Morgan State and North Carolina Agricultural and Technical, will be the second annual Battle of Local Bands. The contest, involving five Prince George's and two other area schools, will begin at 7 p.m. Friday, October 7 at the University of Maryland Cole Field House. There is a fee, a part of which will be donated to participating schools.

Among other events sponsored by the Prince George's County Public Schools and the Black Chamber of Commerce is the Black College Expo. This event will be held on Saturday, October 8 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Prince George's County Sports and Learning Center in Landover.

Interested high school students seeking information about college opportunities will be able to find out what the participating colleges have to offer.

Fire & Rescue Log

The Fire Department Log is a monthly report of the activities and news from the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc. (GVFD&RS) The report includes recent incidents, news and upcoming events, fire safety and other fire department related information.

For the month of September, the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department responded to a total of 120 engine and 173 ambulance calls. Among those calls were 41 reports of smoke or fire, three gas leaks, 54 motor vehicle accidents and 129 medical calls.

New Fire Engine

Approximately every five years, the GVFD purchases a new fire engine to replace the oldest of the two pumpers. With the current Engine 352 ending its service time with the department, a new engine was ordered from Seagrave this year. This new engine, which will run as Engine 353, was custom built based on the specifications developed by the department's Apparatus Committee.

Members of that committee traveled to the Seagrave factory in Clintonville, WI on September 15 to conduct the final inspection on the new engine. A general inspection plus test drives were conducted on the site. A few adjustments and touch-ups were noted and soon finished by Seagrave.

The new engine was brought to the Greenbelt station for a week so that the membership and Apparatus Committee could check it out more thoroughly. It then goes to have the last equipment mounted and to be lettered. When finished, Engine 353 will be in service in a few months.

Volunteers Sought

The GVFD is looking for volunteers age 16 and up to become a firefighter, EMT or work in an administrative role. All training is provided and the time commitment is flexible. To find out more visit www.engine35.com, call 301-345-7000, or stop by the station and speak to an officer.

Questions and comments regarding this report or any fire department issues can be directed to public-info@engine35.com or to 301-345-7000.

New Deal Café Expansion Is Moving Along Next Door

by Jim Lara

Looking into the old video store at the Roosevelt Center, one can see materials like boards, ladders and paint and know that customers of the New Deal Café will have a new area in which to enjoy their coffee and food once the new space is ready for use.

Board members of the café invited people to come and look at the new area on Saturday, September 3 to see the work that's been done so far. Richard McMullin, a board member for seven years, has acted as president for the past six months. He explained that for the past two years the board had sought to expand the café.

In the past the board offered the video store the opportunity to reduce their rent by letting the café take over some of their space. After consideration, however, this offer was declined. Then a few months ago the landlord notified McMullin that the video store was closing down and he wanted to lease the entire space.

McMullin said it was to the café's benefit to expand its operations. "Three years ago our space was adequate but now it gets packed even during the week and business has increased almost 75 percent," said McMullin.

The first step in the process of expanding was to get proper permits. The board had to submit a building plan to the county and the City of Greenbelt. The plan has been reviewed and approved. The café still waits for approval from the county liquor board and for the insurance company to expand coverage to the new space. When all the construction work is done, the county must inspect it and give use and occupancy approval. Only then can the café set up new tables and serve customers.

Early in August board members of the café, with the help of volunteers, began work at the old video store during the weekends. Bookcases were removed, walls were painted, cracks were filled and ceiling tiles were replaced. Says Greenbelt resident Bill Wilkerson, who has been a café supporter and volunteer, "It's great for the café since it'll keep people coming and it won't be as crowded."

When the work is finished, there will be additional room for customers to dine, an office for the café manager, another bathroom and a storage room in the kitchen for dry and canned goods. McMullin is hopeful that everything will be ready by September 25. He feels all these changes will improve the café's image with the surrounding area. "This has always been a venue for people to watch local artists and musicians show their talent. This expansion will allow us to grow that customer base for years," McMullin said.

Volunteers are asked to call 240-462-5369. Images of the new space can be found at the café website, www.newdealcafe.com.

GHI Board Discusses Yard Line Problems; Requests

by Mary Moien

Much of the September 22 meeting of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) board of directors focused on yards. Either the yards themselves or what members wanted to put in the yards. The Yard Line committee has been investigating the sizes and boundaries of all yards in GHI. Certain yards, especially those abutting woods, GHI open space and city property, may have fence lines that have migrated into land that was not originally considered part of that home's property.

Staff have reviewed many plats that are on file. Only 34 plats, however, have been certified to date. These plats are for yards in the 2, 4, 5 and 21 Courts of Ridge Road.

The board discussed whether to provide certified plats to the owners of those homes or to wait until all yard lines are certified. The board did not want to deceive any new home buyers especially when "for sale" ads often mention the large size of some yards. General Manager Gretchen Overdurff indicated that any buyers in these four courts would certainly be told that the yard line is incorrect and all buyers are being told that a yard line study is underway.

It is still not certain what action a member will need to take if their fence lines exceed what their yard size should be. It appears that there could be several options. Members who clearly ignored GHI regulations may be required to correct the problem within a few months. Other problems might only need to be corrected when a new fence is constructed or when the unit is sold.

The board decided not to notify the four courts at this time but to wait for the rest of the project to be completed. However they agreed that buyers must be told if there are problems concerning the yards of their houses.

When a member wants an exception to GHI printed rules or when rules are silent on a particular topic, members bring their cases to the board meetings. In one instance at this meeting, members wanted to put a small hot tub on the service side of their home. Although the rules do not forbid this and the affected neighbor was present to say that she gave permission, a long drawn-out discussion followed among board members and audience. It was eventually approved with certain caveats that the owners had agreed to before the discussion began.

In a second instance, a member wanted to replace a deck and a privacy screen. She wanted to install a vinyl deck. The Architectural and Environment (A&E) Committee stated that they do not have the expertise on this type of material and did not want to approve it without proper study. In addition, the member currently has a 15-foot privacy screen that is deteriorating but regulations now only allow for an 8-foot privacy screen. She would like to replace it with a 15-foot vinyl privacy screen. Vinyl has been approved for fences but privacy screens were not mentioned. The member reminded the board that she could keep fixing up the 15-foot privacy screen, so why not let her replace it with one that looked better. When a vote was taken, the board only approved the 8-foot vinyl privacy screen.

Ride the GIAC Time Machine

by Neil McLeod,
Community Webmaster

In a fervor of Labor Day spirit on Information Day, the Board of Directors of Greenbelt Internet Access Cooperative (GIAC) reduced the prices of greenbelt.com services back to 1996 levels.

GIAC made its public debut on Information Day in 1996. We remember well the community's excitement that day on spotting the greenbelt.com banner at our information table and in the Labor Day parade two days later. At subsequent Information Days, the greenbelt.com banner and an internet-connected computer could always be found under the famous Internet Tree in the Roosevelt Center parking lot. (How'd they do that?)

Over the years, GIAC has responded to the vagaries of internet service providers (changing ISPs five times) and to the evolving challenges of the internet environment itself. This has not always been easy in an organization staffed entirely by volunteers. But here we are in 2005: still teaching free classes on a variety of topical internet and computer subjects; still supporting the Community Website; still providing inexpensive, hometown-branded internet services; and still making telephone and house calls to help members of the cooperative deal with various computer and connection problems.

And still participating in Information Day. This year's table setup was especially efficient as we were able to tap into the free (GIAC-supported) wireless/DSL hotspot at New Deal Cafe. No more overnight rooftop missions to string (and later remove) a dial-up modem line. But we still miss that Internet Tree.

For details of the new greenbelt.com service rate schedule, visit: <http://greenbelt.com/giac/forms/rates.htm>

Long live GIAC. And a special thanks to Patti Brothers and the Labor Day Festival Committee for staging Information Day 2005, especially for arranging the fabulous weather.

Stokes Museum Lecture Adds Life to Historic New Town

by Virginia Beauchamp

The building of Greenbelt dates to the New Deal days when thousands of newcomers were flooding into the Washington area for government jobs and housing was in short supply. In England, where the concept of New Towns had first been born in the work of Ebenezer Howard, the war itself cut off resources for anything else. But immediately afterward, with a great deal of the country's housing stock lost through the extensive bombing, a new governmental initiative created a whole spate of New Towns – eight within the general area of London.

This was part of the historical background presented by guest lecturer and former resident Sally Stokes in a talk on Tuesday, September 27 in the Greenbelt Community Center. The talk was sponsored by Friends of the Greenbelt Museum, of which Stokes has been a long-time member. As a librarian, Stokes was an expert on historic preservation; she is now an independent historian.

The genesis of her Greenbelt talk was a recent trip she made to England to research the work and life of Noel Streatfeild, British author of books for young people. In particular, because Stokes had lived in Greenbelt, she was intrigued by one particular book written in 1960 called "New Town." She hoped to locate the original of its fictional depiction as Crestal New Town.

Feeling sure she had found it in Crawley New Town in West Sussex, near London, Stokes arranged to visit the place and made contact with the local librarian.

Unlike Greenbelt, which was constructed on a tract of farmland somewhat distant from other towns, Crawley encompassed an ancient village active in the 16th century. Also unlike Greenbelt, which housed an early population of only about 8,000 people, including those in the frame homes put up so quickly during World War II, the new sections of Crawley consisted of several neighborhoods, each with its own school and commercial center. Its population in the 1950s was about 50,000 and it has since grown to 110,000.

Understanding how Crawley's original population with its ancient history must have felt overwhelmed and threatened by the horde of newcomers, Stokes realized how the central figure in Streatfeild's book, a young girl who had just moved into the fictional New Town, would have found it a hostile place.

Stokes illustrated her lecture with an excellent presentation of photographs she had taken in Crawley, of people she had met there and of the late author Streatfeild herself, whose books had started Stokes on this particular path of discovery when she was but a child.

RE-ELECT ROBERTS

TO GREENBELT CITY COUNCIL Vote November 8

Dear Greenbelt Neighbor:

I am writing to ask for your support in the City Council Election to be held on November 8.

In the coming years, Greenbelt faces a huge and important challenge in guiding approved high-density development in Greenbelt West (Metro Land and Springhill Lake). We must make sure that adequate public facilities are provided as an integral part of these new developments (police, fire, schools, recreation facilities, etc.). If we fail to require the developers to pay their fair share, the burden will fall on all city taxpayers. Services and facilities in every part of Greenbelt could be impacted.

I have been working hard to make certain that doesn't happen. I need your support and your vote on November 8 so that we can continue to demand a higher standard for Greenbelt.

Sincerely,

Rodney M. Roberts
