537 local registrants are eligible to cast their ballots this November 7. This is the official voting strength of our community, which has on its lists 406 Democrats, 99 Republicans, and 32 Independents. This figure includes servicemen to whom absentee ballots were mailed.

Greenbelt residents who are voting by absentee ballot from other states are reminded that the election officials in some instances require the ballots to be in their hands as early as October 28. Any questions may be referred to your local representative of the Voters Information Committee, to Edna George, 6827 or Anne Hull, 4626.

According to the Committee, which has been canvassing the town to give voting information, "fully 25 per cent of the voting find that they could vote this year."

Republican Urges Free Enterprise

Calling for a return to unrestricted business enterprise, Blanchard Randall, Republican aspirant to the U. S. Senate from Maryland, spoke to a small group at a special meeting of the Citizens Association last Friday night.

Mr. Randall criticized the New Deal for "putting class against class", its machine control, and denounced Democratic handling of the depression and the war. Stating that there were ten million unemployed in 1940, Randall said the New Deal did not cure unemployment until the war, because government restrictions did not give business enough incentive to make large profits, and hence business was afraid to expand and hire new labor.

He next criticized the government for not adequately preparing for war and for inadequate handling and division of authority during the war. Randall praised the efforts of business and the American people in the present crisis, and asked that the Republican party be given a chance to give business full opportunity after the war.

The question period raised several issues. When asked what specific plan the Republicans had in mind to offer complete employment, and whether they could guarantee a minimum annual wage, Randall stated that the present plan of economy in this country precludes exact planning of consumption needs. If the American business man could be given freedom from fear in expansion, however, Randall stated, he would provide jobs. One questioner suggested that this freedom was given business after the last war, with resulting depression. Randall retorted that the American standard of living improved greatly during the twenties, and that it was the New Deal which prevented recovery from the ensuing depression.

The Greenbelt Health Association will hold its regular quarterly membership meeting Wednesday, October 25, in the auditorium of the Elementary School, beginning promptly at 8 p. m.

After the film there will be a short business meeting, consisting of reports by the president and business manager, brief talks on

PTA Talks Curfew To End Vandalism

"The Development of a Sense of Responsibility in the Child" will be the topic of a round-table discussion at the 8 p. m. session of the Parent-Teacher Association Monday night, October 23, at the Elementary School auditorium. Five speakers will participate in the forum: Dorothy Black, Greenbelt Social Service Director; Mary Davis, Elementary School teacher; Mary MacGregor, nursery school supervisor, and parents Ralph Webster and Sherrod East. There will also be an opportunity for general discussion.

At the Executive Board meeting last Monday night, Mrs. Lewis Ditman, chairman of the program committee, presented a calendar of events for the year. "The Child and His World" has been adopted as the program theme, and phases of this general subject will be featured at the regular meetings. The November Topic will be "International Relationship Problems As They Affect Our Children". "Sex Education Today in the Home and School" is scheduled for the January session; "Counseling With Our Children", February; "Family Recreation", March; and "Making the Most of Success and Failure", April.

In view of reports of vandalism and deliberate misuse of facilities in the Elementary School, the Board discussed the possibility of establishing and enforcing a curfew.

Morrison Chosen For Board Member

Mayor Allen D. Morrison, two-term mayor of the town of Greenbelt, was appointed by the board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services last week to fill a vacancy left by retiring board member Clarke George, now a Lt. (j. g.) in the Navy. The term expires in February, 1945.

Mayor Morrison has served on the town council for four terms, two of which he was elected to serve as mayor. The mayor was one of the first persons to bring his family to Greenbelt, moving here early in October, 1937. He hailed originally from Missouri, where he once served for 12 consecutive years as a commander of an American Legion post. In Greenbelt he has been active with the Legion post and with the Community Church. He works at the Veterans Administration.

Local Orchestra Schedules Concert

The Greenbelt Concert Orchestra's Second Annual Concert will highlight the evening of Tuesday, October 24 at 8:30 in the Elementary School Auditorium. The director, J. M. Power, of the Maryland University Music Faculty, was a scholarship pupil of the Chicago Music College, and has conducted theater and civic orchestras in the Middle West.

Greenbelters planning to attend are asked to clip out the following, as there will be no programs given out at the concert:

1. Selections from "The Bohemian Girl", Balfe.
2. Invitation to Dance, Weber.
3. Poem, Fibich; Country Gardens, Grainger.
4. Andante Cantabile, from Tchaikowsky's 5th Symphony.
5. Songs to be sung by Janet Neff.
6. Themes from Tchaikowsky's Piano Concerto.
7. In a Persian Market, Ketelbey.
8. Excerpt from "The New Moon", Romberg; Two Guitars, Gypsy Air.
9. Menuet from Haydn's "Military" Symphony.
10. Overture to "Pique Dame", Suppe.

There is no admission charge, but a collection will be taken up for the general fund.

Organized 20 months ago by Walter Slocum and Borah Deuschman, the orchestra has made two previous appearances; at its First Annual Concert in October, 1943 and at the final P.T.A. meeting of the season 1943-44. Next Tuesday's concert should please music lovers in Greenbelt who usually have to travel into Washington in order to hear good music.

Md. Voters To Be Really Busy Nov. 7

At the coming elections Maryland residents of Greenbelt, besides casting their ballot for the president, will be asked to choose one Senator and one Congressman, and to vote on six proposed amendments to the state constitution.

On the basis of information compiled by the County League of Women Voters, the Voters Information Committee of the Greenbelt Citizens Association has prepared brief sketches of the records of the candidates as well as outlining the significance of the proposed constitutional changes. The roster of candidates and the amendment outlines are printed elsewhere in the Cooperator.

Mrs. Sowell Is New Office Manager

Mrs. Addie Sowell took over as office manager for Greenbelt Consumer Services this week as Warren Jones went next door to manage the Valet Shop. Mrs. Sowell has been with G.C.S. for almost three years as bookkeeper.

A native of Texas, Mrs. Sowell graduated from Texas Christian University, moving to Washington about ten years ago. She has been in Greenbelt for the last seven years. Mrs. Sowell is the first woman to be appointed manager of the G.C.S. office.

Officers Wives Bridge

The next meeting of the Fort Meade Officers Wives Club will be a Bridge Meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. Albert Sherman of 15-N Laurel Rd. on Oct. 23rd at 8 p. m.

A Harvest Card Party is being planned by the organization for the 6th of November.

Temporary Chairman Mrs. R. E. Mahnke of 7-X Research Rd., announces that meetings will be held the first and third Mondays of every month.

Greenbelt Organizations Mobilize For All-Out Community Fund Drive

This year's campaign for the Community War Fund will be opened in Greenbelt on Monday, Oct. 23, according to Mrs. Wells Harrington, chairman of a committee of the Greenbelt Citizens Association. An organizational meeting will be held Friday, October 20, in Room 225 of the Elementary School, at which R. M. Watkins, chairman for Prince Georges County, will speak. The organization of the drive will be completed this week, Mrs. Harrington said. All workers are urged to attend the meeting Friday to receive necessary materials and instructions. The door-to-door campaign will be undertaken by about 50 volunteers who will call at all Greenbelt residences during the coming week.

Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer is in charge of soliciting community employees. Heading the drive among GCS employess is Mr. Tom Ricker, and Lillian Harmelin will be responsible for the campaign among elementary school teachers. Theater Manager Jack Fruchtman is negotiating for film shorts to add the drive and has offered to open the theater for a demonstration by the Greenbelt Boy Scouts and the Greenbelt Girl Scouts. Details of the demonstration have not been completed, but the project is developing rapidly.

Greenbelt organizations that have already pledged cooperation are the Woman's Club, the Navy Wives Club, the Army Wives Club, and the P.T.A.

The local Community War Fund is being raised by the city of Washington and the four surrounding counties for the support of three classes of welfare endeavor. Sixty-per cent of the fund goes to local welfare organizations united in Community Chests. Welfare work in Greenbelt, including the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, is supported by this share of the fund, U.S.O. and other hospitality committees for service men and women receive 23 per cent of the fund. The remaining 11 per cent goes to war relief for the United Nations.

All of these activities are undertaken without duplicating the work of such agencies as UNRRA and the American Red Cross. The latter is the only organization which conducts a separate drive for funds, and with this exception, Mr. and Mrs. Greenbelt can be assured that there will be no other solicitations. The Community Chest method of raising all funds required for welfare work at one time has found approval throughout the country as the fairest and most efficient method of handling the problem.

Greenbelters are urged to give generously.

Women Form A Housewives Club

Twenty-two housewives turned out for the initial meeting of their new club at the home of Mrs. Lee Fink on October 12. Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer, Director of Family Selection and Miss Dorothy Black, Greenbelt Social Service Director, described some of the types of welfare problems existing in Greenbelt.

The Housewives Club is organized under four committee heads who will hold weekly meetings in addition to a general social meeting once a month. A welfare committee has been set up to find volunteer helpers for new mothers and for those who need relief from the care of small children. "Swap Shop" will collect war-scarce items for exchange. The other two committees will deal with consumer problems and the welfare of servicemen.

Any women in Greenbelt who are interested in joining the housewives Club may contact either Anne Pollach, 4787 or Edna George, 6827.

Should It Ring?

For a long while the Parent-Teacher organization, as well as other groups using the Community Building, have been concerned over the misuse of its facilities. Exhibits are broken up and torn down, windows are smashed, locks jimmied, valuable articles and records pilfered and the piano damaged so repeatedly that as long ago as last June, the piano tuner refused to replace any more parts. At this time we recommended drastic action on the part of responsible officials to curb this wilful vandalism.

Conditions seem no better now. Three panes of two large windows at the school were smashed last week-end. The police had to be called in Monday evening to handle an obstreperous crowd of high school age boys who were disturbing a meeting. PTA officials believe that most of the trouble occurs between 10 P. M., when the drugstore closes, to 11 P. M., when Greenbelt's unofficial curfew clears the Center. At the last executive meeting of this organization the advisability of a 9 o'clock curfew for teen-agers was discussed.

Official police opinion is cold to the idea of a curfew, as it is felt that a measure so repressive in nature would only invite rebellion. Police contend, too, that they would rather have the youngsters hanging around the center than "over on te pike getting drunk."

Chief Panagoulis states "There is no juvenile delinquency problem here in Greenbelt". According to him, the police department has solved every case of vandalism and mischief that has been reported, and meted out appropriate punishment. The miscreants who let air out of the tires of nine automobiles last Saturday night spent all Sunday afternoon pumping them up again, he points out as a recent example. "We have no bad youngsters here, only mischievous ones".

While disagreeing on a cure, both PTA officials and the police point to the parents as the responsible factor in all cases of juvenile misbehavior. Palliative measures may be taken to mitigate the nuisance of juvenile high jinks, but it is agreed that if the parents of the misbehaving youngsters themselves do not take their offspring in hand, the cause of the evil will remain. Busy parents who take patriotic pride in the war work they are doing, to the neglect to their children, might well pause to ask themselves if one of the highest duties of patriotism does not consist of training responsible citizens to take their place in the America of tomorrow.

Community Church

The regular weekly service will be held at the Community Church Sunday morning at 11:00 a. m. The robed choir will sing and Mrs. Hester Neff will preside at the organ.

The regular session of the Church School will be held at 9:30. Classes for all ages.

Notice is hereby given of a meeting of the church to be held October 29 after the morning service, to consider the resignation of The Reverend Wilmer P. Johnston.

Hebrew Congregation

Tonight's services will start at 8:30 o'clock, after which the parents of Sunday School children will discuss the curriculum. All parents are urged to be present.

Room 201 was well crowded last Sunday, when 32 children and many parents came to register. Rabbi Yanow said a few words to the parents and outlined a course for the adult Bible Class. If a sufficient number of children register, a special class will be formed for those 12 years old and over.

As a token of appreciation for their efforts during and before the High Holidays, Mort Chwalow and Harry Fleisher each received a gift of a two-suit travelling case. These were presented by the Gift Committee last Friday night after services.

Lutheran Church

Rev. Edw. E. Pieplow will have as his sermon topic "Unconditional Surrender", on Sunday, Oct. 22nd. Church services will be held in the Home Economics Room at 12:30 p. m., preceded by Sunday School and Adult Bible Class at 11:45 a. m. in the Home Economics room. More children 12 years of age and over are urged to attend the Religious Instructions on the Fundamental Doctrines of the Bible being held each Saturday at 4 p. m. at 35-L Ridge Rd. Plans for an adult class are being formed.

Hi friends, started that Christmas shopping yet? December is just around the corner from November, which will be here soon according to our calendar.

Chick Turner came up from Norfolk to spend a happy week-end with his family.

Last Saturday evening, the Bill Priors entertained several friends with a buffet supper. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Chick Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Althaus, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Van Camp.

Larry and Blanche Heitzner spent last week-end at their home in New York. Blanche has stayed on for another week.

Ruth Gates of Lincoln, Nebraska is presently a guest of Earlene and Monroe Cox.

Anna Citron spent a few days last week in New York where she visited her family and was in attendance at the wedding of her brother. Lester stayed home to be "mother" to little Matthew, who recently celebrated his first birthday.

Young Peter Hintz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Hintz, fell from his high chair Monday morning and cracked two ribs, but seems to be doing well.

Kenneth Cooper reluctantly said farewell to his tonsils on Oct. 9. He is getting along splendidly now.

Lt. (j. g.) and Mrs. Paul Carlson and Franja returned for a short visit with their Greenbelt relatives the Wilburs recently. Lieutenant Carlson has just finished Communications training at Harvard.

A brother of Mrs. John Belton and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Cadraro, visited recently on their way from Georgia up to Springfield, Mass.

To celebrate their 17th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Gussio had a wonderful trip visiting Asheville, N. C., Chattanooga, Tenn., New Orleans, La., and Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Silagi of New York have arrived for a visit with son and daughter-in-law Robert and Selma Silagi and little Daniel. Bill and Lois Zerwick recently enjoyed a visit from Lois' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Butler of Elwood City, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Butzkin have just returned from a visit to New York and report that they had one swell time.

Waldo and Martha Mott with Nancy left Oct. 9, for the west. Waldo will attend the Cooperative Centennial Congress in Chicago while Martha and Nancy plan to go on to her home in Dighton, Kansas.

That's thirty for tonight folks.

Kindergarten Changes

So that kindergarteners may receive more individual attention, the boundary line between the North End and Center School clientele has been changed from Northway to Eastway. All kindergarteners living north of Eastway report to 53-Q Ridge Road as of Monday, October 16, where Louise Steward and Irene Sovik are in charge.

The kindergarten classes at the temporary northend school did not include as many tots as was expected, whereas the enrollment was heavier than anticipated at the Center Kindergarten presided over by Janet Yeatts and Mary Ellen Nation.

The community owes a debt to Mrs. Charles Powell, who substituted at the Center Kindergarten until Miss Nation's services were secured.

Save November 3 and 4 for the Minstrel and Variety Show.

CO-OP PROFILES

By E. H. ST. CLAIR

Alfred Hyatt Wells' story is a real success story. Behind his quiet courtesy and shy friendliness lies the story of a community pioneer, of a family of community pioneers.

Everyone in Greenbelt has seen Mr. Wells working quietly in the pharmacy end of the drugstore filling prescriptions and occasionally waiting on the counter. He has been working for Greenbelt Consumer Services for about three years on a part-time basis. He came here after selling his business in Riverdale, a sort of semi-retirement after a long and very active life.

Dr. Wells graduated as a registered pharmacist from the National College of Pharmacy in Washington. For a number of years he operated a drug store in his home town of Hyattsville. In its 1927 anniversary edition the "Hyattsville Independent" praised Dr. Wells for his contributions toward beautifying the approaches to Washington and on his accuracy and reliability as a druggist.

Perhaps Dr. Wells is best known as the founder of the Hyattsville telephone exchange. In 1895 he had the first phone connected with an exchange installed in his store, operated from the Washington central office. Early subscribers got a local exchange going, and the switchboard was operated from Dr. Wells' store by two of his clerks. In 1902 arrangements were made to give twenty-four hour a day service. In 1930 the Hyattsville Exchange moved into its own large building.

Dr. Wells comes of one of the old and time-honored families of this area. His father, Charles A. Wells, retired from a long career as a physician to become active in state politics, serving on one occasion as a state Senator from Maryland. He also served a term as Mayor of Hyattsville, and was president of one of the local banks.

The town of Hyattsville is named for Christopher C. Hyatt, uncle of Dr. Wells' mother.

Today Dr. Wells and his wife have a home in University Park, where they moved three years ago, when Dr. Wells sold his drug store in Riverdale. Since this time he has been a part-time relief man for various drug stores.

With a twinkle in his eye Dr. Wells said that he supposed he might have gone over full-time to the telephone exchange instead of continuing to fill pills, but from his look one gathers that he is glad to have stayed with his profession.

FBI Positions Open

Anyone in Greenbelt interested in these positions is requested to report to the State Guard Armory at Hyattsville, Baltimore Ave. and Jefferson St., on Wednesday, October 25, 1944 from 10:30 to 8:00 p. m.

REV. JOHNSTON'S STATEMENT

(Text of prepared statement read at close of sermon last Sunday. Printed at the request of the Reverend Wilmer P. Johnston.)

To the Members and Friends of the Greenbelt Community Church:

Three years ago this October I became your Pastor and teacher, and for a time was very, very happy, but about 18 months ago you began to disagree among yourselves. This has taken all the joy out of my work with you, and although I have worked very hard, I have been able to make little progress because of internal dissension.

Recently I was quite happy because it looked as if our difficulties were over and we were entering an era of harmony and cooperation. Recent events have convinced me that my hope was in vain. I can now see nothing ahead but a long, hard fight and whoever wins, all will eventually lose, for someone has well said, the devil is the only one to win in a church fight. All this when our boys are dying on the field of battle for peace, and have every right to expect the Christian people at home to set them an example of harmony and unity.

I have neither time, strength or desire to waste the last years of my life in petty strife. There are too many other and important things to do. Therefore, I offer my resignation as pastor of the Greenbelt Community Church.

Marksmen Seek Thimble Cup

Rifle and pistol marksmen will again compete for the Greenbelt Gun Club's beloved "thimble trophy" Sunday, October 23. For two years the miniature trophy cup has been out of circulation, except for a single match held last year.

A set of competition rules drawn up by Club members provides that on the winner of the initial match on October 29 must defend the award against all comers, and under conditions proposed by the challenger. This will allow a pistol expert to take the trophy away from the winner of a rifle match, and a good "off-hand" sharpshooter to wrest the coveted miniature from a top-notch prone rifleman. It is expected that no one member will be able to hold the cup long under these conditions.

This challenging system is expected not only to stimulate shooting interest in the most democratic way possible, but may prove to be a money-raiser for the Club as well. All initial challengers will pay 25 cents each into the "kitty" for keeping the shooting range in good repair. Subsequent challenges will require 10 cents each for the fund.

Shooting hours at the Greenbelt range are from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. every Sunday, weather permitting. A range officer of the Club will be in charge during all shooting hours.

Hot coffee, served up from the top of the pot-bellied wood stove in the clubhouse, is the latest addition to the cold-weather schedule for local marksmen.

Gun Club Gives New Schedule

A new fall and winter schedule for the rifle range is announced this week in a notice sent to Gun Club members by Ben Rozensweig, president of the organization. A Sunday afternoon period is being added to the morning firing to accommodate the increasing number of marksmen who want to use the range.

Starting this week the range will be open from 9 a. m. to noon and from 2 until 4 p. m. every Sunday, weather permitting. Sam Wallace will be regular range officer for the morning session, and C. W. Gardner will be range officer for the afternoon schedule. Alternating range officers are Capt. Harry Bates, Ben Rozensweig, and L. P. Gardner.

The rifle and pistol ranges are open to all Greenbelters during the announced range hours, under supervision of the Greenbelt Gun Club range officers. Shooting at other times is prohibited by town ordinance. The shooting ranges and club house are located just north of the town's disposal plant, and can be reached by walking or driving out Crescent Road past the lake and then turning right on the road to Beltsville experimental station. About 200 yards from the intersection a dirt road on the left goes to the range.

Gun Club members, who pay a $1 fee per year, may purchase ammunition and targets from the range officer and use firearms belonging to the club.

A series of fall and winter matches will be announced shortly, club officers promise.

For reconversion new tax laws must encourage management to take risks and wartime controls be removed at earliest possible date.

MILLARD TYDINGS, Dem., incumbent—U. S. should join permanent world organization to keep peace and cooperate with other nations in preventing the causes of war, joining with them in suppressing aggressors when all agree it is necessary. Inflation should be controlled, but controls be repealed at earliest possible date. Voted for price control act but use of Federal Funds to keep prices down. ## Packers Continue Winning Streak By Upsetting Mt. Rainier Team 13-0

Continuing the tactics that have brought them victory in three straight games, the Greenbelt Packers scored a 13-0 win over a heavy, well-balanced Mt. Rainier team in the game at Braden Field last Sunday.

The Packers kicked off; Mt. Rainier, unable to gain punted to Wolf on the 50-yard line. He returned 10 yards. Obstacle drives and line plunges brought the ball to the 20-yard line. Wolfe tossed a 20-yard pass to Eshbaugh for the initial score. The conversion was low. Replacements came in and battled Mt. Rainier to a standstill.

In the third quarter the first team returned. They apparently had mastered Coach Van Camp's variation of the "T" system, for tricky line plunges by Cookson and Leiper coupled with wide end runs and laterals by Captain Wolfe brought the ball to the Mt. Rainier 3-yard line. Eshbaugh sent "Powerhouse" Cookson into the line twice, piling up the Mt. Rainier defense; the next play Eshbaugh stepped back and whipped a short pass to Rhine for the second score. The conversion was good on a pass from Eshbaugh to Rhine. Greenbelt also pounced over another touchdown, only to have it called back because of an off-side penalty.

The game was slightly marred by an altercation between one of the Greenbelt players and a Mt. Rainier half-back. Referee Williams restored order at once and kept the game under control.

The outstanding feature of the game was the Packer's greatly improved blocking. The line kept up its reputation of "punt-blockers" by blocking three Mt. Rainier kicks and keeping the opponents back-field in a state of jitters all afternoon. H. M. Goode started at tackle and with a bit more experience should be a star. Jimmy De Marr looked well at guard. Pete Cookson piled up all plays at his position, while Rhine and Morris made life miserable for the

Rec Building Plans

The Committee appointed to discuss plans for a Junior Recreation Building with the Town Council is tentatively pinning its hopes on a simple structure about 95 by 40 feet. The Committee hopes to save on fees for professional services through volunteer or part-paid work.

Typical problems facing the community leaders are the advisability of floating a bond issue among a more or less transient population, the practicality of a personal property tax, and the scarcity of building supplies and workmen.

Save November 3 and 4 for the Minstrel and Variety Show.

Mt. Rainier backs. Berube, Sipes and Fox kept jamming the plays at their positions and also looked good on leading interference. (Ed. Note: Watch the guards next Sunday.) "Powerhouse" Cookson crashed through for several good gains and played a nice defensive game. Leiper and Austin both did some beautiful blocking and pass defensive work. Eshbaugh blocked well and exhibited his usual clever generalship. Wolfe's kicking and end runs were neatly done.

For Mt. Rainier, Rousseau, Waller and Whalen were outstanding. The others boys looked O. K., although the second team is still shaky on pass defense and some of the boys are uncertain on blocking assignments.

The game next Sunday with George's News Shop Club should be a real test. George's boys are older and heavier than the Packers, and have added several experienced players in anticipation of this game. The kick-off will be called at 11:30 a. m. at Rosedale Playground, 17th and H sts, N. E. Anyone planning to drive into the game—and the boys really deserve a really good rooting section—who can give the boys a lift, should please call Coach Van Camp, 4102. Line Up:

France's Immortal 'Marseillaise' Becomes Liberty Anthem For World

The Marseillaise, beloved anthem of France, whose strains are flooding the airways in celebration of the liberation of France, has spread throughout the world the name of the great Mediterranean seaport of Marseille. Yet the song was not composed in Marseille but entirely across France in Strasbourg on the Rhine, says the National Geographic Society. In fact, the song was first named the "Battle Hymn of the Army of the Rhine".

A second paradox concerning this greatest revolutionary song ever written is that it was composed not by an ardent revolutionist but by a moderate republican, Claude Joseph Rouget de Lisle, a captain of engineers. The immortal notes were picked out on a harpichord and the accompanying words set down on paper during the nights of April 24 and 25, 1792, while de Lisle, attached to the army of seething and only half-liberated France, was stationed at the French-German frontier to ward off threatened attack from beyond the Rhine.

The anthem was sung during the next four months at scattered places in France but was practically unknown in Paris. It first gained spectacular notice there when revolutionary soldiers from Marseille sang it lustily as they marched into the French capital and took part in the storming of the Tuilleries Palace. The Parisians first called it "The Marseillaise Song" and then familiarly "The Marseillaise." That brief name has stuck to the anthem ever since although there is not a word in its lyrics referring to the Mediterranean seaport.

The first meeting of the high school P.T.A. will be held this Tuesday at 8:00 p. m. in the high school. A reception for the new principal and faculty will be held and refreshments will be served. An outline of the year's activities will be prepared and a number of important business matters discussed. All parents are urged to attend.

The senior class has selected "Janie" as its play to be presented the latter part of November. Try-outs will be held as soon as the scripts arrive. This year we are fortunate in having Mrs. Cook as our director, and a coach in the person of Miss Dorothy Armacost.

At their recent assembly the Junior class elected their officers. President is the popular athlete, Teddy Fox; vice president, Bob Fisher; secretary, Joan Schoeb; and treasurer, Mary Lewis.

All clubs are now in full swing and have elected their officers. The "Pioneer", school paper, is now a printed paper. The first issue will appear the end of this month. The "Pylon", yearbook staff met last week with Editor Dottie Jeffries. Dot appointed the following people to positions on the yearbook: literary editor, Jane Lindhart; feature editor, Ellen Gussio; art editor, Tim Evans; and Shirley Mitchell, advertising manager.

We were very sorry to see Mrs. Judge, business teacher, leave us. Mr. Ditman is now substituting until a regular teacher is secured.

Sailor Hurt In Auto Accident

Oran Irby of 9-G Research Rd., suffered lacerations of the face and possible fracture of the nose when an automobile in which he was a passenger was in collision with another machine at the Edmonston and Branchville roads crossing shortly after 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Irby, a Navy man, was riding in a car operated by Harold Nelson, another sailor, of 18-B Crescent road. The crash occurred, police said, when Nelson turned left into Edmonston road, headed toward Bladensburg, and an auto operated by James W. Gibson of Lower Marlboro made a left turn from Edmonston into Branchville Rd., heading toward the Baltimore highway. Irby was thrown against the windshield.

Officer Robert Dodge investigated the crash and moved Irby to the Medical Center in the police ambulance. He was later treated at the Naval Dispensary and the nose x-rayed.
