Water Quality at Greenbelt Lake Is Called "Pretty Good"

by Judy Bell

Who knew that Greenbelt's beloved lake is not listed as a recreational facility? It is a storm water management facility instead. That's according to Greenbelt Assistant Director of Public Works-Parks Lesley Riddle, who spoke at a public information meeting at Buddy Attick Park on July 25.

The lake is part of the city's storm water filtration system and it "does a really good job," Riddle said. Mayor Judith Davis, who was in attendance, commented that the engineering done in the 1930s to create the lake was "amazing." Riddle, who is also a trained dam inspector, assured residents that the lake's dam is safe and noted further that it is an earthen dam – one of only two in the state.

Maryland's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) stocks Greenbelt Lake with rainbow trout. There is a put and take program in effect at this time and up to five trout per day may be taken. Those fishing must have a Maryland state fishing license, which is strictly enforced. For more details visit the DNR website at dnr.state.md.us.

Lake Problems

The level of E.coli bacteria in the lake can increase or decrease, depending partly on the goose population and the time of year. The E.coli content in the lake is "not bad" right now, reports Riddle.

Some other things that contribute to deterioration of the lake include runoff of lawn seeds and fertilizers used by Greenbelt residents; duckweed, which is brought in by wildlife as it sticks to feet and feathers; and the presence of hydrilla, a highly invasive aquatic plant.

In addition there are enormous numbers of tennis balls in the lake. When balls go over the fence they often land in a stream near the courts and are carried by the stream into the lake.

August Artful Afternoon Hosts A Midsummer Night's Dream

The next monthly Artful Afternoon program will be held on Sunday, August 2 from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Greenbelt Community Center at 15 Crescent Road. The program will include a wild and wily production of Shakespeare, with a related writing and art workshop for all ages, plus exhibits, open studios and creative fun to be had by all.

Shakespeare

"A Midsummer Night's Dream," a wild story full of magic spells, fairies and mistaken loves, begins at 3 p.m. The play is presented by Molly Moores of the Baltimore Shakespeare Festival with help from the audience. The Baltimore Shakespeare Festival is a nonprofit professional theater dedicated to producing affordable classical theatre and introducing Maryland students to Shakespeare both in and out of the classroom. The group also offers classes and training in auditioning, voice and the exploration of Shakespearean text at its St. Mary's facility.

Craft Workshop

Come early for a writing and craft workshop with Artist-in-residence Kathy Karlson from 1 to 3 p.m. Karlson's writing has been published in The Barcelona Review, Chiron Review, Madison Review, Worldview, Calyx, Stories With Grace, The MacGuffin, SNReview, Carve, 13th Warrior and other journals. Her paintings reflect layered sources of inspiration, from her interest in abstract expressionism and upbringing near the prairie to her years in the Peace Corps in West Africa. She lives in University Park.

Exhibit Reception

From 2 to 4 p.m. there will be a reception for the new exhibition "A Kingdom of Clean Air: The Greenbelt Photo Club Interprets Pablo Neruda's Book of Questions." The Photo Club provides a forum for area residents to share photography in its many forms. The group sponsors exhibitions, lectures and competitions and has open meetings on the second Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Center. For more information email club president Anita Woodruff at greenbeltphotoclub@yahoo.com. The show will remain on display through August 7.

Every month Artful Afternoon offers a studio open house with the Community Center Artists-in-residence, Greenbelt Museum historic home tours and the current historical exhibit. These activities are open to the public and free, except for a nominal fee for the house tour. This event is a great introduction to the many art classes and activities offered by the city. ## August 3 Is the Deadline For the 2009 Citizen Award

by Joe Timer

The deadline for submitting nominations for this year's Greenbelt Outstanding Citizen is near. Committee Chair Robert Zugby noted that nominations are due no later than Monday, August 3. They must be delivered either by mail or by hand to Zugby's residence at 94 Ridge Road in Greenbelt. A nomination form appears in this issue.

The Outstanding Citizen award is presented annually to a Greenbelt resident who has provided exemplary volunteer service, past and present. The annual award recognizes a Greenbelt resident who has made a significant contribution to the benefit of the city. The Outstanding Citizen is also the Parade Marshal for Monday's Labor Day Parade.

Similar Awards

There is a large list of communities across the country that recognize their special residents with similar awards. These include the Distinguished Citizen Award (Gaithersburg), Citizen of the Year award (Ocean City Chamber of Commerce), Trailblazer Awards (Westchester County, Tenn.), Outstanding Citizen of the Year (Virginia Regional Chamber of Commerce) and Outstanding Young Citizen (Western Pennsylvania). The selection process is also varied, involving Chambers of Commerce, Rotary clubs and local governments. While a Labor Day Festival Committee will select Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen, that selection is made from nominations submitted by the community.

Nominate Now

Who will be the 37th recipient announced this September during the opening ceremonies of the Labor Day Festival? The process of identifying that special person requires input from residents like you! Some outstanding citizens are noted for their creative leadership and their high visibility within organizations. Others work quietly and are characterized by a burning desire to serve.

In the past this volunteer work has involved PTA activities, safety issues like neighborhood crime

THANKS!

I am grateful for our local public library. We've been enjoying weekly storytime, checking out books, CDs and DVDs and using their speedy computers for checking email and doing research. The library staff is helpful, pleasant and courteous. We've recently signed up for the Summer Reading Program, which helps keep me motivated to read. We've also been meeting other parents and their young children. I appreciate all the services offered at the Greenbelt library. Keep up the great work!

THANKS!

The pantry of Greenbelt thanks you for your generous contributions. To all the shoppers of the Greenbelt Co-op store, to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and their leaders, to the church members of our community, to the Sisterhood and members of the Mishkan Torah congregation, thank you. The pantry continues its service to the needy.

Stop Spamming Cars

For the second time in two weeks, a prospective candidate for the upcoming City Council election on November 3 has left numerous leaflets under windshield wipers around Greenbelt. I have personally picked up a number of the fliers off the ground in my neighborhood, along our roadways and even in Buddy Attick Park. Flinging every accessible car inconveniences Greenbelt residents and visitors alike and contributes to the serious problem of litter on our streets and trails.

Furthermore, this tactic runs counter to the very positive example which candidates have set previously in agreeing to limit their outdoor campaign signs. I urge all candidates for the Greenbelt City Council to disavow the practice of flinging cars both as a matter of environmental stewardship and as an expression of respect for our residents, our visitors and our neighborhoods.

Greenbelt voters are surely eager to meet all candidates who may step forward for the upcoming election; I, for one, would prefer to be able to do so on positive terms and with an open mind untainted by such wasteful and inconsiderate campaign tactics.

Marvels at Nature

As the Assistant Director of Public Works for the city, a certified arborist, a watershed steward, Certified Professional Horticulturist, Maryland Roadside Tree Expert and all around tree-hugger, I felt compelled to respond to Patricia Heil's letter to the editor published in the Thursday, July 23 edition of the Greenbelt News Review.

Ms. Heil implied that our loss of our song birds has something to do with the presence of Brickman, a local landscape maintenance service and that Brickman has been providing tree care service to the city. Early this summer in an email Ms. Heil directed to Public Works, she questioned the role of Brickman in regard to the city. I returned her email, explaining that the city does not utilize Brickman for any type of tree care, which includes pruning or removal. Brickman does provide landscape maintenance service at various locations in Greenbelt: for the city, private businesses and for individual Greenbelt residents with whom Brickman may have contracted. The city requires that Brickman only use compost on our plant beds and they are not allowed to do any pesticide application unless approved by city staff.

Just a few months ago we received a canopy study from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, assisted by the University of Vermont. This study examined the existing tree canopy in Greenbelt. We have over 62 percent tree cover. This is far above any municipality in this and other urban regions and is something of which the city and its citizens can be quite proud. It is an acknowledgement of the value Greenbelt citizens and local government place in protecting its woodland.

Just a couple of months or so ago I took a walk in the forest preserve. It was a lovely spring morning and my spirits were high as I descended down the trail from Northway. Inspecting the preserve periodically is a requirement of my job but I truly love doing it. Once in the woods I walked slowly, taking in the smell of the leaf-laden ground. Tulip poplars dominate the woods with red maple and Virginia pine, also common species. I saw white tail deer and raccoon tracks. I walked uphill beyond the stream to my destination where white and red oaks grow. I traveled carefully making sure that my travels didn't invade the delicate understory. As I drew closer to my destination, I withdrew my binoculars to begin my inspection of the oak grove when suddenly the sound of a woodpecker caught my ear. I raised my glasses to my eyes and the biggest pileated woodpecker that I think I have ever seen clung to the side of a snag, digging for breakfast. I paused and marveled at the tenacity of nature: within this tract of forest and other remnant tracts of forest like this, the natural world continues to survive despite the urban sprawl that encompasses it all.

Sales Pitch Suspect

Colette Zanin (Suspicious Solicitor Goes Door to Door: Greenbelt News Review, July 31, 2009) did a great service by calling attention to the activities described.

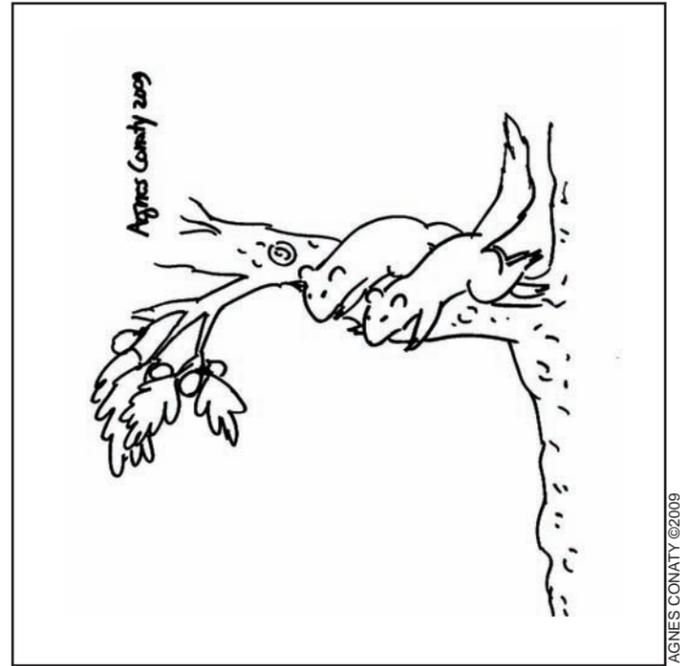

Last week, I had an almost identical experience; only this time the personable young man was "not selling" General Electric wireless alarm systems. He also started by saying that he was not selling anything and that the actual sales people will be in our area in a few weeks time. His task was to identify five householders who were willing to display a sign saying that their house was protected by GE alarm systems. He also referred to my neighbor by his first name and told me that he had already committed to display the GE sign. He emphasized that this was free and that my only obligation was to show some brochures that he would leave me to any persons who wanted to know about the GE system.

The rest of his sales pitch was similar to what Colette Zanin described. When I probed deeper, I found that the "free" items included door and window alarms and an alarm panel. In addition, I had to pay "only" $10 per week to enjoy the protection of the alarm system. I told him that this works out to $520 per year and that there are other systems that are much less expensive. I also told him that I need to do some more research before making any commitments and asked him for his business card to contact him later. At this point, he said that he was not giving out any business cards and went away. I still do not know his name.

I fully agree with Colette Zanin's suggestions about the need for researching different vendors if anyone feels the need to install such a system.

Fun Summer RomCom to Play

In a fresh treatment of an old romantic comedy theme beginning Friday at the Greenbelt Theater, Sandra Bullock plays a tough executive who suddenly faces deportation from the U.S. Her solution to the dilemma involves a scheme which includes marrying her administrative assistant, the much-abused Ryan Reynolds. An impromptu wedding suggested by his family is just one of the plot twists. Directed by Anne Fletcher and produced by Disney studios, "The Proposal" is rated PG-13 for language and sexual content. It runs one hour and 48 min.

Join In Greenbelt Idol Competition

by April Thornton

When a community comes together it is able to laugh, catch up on current events, remember the importance of life and enjoy each other's company.

The Labor Day Festival Committee is asking the community for their support and involvement and for people to come join the excitement of the Festival. To throw something different into the mix, there will be a singing competition taking place called Greenbelt Idol. Tryouts will be at the Greenbelt Arts Center on Friday, August 7 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Contestants have to be 16 or older and must be residents or work or volunteer in Greenbelt. If participation does not meet the expectations, the committee will open the competition to surrounding areas.

Those who know somebody meeting these requirements are asked to spread the word. The community will be able to clap hands and stomp feet to the voices of this community. Don't let this performer's chance of a lifetime pass by. Not only do the selected singers get a chance to showcase their beautiful vocal ranges at the Labor Day Festival but the winner also goes home with $500, receives the honor of being the first Greenbelt Idol and gets all the bragging rights that go along with it.

Feel free to jump into the fun of the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival!

Greg Meyer Quartet To Perform at Center

On Saturday, August 8 from 5 to 8 p.m., the Greg Meyer Quartet will present a free jazz concert in Roosevelt Center. With Greg Meyer on sax, Ray Chu on bass, Art McKinney on drums and Shawn Terrel on guitar, the quartet will play modern interpretations of the music of great players and composers like Sonny Rollins, John Coltrane, Duke Ellington and Stan Getz, as well as standards from shows and movies.

A Greenbelt resident since 1990, Greg Meyer is a classically trained saxophonist who has played in many different venues and genres, including the Manhattan Plaza Jazz Orchestra, where he played under Muhal Abrams and Slide Hampton. He also writes jazz.

His own compositions exhibit a desire to stretch the song form in terms of harmonic vocabulary as well as architectural structure. He is fond of exploring musical aspects of other cultures, incorporating Latin and Asian influences in his music.

This concert is the third free outdoor jazz concert produced by the New Deal Café this summer. The series is sponsored by the Friends of New Deal Café Arts with support from the City of Greenbelt and Prince George's County. In case of rain, the concert will take place in the Café.

Ruth Eileen Huggins

Ruth Eileen Huggins, 82, died on Saturday, July 24, 2009, at Lusby, Md.

The daughter of Mary and Simon Severns, she came to Greenbelt in 1977. She enjoyed living on Laurel Hill Road where she was surrounded by many caring friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Huggins loved her family and enjoyed her grandchildren and great-grandchild, who enjoyed their visits with her. She also loved her cat Ebony; she always felt Ebony took good care of her.

Mrs. Huggins worked for many years for the Macke Company, which was later taken over by Service of America. She retired from the company at age 65.

Taking care of her yard and flowers was a challenge and she liked to make them beautiful.

Her hobbies included painting, playing Canasta and working crossword puzzles.

Mrs. Huggins volunteered for Meals on Wheels and at GIVES, where she staffed the office on Monday mornings. She was a member of the Greenbelt Golden Age club, the Greenbelt Garden Club and the Homemakers Club in Riverdale. She wrote the Golden Age Club news for the Greenbelt News Review in 2001.

Survivors include her daughter, Mary Stabler and son John Huggins; grandchildren Dawn Zebroski and Theresa Huggins; and great-grandchild Brittany Korrell.

The family will be having a private service at Ft. Lincoln Cemetery. Expressions of sympathy may be made in her name to the Hospice of Calvert County, Md.

GAIL Is a "Best In Maryland"

The Greenbelt Assistance in Living Program (GAIL) has been named a Maryland Best Practice by the State of Maryland Department of Aging. Established in 2001 GAIL serves older adults and people with disabilities within the City of Greenbelt.

Using grant funds from the Naturally Occurring Retirement Community (NORC) Supportive Services Center in New York City, Greenbelt hired a Community Resource Advocate to conduct a needs assessment for the city.

The advocate, Christal Batey, developed an informative campaign designed to reach seniors and worked with the city's Youth and Family Services Bureau to tailor some of their programs to the needs of older adults.

Today, GAIL connects Greenbelt residents to available resources and brings in new resources that allow seniors to stay within the community for all of their needs. The program has expanded to provide direct service to over 700 Greenbelt seniors and their families.

Sympathy also to the family of Everett Willis Thompson, 91, a World War II veteran and 66-year member of the American Legion who died July 24, 2009, in Falls Church, Va. He was the father of Sandy Mooney, grandfather of Kathie Linkenhoker and great-grandfather of Meghan and Thomas Lloyd and Christina Linkenhoker, all of Research Road. At the funeral on July 27 PFC Thomas Lloyd, home from his Marine Corps post at Kings Bay, Ga., had the honor of presenting the American flag to his great-grandmother Selma Thompson.

Now Is the Time to Consider Whether to Run for City Council

Interested in becoming more involved in the future of the community? Wish to have a say in the policies and decisions that closely affect family, neighbors and Greenbelt as a whole? Like the opportunity to set the budget, meet regularly with stakeholders, and give guidance on the key issues facing the City of Greenbelt? If so, consider running for a seat on the Greenbelt City Council in this year's election.

Council is the policy making body of Greenbelt. Essentially it is a "board of directors" for the city. The council meets in formal sessions in the evenings on the second and fourth Mondays of every month. It is at these sessions where council sets policy, passes laws, adopts the budget and gives guidance on important community issues. Council also meets in worksessions on the first and third Mondays of the month as well as most Wednesdays. At worksessions council meets with key community stakeholders, reviews and discusses city business, such as the budget and gets briefed on subjects ranging from public safety and development projects to energy efficiency and

Election Papers

The election is just around the corner. Election papers will be available beginning August 17. The seven-member non-partisan Greenbelt City Council is elected at-large, representing the entire city.

Because of recent changes to Greenbelt's election laws, there has never been a better time to run for city council. Beginning this year, there will be two additional seats on council, for a total of seven seats. Also Greenbelt residents will be able to cast an early ballot beginning October 17, 2009, through October 30, 2009. These voting changes mean that there will be a healthy competition among civic-minded residents for all seven seats on council.

Qualifications

In order to become a candidate the following requirements must be met:

- Be a resident of the City of Greenbelt and at least 18 years of age
- Be a registered voter in Prince George's County
- Obtain the signatures of at least 50 registered voters on an official nomination petition

- Comply with all city election laws.

Monday, August 17 is the first day to obtain election papers and file a nomination petition. The deadline to file a nomination petition is Monday, September 21 at 5 p.m. The nomination petition and Affidavit of Candidate forms must be notarized. These forms are available from the city clerk's office in the Municipal Building, located at 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, MD 20770. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For more information on the process, call City Clerk Cindy Murray at 301-474-8000 or by email at cmurray@greenbeltmd.gov.

To vote or run for council, people must be registered to vote in Prince George's County. In order to do so, they must: be a citizen of the United States of America; be at least 18 years of age on or before November 3, 2009; be domiciled within the corporate limits of the City of Greenbelt as of the date of registration; not have been convicted of a felony or if they have, completed serving a court ordered sentence of imprisonment, including any term of parole or probation for the conviction; and not be under guardianship for mental disability. Potential candidates may pick up a voter registration form at the city offices in the Municipal Building, the public library or a Department of Motor Vehicles Administration office. A form may also be downloaded to be mailed or carried to the county at <http://elections.state.md.us>.

Prince George's County officials have announced the discontinuation of Metrobus Routes C7 and C9 between Greenbelt and Glenmont. This was a route with weak performance measures, according to a July 13 letter written to Mayor Judith Davis.

Improvement Efforts

When visiting the lake area, one may notice prolific edge-growth. Edge-growth is beneficial, helping to filter out toxins, phosphorus and invasive plants. At present beautiful hibiscus flowers are in bloom along the dam.

The use of barley bales, introduced by Bill Phelan, former assistant director of Public Works, seemed a good idea at the time but the few bales placed were not enough. In fact, it is now known that only a huge number of bales could have any real positive impact – so many that it is not aesthetically feasible, Riddle said.

Draining the lake, which is 30 feet deep in some places, would not be a good idea, Riddle said. She noted that doing so would create a massive amount of hazardous waste, which would seriously impact area wildlife, present a quandary regarding disposal of the dredge, impact aquatic plants and be a huge financial burden to the city.

Riddle reported that the outflowing water quality is "pretty good" at present. The lake water flows out to the Anacostia and eventually to the Chesapeake Bay. Stream restoration work at Stream Valley on Greenhill Road is currently planned, with eventual dredging of the lake's fore bay.

Rain Barrels

The best way for individual homeowners to help mitigate damage to the lake is through the use of rain barrels and rain gardens in their yards, said Riddle. Later Matt Berres, manager of sustainability for Greenbelt Homes, Inc., spoke about the use of rain barrels and rain gardens. He encouraged all residents of Greenbelt and the bay watershed area to purchase and use rain barrels wherever possible. For more information on rain barrel use go to www.ghi.coop/rainbarrels.

In conclusion Riddle summarized current information about Greenbelt Lake: "This water body is in pretty good shape."

watch and volunteer fire services, youth athletics, charitable activities, Greenbelt's Advisory Boards, nonprofit groups, cooperative organizations and addressing the needs of the hungry and homeless.

Many talented individuals are living in Greenbelt who love their city and provide countless hours of un-publicized service. All of us have had the opportunity to be associated with persons like this who have distinguished themselves for their outstanding volunteer service. Rarely do they receive the recognition they deserve. History indicates that many of Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizens have been nominated several times before their selection. The Committee encourages nominators to be persistent.

Remember – the deadline of August 3 is next Monday!

Det. Lanier Receives Prestigious Police Award

On June 2 Detective Michael Lanier of the Greenbelt Police Department was awarded Investigator of the Year by the Police Chief's Association of Prince George's County during their annual awards luncheon.

Det. Michael Lanier

received the prestigious award due to his efforts in identifying and apprehending a serial arsonist who had terrorized the Springhill Lake (now Empirian Village) community by setting several fires in the apartment complex during 2007. Lanier's investigative efforts also led to the successful prosecution and conviction of the arsonist, who was sentenced in April to eight years in prison.

Lanier, a 23-year veteran of the Greenbelt Police Department, was formerly a patrol officer and canine officer. He was promoted to detective in 2005. Lanier was also Greenbelt Officer of the Year in both 1992 and 2007.

State Warns Cellphone Users of ID Theft Scam

The Maryland Attorney General's office has issued a warning to cellphone users to be alert for new scams using cellphones to obtain personal bank information. Maryland, which ranks 11th in the country for identity theft complaints to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC), has had many reports of scammers calling residents' cellphones. They have also started sending text messages that appear to be from a bank or other financial institution, similar to "phishing" emails. These text messages ask recipients to call a toll-free number to resolve a conflict with their account. The number is often an automated message service that asks the potential victim to input bank account numbers or other sensitive personal information. Identity thieves obtain account numbers, Social Security numbers and other sensitive personal information from victims who believe the messages are from their bank or other financial institution, then use the information to drain the victim's bank account or open new credit accounts in the victim's name.

Never give personal information when contacted by an unsolicited caller, text message or email. People should not divulge any sensitive personal information unless they initiated the contact with the financial institution themselves. Most financial institutions do not contact customers by text message or ask for personal information by email. Anyone receiving a banking-related text message, phone call or email should verify the sender by going to the institution's website or looking at their account statements to confirm the phone number or web address. Clicking on a link in a suspicious email can also download a virus.

Suspicious cellphone communications can be reported to the FTC or the Identity Theft Unit of the Office of the Attorney General online at idtheft@oag.state.md.us or by telephone at 410-576-6491.

The Department is offering a reward of up to $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a suspect in any of the unsolved crimes reported in the blotter. People may anonymously report suspected drug activity by calling the Drug Tip Line at 301-507-6522.

Community Mediation Board Recognized

At the July 13 meeting of the Greenbelt City Council, members of the city's Community Mediation Board were honored for their many years of service. From left are Councilmembers Konrad Herling and Ed Putens, Mayor Judith Davis, David Haberman, Joan Krob, Lynn Tamantini, Councilmembers Leta Mach and Rodney Roberts.

The Greenbelt Community Mediation Board (CMB) was formed in 1999 to provide free mediation services to Greenbelt residents. The CMB has met monthly to discuss services, promotional ideas and opportunities to increase utilization of the service. In addition the CMB received eight to 10 referrals annually for mediation.

A decision was recently made to reorganize how the city offers mediation services and the service is now provided under Greenbelt CARES. Under this system, the CMB was dissolved and one community mediator was maintained as a volunteer mediator for the city. Lynn Tamantini has taken on this role.

Recreation Department Also Recognized for Excellence

At the same meeting on July 13, council showcased the continuing efforts of the city's Recreation Department which recently received a Governor's Citation for the City of Greenbelt's Get Active Greenbelt Physical Activity Excellence Award. The program honors individuals, organizations, agencies, schools, communities and businesses whose dedication, vision and service has helped increase physical activity among Maryland citizens. Assistant Director of Programs, Julie McHale, led the city's program and was on hand to give an overview of the continuing efforts of the Recreation Department's Greenbelt Get Active campaign. Above, Mayor Judith Davis presents the Governor's citation to McHale.

Street Soccer USA Cup Competition

The Street Soccer USA Cup is a soccer competition featuring homeless youth and adults from 16 cities across the United States, including Washington D.C., who will be competing for a spot on the US National Street Soccer Team's roster. The US National Team will travel to the Homeless World Cup in Milan, Italy, this September to compete against various other countries' homeless national teams.

Street Soccer USA was started in Charlotte, N.C., five years ago and became very successful at helping homeless people move off the streets and into permanent jobs using soccer as a hook.

Since 2005, 25 of 32 USA National Team alumni have stayed off the street since taking part in the Homeless World Cup. To date, over 75 percent of Street Soccer participants have improved their lives by securing full-time jobs, long-term housing and/or freedom from addiction and mental health afflictions. The Street Soccer USA Cup is free and will take place from July 31 to August 2 at the Washington Kastles Stadium (site of the old convention center) at 10th and H Streets, N.W. For more information go to www.streetsoccerusa.org.

Benefit Show Is a Success

For the third year in a row, the staff of the City of Greenbelt's Creative Kids Camp program volunteered their time to perform Chris Cherry's original play "Perseus and the Gorgan." The play was performed on Friday, July 24 and Saturday, July 25 to sold out audiences.

The entire production is rehearsed on the actors' own time as a gift to the community. Proceeds from this performance benefit the Mary Purcell Geiger scholarship fund. This fund helps to finance Greenbelt Recreation arts classes for those who cannot afford them.

For information on how to donate to this fund, call the Greenbelt Community Center at 301-397-2208.

Two weddings take place at the beginning of the play. Aerisius, king of the North (Cody Sanders), marries Danae, queen of the North (Colleen Arnold). They are the couple on the left. Cepheus, king of the South (Mason Trappio), marries Cassiopeia, queen of the South (Liana Ventimiglia). They are the couple on the right.

Please help the Outstanding Citizen Committee find the next outstanding citizen. Submit your nomination for that person whose volunteer service to our community has made him or her your choice to be the Greenbelt Outstanding Citizen of 2009.
