

Six Months Of Success Shown In Labukas Report On Youth Center

Showing an increase in membership, activities, and net income, the youth center Monday night, in a written statement by its director, Mrs. Eileen Labukas, made a six-month report to the town council.

A net profit of $119.20 was made by the organization from October 1948 through March 1949, according to the report, with a total of 234 members. Of these, 176, or three-fourths, are junior high school members with even distribution among boys and girls. Of the 58 senior high members, however, only three are girls.

Rental Profitable

Renting the center to other youth groups at $1 per night accounted for a major part of the profit, netting $85.40 for the period. The center is open for this purpose every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday nights. Regular uses, other than the youth center itself, are the Boys' Club on Monday, the Catholic Youth Organization on Thursday, and the Lutherans on alternating Sundays. In addition, occasional use of the building has been made by the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Community Church Young People, Latter Day Saints, DeMolay, Majorettes, and Hebrew Sunday School.

Mrs. Labukas stressed the increased interest of the teen-agers and the increased support and cooperation of the parents, crediting them to the increased program, the inclusion of the younger boys and girls in the program, and having clear lines of authority in supervision. She pleaded, however, for more help from parents, explaining that such additional cooperation will be needed to keep the canteen operating at its present successful level.

Teen-agers Set Policy

Stating that there are divided opinions on the purpose of a youth center—selected "club"-type members versus the keep-them-off-the-street school of thought—Mrs. Labukas said she had attempted to steer a middle course in the conflict of philosophies, allowing the teen-agers to make most of the decisions.

In a correlative report from the center's advisory board, presented to council at the same time as Mrs. Labukas' report, information in the latter was substantiated, with the addition of details of the board's activities. Among these were four benefits participated in by the board: a movie, a ball game, a basketball game, and a spring dance.

Present members of the board are John Teel, chairman; Mrs. Aimee Slye, Mrs. David Steidle, Erv in Dietzel, and James Wolfe. Hugh Hawkins is the leader of the Parents' Guild, which assists Mrs. Labukas in supervision of center activities.

Juniors More Interested

Contrasting the senior and the junior high age groups, Mrs. Labukas said the latter showed more interest and asserted more leadership than the older group. She remarked that there had been some criticism of separating the teen-agers according to age but that she felt the present successful program is possible partly because of the separation.

Present schedules have the center open to all teen-agers—from seventh grade through 20 years of age—every afternoon from 3:30 to 5. Only College-age youths use the center between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. each day, while the junior high group has Saturday from 7:30 to 11 p.m., and the senior high from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Friday, and from 7:30 to 10:30 on Wednesday. Ninth-graders are permitted to join either group, as there is at present no senior class at the Greenbelt high school.

The junior high group established a set schedule for their Saturday nights, with two "open house" affairs, a dance, and a special party, each month. They cleared expenses each time, Mrs. Labukas said.

Special Activities

Special activities designed to create more interest in the center, included dance classes, a photography club, and a knitting club. A fee was charged for the dance class, which was conducted by Arthur Murray teachers, while the two clubs had free membership. In addition, an outstanding member was chosen each month, and table tennis tournaments were held.

A snack bar is open every time the center is used by the general membership. Operated by a teenager on a 10%-for-rent basis, the snack bar has had two successful operators, according to Mrs. Labukas.

While some furniture has been provided the center, Mrs. Labukas said that a piano and additional folding chairs are still badly needed.

A juke box, the down payment for which was solicited by members from "patrons," pays for its own monthly installments from funds collected it. Mrs. Labukas is employed by the Greenbelt town government, in the recreation department, and the youth center is under the department's jurisdiction. Director of the recreation department is Sam Fox.

North End PTA Elects Officers Next Tuesday

Election of officers for the coming year will be held at the meeting of the North End Parent-Teachers Association on Tuesday, May 10, at 8:15 p.m., at the school auditorium. This is the last meeting of the year. Following the elections, a social evening with special musical numbers and community singing has been planned. Refreshments will be served.

Teachers will be in their rooms from 7:45 to 8:15 to receive parents.

Greenbelt Rescuers Serve Town In April

April activities of the Greenbelt Rescue Squad were slight, according to Milton Laikin, although they provided ambulance service to several emergency victims.

On April 7, a boy who got a piece of metal in his eye was taken to Episcopal Eye and Ear hospital in Washington.

A telephone maintenance man driving into Greenbelt on April 11, stopped his car on the side of the road when he felt dizzy, after which he collapsed. The rescue squad took him to Cheverly hospital, where he was refused admittance. As he was a veteran, he was taken to Bethesda Naval hospital, where he was treated for a cerebral hemorrhage. His condition was reported as improved.

A heart attack victim is convalescing at Leland Memorial hospital, where he was taken by the rescue squad on April 15.

When the rescue squad answered a call on April 20 to 52 Ridge Road, where a baby was choking, police officer Al Nuzzo was already administering artificial respiration.

Plans were made during the month for the carnival which the squad will sponsor jointly next week with the American Legion and the volunteer firemen.

250 OK Fight On Rent Hike

An estimated crowd of 250 people last night endorsed actions taken by the Greenbelt Rent Protest Committee, and approved additional steps, including legal action if necessary to fight the re-registration of rents in Greenbelt.

The "re-registration" (a term insisted upon by the Office of the Housing Expediter, instead of "raise") was approved on April 14, and is already effective so far as new residents are concerned. For present occupants, effective dates are June 15 in the war housing, July 1 in the original project.

Contribute To Kitty

Backing up their commitment to action, those present at last night's meeting contributed to the committee's funds. While no count was taken of receipts, the committee's treasurer, Ben Goldfaden, estimated that $150 may have been collected.

Mayor Thomas J. Canning, who presided as chairman of the committee, said that town-wide cooperation in fighting Public Housing Administration's petition for an increase last August had been successful in forestalling a decision for six months, and in cutting the "re-registration" in half.

A petition was submitted to the Office of the Housing Expediter, the mayor said, asking for reconsideration of the decision. It was pointed out that the Rent Control Act of 1949 provides that all tenants shall receive a hearing on any decision regarding their rent, and that the Expediter promised such a hearing to the town council, but that in fact no such hearing was granted.

What's To Compare?

The Act also omits any reference to comparability as a factor in determining rentals, Canning said. However, he said, if it is determined that comparability is a proper basis regarding their rent, and that granted a hearing, the committee will hire a rental expert to make its own comparability study.

What's Yours?

Questionnaires were distributed to the audience for information on landlord services, Sally Meredith, committee member, told the group that a Housing Expediter official See RENT, Page 5

Woman's Club Members Must Make Reservations

Woman's Club members are reminded to call Mrs. Lawrence P. Fern, 2156, or Mrs. Charles T. Cookson, 3306, for reservations for the spring luncheon to be held on May 12, 12:30 p.m., at Collingwood on-the-Potomac. Reservations are necessary so that arrangements may be made for the luncheon and transportation by the committee. It is planned to have a bus leave the drug store at the Center at 11 a.m.

Number Please

Anyone whose phone number is different from that shown in the latest Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company directory, and who would like the correct number to appear in the directory currently being prepared by the Greenbelt post of the American Legion, must immediately write his name, address and phone number on a postcard and mail it tomorrow to Box 247, Greenbelt, Maryland, in order to be included.

Your name won't go to the bottom of the list just because it's the last one in, according to Frank Riley, who is handling the compilation of names. That place goes so far to Christian R. Zust, who replaces Oscar Zoellner this year in the "last place" spot.

GHS PLAYERS TO PRESENT PLAY

The Dramatic Club of Greenbelt High School is planning to present "Mumbo-Jumbo," a play in three acts by Jack Barnard, at the Center school auditorium on May 12-13.

This recent stage hit is a mystery farce complete with murders that turn out to be not murders, throbbing African Voodoo rites, a mysterious blind man, a beautiful girl under a mysterious spell, a hidden fortune, all the factors that make a successful puzzler.

"Mumbo-Jumbo" is, as its name implies, three acts of hilarious nonsense, with the crime elements completely smothered in the farce of a college youth masquerading as his best friend's wife, and two small-town sheriffs who can't solve the crime for battling over who has jurisdiction.

High School PTA Holds Final Meeting

The High School Parent Teachers Association will hold its final meeting of the year on Tuesday, May 10, in the high school auditorium. The accomplishments of the past year will be reviewed and there will be a discussion of the business courses and the industrial arts program.

The following officers for the next school year will be installed: Dr. John W. McKay, president; Than Porter, vice-president; Mrs. Claire Duter, secretary; and Apeus Tavenner, treasurer.

Music will be furnished by the seventh and eighth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Ellen Beckman. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Scouts Police Lake

Town Manager Charles T. McDonald publicly expressed his appreciation Tuesday to the Boy Scouts of Troop 229, who thoroughly cleaned the picnic grounds at Indian Springs last Saturday. Under the direction of their leader, Ernest M. Townshend, the boys picked up papers, tin cans and bottles in the wooded areas.

Mr. McDonald added that the boys had proposed to make his undertaking one of their community projects.

Greenbelt's Town Council voted 4-1 last Monday night to authorize the sponsoring of a carnival by three local organizations: the American Legion, the Greenbelt Rescue Squad and the Greenbelt Volunteer Firemen. The carnival will open for six days, starting next Monday.

Their decision was promptly followed by a letter from PHA Manager Charles M. Cormack to Town Manager Charles T. McDonald, reminding the town administration that the site of the carnival—the parking lot south of the shopping center—was under PHA jurisdiction and not leased to the town. However, the PHA manager stated that he would not oppose the Carnival, although "personally not in favor of holding it on that site," provided that certain requirements be met by the town.

Town Is Responsible

According to the specified terms, the town must assume full responsibility for all damage to persons and property; repair any damage to pavement, curbs, sidewalks, trees, lawn and parking areas; erect a "snow fence" enclosing the area, with opening only at streets and sidewalks; be responsible for all expense connected with the use of water and electricity; and must agree to clean up the area and put it into a "satisfactory condition."

Good, Clean Fun

Objections to the carnival being held in the center were answered by sponsors of the affair, who promised that there will be no side shows, that the carnival employees will not live in Greenbelt, with the exception of a night watchman, who will sleep in the bingo tent. The carnival will be open for evening hours only, from 7 until 11, with the exception of Saturday, so that it will not interfere with school hours. Sponsors of the carnival have agreed to detail a special committee of men to assist in handling the parking problem. Councilwoman Betty Harrington told the "Cooperator" that the carnival consists mainly of rides, bingo, fish pond, games, and that from her personal observation of the carnival in question, seems clean and modern in its equipment.

The Truman Riddle Navy Wives club will hold a bake sale tomorrow morning in the lobby of the Greenbelt theater starting at 10 a.m. They will offer a varied selection of cakes, pies, cookies, and candies.

PTA'S To Discuss Summer Facilities

The County PTA Council will meet at Greenbelt High School tonight at 7:30 p.m. to discuss "Summer Recreational Facilities." Five-minute talks will be given by V. C. Holochwost, supervisor of physical education of the county schools, and by representatives from the Boys' Clubs, the Y.M.C.A., Boy and Girl Scouts, the 4-H Clubs, Camp Fire Girls, and the County Librarian, on the summer recreation programs planned by their groups.

"Play Town, USA," a film prepared by the National Recreation Association, will be shown at the close of the meeting. The meeting is open to the public.

Damned If We Don't Damned If We Do

By the time Greenbelt reads this issue of the Cooperator, last night's rent protest rally will have become part of history. Not our history, alas! since circumstance has again put an important event on the night before publication. Ever since The Day was changed from Friday to Thursday, our weekly stint has not been complete without moans and groans over the current Wednesday's happenings which will be stale stuff by the time next week's issue appears.

No amount of moaning and groaning can alter the fact that overcoming the sheer mechanical difficulty of producing a weekly paper at arms length, with the presses more than five miles from the editorial office, does not cover the inclusion in Thursday night's paper of Wednesday night's news; at least, not in the same form as news of the previous weekend, or of Monday, or even Tuesday. The printer gets gray enough, over fresh material coming in on press day, without worrying about returning any kind of proof on it.

Thus, last week's last-minute notice of Friday night's "planning" meeting did not include the time. Those who attended did so because they were interested; those who stayed away weren't kept away because no time was announced. Since the Cooperator staff was handed a gratuitous "black eye" for failing to publicize the meeting more fully, it is only fair to point out that what few last-minute arrangements were made got done, not by the officers of the Rent Protest Committee! but by members of the Cooperator staff.

Questions concerning the relation of the staff to the activities of the rest of the town we would prefer to handle with those immediately concerned; but the initiative has been taken from us by the charges of disinterest and non-support leveled during the meeting. It is rather funny, to note in passing, that those who accuse the Cooperator of "running things" seem to be left at a loss when the Cooperator fails to take hold and run things.

The Committee did not even taken on the job of arranging for the auditorium. On us fell the burden of drawing up the forms passed out at the meeting; the forms were carried to Hyattsville on the trolley early Friday morning, by another member of the staff who had to lug a small child along on her thankless errand; and when none of the officials of the Committee were available to get the forms from the printer that evening, a third member of the staff (with an eight p.m. appointment in Washington), went to Hyattsville before the meeting and picked them up.

The lone member of the Committee who happens to be associated with the Cooperator is not an officer of the Committee, but not one of the officers did the work on the "planning" meeting that our representative did. A flyer was scheduled for issue last weekend, containing a notice for PHA to be submitted by residents individually, stating that the mere return of information called for by the rent office did not mean that tenants agreed to the rent increase. Officers of the Committee canceled the notice without comment. No flyer was issued, because the one Cooperator member (who also has a weekly paper to get out) could not personally draw up the announcement, although he had already made arrangements for its publication and distribution. There are between twenty and thirty nominal members of the Rent Protest Committee; no more than a dozen have attended any meeting of the Committee; the Cooperator representative has not missed one.

Besides the actual time and trouble expended on arrangements, there is the little matter of finances. No sound truck was hired to announce Friday's assembly, possibly through lack of funds; yet the Cooperator arranged to print Friday's forms on its own credit. At more expense than we could afford, and without any financial aid from the Committee, a full-page plate of local pictures was printed last fall to assist the Committee in its successful effort to halt the rent increase at that time.

Since the entire Cooperator staff is at the service of Greenbelt free of charge, it seems that the Committee is expecting a lot for its money. When the mayor of Greenbelt and other speakers at a public meeting attack the Cooperator for lack of either interest or effort in the welfare of the town, it behooves us to set the town straight. After all, the paper is merely the expression of the residents' sentiments. (It's asking quite a bit for us to make the news AND report it!) If only sixty residents were sufficiently interested to attend a meeting designed to help lower their rentals, it would seem that the majority of the town is indifferent to the rent question, and the Cooperator has more to occupy it than trying to revive a dead issue. If last night's meeting has proved the contrary, we will be glad to report it fully. Next week, that is. —E. H. R.

Good Luck, But - - - -

We sincerely wish the American Legion, the Rescue Squad and the Volunteer Fire Department the best of luck with their carnival next week. We don't blame them for requesting a permit to hold it in the Center. They would be foolish if they didn't.

We do not believe the Town Council should have granted the request. Three weeks ago the same request was brought before the Council and the majority appeared to oppose it vigorously. Some of the objections have been overcome, but what about the nearby residents who will be bothered by the disturbance, the parking problem, and the parents who will have to search the Center for their young children?

Even more important is the fact that Council has now set a bad precedent. If, next month, another organization in Town asks permission to have a carnival in the Center, or a stock car race, Wot happens? Can the council guarantee that following councils will be as discriminating as they have tried to be? Once a precedent is set it is difficult to retain high standards.

ON SLOT MACHINES

To The Editor:

It was my privilege to discuss the details of the proposed law to legalize slot machines in Prince Georges County with one of our Delegates to the State Legislature. There are several bits of information concerning the proposed law I would like to share with you and your readers:

1. First of all the voters must realize that a vote against legalizing the slot machines is NOT NECESSARILY a vote for maintaining things as they are now. We all deplore the present condition. But this condition does not have to exist. We can vote against the slot machines now, and urge our Delegates to find a more enforceable solution when they meet next year. Other areas have found it more desirable to ban them outright than to try to enforce a no-pay-off regulation.

2. If we legalize slot machines, we will have them in many places—garages, candy, grocery, and drug stores—as well as taverns, in fact ANY place of business. Any business man (or woman) provided he can meet the requirements of County residence, will have sole financial interest in the machine, etc., can obtain a license for as many as five machines for one store. With the returns to the operator so high and the fee so low, it is quite conceivable that many merchants will be eager to attract trade through the installation of slot machines in their stores. There will have to be at least 1000 of them, if the estimated $200,000 in fees forecast is to be realized.

3. We are all aware that the present law prohibiting "paying off" on slot machines is unenforceable. There just aren't enough police to guard the present machines and their operators. With over 1000 machines how can we expect our understaffed, overworked, and underpaid police department to guard each machine and operator to see that minors do not play! With at least one machine at every cross-road store, we will be faced with an insurmountable enforcement problem. Disregarding the effect of the "getting-something-for-nothing" attitude it will foster in the young people, (I am leaving adults entirely out of this argument), it so easily can become the "smart thing" to defy the law. The busy merchant will be unable to cope with youngsters determined to play the machines when he is not looking. Continually confronted by slot machines, knowing that the police cannot be constantly watching them, we are deliberately inviting our young people to break the law!

Ask our teenagers how easy it has been for them to get mixed drinks and beer in our County taverns. The law prohibiting sale to minors was strict enough. It just couldn't be enforced. Consequently, our Legislature has just passed a rigid curfew law. Ask our overworked, police forced how they are going to find time to enforce the ban on minors playing slot machines . . . and remember, they'll be EVERYWHERE!

4. The comment has been made that we cannot legislate against the so-called "gambling spirit" of individuals. As for that, Prince Georges County has plenty of well-publicized, and well-patronized public bingos run by churches, American Legion Posts, and other community organizations. There are innumerable opportunities to buy "voices" on prizes. Surely these are enough to satisfy the "normal" surge to "take a chance."

It appears, then, that we are faced with these facts: 1. A vote against the slot machines is NOT a vote for things as they are now. We CAN demand a clean-up on all paying-off devices . . . We do NOT have to legalize ANY TYPE of vice or racket. 2. Prohibiting minors from playing the slot machines will be UTTERLY UNENFORCEABLE. (Ask the police department!) If we legalize them, we will be guilty of creating a situation wherein we will be tempting our youth to break the law. 3. If the law is to be as rigidly enforced as our legislators intended it to be, most of the $200,000 anticipated fees will have to go for law enforcement . . . to keep the youngsters away from the machines. Do you think it can be done?

Thank you for publishing this letter.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Joseph S. Yuill

The Police Blotter

A complaint was received from on the end of the line." cent Road. She stated that " . . . every time she washes someone takes her clothes and piles them up on the end of the lone."

Four hub caps were reported stolen from the auto of a resident. His wife called later to explain " . . . friends of her husband had played a joke on him."

For those keeping score, there were three more complaints about stolen "unmentionables." The first resident reported six pair missing from her line, the next reported an undetermined amount (she couldn't remember), and the last said that five pair were stolen, plus two bras. It is evident that the thief is expanding his operations. All thefts occurred in the basements of apartments on Crescent Road.

There were four complaints about children playing ball, one complaint about destroying hedges, and another concerning children on the roof of a house throwing stones at passersby.

The Greenbelt Rescue Squad provided ambulance service for three residents this past week. Mrs. George Pesch, 10-Q Plateau, Mrs. Francis Hargy, 2-B Laurel Hill, and Mrs. Meriam Fordyce, 21-F Ridge, were taken on separate occasions to the hospital.

There was one call informing the police of shooting in the woods near the Domokos Tract, and another resident called to report a window in his garage had been broken by disorderly children.

Twelve-year old Robert Lewis, 18-B Ridge, was hit above his left eye and severely injured by a tennis racket swung accidentally by a Greenbelt resident. The boy was treated by a local physician, and taken home.

The Drop-Inn and the Legion Home were entered illegally. Nothing was found disturbed in both locations.

To the Editor:

Now that our rent has been increased we would like PHA to tell us how hot the weather must get before they see fit to: (a) stop sending artificial heat through the pipes and (b) return our screens so we can open our windows.

Speed Major Factor In Traffic Smashes

Almost one-third of the automobile drivers involved in fatal accidents last year were guilty of speed violations, George R. Hammond, safety and education director, D. C. division of the American Automobile Association, said today.

"Although there may have been other contributing factors," Mr. Hammond said, "it remains true that many tragedies might have been averted had those involved stayed within legal speed limits or exercised proper judgment on speed in regard to weather and road conditions."

The motor club executive pointed out that violations of the laws of common sense can be as catastrophic as negligence of a posted regulation.

"Rain or fog, for instance," he said, "may make it hazardous to travel 35 miles per hour on a road where that speed is legal. Poor judgment in this regard—known as driving too fast for road or weather conditions—is almost as bad as going 60 miles an hour in a 35-mile-per-hour zone."

Drivers will do well, he added, to be conscientious always about posted limits and not to take chances where a question of judgment is involved.

"In short," he concluded, "take it easy and live—and let live."

Old Fluorescent Tube Can Cause Trouble

Released By The Maryland State Health Department

"Cuts caused by broken fluorescent tubes are a new health hazard that has received too little attention," warns Dr. William F. Rein-dollar, Acting Chief of this Department's Division of Industrial Health. "This hazard has become increasingly prevalent with the more widespread use of fluorescent lighting in stores and factories and also in private houses.

"The tubes are coated on the inside with a powder which contains the element beryllium. If particles of this beryllium powder enter a wound caused by the sharp glass edges of broken tubes they cause a severe irritation of the skin that delays healing and may even result in ulcers. In addition, where large quantities of these burnt out tubes are broken up for disposal it is possible to breathe in enough of the harmful dust to injure the lungs.

Destroy Tubes

"To minimize possible ill effects the State Department of Health recommends the following disposal methods. With these precautions it should be possible to destroy worn out tubes without personal injury.

"Where just one or two tubes are to be disposed of, they can be placed in a burlap bag, immersed in a tank or trough of water and broken up with a hammer or length of pipe. The bag should then be buried wet without removing the contents.

Wear Heavy Gloves

"Whenever it is necessary to handle or break fluorescent tubes, heavy leather gloves and goggles should be worn. Care should also be taken to avoid breathing in dust from the beryllium coating.

LEARN TO READ THEN READ TO LEARN

A well read man is an educated man—knowledge is power. Read factual material. Get the WORLD BOOK ENCYCLOPEDIA habit—in other words, be a superior man. The superior man is one who is not sloppy minded, as so many of the crowd might be. He challenges facts and does not accept the ipse dixits of the loud and positive. He looks things up - he does not take things for granted. That does not mean he is a pedant, crammed full of ready statistics, but he knows right where to go to get what he needs. Not to know is no disgrace; not to want to know is a pity; but to want to know and not know how to find out is almost a tragedy. Buy the World Book Encyclopedia and avoid that tragedy at least.

Reserved Picnics Planned This Year

The Greenbelt town administration office is planning a new regulation to govern the use of the pavilion at the Greenbelt Lake and the Indian Springs picnic grounds, according to Town Manager Chas. T. McDonald. Under the new ruling, the pavilion may be reserved for the use of special groups through application at the town office. A similar procedure may be followed to reserve grounds at Indian Springs. The application must be made by a resident of the town, Mr. McDonald added, in order that responsibility may be definitely fixed for leaving the grounds in good condition.

Permission Not Mandatory

This does not mean that it is necessary to reserve the pavilion or Indian Springs, Mr. McDonald explained, but only that it may be done if a resident wishes to insure his use of the area for a specific occasion.

Town workmen are soon to install a new gate at the entrance to the lake grounds, Mr. McDonald stated. The gate will be locked at 11:30 each night by the town police.

POWER OF THE PRESS

When a doctor makes a mistake he buries it.

When a garage man makes a mistake he adds it on the bill.

When a carpenter makes a mistake it is just what he expected.

When a lawyer makes a mistake it was just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

When a judge makes a mistake it becomes a law of the land.

When a preacher makes a mistake nobody knows about it.

When an editor makes a mistake . . . oh, the trouble starts!

Student members of the panel were Jim Allinger, Miss Josephine Nicodemus, Mrs. Barabara Neumann, Miss Helen Neighbours and Mrs. Mary Babbitt, who related their experiences and the results of their studies in the college where all are third-year students.

CHECK ON YOURSELF

Some of the most important qualifications for success in life and in business cannot be taught even in the most elaborate educational institutions—they must be acquired.

Franklin J. Lunding, president of the Jewel Tea Company, in discussing methods of making stores more attractive, pointed out that businesses are like individuals, and people look for the same attributes in business that they look for in friends. "I think," he said, "we like in our friends, a person who is clean and well groomed, not slovenly and dirty. We like our friends and associates to be alert and up to date in appearance, not dull and out of date. We like generous people, not the stingy and grasping kind. We like courteous people, I never respond to rudeness . . . We like our friends to be honest, not clever or untrustworthy. We like them to be patient—they need to be sometimes . . . We like them sincere, not cagey. We like them good natured, not sour or irritable."

"Any group of people, or any business, with these traits is bound to be attractive . . . is bound to be successful. And a business with these traits is bound to be a better place to trade, a better place to work, a better place to call as a supplier, a better place to invest money, a tough but better competitor, and a better citizen in every community."

It would pay any person to check himself as to the qualifications Mr. Lunding considers necessary attributes in friends or in business.

Town Manager Charles T. McDonald commented upon PHA's letter to his office, remarking that the town administration had taken for granted its responsibility for the parking area, as well as courts in the town, and would gladly accept its responsibilities for the property. The specifications were agreed to by the Town office and returned to the PHA office on Wednesday. He added that he had personally investigated the carnival and had found its equipment modern, clean and the show well insured.

GHS Choral Groups To Sing Tomorrow At Music Festival

Fifteen hundred students will gather to present a county music festival, to be given tomorrow night, May 6, at 8 p.m., in Ritchie Coliseum at the University of Maryland. This is the first festival of its kind, in that all of the schools throughout the county will be represented with students participating in the junior chorus and the senior chorus.

Greenbelt High School will present seventy students singing in the junior chorus, and sixty-two students in the senior chorus.

The event is sponsored by the music teachers in the public schools and the Board of Education. Miss Ellen Beckman, teacher at Greenbelt High School, is chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Jean Moorehead is in charge of arrangements.

Parents and friends of the students are invited to attend this all-county event. Tickets may be obtained through the various schools.

County Health Board Says Community Must Provide Playgrounds

The monthly meeting of the Advisory Board of the Prince George's County Mental Health Clinic was held April 25, at the clinic on the University of Maryland Campus. The urgent need for continuing the county summer recreational program was discussed. It was the consensus that it has become the responsibility of the community through its government to see that recreational space is available for its children. The mental health needs of the community are being studied by the board, and it is recognized that freedom in play without danger or repression is essential for healthy mental and physical growth. In view of this, the following motion was made:

"The Advisory Board of Prince George's County Mental Health Clinic recognizes that recreation forms an integral part of the mental health program and is glad to cooperate with any group in promoting a recreational program for Prince George's County."

Hernick Will Attend Educational Conference

Michael E. Hernick, principal of Greenbelt High School, attended the second annual Maryland Educational Conference at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore, Maryland, April 28, 29, and 30.

The theme for the conference is "Evaluating Maryland's Public School Program." The delegates asked and answered the question: "How may we find out how well we are doing, and what we are doing in our schools?"

The planning committee hopes that critical consideration of evaluation will point the way to further, more detailed, study during the school year 1949-1950.

Watch Your Feet Before They Ache

Released By The Maryland Tuberculosis Association

Isn't it true that most of us pay very little attention to our feet—until they begin to hurt? Then suddenly we realize that our feet are very important to the enjoyment of work, play, and life generally.

As common as they are, most foot disabilities could be prevented with a little care and the observance of a few simple rules.

Start With Baby

Proper care of the feet should begin in babyhood, especially when a child starts to walk. His very first pair of shoes should fit comfortably and give him the support he needs. The practice of getting good shoes that fit right and support the feet properly should be continued throughout life. It is poor economy to buy ill-fitting shoes, because it can mean great expense, as well as pain, before "getting the feet back in shape" and often the damage can never be undone.

Feet should be bathed daily and hose changed often. Changing shoes frequently also helps relieve fatigue and excessive perspiration of the feet.

Don't Neglect Shoes

Neglecting care of shoes and hose can cause trouble. Run-over heels can throw the wearer off balance, place unnecessary strain on the feet and eventually cause faulty posture. Wrinkles in hose or shoe linings can cause friction or pressure that creates painful blisters.

Immediate attention should be given to cuts, blisters, or skin eruptions of the feet. Corns and callouses should be removed, but "home surgery" with a razor blade is dangerous. The chiropodist is better qualified to remove them safely and thoroughly.

Cut 'Em Straight

Toenails should be cut straight across, not too short. Rounding the nails invites "ingrown toenail," the growth of the nail into the flesh.

Painful feet may mean "fallen arches," the serious misplacement of bones and muscles that serve as main supports of the foot and therefore of the body. You should go to your doctor at the first sign of painful arches. He can give you sound advice on your foot trouble or will refer you to a specialist for the treatment of such conditions.

While swollen feet can come from continuous standing, or from walking in tight shoes, the condition can also be the sign of serious illness, such as heart disease or kidney trouble. When feet swell painfully for no apparent reason, it is best to see a doctor at once.

CLEAN SWEEP

A student was living in a boarding house which was anything but clean. He was surprised one day to find a card tacked on the front door.

"Clean Your Feet," it said in big letters.

The student took a pencil and on the same card, immediately underneath, he wrote, "Before Going Out."

State Health Board Has 75th Anniversary

"This week marks the seventy fifth anniversary of the Maryland State Board of Health," according to an announcement just made by Dr. R. H. Riley, director of health and ex-officio chairman of the board. "On May 6, 1874 a State Board of Health appointed by the General Assembly during the legislative session of that year held its first official meeting in the Baltimore office of Dr. Nathan R. Smith, the member who was then elected president.

"Maryland was the sixth State to organize a board of health. In 1869 Massachusetts had been the first to take such action—followed by California in 1870, Minnesota and Virginia in 1872 and Michigan in 1873.

Growth of Board

"When Maryland organized its State Board of Health the principal purposes were prevention and control of epidemics of malaria and typhoid fever, the improvement of poor sanitary conditions, and the reporting of deaths. Bacteriological discoveries, notably those of Pasteur and Koch, and chemical advances later resulted in the application of newer scientific knowledge to public health. In 1922 the State Department of Health entered the field of personal hygiene with the provision of educational and preventive services for expectant mothers. The dental program, school health work and concern for industrial health problems followed.

"Curative services were included in the public health program in 1945, when the medical care program was inaugurated, and have been expanded to include the administration of chronic disease hospitals and State tuberculosis sanatoria. This State's public health program has grown and developed in accordance with general progress in the field, and in some instances we have set the pace."

V.A. Says Hundreds Falling Behind On Life Policies

Hundreds of Washington area veterans are falling behind in their premium payments after reinstating National Service Life Insurance because they do not know the "due date" of their premium payments, S. H. Parkins, insurance officer of the Veterans Administration Washington Regional Office, said today.

He emphasized that the monthly due date for premium payments remains the same as when the policy was issued originally, regardless of how often or on what date the policy is lapsed and reinstated.

Reinstatement Terms

Two monthly premiums must be paid when a term policy is reinstated. Mr. Parkins explained. One of these is to pay for the grace period during which the veteran was protected before his policy lapsed, while the other is for the current month.

The reinstatement history of veteran "A" was cited as an example of what must be done to keep National Life Insurance in force.

"When this veteran originally purchased his policy," explained Mr. Parkins, "it bore the third day of the month as its premium due date. He allowed his policy to lapse. He applied for reinstatement on the 30th of June and submitted the amount of two monthly premiums as required. One of these premiums paid for his insurance protection during the 31-day grace period after his last regular payment. The second covered the month during which he reinstated and therefore was applied to his account as of its due date the 3rd of June. Since he reinstated on the last day of the month, he owed another premium payment three days later—July 3rd—his due date."

Refer To Notice

Veterans can determine the due date of premiums by referring to the yellow envelope premium notice regularly sent them by the Veterans Administration, as the due date is indicated over the arrow at the bottom of the premium notice.

Following the session in the Senate chamber, the group was invited to Vice-President Barkley's private office, where they met Mr. Barkley and signed his official guest register.

Another point of interest to most of the students was the visit to President Harry S. Truman's office in the Capitol building. Senator Kilgore explained in detail the various paintings on the walls and the priceless desk on which all important documents are signed. To most of the students on the trip, it was a big day in their lives, because it isn't every day that one gets to shake hands and talk with the Vice-President of the United States.

"A Letter to Three Wives" is an adult comedy about the station-wagon set in a suburban town. The movie, adapted from a story that ran in a slick-paper womans' magazine, barely avoided the stigma of its origin. The able writing and directing of Joseph Mankiewicz is responsible for lifting the caliber of the movie to fine sophisticated entertainment. (Coming to Greenbelt Sunday and Monday.)

The plot revolves around a letter sent to three wives (I guess you can tell all this by the title) by a young woman who has run off with one of their husbands. Since they receive the letter while escorting a group of youngsters to an outing, they have ample time to consider their past marital lives and determine if they can, just who was the victim of this absconding creature.

This necessitates a series of flashbacks, that are handled adroitly, and with increasing suspense. The first concerns a wealthy husband married to an ex-Wave who feels rather inferior (Jeanne Crain-Jeffrey Lynn). The next couple, a teacher and a writer of soap operas (Ann Sothern-Kirk Douglas). The third, and most delightful, relates the pre-marital adventures of a business tycoon, hard-boiled and self-willed Paul Douglas, versus the most beautiful gal in Hollywood, Linda Darnell. It turns out to be the "classic duel of man's will and woman's wont" (TIME), and is great social satire. The efforts of Mr. Douglas to contrive an alliance without benefit of matrimony are more than mildly diverting.

Just whose husband is involved with the letter writer is disclosed at the end of the picture, a finale which "sends the audience home sniveling happily."

There are some good bit parts ably portrayed by Connie Gilchrist, as Miss Darnell's horse-betting mother, and Thelma Ritter as her outspoken pal.

Paul Douglas was lured from the Broadway stage where he has shown remarkable ability in "Born Yesterday." His success in "Letter..." has enabled him to accept a seven-year contract for the movies. It will be pleasant to look forward to more of his brand of acting.

Kirk Douglas has since made an outstanding film about boxing (The Champion) that has put him in great demand by movie producers. It is a low-budget picture, but turned out to be a "sleeper" in the movie trade.

Of course any movie that includes three cinema queens like Jeanne Crain, Ann Sothern, and Linda Darnell, should never be missed; but to witness them comporting themselves in something other than contrived drivel is indeed a welcome opportunity. "A Letter to Three Wives" is that kind of opportunity.
