Fair To Be Held Aug. 30 - Sept. 1; Groups Meet Sunday To Pick Theme

The Greenbelt Town Fair of 1945 will be held Thursday, August 30 — Saturday, September 1, inclusive, it was announced by the Town Fair Committee following a meeting in the GCS office last Saturday.

All organizations in town are invoted to send representatives to the next Town Fair Committee meeting, which will be held in the GCS office on Sunday, May 27, at 9:00 p. m. The committee asks that all organizations wishing to participate in the fair have delegates present so that it will not be necessary to hold another large general gathering. Among other important matters, the theme of the fair will be settled at this meeting.

The fair will be certered in the auditorium of the elementary school and will encompass such other rooms as are needed, as well as some area outside the building. It is planned to have more active exhibits than in former years when the emphasis was rather upon static displays, the committee announced.

The problem of providing funds was discussed at some length and after a suggestion made by a number of citizens, it was decided to ask for sponsors, each to contribute $5.00. The selling of programs for ten cents each was considered but no action taken. It was pointed out that this fee would defray the cost of printing the programs, so that the income from advertising carried in the programs would be clear for the buying of prizes and meeting inci-dental expenses.

COOPERATOR

Members of Greenbelt Consumers Services will hold the regular May meeting next Wednesday night at 8 p. m. in the elementary school auditorium, when the agenda will include election of the auditing committee, the general man-ager's report for the quarter and a proposal of Major Adelbert H. Long concerning the bookkeeping records. First on the program is the showing of a cooperative movie, "Here is Tomorrow", at 8:15, and the first door prize, a sharee of GCS stock, will be awarded at 8:30. The second door prize to be given at the close of the meeting, will be a carton of cigarettes.

Co-op Stops Joint

Buying Of Produce Termination of joint produce buying by Greenbelt Consumer Services and Rochdale Cooperative in Washington was announced at last Friday's board meeting by General Manager Sam Ashelman. Reason given for the discontinuance was the failure of the arrangement to benefit the two organizations as much as had been expected. One solution to the produce problem, Mr. Ashelman suggested, is the establishment of a produce warehouse in Washington so that cooperatives in the area can buy together in large quantities; another, would be buying in the Baltimore market.

The board of directors discussed the agenda for the forthcoming membership meeting, and Thomas Ritchie, GCS treasurer, informed the board that visual exhibits are being prepared to supplement the formal financial reports. Charts showing the trend in membership and capital are also in preparation.

Board president Dayton W. Hull reported briefly on the meeting of Eastern Cooperative Wholesale held at the Hamilton Hotel in Washington on May 9. On hand to lead discussion were William Blaisdell, president of the ECW board; E. J. Kastner, head buyer for ECW; Leslie Woodcock, manager of the ECW warehouse in New York; Hugo Wolf, of the Eastern Cooperative League; Robert Taylor, who replaced Sam Ashelman as manager of the Philadelphia warehouse; and Helmuth Kern, executive secretary of the Potomac Co-operative Federation. The future of cooperative enterprises in the Washington area was the subject of the evening, and representatives from groups desiring to open stores under present wartime handicaps questioned the speakers on the possibilities of supply for their mem-bers from ECW facilities. Attending the meeting were fifteen Greenbelters, including five GCS board members, several young GCS employees getting their first glimpse of the greater organization of Eastern cooperatives.

Reporting on his first five months here, General Manager Sam Ashelman will be able to cite improvements in the store services, financial condition, and overall at mosphere of the cooperative. On the list of accomplishments are the new layout, fixtures, and resulting speed-up of service in the foodstore, purchase of a dairy box for the Laurel Hill store, new gasoline pumps, and the addition of school lunches to the drugstore menu. Employees taken on by the present management include Silas Pearson, pharmacist; Merton Trast, public relations and personnel director, and Tom Okazaki, assistant foodstore manager. Rationing systems for meat and cigarettes have been developed.

Definite improvement will be reported in the cooperative's financial status, and a complete audi-tor's report with breakdown of operations will be furnished to the operations will be furnished to the membership. The autiting commit-tee elected a year ago brought itself into the public eye by exer-cising the full limit of its powers in recommending the removal of the entire board of directors. Although the board was retained, it was generally agreed that a health-ier organization resulted from the cimmittee's activities and it is ex_ pected that considerable interest will be taken in the election of the new auditors. Major Long's proposal is listed on the agenda in accordance with a provision of the by-laws that any member of GCS has the privilege of submitting subjects for discussion and action on the agenda of a membership meeting.

The Women's Auxiliary (Green-belt branch) of the UFWA, CIO, planned at their meeting last Monday night to cover the town with a petition campaign urging Congress, and the Senate Agriculture Com-mittee in particular, to support a materially strengthened OPA. Mrs. Edna Stripling was chosen to contact theater manager Jack Fruchtman in an effort to have an OPA educational film shown in the theatre during the petition drive. Other discussion centered around activating Greenbelters to write their Congressmen about issues now hanging fire in Congress, such as the Reciprocal Trades Agreements, the permanent FEPC bill, the anti-Poll Tax bill and the Federal Wage (Downey) Bill. Mrs. Roslyn Borsky, Mrs. Dorothy Spindell, Mrs. Anne Cullinan and Mrs. Bobby Solet were directed to formulate plans for a forum next month on the San Francisco Conference.

Preparing For The Future

In line with the housing project studied by the younger groups at the Elementary School this year was a five-act play presented recently by members of Miss Johnson's room. The action started with a family discussion of the new house they hoped to build, carried through with the hiring of an architect, contractor, plumbers, masons, etc., and ended with the triumphant display of a model house constructed by the children. and profile views of individuals wanted "for the record."

All Federal employees will be fingerprinted as a matter of course, and Belton plans to also offer this service to Greenbelt Consumer Services. Town employees are always investigated before being hired, Belton remarked.

Under the Henry system used by the FBI a card file of about 1000 prints has already been prepared by Belton, who also showed the reporter various methods of taking and developing the fingerprints.

It is planned to set up a picture file in addition to the records of the prints. Copies of both types of cards will be sent to the FBI and to the county police.

Let's Be Realistic

One of the best cartoons we've seen on the San Francisco Conference shows a small table of delegates in the foreground. Brooding in the background, but overshadowing everything else in the picture because of her heroic proportions, is the figure of a woman with a baby in her arms. She stands for the mothers of the past, present, and future. All over the world they are asking, in their hearts, "Am I to see my child killed in the streets, or sent into battle?'

-The answer which might be tendered her is a brutal one. People are already preparing, in mind and spirit, for the "next war". Six out of ten, in a nation-wide poll, believe there will be another war in 25 years. The UNRRA representative who recently addressed the Womans Club told them the seeds were now being sown for the next conflict, which he confidently expected. A young inventor who sub-mitted an idea to the War Department a few weeks ago, was told that the Department was not interested in it now, but that it would "come in handy for the next war". Many newspapers are already playing up our differences with Russia in sensational headlines, and we, poor dupes, are asking "When do we fight Russia"?

Now perhaps this state of mind is better than a dewy-eyed faith that everything will be all right. Maybe this universal cynicism will spur the few zealous ones to constructive action. We hope so.Meanwhile the stars look down on this bit of matter whirling through space — no one knows whither. We are all passengers, and our ultimate destiny is the same. Everything is to the advantage of our pulling together, yet we continually slide backward into cave-man bickering and brawling. When will peace-makers be credited with being the realistic thinkers rather than the jokers who keep thinking up things to go to war about?

BJ KATHLEEN SCOTT and PAT BROWN and played especially for the children of the Elementary School this afternoon. Director Dana Garrett led a selected pro-gram which included "Poet and Peasant Overture," "Tales from the Vienna Woods," and "Slavonic Dance." The strains of Sousa's famous marches started all the feet tapping. This was the second of a series intended to acquaint the boys and girls with good classical music and the bands and orchestras that play it. Perhaps the work the children liked most was the grand finale of the concert, Mr. Garrett's own ar-rangement, "The Cruise of the Big X." Supplemented by the splendid work of the drum section on the many sound effects, this music provides the background for a stirring narrative which tells the story of a United States aircraft carrier, the people who helped to build and sail her, and the adventure she has while doing her job for Uncle Sam. The official opening of the softball season were marshalled in by the Band last Saturday night with a program of marches. Assistant Leader Carl Meuse gave a capable performance as director, in the absence of Mr. Garrett.

LIFE

Maintenance Dept. Shamrocks Blast Limits Work Load

No house-to-house painting program is planned for this spring, as the limited crew of painters is kept busy redecorating houses and apartments that have been vacated, according to the office. At least two house exteriors in town have gleaming coats of new paint, that of Harry Walls and William Griffith, both on Woodland Way.

Still seriously undermanned is the garbage collection department, which has only six men to do the work of nine. The office wishes to state that if a collection is missed occasionally, it is not due to negligence, but to physical impossibility. Two men should be working at the incinerator while the men with the baskets keep on the run filling the truck. If one man is off sick, the day's schedule is disrupted.

Beetles Better Beware

Angus MacGregor's landscaping crew are getting the Japanese beetle traps ready for installation next week, as the first of these de-structive insects was spotted Tues-day on a rose bush in E block.

Four magnolia bushes have been replaced in the fenced garden at the Center, and it is also planned to set out more ivy plants there. The heating channel and pipes below the surface, and young Greenbelt fence-climbers, make frequent re-planting necessary in this area, MacGregor said.

BASEBALI

Maryland Park By 20-3 Score

Greenbelt's baseball playing Shamrocks completely outclassed a very green Maryland Park nine in a Prince Georges County Baseball League game before a large crowd (until the rain came) at Braden Field last Sunday. The score, sadly, 20 to 3.

Texas Jim Breed pitched perfect baseball for 5 and a third innings, until pitcher Harbin rapped him for a clean single. The blow peaved Breed into striking out the next pair of batters to end the inning. Then, having enough of a workout, he turned over the hill chores to his skipper. Holochwost was touched for 3 bingles and 3 runs, the first two being unearned. He fanned two. Breed whiffed 9 batsmen during his stay.

The 'Rocks beat a tatoo of 20 hits of Maryland Park's Harbin, who went all the torrid way. Bill Zerwick had 4 singles and Pete Scalise, Ernie Boggs, Norm Raber, Jack Burt and Micky Tarrant collected 3 hits apiece!

The game marked Johnny Coak-ley's last appeanance with the Shams. The lanky outfielderfirstbaseman was recalled by the Boston Braves of the National League. In the three county league games with the locals, Coakley hit safely 5 times in 11 tries including 2 doubles and a trink ord batted in 8 muss triple and batted in 8 runs. Butlers, Gerrits Repeat Track Wins In Annual Meet Janice Butler's Group IV boys and girls and Genevieve Gerrits' Group III class took top honors for the second straight year in the an-naul Elementary School Track Meet last Tuesday when they led the other rooms with 108 and 84 points respectively. Marilyn Thom-as' class came in first with 24 pts. for Group II. The other classes rated as follows: Group IV, Ken-ode 53, Davis 49; Group III, Owens 49, Batie 35, Harmelin 32, Young 22; Griup II, Harcum 21, LeFrance 8, Diebert 7, Milton 4, and Johnston 3.

The meet began at 9 a. m. on Braden Field with dashes for all groups opening the program. John Huffman and Lorrie Maffey took first for Group II for the 25 yd. dash with Ann Walker and Bobby Belton first for Group III in the Belton first for Group III in the 50 yd. dash. Johnny Teel came in first for Group IV in the 60 yd. dash while Mary Kay Herr broke all previous records making the Group IV girls' 50 yd. dash in 7 seconds.

Rusty Brown retained his place as leader of Group III in the soft-ball throw sending the ball 164 ft., 24 ft. farther than his last year's record, and Jack Martone hurled the same ball 196 ft., just 1 ft short of the winning throw of last year for Group IV boys. Lucille Sully and Esther Wolfe were win-Sully and Esther Wolfe were win-ners for the same event for the girls. Allen Gerstel and Jean Faulconer led Group III in the dodgeball throw with Billy Neff and Charlotte Bryant taking the honors for Group IV. The three winning rooms were presented with trophies and Miss Batie and Mrs. Johnson were awarded a prize for their good work at the meet at an assembly today.

It was an auspicious start for "Brownie's" Representatives. His ten won it the hard way from last year's loop champions. Big Ben Goldfaden found a Callow pitch to his liking in the first frame and pounded it clear over on the baseball diamond for a homer, scoring manager Bowman ahead of him. Faulty fielding on the part of the Reps put the Mounts ahead in the fourth. Bill Blanchard was the hero of the home team in the fifth inning, his sharp single pushed two Reps over the counting block. Each team added solitary tallies to their totals in the next.

Burly Lloyd Clay was on the mound for the Reps and, while touched for 9 hits, he was the mas-ter all the way. Lefty Callow was slightly less fortunate in separating Rep hits, the half dozen producing 5 runs. Clay struck out 6 men and Callow whiffed 4.

Goldfaden's home run was the best blow of the game but Greenbelt's George Bauer and Mt. Rainier's Walsh and Callow hit two baggers.

Al Bowman, catcher-manager of the Reps, is president of the six team softy loop. Landover Hills, Independents, University Alleys, Air Track, Mt. Rainier and the teams and all games are played on the Greenbelt field Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights at 9. The Reps' next game will be Thursday, May 24 with University Alleys (Berwyn).

Four GREENBELT COOPERATOR

Ration Stretchers By Selma Silagi

Have you found yourself tiring somewhat more readily of late? The answer may be incipient iron and vitamin deficiencies as a consequence of eating less meat and not making the proper substitutes.

Meat supplies us primarily with an excellent protein, which, however, is easily replaced with the proteins of fish, poultry, cheese, milk, eggs or soy beans. Meat also is one of our best sources of iron, needed for healthy red blood, thus preventing the paleness and tired-ness of anemia. Liver, kidney, and heart particularly are excellent sources of iron, with other lean When we meats as runners-up. don't get enough meat, we have to include greater amounts of other sources of iron in our daily diets. We should therefore be sure to eat eggs, beans, peas, lentils, molasses, dried fruits, potatoes, shellfish, dark breads and cereals, and green leafy vegetables such as spinach, kale, beet and turnip greens more frequently than ever before.

Meat is also a good source of the B vitamins, particularly B-1 or thiamin, needed for healthy nerves, appetite and digestion. To be sure of our daily quota of thiamin, we should eat at least two of the following daily: dark or enriched bread, peas, sweet or white potadark cereals, oranges and toes, wheat germ.

Today's recipe is one for old-fashioned Boston baked beans. It provides a good protein, contains vitamin B-1, and is an excellent source of iron since both the beans and molasses contain this import-ant mineral. With a green salad and brown bread, it provides a nourishing meal, without digging into those precious ration points. BOSTON BAKED BEANS

- 1 quart navy or pea beans 2 slices onion, chopped
- 1/2 pound salt pork
- cup molasses
- teaspoon mustard
- 2½ teaspoons salt 1/3 teaspoon pepper

cup chili sauce (optional) Soak the beans over night. In the morning drain and rinse and When the boil in water to cover. When the skins are loose, rinse again with cold water to make the skins firm. Mix with the seasonings and the onion. Place the sliced pork in the bottom of the bean pot. The rind of the pork should be scored. Add the beans with water to cover, put a lid on and bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) for four hours. Uncover, draw the pork to the top, add more water if necessary, and cook uncovered until the beans are done and the pork is brown, about 1½ hours longer.

Additional Pointers

Try soybeans in the recipe above. They have about 1½ times as much protein as navy beans and also are good sources of iron, calcium, phosphorus and the B vitamins.

On hot days when you want baked beans but don't feel like keeping the oven or for many hours, try the frozen variety. They are inexpensive and quite tasty.

Use eggs in more ways than ever efore. Cook them, fry them, before. poach them and bake them. Dress up your omelets with a mushroom, tomato, cheese or Spanish sauce, or top them with creamed vege-tables or meat. Try adding hardcooked eggs to a macaroni and cheese casserole or a potato scal-lop. You'll be adding lots of iron and body-building proteins. Use molasses in your baking. You'll be adding iron and saving those sugar stamps. To use in your favorite recipe follow this rule: ½ cup molasses plus ½ tea-spoon baking soda equals ½ cup granulated sugar plus 1½ tea-spoons baking powder plus 2 tablespoons milk or water.

Legislative Line - Up By SOLET and ROTHCHILD HOT ISSUE OF THE WEEK

May 18, 1945

The wage bills for federal workers are still the burning issue for the large part of Greenbelt. With V-E day here and gone, the rumor factories are working overtime. Actually, nobody really knows much about it, except thisunless a wage bill is passed that grants more than just a 15% increase in base pay, all government white-collar workers (and there are 1,500,000 of them) will suffer at least a 6% to 7% cut in takehome pay when the war with Japan is finished, and overtime is cut off completely. It's as simple as this. White collar workers in government are now getting 21.6% above their base pay for the extra 8 hours per week that they work. If a 15% increase in base pay is granted, but overtime work abolished, it means a 6.6% cut in the amount of money you take home. Prices won't drop when the war's over-which means a decrease in purchasing power of 6.6% multi-plied by 1,500,000.

What's being done about it? The Downey bill is up now for action in the Senate. It's a good bill, but if you've been reading Jerry Klutz' column you'lil remember that it provides for a graduated base pay increase, the average of which amounts to 15.8%. We have learned thaat an amendment is being prepared that calls for a 25% base pay increase. Keep your eyes on the papers, and as soon as its introduced, let your congressman know where you stand.

In the House, hearings have started on the bill introduced by Rep. Jackson of Washington. The hard fight the UFWA has been putting up to get true time and half for overtime seems to be getting results there. According to Klutz, 3 of 5 men on the committee have already come out in favor. Commissioner Fleming of the Civil Service Committee has already been going to town about a base pay increase and true time and a half, and it's very possible that if enough pressure is put on Con-gress, from individual, civic, con-sun.er and business groups, and the unions-all of which stand to benefit from higher wages from federal workers-it may go through yet. CAN FEDERAL WORKERS RUN FOR LOCAL OFFICE?

There was a story in the May issue of the Federal Record, monthly paper of the UFWA-CIO, to the effect that the Match Act contains a provision that "Federal employees living in towns or municipalities where most of the voters work for the Government may par-ticipate actively in elections held to fill local town offices, may become candidates for such offices, and hold them if elected." A num-ber of communities in this area were listed to which this provision would apply, but Greenbelt was not among them. We haven't had a chance to check on this provision in the Hatch Act, which, as you know, contains another provision specifically prohibiting federal employees from engaging in political activities, or whether it can apply to Greenbelt, but in view of the Town Council election coming up in September, we'll try to find out as soon as possible.

News From A Neighbor

One of the newspapers received regularly in exchange at the Co-operator office is the Maritime Co-operator, published twice a month at Truro, Nova Scotia, by the cooperatives in the Maritime Provinces of Canada. Looking through it one sees an article about the Can-adian 8th Victory Bond drive, the notice on sugar rationing for home canning of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and a page in French dealing with the tax equality con-troversy. It makes interesting reading, and the feeling of unity with cooperators in our neighbor country across the border is even more intensified by the discovery on the shelves of our local foodstore of canned lobster meat, packed and shipped to us from the cooperative fisheries of the same neighbors who send us their views every once and so often.

Girl Scouts Hold Party

Girl Scouts of Troop 17 entertained for their mothers last Wednesday evening in the Girl Scout Their leader, Mrs. Frank room. White, and assistant leader Vir-ginia Neumann, helped plan the party and served with the girls as co-hostesses.

First prize for the old game of dropping clothespins in a milk bittle went to Mrs. Charles Zounek who came up with the magnificant score of two. In another game consisting of identifying popular advertisements, Mrs. Al Sansone and Mrs. Ralph N. Neumann tied and drew for prizes. After the games (at which the mothers admitted they were a little rusty) refreshments of cake, cookies and ice cretm were served. As each mother left she was presented a rose by her daughter.

Work Clothes Streamlined

Clothing experts and home economists of the United States Department of Agriculture, realizing the need for more workmanlike clothes have recently published a bulletin, No. 1963, on "Dresses and Aprons for Work in the Home". These dresses are based on cut and design features which make is possible for the dress to follow the movements of the body gracefully. Each of the garments meet the following tests:

1. Free action and coolness for comfort.

2. Safety features for work around stoves, for stooping, climbing, etc. 3. Time and energy saving—quick and easy to iron, useful pockets placed where most needed. 4. Durability in material and workmanship.

5. Attractiveness based on use-fulness and comfort. Patterns of these garments may now be obtained from commercial companies. For further information white Ethel M. Regan, County Home Demonstration Agent, University of Maryland.

Since their construction the de-fense homes have been filled and emptied approximately two and a half times over.

Which brings us to: OUR WEEKLY REMINDER

The elections for the Town Council can be participated in by Greenbelters who are 21 years or older, citizens of the U.S., residents of Greenbelt for at least 6 months, and of Maryland for a year before the election date, which is o nthe third Tuesday in September. There's been some confusion about the residency requirement in Maryland. It means only living residence here, not voting residence. In other words, here, not you don't have to be a registered Maryland voter to vote for a Town Councilman. But if you aren't a registered Marylander, don't forget that the state and national elections are coming up in 1946, and that in this state you have to declare your intention of registering, a year before you actually register Declarations are taken by qualified representatives of the county election board and we are fortunate to have three such people here: Thomas Freeman, 23-J Ridge Road, James Wolfe, 4-D Ridge Road (GR. 5332) and Mrs. John Walker, who lives on the farm next door to the Schrom airport.
