

Greenbelt at the Crossroads

"Didja hear the oomph girl is playing down at the theater tonight—Mary Pickford, that is!"

Committees Set For GCS Shindig

At a meeting of the GCS Membership Committee at chairman Bill Nicholas' home last Thursday night, further action was taken on the community dance planned for Saturday, January 26, at the center school Auditorium.

Fifty new resident couples will receive guest invitations to the dance, and will be received at the door by the welcoming committee with Eleanor Ritchie in charge. The welcoming committee consists at present of: Carolyn Miller, Margaret Ashelman, Anne Hull, Carnie Harper, and Edith Nicholas.

Charles East will be in charge of door admissions with Ralph Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jorgenson, and T. R. Taylor, assisting. Decorations will be taken care of by Rachel Garner in charge, with Frank Harper, Dorothy Broadbent, and Henry Myer helping. Jack Fruchtman will take care of the Bingo game during the intermission with many surprise prizes for bingo winners.

The dance will be conducted on a non-profit basis. Refreshments and clothes checking will be handled by the Drop-Inn Committee, with proceeds to go to the Drop-Inn building fund. The charge for the dance will be $1.00 per couple and 60c per individual, tax included. Jack Morton's Orchestra will start playing at 8:30 p. m. Tickets will be available for purchase at the tobacco store, at the GCS cashier's office or at Mrs. Ruth Taylor's desk in the GCS office next Tuesday.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Bingo Party

Hilda Lastner, new chairman of the ways and means committee of the Legion Auxiliary, announces that a bingo party to which everyone is invited will be held at the Legion Home on Tuesday night, January 18. Hard to secure items as well as cash prizes will be awarded.

Mrs. Sue Hazell, chairman of the membership committee, and her committee members are engaged in a campaign which will be climaxed on the night of February 7 when the Southern Maryland District meeting will be held at the Elementary School.

Distinguished guests will include Mrs. Bobby Troup of Baltimore, president of the State Auxiliary; Mrs. Elsie Horn of Baltimore, National Executive Committee, and Mrs. Ann Plumley of Seat Pleasant, district president of Southern Maryland. The Greenbelt Unit has the second largest membership in Southern Maryland.

Federal Services

In a Daily News article entitled, "Who'll Tend the Plumbing When Uncle Sam is Gone?" Martha Strayer paid tribute last week to Federal prowess in the landlord field.

Miss Strayer praises the efficient care and check-up systems maintained by the Government at Fairlington, McLean, and Naylor Gardens, Meridian Hill Hotel, Lucy Diggs Stowe and George Washington Carver Halls, intimating that tenants are apprehensive about what may happen when private interests take over.

HS PTA Discusses Church Guidance

Continuing with its theme "Problems of the Adolescent," the High School PTA program committee Tuesday night arranged for representatives of the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths to speak on "How the Churches Can Help in the Guidance of Adolescents."

Rev. D. Hobart Evans of the First Presbyterian Church of Hyattsville spoke of the need of active cooperation, not mere tolerance in matters of religion. Figures released by the FBI on the tremendous increase of juvenile delinquency and crime, said Dr. Evans, reflected on the condition of our times but did not mean that all youth should be classed as delinquent; to bring out his point he read a letter to the editor that appeared in the GHS paper "Pioneer," which protested the blanketing of all bobby soxers as "Sinatra fans" and all that goes with it. The church, said Dr. Evans, can guide youth through activities; citing church activities in Hyattsville designed to give religious guidance to the adolescent.

Brother Henry, FSC, Principal of La Salle Hall, Ammendale, Md., outlined the Catholic program for youth. The Catholic philosophy of education, he said, stems from the Catholic philosophy of life. Its positive program inculcates virtues, develops self control and self sacrifice. Because the Catholic religion is the guardian of family life it includes in its program the training for family life. Brother Henry agreed with the other two speakers that it is necessary to cooperate with others to perpetuate democracy.

The third speaker, Chaplain Simon Sheop of Ft. Meade, quoted a clergyman just back from France, who said that true democracy had been achieved in the French cemeteries, where those who gave their lives, men of all faiths, were lying side by side in the same field.

Bus Service Booms Kids Tour Town

GCS's new within-town bus continues to do a "booming" business which has increased steadily since its first trip, according to latest reports available. GCS General Manager Sam Ashelman concurred in a statement by bus driver Walter Pendleton that from 600 to 900 Greenbelters are now daily availing themselves of its service, with a "high" last Saturday of 940 customers.

The alternate north and south end loop bus service announced in last week's Cooperator was discontinued Tuesday upon notice by Manager Ashelman, who explained that the "double-loop" service entailed too close a schedule to maintain the proper waits. At present the bus maintains ten-minute waits at the Center, and reaches the corner of Ridge and Research about nine minutes after leaving the Center. The whole circuit takes fifteen to twenty minutes depending on the load.

Enthusiastic children still continue to ride through Greenbelt, bus drivers Milo Yoder and Walter Pendleton report. One little boy rode three successive trips around town, while another "blew" his Christmas money, $1.50, treating himself and a chum to a series of bus rides. Still another youthful Greenbelt, en route home from a Saturday matinee movie, is reported to have enjoyed his ride home so much that he decided to stay on and tour the town again instead of descending at his own stop. One Greenbelt grandmother recently rode the bus "just for fun," and Manager Ashelman treated porter Jerry Goodwin to a ride around town last week.

Northenders especially are declaring the bus a "godsend," Mr. Pendleton reported. Living in the most remote part of Greenbelt, they are generally using the bus for transportation both to and from the Center, replacing a twenty-minute walk with a four- or five-minute ride. Passengers who have frequently declared themselves in favor of Sunday and late evening service would do well to comply with the GCS request that they voice their suggestions in writing.

CTCo To Consider GCS Bus Service

Competition with the Co-op bus in the north end of Greenbelt is not contemplated by Capital Transit Company, according to E. T. Giddings, public relations officer of CTCo.

If the county transportation plan is approved by the Public Service Commission, which is now considering its merits, the portion of the proposal which would route Transit buses in and out of Greenbelt via the north end would be weighed carefully, Mr. Giddings said. Discussion with GCS officials would be held, and if the cooperative decided to continue loop service, CTCo buses would not serve more of Greenbelt than at present.

Of interest to Greenbelt residents also is the hearing before the PSC in Baltimore, January 17, to consider applications for cross-county service filed by both the Oriole Bus Lines and Capital Transit Company. The route would link the Maryland suburbs of Washington, running from Bethesda to College Park.

Kids Damage Bus

An attack on GCS's new bus by two youthful Greenbelters last Saturday night resulted in two broken glass panes in the front door. The youngsters, twelve-year olds, each threw a stone through the glass section of the door as the bus pulled from the center. No one was injured.

GCS General Manager Sam Ashelman stated that charges would be pressed only if the cost of the damage was not met.

Community-Wide Food Collection For UNRRA Starts Here Today

Greenbelt's first community-wide drive to collect canned food for UNRRA started today on a two weeks' campaign, with a goal of 8,000 cans. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Clark, representatives of some 30 local organizations will canvass Greenbelt block by block and house by house, while containers and posters in the postoffice, food stores, variety store and theater lobby will remind townfolk of the terrible need existing in Europe for the bare essentials of nutrition. Collections will also be made at the schools.

As explained by UNRRA speaker David MacFarlane at the organizational meeting held here last Wednesday evening, the primary needs are for fats and proteins, as in some occupied countries 80% of the livestock is gone. Meats and milk are highest on the wanted list, though fruits and vegetables are also needed. Nothing can be accepted that is not packed in a tin.

An eminent physiologist recently declared that over-eating was the second gravest nutritional abnormality in this country. Mr. MacFarlane pointed out, leaving the inference up to his audience.

Groups which have solicited canned goods for UNRRA locally include, up to the present, the Catholic Church, Community Church, Woman's Club, and American Friends Service Committee workers.

Volunteers for the canvassing work should call Mrs. Clark at 4161.

Gift Shop Success

Intermediate students at the Center School have returned to their social science study, "Living in a Changing World," and the primary girls and boys continue learning about "Living in a Community."

The children who were ill before Christmas have had an opportunity to buy gifts at the school gift shop. Mrs. Fugitt explained that the shop was successful in giving the students experience in managing a store and in handling business transactions.

Army Band Plays At Victory Dance

Advance ticket sales for the "Victory Dance" to be held at the Elementary School Auditorium on January 12, indicate a large attendance.

The co-sponsors of the dance are the Greenbelt Citizens Association, Truman Riddle Navy Wives Club and the American Veterans Committee.

The dance will start at 9 p. m. and will feature Zipper Baggs and his all-soldier orchestra. Refreshments and checking facilities will be available. Admission is $1.25, tax included, and the single, tax included.

Mock War Hanging Nearly A Tragedy

Inspired by a newsreel which portrayed the execution of a German war criminal, a six-year-old Greenbelt boy nearly succeeded in hanging his four-year-old brother on New Year's day.

The older child had fastened a noose with a slip knot around his brother's neck and had attached the other end of the rope to a tree. He was about to push the smaller child off a platform when a neighbor, who had happened to glance from her window, intervened.

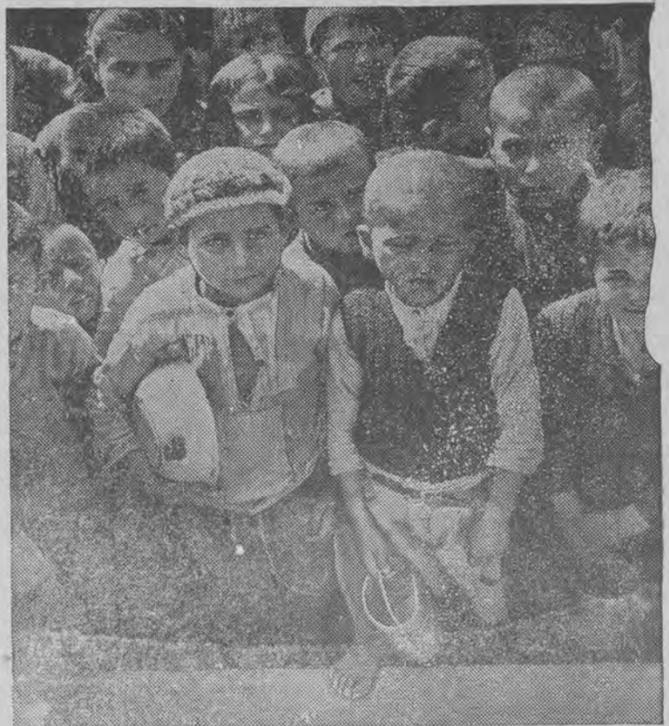

Upon questioning, the youngster declared that he "had seen it in the movies."

Lose Anne Martone As Fountain Mgr.

GCS General Manager Sam Ashelman announced on Wednesday the resignation of Mrs. Anne Martone as lunch counter manager of the Drug store. Mrs. Martone's resignation is due to the return of Mr. Martone from service.

Hugh Hawkins, known to Greenbelters as a former Food store employee, has returned from service to GCS, and will assume management of the lunch counter next week.

SOUP'S ON

These Greek children are lined up at a soup kitchen with their tin cans and whatever other utensils they find available for their daily food ration—one meal a day. Your contributions of canned milk, soup, meat, fish and vegetables to the Victory Collection of Canned Food can help feed the hungry and homeless in the war-wasted lands of Europe, China and the Philippines. #GR7F5

More on the Movies

Following our remarks in this department last week, it was learned from the theater manager that an explanation for the antiquity and poor quality of films shown at the Greenbelt theater could be found in the fact that prices here are comparatively lower than those of other suburban theaters, and for that reason the local house is not considered on a level with "first-run" suburban theaters around the Washington area. It was also learned that the theater manager is preparing suggestions for a "change in GCS theater policy," which is understood to include among other things a boost in price of admission and improvement of theater furnishings. Such change in policy would, of course, be subject to approval by the GCS board and management, and we are assured that no changes will be made without giving full opportunity for membership discussion.

It should be made clear here that the object of last week's query was to get a reasonable explanation for a situation to which the Cooperator both in editorials and columns has been objecting for some time. Whether, as the theater manager suggested, an intensive survey of theater books in company with the board's management committee and whoever else might be concerned is necessary, or whether future developments will afford a sufficient and satisfactory solution of the problem, at present there is no further definite information available; as soon as there is, it will appear here.

TO THE EDITOR

Common Courtesy

What do your readers think should be done about the general inattentiveness and discourtesy of certain youths of teen age? Two cases in point will illustrate what I mean: standing in doorways, as at the drug store, while other patrons try to squeeze past them; and keeping their seats in the bus while women patrons are forced to stand. Only today the driver had to warn several young riders to get off the backs of the seats, upon which they were sitting, with their feet on the seats themselves. As contrast to this, I recall the courtesy of another boy, younger than those I have just mentioned who waited for a woman and child to board the bus first. Should parents add precept to example? It would sometimes seem necessary. Surely adolescence is late enough to learn common courtesy.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. C. E. NIMS

Pat For Citizens

Well the North End finally got some bus service. Certainly, our sincere congratulations are extended to the board of directors and general manager of GCS as well as to others whose efforts made this possible. But when the shouting's over, the pictures taken, and the cigars smoked—chalk up another one for the Citizens' Association.

Yours very truly,

Lunch Schedules

Parents and pupils at the Center School are asked by Mrs. Elizabeth Fugitt to cooperate with the school in the matter of new lunch-time schedules. Because of the new cafeteria, lunch hours will be staggered and a pupil's recess may extend from 11:45 to 12:45 or be scheduled as late as 12:15 to 1:15. The cafeteria continues to serve a large number of students, with last Monday's attendance reaching 184.

Repair New School

During the Christmas holidays workmen repaired and painted the inside of the North End School. New equipment was installed, including file cabinets for each room, an office desk, and pupils' desks and tables. The heating system was checked, and when the weather permits, the walks in the front and on the side of the school are to be repaired.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Mrs. Freya Mills, formerly of Parkbelt, has written a children's book giving a sketch of New York City as seen through juvenile eyes. We haven't been able to find out the title, but understand it's being published by the Oxford University Press.

The only baby we've heard tell of over the holidays is Loraine Carol Thiebeau of 12-C Hillside, who was born December 22.

The Cooperator would like to find out who has the honor of being 1946's first baby. Please call 3131.

Former Community Church pastor Bob Kincheloe and his wife Jane sent the following New Year's greeting to their friends: "After 20 hours, deadlock strike is over. Labor finally won, but management completely satisfied to grant 7% pound increase. Contract signed at 2:00 a. m., January 3, 1946, with the addition of Larry Gordon Kincheloe who, incidentally, with his parents sends you greetings in the New Year." The Kincheloe's address is 5701 Kenwood Ave., Chicago 37, Illinois. Their two older children are Bobby, 4½, and Ann, 2½.

Parents Magazine for January contains an article entitled "Wanted—Mothers for Cubs" by Josephine Robertson. Mrs. Robertson is the sister of Cooperator reporter Carolyn Miller and last summer visited Greenbelt and helped out in the basement of 8 Parkway one Tuesday evening.

The Walter Deans of 5-G Ridge Road announce the birth of a daughter, Katherine Patricia, on January 4 at Columbia Hospital. The youngest Dean weighed in at 8 pounds, 13 ounces. Mrs. Dean and the baby are expected home this week-end.

Helmuth Bentien of 34-F Crescent Road, is home with his wife enjoying a 30 day vacation from the U. S. Naval Shipyard at San Francisco, California. He'll be here 'til the 28th. Mr. Bentien reports that he thoroughly enjoyed his "All-American" bus trip across the continent, stopping to visit in Iowa and Chicago.

Remember the private library offered for sale on the bus station bulletin board? It's been taken over by a five-man syndicate, bookcase and all. The boys will divide the books between them, sell the volumes none of them want. No one feels like taking over the case (eight feet long, five and ½ feet high).

Newest additions to the four-year-old group at the Cooperative Nursery School are Stephanie Schein, Marta Weisbroth, Glenda Haber, and Eddie Raduazo.

Mrs. Alvin Shiren, of 1-C Laurel Hill entertained about 28 of the younger set this afternoon in honor of the third birthday of her daughter, Lila Sophia. Cartoons were among the decorations, and the children amused themselves with water colors and brushes.

Bill Nyhoff of 7-D Hillside Road surprised his mother Christmas Eve by dropping in from Seattle. Bill joined the Navy in 1940 at the age of 17, and was Coxswain Nyhoff before his discharge. WAC Pfc. June Nyhoff joined the family over New Year's on a 48-hour pass from Greensboro, N. Carolina. She's been in the service since last April.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hull of Mt. Kisco, N. Y. called on Mr. Hull's brother Dayton, of 2-B Woodland Way, over last weekend.

GREENBELTERS IN UNIFORM

Sgt. Virginia Bonham, now just "Miss" again, arrived home December 27 from Manila.

Former resident of 17-E Parkway, Art Weatherbee is back in Washington working for what's left of the War Labor Board and home-hunting for Polly and two-year-old Sue. Art was a Lt. j. g. during the war, acting as a finance officer in England, France, Belgium, Holland, and Germany. His most uncomfortable moment, he says, was when an ammunition ship struck a mine in Le Havre harbor, and everyone waited to be blown into Kingdom Come by a force estimated to amount to half an atomic bomb. By some freak the ships simply settled peacefully into the harbor. Art's narrowest shave, was during his homeward trip on the Indianapolis, when three were drowned and 52 injured during a heavy storm. He arrived at Bangor three days after Christmas.

Many veterans who carried fond memories of Greenbelt with them to distant places during the past several years are now returning, some with new wives and families.

Recently the following servicemen and their families have returned: Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Goodman, 2-N Ridge Rd; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Betz, 15-D Parkway; Mr. and Mrs. Saul Brautigam; 16-B Crescent; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Tucker, 13-P Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Menter, 6-B Crescent; and William S. Miller, 28-E Crescent.

At present, according to Mrs. Bertha Bonham, town clerk, there are about a dozen families waiting for homes and apartments in Greenbelt.

Lutheran Church

Lutheran Church services will be held in the home economics room of the Center school at 12:30 p. m., Sunday, January 13. Rev. Edwin E. Pieplow has chosen for his sermon "Let the Light Go On Again," from John 1:35-42.

Sunday School starts promptly at 11:45 in the home economics room with five classes ranging from beginners to seniors. Adult Bible class is conducted at the same time. Rev. Pieplow will consolidate his Friday evening class with the Saturday afternoon class. Please come at 4 p. m. Saturday, to 35-L Ridge Road to learn the Fundamental Doctrines of the Bible.

Greenbelt Teams Meet Hyattsville

The Greenbelt High School court teams travel to Hyattsville this evening to open the 1945-46 season in the Prince Georges County High School Cage League with their traditional rivals as opponents and host.

As this year brings the opening game away from home and at such a late date, it is expected that a much better caliber of basketball will be displayed this evening because the teams have had more time to practice and prepare for this hectic encounter. Feeling between these teams has always been very keen and games are always packed with excitement.

The boys team has one player from the all-county high team of last year in the lineup and something should be heard from this combination. The girls are, of course, again expected to give a fine account of themselves. The probable starting five for the Grizzlies will be Fox, Fisher, Craigin, Scott and Littleton, while starters for the Grizzlies will probably include Loftus, Morrison and Johnson.

Don't forget this game. Show the kids you are interested by being there to root for them.

Women's Ball Team

Greenbelt's independent women's basketball team will take on two undefeated teams this week at the Takoma Park, Maryland, firehouse. Tonight's game with Chemical Warfare is scheduled for 8:15 and the Kavakos Grill girls will see what they can do against the local lassies at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, January 13. Coach Helena Knauer is trying to schedule several more games for the coming weeks.

The Greenbeltians have won three of the four games they have already played, beating Transportation Corps 35-32, O'Donnell's Grill 35-21, and Takoma Decorators 28-24. Northwest Recreation Club came out on top in a tight 22-19 game.

Telephone Bridge

A telephone bridge will be held by the parents of the Greenbelt Elementary School PTA on Saturday evening, January 19. Any parent may hold a bridge in her home by simply contacting friends and neighbors via the telephone. The admission is 25c per person and proceeds will go to the PTA. Prizes will be given for high and low scores. At the conclusion of the game, between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Mrs. Wells Harrington and Mrs. Clifford Woodward, Ways and Means Committee chairman, can be reached at 3941 and 6426 to relay prize information.

Ruth Kurle Comes Here From Antioch

GCS is profiting from the work-study plan of Antioch college, in recently securing the services of Ruth Kurle, new tobacco store clerk and Antioch sophomore. Miss Kurle is now employed in the store as a part of her college program, under which students attend classes for a period at the Yellow Springs, Ohio, college and then alternate with a full time job.

Basic principle of the Antioch system is that an educated person should be equipped with a combination of academic training and practical experience. An economics and political science major, Miss Kurle is enthusiastically interested in the cooperative movement and plans to learn in Greenbelt everything possible about "coops in action." She is a member of Community Council on the Antioch campus.

A native of Madison, Connecticut, Ruth thoroughly likes Greenbelt, and plans to work here through the end of March. She is also interested in newspaper work, and has offered her services as a volunteer member of the Co-operator staff.

Since the Town Office does not have information on telephones installed in Greenbelt since last August, and the phone company does not release that information, people whose phones have been put in since August of 1945 and who wish to be listed in the new directory should phone 6851 or 5294.

PLAY BALL

BY LES SANDERS

Here it is 1946 and something new, a new year and a new sports column by an old reporter. What can Greenbelt expect for its future this year in sports? This question is like many other confronting us today, but from indications this should be a great year with many of our men back from the service and plenty of equipment available for civilian purchase.

Let's review the past years' activities in sports. First, in the early months of 1945 our winter sports were coming up to an abrupt end with the high school basketball teams having a very good season and doing well in the Metropolitan Tournament; the winter program of the Recreation Department was harder hit, with the staff required to work long hours and its members departing for military service; while the local mens' bowling league had one of its worst seasons with the absence of many of the old standbys. Then came the spring with much enthusiasm and vim bringing all those outdoor sports such as softball, tennis, swimming and baseball. These sports blossomed forth but about the middle of July, the program bogged down; however, our Shamrocks did well in their baseball league by reaching the finals in the Prince Georges County League. Then came the end of that terrible war and new bowling leagues were formed. Our local football team, the Packers, was retarded by lack of available equipment but gave a very good account of themselves.

Today marks the half way mark in the bowling schedules and the standings are listed below. As many know, competition gets very keen in the second half so keep your ears and eyes open for the Tuesday and Thursday night fireworks of the Greenbelt Bowling Leagues.

Rifle Range Meet

In their scheduled shoot on January 4, in the University of Maryland indoor rifle range at College Park, the Mt. Hooper team defaulted and lost the first match in the late winter leg of the '45-'46 season. The local team showed up in form due to an improvement in coaching at the matches, bringing in some good scores which, if continued, will make the Greenbelt shooters a strong contender for the season trophy.

New Construction Process Of Homes

A new manufacturing process in home construction, called the Neoteric Method, will be explained in an open forum meeting of the Citizens Association by Paul T. Kratzmaier, president of the Efficiency Engineering Company. The meeting will be held on Monday, January 21 in the Social Room of the Elementary School and all residents are invited to attend.

The Neoteric Method uses multiple dies and prefabricated metals, and sections are assembled by a special interlocking joint device developed by Mr. Kratzmaier. It is estimated that such homes will cost about one-fifth less than standard constructed houses. Models, drawings, and a motion picture explaining all phases of the process will be shown.

It is felt by officers of the Association that this discussion should be especially interesting and beneficial to residents and war veterans who expect to build when conditions permit.

Tickets at a dollar per person are on sale and may be procured from any member of the Club. Committee chairmen and their plans will be announced later.

Officers Elected On Parents Board

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Parents Board of the Band held last Friday night, the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Joseph G. Brown; vice president, Mrs. C. A. Powell; secretary, Mrs. E. M. Townshend; treasurer, A. E. Tavenner; and secretary of the Feeder Band, Mrs. Earl Marshall. Retiring president and secretary are R. O. Taylor and Mrs. John Littleton, respectively; Mr. Brown has been vice president for the past year and Mr. Tavenner will start his second term as treasurer.

The Board discussed the practicability of allowing some of the older Band members whose many college-initiated activities force them to miss practice frequently to pay dues for only those practices which they attend. In view of the increasing difficulty in balancing Band dues and director's fees, the Board decided it was a financial impossibility to amend in any way its set policy of requiring a Band member to pay dues for every practice, whether he is present or absent. It was voted that former members returning to the Band from the military service need not pay a registration fee.

The Band, by vote of the Board, will give up the auditorium on two coming Friday nights to the high school basketball teams so that the teams will not have to forfeit games which they were unable to schedule at other schools.

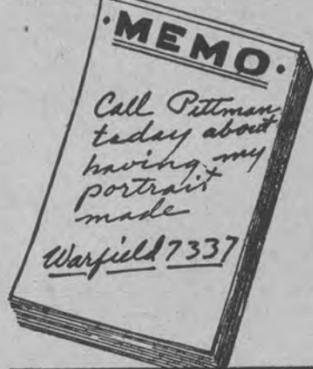

Basketball began at the University of Maryland in 1905. The sport was put on a sound basis when the first gymnasium was provided at College Park in the fall of 1923.
