GMHOC Requests Early Conference With PHA Officials; Cites Policy

Michael Salzman, president of the Greenbelt Mutual Home Ownership Corporation, told a meeting of membership drive workers last Monday night that a request has been sent to Joseph Gray, area director of Public Housing Authority in New York, for a conference with PHA officials on the disposition of Greenbelt.

Mr. Salzman's letter pointed out that PHA policy provides for consultations between PHA officials and project representatives for the purpose of arriving, if possible, at mutually agreeable disposition plans. Since the Town Council has formally advised PHA that GMHOC should be recognized as the appropriate negotiating agency for the community, in all matters except those coming within the purview of municipal responsibilities, the letter expressed the hope that conferences with PHA might be considerably expedited.

In his letter to Mr. Gray, Mr. Salzman noted that one of the basic purposes in the construction of the original Greenbelt, as set forth in the first annual report of the Resettlement Administration, was that it should be sold to a non-profit corporation. GMHOC attorneys have advised that the publication of this specific objective might well answer the legal questions raised by PHA counsel as to authority for disposal of the property at negotiated prices.

A GMHOC press release on the membership drive shows that approximately 25% of all non-members have already been contacted by workers. Of this number 25% signed applications, with another 35 to 40% requesting further information. Only a very small percentage of non-members have definitely declined to join the corporation.

Reverend Eric T. Braund, chairman of the drive, advised workers to avoid salesmanship, but added that they should make it clear that GMHOC by-laws provide that at the formal offering by PHA, GMHOC membership must be thrown open to outside residents.

Greenbelt Firemen Form Association

Members of the Greenbelt Fire Department met Monday evening, March 8, in their quarters under the police station to form the Greenbelt Firemen's Association. Wearing their new fireman caps and badges, this group elected the following officers: Joe Lewis, 19-D Ridge Road, president; Paul Williams, 49-D Ridge Road, vice-president; Stanley Fickes, 60-J Crescent Road, secretary; Jim Williams, 49-D Ridge Road, treasurer; George Bauer, sergeant-at-arms.

Charter Members
Bart Finn, a former fireman now in the hospital recuperating from a service-connected disability, was included among the twenty charter members.

NCJW Sponsors Purim Masquerade

The annual Purim masquerade party, sponsored by the Greenbelt Section of the National Council of Jewish Women, will be held March 27, in the social room of the center school. Everyone is invited, and tickets may be obtained from any member of the organization. Mrs. Nettie Granims heads the committee in charge of the party, including Mrs. Ida Tannenbaum, Mrs. Sonia Novak, Mrs. Jean Zeldin and Mrs. Fan Schein.

At their meeting on March 9, members of the group heard John Hammond of the State Department speak on the Marshall Plan.

The Prince Georges Bank will be closed on March 25 (Maryland Day) and March 26 (Good Friday), Henry Brautigam, manager, states. It will be open on Saturday, March 27, from 8:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Vacancies Filled By GCS Directors

At last Friday's meeting, the GCS board of directors filled all committee vacancies by the election of Carnie Harper to the executive committee and the appointment of Walter Bierwagen as GCS delegate to the WCFM board.

Appointments to two positions were approved by the board: promotion of Robert Morrow to the position of controller, and Ralph E. Miller to manager of the co-op bus. The appointment of Mr. Morrow verifies the job he has been doing, stated Sam Ashelman, general manager, in preparation of budgets and financial control of operations. Elwyn Wintringham, former bus manager, is presently assisting Harvey Wharton in equipment repair and maintenance.

"Good and Welfare"

Elmer Hager, a delegate from the Citizens Association's March 8 meeting, proposed to the board that it insert a "good and welfare" clause in the agenda of future membership meetings. It was pointed out that any member is guaranteed the right in the co-op by-laws of putting any item of business on the agenda, prior to a membership meeting. Mr. Hager's proposal was adopted by the board, and will be put into effect at the next membership meeting in May.

Two special meetings were scheduled, one for tonight, March 19, to hear the report of the committee on structure, headed by Benjamin Rosenzweig. The other was a meeting of interested members and directors held Wednesday, March 17, to discuss the co-op's public relations policy.

Down To Earth

Dickie Chesley of 2-N Plateau Place went out on a limb last Saturday to retrieve a kite. After discovering how far and how high he had climbed, Dickie refused to move. With the use of extension and roof ladders the Fire Department brought him down to earth. Werner Steinle and Paul Williams made the assist.

Manager Given Vote Of Confidence; Minority Report Filed By Three

Confidence in the management job being done by Town Manager James Gobel was expressed by the Town Council last Monday night, when in a four to one vote the town fathers asked Gobel to withdraw his resignation.

Both support and vociferous protests came from the large audience at the council action. Two members of the Investigating Committee, Joseph L. Fitzmaurice and Bernard Bordonet, dissented from the report of the committee. Councilwoman Betty Harrington also submitted a minority report in which she concurred with the majority on most points, but stated that Gobel's resignation should be accepted.

This action climaxed the long drawn out hearings by the council and four representative citizens of charges of maladministration which had been leveled at Gobel and George Panagoulis, director of public safety.

After a brief resume of the majority report and a short summary of points taken in the minority reports, Mayor Thomas Canning refused requests from spectators to read any of the reports in full, explaining that their aggregate length would take too much time, and that a copy of each is available during office hours at the town office for the convenience of anyone wishing to study or copy them.

As reported in last week's Co-operator, the majority report stated that evidence against George Panagoulis, director of public safety, did not substantiate charges made against him, and placed responsibility upon Gobel and members of the former town council for not legalizing salary reductions with required salary ordinances.

Councilman Harrington's primary exception to the majority report was based on the charge that Gobel permitted overpayment of salary to himself in the face of an appropriation ordinance which specified the lower rate, even though the salary ordinance had not been changed to conform and still showed a higher rate of pay. It was this latter ordinance which was the basis for Gobel's salary payments. (At the time the salary payments were changed to the lower rate, at Gobel's request, according to testimony in the hearings, the manager had not actually received sufficient money during the year to equal the lower rate, and so legally had not received more than had been appropriated, although his monthly payments were at the higher level.)

Wesley Darling and Milton Williams, the other two committee members who signed the factual majority report, told the Co-operator Wednesday that they did not consider that the facts, as found by the committee, exonerated either Mr. Gobel or Director Panagoulis.

Many thousands of Government workers have written to the U. S. Civil Service Commission, requesting Pamphlet No. 50 concerning the new retirement law. It is safe, however, to assume that Lyman L. Woodman of 20-G Hillside Road hasn't written for the booklet, since he wrote it.

Government columnists in Washington have commented favorably on their radio programs and in their newspaper columns on this booklet, which explains the benefits gained by Government workers and their dependents under the Langer-Chavez-Stevenson Act of February 28, 1948.

Mr. Woodman, an editor in the Information Division of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, wrote an earlier pamphlet on retirement last year, has written a pamphlet on the Federal employment of physically-handicapped persons, and as his "regular assignment" writes two Commission employee publications, the "Employee Bulletin" and the "Letter."

Mr. Woodman has recently had published in "The American Rifleman," the official publication of the National Rifle Association, an article on the use of military target ranges by civilian gun clubs for .30 calibre marksmanship practice.

Another article recently written by Mr. Woodman and accepted by "Alaska Life Magazine," is the history of the ship "The Bear," which was used by Admiral Byrd in two polar expeditions and which served in the Bering Sea Patrol for 40 years.

Progress Slow In Red Cross Drive

The 1948 drive for Red Cross funds has been slow in getting under way in Greenbelt and throughout the County, according to Mrs. Ralph Neumann, Greenbelt chairman. However, she expressed her confidence that the next two weeks will see the community make its quota.

Volunteer workers will visit each home in the community. Those who wish to contribute and who have not been personally contacted should call Mrs. Neumann at 6416.

War Homes To Get Inside Painting

PHA painters have finished the interior of old Greenbelt homes in "D" block and are beginning on "E" block, reports PHA manager Charles M. Cormack. According to plan, all homes in the original Greenbelt project which have not been repainted since 1940 and have had continued occupancy since that period will be painted.

The defense homes are scheduled for a paint program, Mr. Cormack said, although no definite date has been set.

The maintenance office is gradually replacing window shades in the order of receipt of requests.

High School PTA Discussion Held

"The Problems of Youth"—the family car, hours, associates, earning and spending money, and family decisions—were outlined on a panel discussion held in the High School Auditorium last week by the High School Parent Teacher's Association. Dr. John W. McKay was moderator. Janet Robey, Helen Miller, John Gates, and Jimmy Williams presented their views as students. Parents participating were Dr. Theodore Eyerly, John Littleton, Mrs. Helena J. Haines, and Mrs. Orville Slye.

Pencils were presented to the boys who helped to sell refreshments on All-Greenbelt Night. After the business meeting, refreshments were served.

O. K. Gov. Lane!

Governor W. Preston Lane, Jr., of Maryland is to be congratulated on the stand he took in last week's meeting of the Conference of Southern Governors.

At the meeting, called to discuss President Truman's civil rights program, eight of the governors favored joining in solid opposition to the program. Governor Lane did not speak in favor of the revolt, nor did he vote for the revolt.

The Governor based his non-participation on the grounds that this is a party matter and should be decided upon only by the State Democratic Committee. The significance of his statement lies in the fact that he will rely on the broad foundation of public opinion before committing the State of Maryland.

We believe that Governor Lane will find that his party and his State have gone too far along the road to a mature civilization to support the backward-looking program which the "white supremacy" governors of the Deep South are pushing from behind the usual false front of "state rights."

We're Glad It's Over

The completion of the investigation of the police department and of administrative procedures has caused high tempers, confusion, gratification—and most of all, relief that the whole thing is over.

Nine people (of which five were council members), after several months of investigation, have reported their findings to the town council. Four of the five council members have interpreted the majority report as an exoneration of Gobbel and Panagoulis, and have asked Gobbel to withdraw his resignation.

While we are glad to see an end to the suspense, we had hoped for a more clear-cut decision. Betty Harrington, the member of council who neither signed the report nor voted to retain Gobbel, entered a minority report, as did Bordonet and Fitzpatrick. Darling and William, the other two committee members, did sign the factual report, but did not agree that the facts exonerated either Gobbel or Panagoulis.

The question of the legality of the manager's salary payments seems clear. Dissenting legal opinion that Sec. 51 of the Town Charter was violated is based on the provision that no money be drawn in excess of the budget's appropriation ordinance. Salary checks in early 1947 were drawn on a monthly basis which, if continued for 12 months, would have exceeded the appropriation ordinance. However, they were drawn on that basis for only a few months, and overpayments were refunded.

The question of ethics is not so clear-cut. Moral error, as contrasted with legal error, depends greatly on motives and extenuating circumstances. In Gobbel's case, his motives are not known. Obviously they were not of a strictly pecuniary nature, as a town manager of his ability and experience could easily get a much higher salary elsewhere than he has ever received here. Extenuating circumstances included a hostile council from which Gobbel apparently expected little cooperation.

As there was no illegality; as there is absence of proof that any action was unethical; and as James T. Gobbel is an asset to Greenbelt by virtue of his unique understanding of the town's problems and reason for being, we feel that the town council was justified in not accepting his resignation.

Singing Is Fun

To the Editor:

There are probably many people in Greenbelt who would join the Community Chorus if they did not have the mistaken idea that they cannot sing well enough. The only requisites are a liking for music, the ability to carry a tune, and the modest amount of intelligence that it takes to learn position reading under a good conductor. A good singing voice is not necessary. Most members of amateur singing clubs would sound ludicrous in solo roles, but when their voices are blended in a chorus the over-all effect is pleasing.

In Europe in the tranquil days before the first world war, cities of 50 to 60,000 population supported stock grand opera. One recalls descriptions of choral clubs meeting in the open air and waiting motionless, in spite of mosquitoes, for the signal to begin. Such philosophical appreciation of music is difficult to attain under today's hectic conditions, but the Greenbelt Community Chorus can nevertheless be a means of relaxation and recreation to many more than at present.

TEEN TALK

By JOE HASPIEL

Events again are leading to what must become a distasteful situation between the teen-agers at the drug store and the folks running the place. Jack Coleman, manager of the luncheon counter, is sympathetic and so is Sam Ashelman, general manager of Greenbelt Consumers, but it is obvious that the growing gatherings must be directed somewhere else. On being questioned, the boys displayed complete dissatisfaction with the Drop-Inn. All pro's and con's not withstanding, the Drop-Inn must begin to function as an attractive center for the youth of Greenbelt.

Another Letter

Mr. Haspiel:
The Hyattsville Teen-Age Canteen is fast becoming the night spot of Greenbelt teen-agers. Greenbelters there numbered 15, compared to the 33 at the Drop-Inn which is 8 miles closer.

Besides the usual band, the performers for the evening included tap dance routines by Ronda Bibler, Sonya Freeman and Rosalie Fleischer. Majorette novelties were performed by Carol Day, Ronda Bibler and Carol Howard. The Greenbelt Elementary School tumblers also gave forth with a good performance. Climaxing the events that night were Dick Contino, the accordion star who has won $4,000 on Horace Heidt's talent show, and Harold Peck, a dancer with the Heidt show. Dick comes from Fresno, California, where he is a member of a teenage club boasting a 3,000 membership, while Harold, also a Californian, hails from Hollywood. Both boys are eighteen. Next week Joe Dosh, the popular disc jockey, will entertain.

If Hyattsville, why not Greenbelt?

CLYDE EANES

Dance Class

The ballroom dance classes for teen-agers will continue for an additional five weeks. Jan Markawich and Nancy Harding have been instructing in the waltz and basic jitterbug. Classes are held 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. every Monday. Fee is 50 cents a lesson.

Drop-Inn Party

Following the basketball games between Oakland and Greenbelt, the Drop-Inn played host to the players and their followers. A total of 150 youngsters overran the club house, stuffing themselves on doughnuts, cokes and hot dogs. Dancing, pool and ping-pong helped them to come back for more. Thanks are extended to Greenbelt Consumers for contributing the doughnuts and cokes. The parents are thanked and commended for donating hot dogs and their services.

Women Voters Meet

The Greenbelt chapter of the League of Women Voters will hold a membership meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Berkenbilt, 13-S Ridge Road, on Thursday, March 25 at 8:30 p. m. Members will discuss the program of the local group and that of the Prince Georges County chapter. Election of officers will be held.

Local Teams Win In Double Header

In the first in a series of Wednesday night double-headers to be played in the center auditorium, the Recreation Department girls defeated Garvins 25-24, and the Co-op boys romped over Maryland Park 50-42.

Garvins, which is in the playoffs for the District Recreation Department championship, gave the local girls a real scare. Led by Helen Zoellner, Garvins stacked up a sizeable lead which was cut to a single point by half-time. The Greenbelt team was on top when the game ended. Ora Donoghue led both teams with 15 points, with Dolores Wolfe following with 7.

The Co-op boys had it easier, leading throughout the game. Chuck Clift rang up 13 points for the local team while Bobby Foster, a full-game man, was responsible for most of the visitors' score.

Both teams will appear on the home court on Wednesday, March 24, with Rockville as a possible opponent. The town folk are invited to attend.

All-Stars Take Youngsters, 58-39

The All-Star team, drawn from teams of the Recreation Department League, defeated the Youngsters 58-39 at the last session of men's gym. Brewer, Mothershead, and Rowell led the All-Stars, while Benefiel paced the Youngsters' attack. All members of both teams broke into the scoring column. Runnion got cheers with a beautiful one-handed set shot from the side of the court.

Easter Egg Sale

The Truman Riddle Navy Wives Club No. 59 will hold a home-made candy Easter egg sale at the theatre on Thursday, March 26, at 10 a. m. The eggs will have milk chocolate covering and either coconut or nut-and-fruit filling, according to Mrs. James K. O'Neill.

North End Kids Get Health Exams

Easter holidays for the pupils of North End School will begin Wednesday, March 24. Lunch will be served at noon, before dismissal at 1 o'clock. School will reopen March 31.

Health examinations will be given the children of North End School by Dr. William Eisner, public health officer, prior to spring vacation. The pupils have had the Massachusetts Vision Kit test, procured for all the children in the county by the health supervisor, Mrs. Lee Quinn; and they have had their teeth checked by Dr. James McCarl.

All school children will be weighed and measured by the health committee of the PTA, around the first of April.

Not what kind but HOW MUCH?

When a man dies, no one ever asks what kind of insurance he had. Folks always ask, "How much?" They want to know if he provided money for his family to live on.

Well, suppose it had been you? Would your family have $1,000 or $5,000 or $10,000 on which to live a lifetime? Or better yet, would they have the kind of insurance that pays $100, or $150 or $200 every month as long as needed?

We call that Family Income Insurance. Ask about it . . .

GCS

Maybe it's happened to you!

When the bird you find at hand
Is smaller than you'd planned
And those extra guests arrive from who-knows-where,
You don't run away and hide it,
You count noses and divide it
So that everybody gets an equal share.

This same principle applied
To the service we provide
We believe you will agree is only sound.
Please remember—the design
In back of every party line
Is to help to make the service go around!

TODAY, many people are still waiting for telephones. And party lines mean more service for more people, sooner.

If you're on a party line, you can help yourself to better telephone service by following these few suggestions:

1. Try to make your calls reasonably brief.
2. Whenever possible, allow an interval between calls so that others can use the line.

3. Try to answer the telephone as promptly as you can.

4. Please don't interrupt when the line is in use, except in case of emergency.

5. Ask the children to follow these good-neighbor suggestions, too.

Remember to use your telephone "sharingly." Party-line service is good service when everyone co-operates.

Fun For Fund

Mrs. Mary E. Davis' group from the Center School presented "The Variety Hour of Fun" to a large audience last Friday. Features of the program were instrumental selections; an original mystery play, "The Treasured Ruby" written by Patsy Dunbar; vocal and dancing numbers; a quiz program with audience participation; and a sports review.

The program was an outgrowth of the work being done by the children in connection with their Social Studies program. Tickets were sold, and the group raised $35.81 which will be contributed to the piano fund.
