

GREENBELT GETS DEFENSE WORKERS HOMES

ATHLETIC CLUB HOST TO SPORTS NOTABLES

Climaxing the most active year of its existence the Greenbelt Athletic Club will hold its annual banquet on Saturday, February 15th, in the auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Augie Lio, All-American guard at Georgetown, who will receive the club's award, will head a gala array of celebrities of the sports world, who will be among the guests. Coach Jack Hagerty of Georgetown will be the main speaker. Bucky Harris of the Senators will represent the baseball world, and Jack Espey, Turk Edwards and Bill Young of the Redskins will add the gridiron touch. From the Brewers Washington's Professional Basketballers, will be Coach Mack Posnack, Whitey Wilson, Nat Frankel, Moe Dubilier, etc., Others present will include Coach Elmer Ripley and Captain Rizzi of the Hilltop Basketballers; Coach Bill Reinhart and Captain Joe Comer of the G. W. Basketball team; track coach Dorsey Griffith of C. U., Bozie Berger of the Newark Bears; Dick Tennyson of the District Playgrounds and Tuffy Leemans of the New York Giants. Toastmaster for the occasion will be Major William Robb of Station WINK.

The club activities for 1940 included the building of a club house, successful participation in various sports, (in which even Mr. Duffer was able to participate) a hay-ride and other parties, a Christmas tree and last but not least, ribbing the umpires. A source of pride to Bill Neblett, president, is the fact that the organization has successfully kept out of politics.

Club elections were scheduled to be held Wednesday night, February 12th, and installation of officers will be at the banquet. According to Mr. Neblett none of the present officers were seeking reelection.

Attendance at the banquet is expected to number more than 200 "stag and informal". The affair is one of the biggest occasions in Greenbelt.

Sharing honors for the preparations are Charles Bradley, chairman of the Banquet Committee, and Ben Goldfadden who helped particularly in obtaining outstanding guests from Washington sports and all the members of the committee who have worked hard in all the necessary little jobs.

Tiny Meeker To Play Again For February 22 Dance

Washington's Birthday will be the occasion for Greenbelt's next dance it was learned today from Larry Pinckney, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Citizen's Association. "Tiny" Meeker's orchestra will play for this dance.

Tickets will be only 40 cents this time—40 cents for advance sales and 50 cents at the door. "We don't expect to make any money on this dance," Mr. Pinckney explained. "We did real well financially for the last two dances. The association built up a nice surplus on the New Year's Eve affair, and we raised a fine sum of money to fight infantile paralysis from the President's Birthday Ball. Now we are going to have a dance just for fun, at a price every one in Greenbelt can pay."

As a result of many requests "Tiny" Meeker's full orchestra will be brought here again for the February 22 dance, to play from 10 until 1 o'clock. This will be the last Association dance before the Lenten season.

COMMUNITY CHURCH HEARS RABBI SILVER

Members of the Hebrew Congregation participated in the service of the Community Church last Sunday morning at an inter-faith meeting addressed by Rabbi Samuel Silver.

Rabbi Silver, Greenbelt's new Hebrew Spiritual Advisor and resident Rabbi at the University of Maryland, discussed the mutual religious problems of both creeds with particular emphasis on those confronting the youth of today.

Members of the Community Church were guests of the Hebrew Congregation, Friday evening, February 7.

THOMAS RESIGNS BOARD POSITION

Lindsey Thomas resigned last Thursday as one of the directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc. A transfer of employment to New York was stated as the reason for his resignation.

Mr. Thomas was elected as a board member last August and his term has six months to run. The vacancy had not been filled at press time.

Co-op Savings To Be Distributed

Preparations are being made for the distribution of a net savings of $7,250 to patrons of the Greenbelt Consumer Services. Such action was authorized at a meeting of the cooperative's membership on February 5. More than 350 persons attended the meeting.

The election of five directors resulted in the selection of Walter R. Volckhausen, Howard C. Custer, Charles E. Fitch, Mrs. Ella G. Poller, and Lloyd B. MacEwen (in the order named). Mr. Volckhausen and Mr. Custer were reelected, both having served as directors during the past year, while the others are new board members.

Mrs. Bertha Maryn, John McWilliams, Allen Morrison, and Morris Tepper were the other candidates. Fred L. Wilde, Donald Wagstaff, and Milton Thurber, who were announced previously as having been nominated, declined to run. Approximately 40 nominations were received but only nine accepted.

Holdover directors are Lindsey Thomas, Dr. George Treiman, Mrs. Carmie Harper, and Denzil Wood. Their terms will expire in six months. Mr. Thomas resigned the following day, however, and it will be necessary for the board to appoint another director to serve the remaining part of his term.

The recent appointment of Joseph Fargas as a member of the auditing committee, to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Harry Hesse, was unanimously approved by the membership.

PROPOSED CHANGES IN BY-LAWS

The motions to change the by-laws were made. They will not be acted upon until the next quarterly meeting. These motions were to make the patronage return payable to members only, and to allow 5 per cent instead of 3 as the maximum dividend payable on capital stock.

Winners of the door prizes were Howard Custer, electric mixer; Walter Henshaw, table lamp; and Mrs. Gilbert Heine, electric clock.

Guy W. Carmack, Henry M. Sidlinger, Arthur N. Gawthrop, George E. Bauer, Dr. James W. McCarl, Dayton W. Hull, and Fred W. Pfeiffer comprised the committee which counted the votes.

Led by Claude Cornwell, former director of recreation for the United States Steamship Lines, and accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Cornwell, the group sang many old-time favorites before the meeting was called to order.

Refreshments—ice cream and cookies—donated by Southern Dairies were served after adjournment of the meeting.

Milk Club Launches Membership Drive

The Committee of the Milk Buying Club held a meeting last Sunday and unanimously agreed to launch an educational program.

Called together by Dr. Mary S. Shorb, chairman, the committee welcomed new members recently appointed to represent the Citizens Association and for their benefit reviewed the history and activity of the club.

The proposed educational program would stimulate interest in the club and in turn encourage new members both in Greenbelt and vicinity.

Mrs. Paul S. Roller reported that after some negotiations Mr. Holbrook, owner of the dairy supplying milk to the club, agreed to turn over to the club a monthly return of one per cent of gross sales of the club's business to be used for education and promotion.

The committee had been studying along for nearly a year without any funds and felt that such an arrangement was necessary in order to carry on promotional and educational work. The Washington Milk Buying Club has a similar arrangement with the dairy supplying their milk.

The newly appointed members are: Ben Rosenzweig, Morris Fleissig, Mrs. Donald Cooper, Mrs. Edward Walther, and Dr. Carolyn Silberman.

Present also were Walter R. Volckhausen and Dr. Lincoln Clark. Dr. Clark is conducting classes on cooperatives at the University of Maryland.

Hurt In Crash

Late last Saturday night Irving Johnston suffered various injuries when he lost control of his station wagon on Edmonston Road near the Defense Highway. The car wrecked itself against a tree and passing motorists took Mr. Johnston to Casualty Hospital for treatment of a broken rib, bruised knee-caps, face lacerations and general shock.

A thousand homes for defense workers will be constructed in undeveloped areas 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 of Greenbelt as one of the 43 defense housing projects throughout the United States designed to relieve the acute shortage of adequate housing for persons engaged in defense activities.

The project is one of the four largest assignments of the entire national allotment, funds for which will be provided under the terms of the $150,000,000 Lanham Act for defense housing.

The F.S.A. will direct construction which is expected to get under way within the next 30 days, the houses being rushed to completion as quickly as possible. In all probability they will be similar in type of construction, especially from outside appearances, to the present Greenbelt houses and will cost $3950 per home maximum, not including utilities extension costs.

Requirements for residence in this new project will fit in with the general policies now in existence in Greenbelt, particularly with respect to income standards. The entire area will continue to be a low-cost housing project.

The F.S.A. is establishing temporary offices in Greenbelt for the staff of its Engineering Division in connection with the project, more details of which will appear in a later edition of the Cooperator.

The use of Greenbelt land for a defense housing project will save the Government considerable money, since it owns the land and utilities are already installed and available to serve a much larger community than Greenbelt at its present size. Greenbelt now consists of 885 dwellings covering a little over 120 acres. Originally, 3411 acres of land were purchased for Greenbelt, allowing the town to expand to about 3000 homes.

Shopping and recreational centers will in all probability have to be increased to meet new demands, since F.S.A. officials predict the new project will virtually double Greenbelt's size, raising the total population to about 6000.

Details of administration will be forthcoming at a future date.

Town Council Discusses Defense Housing

Defense housing will radically change the map of Greenbelt, but will not result in any slums or inferior neighborhoods, Town Manager Roy Braden told the Town Council last Monday night. It is probable that 700, rather than 1000, houses will be built; 300 will be located along the far side of Ridge Road from Westway as far as Northway, and 400 or more will be spread fanwise from the end of Northway over toward the water tower. Construction may start in 30 days.

The Appropriation Act, it was stated, limits the cost of each house to a maximum of $3950, excluding streets, sidewalks, sewers and water lines. Three per cent of the total expenditures may be used for community facilities which would be approximately the cost of an additional elementary school. The wage scale to be paid will be that fixed by the Department of Labor for this locality.

Abe Chasanow, president of the Citizens Association, proposed to the Council that an effort be made to coordinate the desires of the various groups in Greenbelt with respect to the needs created by the addition of the defense project houses. He reported his conversation with Major John Walker, Assistant Administrator of Farm Security Administration, who approved the idea and indicated that every effort would be made to obtain the additional facilities, such as schools, stores, etc., which would be made necessary by the town's increased population.

More stringent quarantine regulations respecting scarlet fever were deemed desirable by the Council, after hearing the Public Health Officer's report that 24 cases had been reported in 1941. No action was taken, however.

BRADLEY ELECTED PRESIDENT

Charles Bradley was elected president of the Greenbelt Athletic Club Wednesday night to replace William Neblett whose term as head of the organization will expire Saturday night when the new officers are installed at the annual banquet.

John McWilliams was named vice-president; Curt Barker, secretary; Larry Pinckney, treasurer; John Resnick, custodian.

Abraham Chasanow was named to the legislative committee of the County Federation of Citizens Association at a meeting of that body last week.

Feeder Band Proposed

The Parents Board of the Greenbelt Band at its meeting last Friday discussed the possibility of organizing a second or "feeder" band.

The Board requested Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer to investigate the possibility of securing more instruments from the same.

This band would also be able to accommodate other children who have their own instruments.

According to Paul Garret, band-leader, approximately 15-20 children will have to sign up before another band can be started.

The Parents Board urges all parents and all children interested in forming another band to communicate with the officers of the board or come to band practice any Friday night.

The band proudly announces that it has recently made its fourth payment to Farm Security reducing its debt of $227 to $107.

ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES STILL OPEN

The Adult Education classes, as scheduled for the spring of 1941, had their initial opening February 3 and continuing through the week. Registrations can still be made in Mrs. Kinzer's office, but will be closed as of Saturday, February 15, at 1 P.M.

Classes in the study of the Pre-School Child and the Adolescent Child will need additional registrations if they are to go through, otherwise they will have to be cut from the schedule as was necessary last semester. If you or any of your friends are interested in either of these two classes, or any other class, please register AT ONCE.

A meeting of the Greenbelt Holy Name Society will be held at 8:30 P. M., Monday, February 17, 1941, in the home of Herbert Brine, 20A Parkway.

Defense Housing

Greenbelt should benefit materially from the addition of approximately one thousand new dwelling units for its facilities were originally planned to take care of a town three times its present size.

While it is true that the total cost of operating the town government is certain to increase, the cost per dwelling unit spread over twice the present number of units should decrease sharply and make possible a lowered tax rate.

In no less degree, our local cooperatives, each of which reports that it can handle considerably more business with its present personnel, should receive real impetus from increased patronage which should make possible lowered costs certain to react beneficially on the pocket books of our residents. Our transportation problem, one of our greatest bugaboos, ought now to become apparent even to the Public Utilities Commission, and relief should be expected in that direction.

The transition will not be without its headaches, however, public safety will present a problem. Additional school and indoor recreation space will be immediately needed. Increased hospital facilities will have to be provided. Assimilation of the new group will require of us all a high degree of intelligence, tact, sympathy, and understanding, in order that the town may maintain the best of its present characteristics and be knit into a cohesive whole-not a town divided by "the railroad tracks."

If proper judgment is exercised by our citizens, through their town government and their co-ops, if our organizations make their requirements known, and if proper consideration is given by those persons charged with planning and building, to the needs of the town occasioned by the sudden increase in population, Greenbelt ought to take on added significance as a "Planned Community" and overcome much of the prejudice which has arisen in the minds of those who claim that Greenbelt is costing too much.

Mayor George A. Warner

I am convinced that the 1000 defense housing units will have a profound effect on our cooperative, whether an entirely favorable one it is not yet possible to determine. Provided that the houses to be constructed are of the present Greenbelt quality, and if the community facilities will be enlarged to meet the added demands which will be placed upon them, our project will be benefited. For example, it is possible that we will be able to use some of the new utility lines which will be built, and the additions to the schools will remove one of the factors hindering our own expansion. On the other hand, it may be difficult to secure competent workmen in competition with a building plan sponsored by the Government, if our own program does not get underway prior to theirs.

Dayton Hull,
Chairman, Homeowners' Cooperative

By and large, the proposed addition to Greenbelt is welcome. The increase in population to an estimated 7,000 will, however, have tremendous impact on our community. As far as the Health Association is concerned, we are frankly worried about securing adequate quarters in which to carry on the inevitable increase in the volume of our business. The people of Greenbelt may rest assured that the Board of Directors is doing all that it can to see to it that the necessity for these facilities is brought to the attention of those planning the addition.

Here and now let me state that I feel that the situation calls for a united effort on the part of all Greenbelt organizations to see to it that the character of their institutions benefits by the proposed changes. Properly handled, this influx of new neighbors can present a tremendous opportunity for our cooperative efforts. Let us all individually and in unison put our shoulders to the wheel and see to it that Greenbelt emerges not only bigger, but better.

Edward I. Weitsman,
President, Greenbelt Health Association

The influx of 1000 additional families into Greenbelt will mean to Greenbelt Consumer Services both remarkable opportunity and greatly increased responsibility. It should mean an expansion in annual volume from a little short of $400,000 to over one million dollars.

The immediate needs of the Cooperative in the face of the approaching situation are first strengthening of its capital structure, so that it can finance the necessary expansion of its activities; and second, development of an efficient and effective educational and membership program, so that the waves of new residents can be rapidly and adequately informed of the nature and aims of the Cooperative, and of the part they can play in it.

To strengthen the educational program will be fundamentally the job of the Board, though it will require a good deal of help from the membership. To strengthen the capital structure of the Cooperative will be fundamentally the job of the membership. Each citizen of Greenbelt can do his part by doing one or all of the following things: (1) investing in additional shares, (2) giving all possible patronage to the local stores, and (3) buying Co-op label goods wherever possible. The last is particularly important, for no Cooperative or chain store was ever built out of the savings or profit on nationally advertised products sold as loss leaders. By and large it is our purchases of Co-op label goods that are providing capital for our Cooperative and patronage returns for ourselves.

We have a big job to do, and to do immediately. Let's start now.

Walter R. Volckhausen,
President, Greenbelt Consumer Services

Letters to Editor

To the Editor:

Last week's "Cooperator" carried under the head "G.C.A. to aid transportation" an announcement that the Citizens Association had plans for a town hall. Many readers must have missed this important bit of news because it was buried among several other items. Since the idea of an open forum is deserving of more publicity than was accorded it I should like to discuss it.

In these days when democracy is on trial for life any device which encourages and facilitates free discussion is a safeguard and a support for democracy. Here in Greenbelt, because of the comparatively comfortable living conditions there is a tendency to "take it easy" and let things run themselves. The danger of such an attitude is more real than apparent. Cooperatives in general and Greenbelt in particular have been under fire since their inception. We, who appreciate the advantages and necessity for communities such as ours must take more than a passive interest in the operation of our community and in its relation to the outside world.

I can think of no better plan, to stimulate such an active interest among our citizens, than an open forum. At such a meeting the floodgates of constructive thinking are opened wide and the barriers to frank discussion broken down. Our town leadership could gain a clearer perspective of our community needs and be able to gauge the people's reaction on vital community issues.

The town hall institution is as old as American democracy itself. The need for a town hall was never greater. The Citizens Association by initiating the idea of an open forum for Greenbelt proves itself worthy of its name.

—J. Schaeffer

OBITUARY

Ethel B. C. Johnston, born in Gage County, Nebraska, on April 9, 1887, passed to her reward on February 7, 1941, at her home, 13C Ridge Rd., where she had resided for the past three years.

She received her A.E. degree at Nebraska University in 1913 and B.S. in Domestic Science at Agricultural College in 1917.

On October 11, 1920, she was married to Irving D. Johnston. They had three children, Carl Irving, Helen Magil, and Charles Mervyn.

Last September, she underwent a brain operation, which left her partly paralyzed.

Besides the family mentioned, she is survived by many relatives, a host of friends, and an aunt, Miss Edith Whyman of Washington, D. C.

Carrying out her desires, the funeral was simple. Interment was at the Greenbelt Cemetery.

MRS. GREENBELT

Good Evening, Mrs. Greenbelt:

Again I am asking the indulgence of our readers while I pinch hit for your Women's Editor, who by now is somewhere in Minnesota or the wilds of the Bad Lands of North Dakota with her husband and little Kate.

Mrs. Arness expects to be back in about a month so in the meantime I shall do my best to fill in, but I know of no one who could ever take her place, so cheer up! It can't be for long, and if you will bear with me these few weeks, I shall be truly grateful.

PRESCHOOL MOTHERS WILL STUDY HOME PLAY PROGRAM

At the last meeting of the Pre-School Mothers' Club, Mrs. C. Byron Roshon dealt thoroughly with the main disciplinary problems facing parents from the time of a child's birth to when he is five years old. The establishment of regular habits and methods of handling toy-throwers, thumb-suckers and meddlers were only a few of the topics covered in a talk over an hour in duration.

In preparation for her talk Mrs. Roshon canvassed Washington libraries for books on child care as well as utilizing the resources of the Greenbelt Library. Thirty minutes of lively discussion followed her address. Mrs. C. V. Southern, hostess for the group, served lemon cocoanut cake and tea in the social period following.

Mrs. William L. Moore will map out "A Home Play Program" at the next meeting on March 6. Anyone interested in joining the club is invited to attend the program, which will be held at 8:15 in the home of Mrs. Daniel B. Branch, 45-B Ridge Road.

WOMEN'S CLUB ENJOY PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

Mrs. Charles E. Welsh, 1 Woodland Way, was hostess Thursday afternoon to the Women's Club of Greenbelt, assisted by Mrs. Oscar M. Johnson and Mrs. Edgar R. Cross. Mrs. Welsh's home was tastefully decorated. In the dining room was displayed a center piece of red, white and blue flowers. The program, under the direction of Mrs. William Murdock consisted of patriotic vocal selections by Mrs. Murdock, Mrs. Johnson and the entire Club which was largely represented.

Rev. William F. Walsh, Roman Catholic chaplain of Walter Reed General Hospital was the guest speaker. He stressed the necessity of fundamental home training in the basic principles of loyalty and respect for those in authority as being contributing factors in producing good soldiers and explained the various duties of an army chaplain in his work among the troops.

Tea was served and it was announced that Mrs. James McCarl would be the hostess for March. Mrs. Linden Dodson, chairman of the welfare committee, will have charge of the program.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Tessia Zorach entertained at an old-fashioned quilting bee Tuesday afternoon. Seven adults stitched busily at a baby quilt while five children of assorted ages and sizes tumbled about on the floor.

The quilt is ornamented with animal appliques designed by Mrs. Zorach's sister-in-law, Dahlov Ipcar, talented young artist of Robinhood, Maine, who recently held a one-man show in New York.

The new Girl Scout Troop recently formed by Mrs. Ethel Ackerman has been assigned Troop No. 15 by the County Council.

RECIPES

By Peggy Bargas

How long is it since you have served a steamed pudding? Now is the time to serve these delicious hot desserts, before summer creeps up on us. Here is a recipe for such a pudding, and it is delicious although of lighter texture than a Plum Pudding.

Steamed Mince Meat Pudding

- 1 (9oz.) package dry mince meat
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1/2 cup nut meats, finely chopped
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 1/2 cups dry cake crumbs

Break mince meat into pieces. Add cold water. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling for three minutes or until mixture is practically dry. Allow to cool. Add slightly beaten eggs, nut meats, orange juice and grated rind to cake crumbs. Blend thoroughly. Fold in cooled mince meat. Pour into greased pudding mold, eight individual molds, or baking powder can, filling two-thirds full. Cover tightly and steam one hour having boiling water halfway up on molds. If additional water is needed during steaming, it must be boiling when added. Serve warm with hard sauce or whipped cream. Serves eight.

GREENBELT SCOUTS ENJOY FOURTH BANQUET

Troop 202 Scout and Cub units received their 1941 registration cards at the fourth annual father and son banquet Wednesday night. After the turkey dinner prepared by the Scout and Cub mothers numerous guests and Scout leaders were introduced by Toastmaster Roy S. Braden. A number of awards were made, and then motion pictures were shown by Glenn C. Leach of the Bureau of Wild Life and Fisheries.

Forty-three seventh-graders from the Elementary School piled into two automobiles and one station wagon Friday afternoon to make a trip of inspection to the Greenbelt High School, where they hope to be studying next year.

GREENBELT'S NEW BABIES

At 8:58 A. M., February 4, Thomas Edmund Melloy Jr., was born at the Greenbelt Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Melloy of 5G Eastway.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest N. Kolonsky announce the birth of a daughter, Jean Frances, on February 4 in Washington.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Williams announce the birth of a boy, James Frederick, on February 8 at the Greenbelt hospital.

Mr and Mrs. "Buddy" Attick are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born 11:35 P.M. February 11.

Sealtest ICE CREAM

STRIKES & SPARES

By John Maffay

Scattering the maples for a 602-1632 set, the Co-op #1 boys set the pace last Tuesday night, Feb. 4, 1941, as the sixteen teams of the Greenbelt Men's League convenes at the College Park alleys for their weekly get-together. Their victims were the Community Men's Class, and it was in this match that high game for the night was scored as Maffay of Co-op #1 rolled a 151-372. The Badgers took the lead away from the Redskins when they registered a shutout victory over the Starlight Earls. The Redskins during this time were dropping 2 out of 3 to the Winnies.

In other matches of the evening, the Starlight Barons rolled a 1601 set to shutout the Fuckerros in all three games; the Colts whitewashed the Dodgers 3 to 0; the Orioles clipped the Eagles in all three games; the Barnacles took the odd game from the K. of C. boys; and University Motors blanked Co-op #2 to win all three matches.

The Weekly League Cash Prize and Marvin's Credit Two Dollar Merchandise Certificate was won by Maffay of Co-op #1 for that game of 151.

In the Women's League last Monday night, February 3, 1941, the team of Trott & Owens registered a new second high team set of 1367 when they defeated the Starlight lassies in all three games. The Bluebirds kept pace with the University Alleys team as they both won 2 out of 3 games from Little Tavern and Arcade-Sunshine respectively, thereby remaining in a tie for first place in games won and lost. In the other two matches the Redbirds took the odd game from the Strickettes and the team representing G. P. Iverson shutout Matthai's 3 to 0.

Lease Compromise

Farm Security Administration and the Greenbelt Homeowners' Cooperative are fast reaching a satisfactory compromise on the land lease submitted by FSA three weeks ago, Chairman Dayton Hull announced after a conference last Friday between Assistant Administrator Walker and Homeowners' representatives. Construction of utilities and building operations will begin as soon as the lease in its final form is signed by both parties.

Major Walker announced that the proposed 1000 defense housing units would be distributed throughout Greenbelt as available sites and utility spurs made it feasible, but that the Homeowners' Cooperative would retain the site it has selected surrounding the Parkbelt area.
