

Interim Agreement Reached On Greenbelt's 1950 Funds

By I. J. Parker

A near crisis involving the stoppage of important municipal services was narrowly averted last Tuesday night when the city council met in special session and authorized the mayor to sign a temporary agreement with PHA to provide funds for the operation of Greenbelt.

After a meeting between the city council and PHA officials, an agreement was reached which cut the proposed budget by $4,574, and held in abeyance a disputed sum of approximately $18,000. This latter sum is the amount PHA claims was paid illegally to the city in the last eight years and includes $4000 provided for in the current budget.

Counsel for PHA and the city will meet soon to determine whether the Bankhead-Black Act forbids payments to the city in lieu of taxes for replacement reserves. Until such a decision is made, however, the agreement will permit PHA to pay the city for two months the percentage authorized by the budget agreement, including the sum in question.

Of the $4574 cut, $3710 will deprive the city of its music program, cut the amount of money provided for the purchase of library books, and other miscellaneous items. The remaining $864 may be recovered by taxing the ten privately-owned Parkbelt homes.

Surprise Move

The special meeting ended a critical week-long period of PHA-Council negotiation over the 1950 budget. The council originally asked for $182,734 ($7000 more than last year). PHA proposed a reduction of approximately $30,000, which included the disputed $18,000. The council balked at the surprise deletion of an item which suddenly was termed illegal after being paid for eight years.

The city had already borrowed $7000 to meet expenses since the first of the year, and anticipated borrowing more.

Council reluctance to accept the budget cuts, and the long delay by PHA in its evaluations of the budget, put the city's finances in a precarious position. An announcement that all municipal services except police and fire protection would be terminated on February 15 was made by the city manager. Tuesday night's resolution averted for at least two months the necessity for such a move.

Cowden Tells Fed'n Of Petroleum Co-op

Howard Cowden, president and general manager of Consumers Cooperative Association of Kansas City, spoke in Washington on Friday, January 27, at a luncheon sponsored by the Potomac Cooperative Federation. CCA is the nation's leading cooperative wholesale dealing in petroleum.

On the subject of Cooperatives in the Petroleum Field, Mr. Cowden related how farmers in nine mid-western states "through cooperative loyalty and sound business judgment" had lowered petroleum prices and developed the largest independent enterprise in the petroleum industry. CCA started with a capital of $3000 and a building about the size of a two-car garage. Today, millions of dollars are invested in this co-op wholesale, which operates refineries, oil-wells, pipe lines, factories, a lumber mill, a paint plant, a dozen warehouses, and other facilities. Annual sales total over $50,000,000.

CCA is a member of the International Cooperative Petroleum Association, which has benefited from the groundwork laid by CCA. The international organization arranges for distribution of petroleum products on a cooperative, non-profit basis.

GCS Elects Nine At Annual Meeting

"There are two institutions left in the U. S. where we can feel the impact of democracy. They are the labor unions and the cooperatives," said Congressman Andrew Biemiller, of the 5th district of Wisconsin, at the annual membership meeting of GCS last night at the community center. Mr. Biemiller praised the work of cooperatives in this country and compared them with the New England town meetings of a century ago where each person could get up and express his opinions. Mr. Biemiller went on, "your elected representatives in Congress express their opinions for you, but there are many who do not believe in democracy."

Board Elected

The list of prospective board members numbered 12, of which the following nine were elected: Walter Bierwagen, T. George Davidsen, Paul R. Kasko, Eleanor Ritchie, Carolyn Miller, John Littleton, Ben Rosenzweig, Henry Walter, and John Mitchell. The voting was conducted by closed ballot.

City Tax Structure

A forum was held on the city tax structure with Mayor Betty Harrington giving the viewpoint of the city government. Mrs. Harrington stressed "the need for the citizens to attend council meetings on Monday night and help formulate the tax structure" which affects every citizen in Greenbelt. Michael Salzman, president of GVHC, felt that "inviting light industry into Greenbelt and expanding the undeveloped land would yield new sources for tax revenue." The point of view of business was taken by Henry Walter, treasurer of GCS, who didn't "feel that non-members of GCS who enjoy the same services and privileges in Greenbelt should be tax-exempt while members were taxed through GCS." Rev. Eric Braund added "it was the duty of each citizen to interest himself in the city's tax structure and be able to help the city council formulate the most equitable tax plan." The forum was thrown open to discussion from the floor.

Girl Scout Party Entertains Parents

Members of Girl Scout troop 129 entertained their parents Monday night, February 13, with a Valentine party at the Drop Inn. Games were played, and a play "The Kindly Heart" was presented by the Bumblebee patrol. Refreshments were served to 40 people.

Leaders of the troop, Mrs. Laura Rajala, Mrs. Allyce Moore, and Mrs. Maravene Clay, extended thanks to all those who helped make the party a success.

GVHC Plans Supper, Hires Legal Aid

The Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation will hold a supper-meeting next Tuesday night, February 21, at 6:30 p.m. in the social room of the community building, to begin the group's two-week membership drive. All workers in the drive have been invited to the combined meeting, and will be given information for dissemination to Greenbelters who are not already GVHC members.

Hire Krooth

At a regular meeting Monday, February 13, the GVHC board of directors accepted a proposal made by the Krooth and Altman law firm to act as agent for GVHC in the purchase of Greenbelt.

For a fee of $15,000 David L. Krooth, who was present at the board meeting, offered to negotiate with PHA on GVHC's behalf, to prepare all papers in connection with sale, and to take care of all legal details except litigation. For additional fees, the law firm offered to seek financial aid for the group; to get financing for the homes alone, the fee would be $2000; for the commercial property alone, $2000; and for the undeveloped land alone, $2000. For all three combined, the maximum fee for financing will be $5000. All fees are contingent upon fulfillment of a sales contract between PHA and GVHC.

GVHC Must Raise Funds

The proposal included the stipulation that GVHC members raise funds to cover the total down payment (10 percent of purchase price) and to cover closing costs. Asked to enumerate the latter, Krooth said that they weren't the same in all sales, and that it would depend in large part on what items were included in the purchase price, and what were specified as closing costs. For example, he mentioned taxes that PHA might prepay and for which the purchaser would have to reimburse PHA. If included in the purchase price, the sum would be amortized over the period of the sales contract. If a closing cost, it would be paid in cash at time of sale.

Unless prepaid taxes are included in closing costs, Krooth said, they will probably run under $10 per family. Since the fee he proposed for his services also amounts to less than $10 per family, the combined cost to each family should be within the $20 maximum sum voted by GVHC members at the January 19 membership meeting.

Benefit Basketball Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night the Greenbelt Community Church will sponsor a basketball triple-header to raise funds for its building fund. Other organizations will sponsor similar games in the future.

Lions vs. Cumberland

At 8:30 the Greenbelt Lions will clash with the unbeaten Cumberland Comets to determine the championship of the Prince George's County Y.M.C.A. League. The Comets are known for their fast-breaking game while the Lions feature a slow, deliberate offense. This feature game will undoubtedly be an eventful one.

"Old Stars" vs. A.G.O.

At 7:30, the Greenbelt basketball players of a bygone era will meet the strong A.G.O. team of Washington. The Old Stars are led by Jack Burt, Spud Clay, Steve Comings, and other former town ball-players. Coach Clay states that age has only improved his club and is confident they will win this game with ease.

Midgets to Play!

Greenbelt's outstanding Boys Club Midget basketball team will play Midget basketball team will at 6:30.

Russell And Music Program Featured In Brotherhood Week

Featured speaker at Greenbelt's Brotherhood meeting, to be held on Sunday night, February 19, at 8 p.m. in the community building auditorium, will be Harold Russell, national Amvets commander and star of "The Best Years of Our Lives."

Harold Russell

Sponsored by twenty-nine local civic, religious, and educational groups, the meeting is the "kick-off" for Brotherhood Week, being celebrated February 19 through 23. Nearby communities have been invited to attend the Greenbelt program.

Mayor To Open Meeting

Mayor Elizabeth Harrington will extend the opening greeting, which will be followed by a musical program under the direction of Paul Bush of the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church. The program includes a vocal duet, "Deep River," by Myrtles Alexander and Annie Pinkney; vocal solos, "Publican" and "Bye and Bye," by Charles Livingston; piano solos, "Falling Waters," and "Prelude in C Minor," Edward Godfrey; and a cello solo, "La Cinquantaine," by David Chase.

Mr. Russell will be introduced by the Reverend Edward H. Bonsall, Jr., minister of the Greenbelt Community Church. Subject for his talk is "The Veteran and Brotherhood."

Since his election as national commander of AMVETS last fall, Mr. Russell has been chosen by the Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the 10 outstanding young men of 1949. He has participated in national forums, drives, and rallies all over the country, made speeches, radio and television broadcasts; written a best-selling autobiography, "Victory in My Hands," and in general worked unceasingly in the cause of veterans, the disabled, and patriotic organizations.

The Greenbelt Community Chorus, directed by Dr. Harlan Randall and accompanied by Thelma Finlay, will sing "Dear Land of Home" and "One World."

Crown Jr. Hi Queen At Valentine Dance

By Joan Davenport

Saturday, February 11, was an exciting night for the teenagers of Greenbelt, for that was the night of the big Valentine dance. Colorful red and white decorations greeted nearly 150 teenagers as we walked into the Drop Inn and filled us with a gladness that lasted until the last strains of music were heard. The band that furnished the music is still without a name, but that will be taken care of this Friday night at the senior high dance.

The main event of the evening was the crowning of the junior high "Sweetheart" for 1949. To the strains of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Kenny Miller, the junior high president, announced the name of the chosen sweetheart. According to the boys' votes, the most popular girl of the Drop Inn was Margie Michaud. Margie was presented with a bouquet of American beauty roses and a tiara of white carnations. The two runners up were Blakely Littleton and Mary Michael Rupert.

A box of chocolates was given as a door prize. The winning number, of course, was fourteen, and the holder was Nancy Kurth.

As always, Ora Donoghue and Mrs. Roehling were there to supervise, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Kurth.

The dance, as most dances of the Drop Inn, was a huge success. We know they will continue to be so with the cooperation of all the members.

"Baby Cooperator" Plugs Valentine Dance

Current issue of Greenbelt's "Baby Cooperator," published under the auspices of the Drop Inn, is offering a cash prize of $5 to the "Drop Inner" who can furnish a name for the band which plays for their dances. Remarks from the "Baby Cooperator": "The members of the band are getting a little tired of hearing the names which some are calling them so they have decided to run a contest to give them an official name."

Editor Joe Brosmer plugs editorially for a successful Valentine dance on February 17. Reporter Margret Zoellner interviews members of the Drop Inn's Adult Advisory Board, to find out what they had to say about the Drop-Inn and its activities. There is also a "personality story" on Joe Brosmer, the editor, by Mike Littleton.

N. E. School Holds Brotherhood Assembly

Brotherhood Week will be observed at the North End school at an assembly to be held Monday morning, February 20, at 9:30 a.m. Reverend Edward H. Bonsall, associate minister of the Greenbelt Community Church, will speak. There will be group singing by children in Miss Parana's, Mrs. Dickey's and Mrs. Lynch's rooms, followed by a rhythm band from Mrs. Baxter's room.

Women Voters Meet Next Wednesday Night

The next unit meeting of the local League of Women Voters will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Wetter, 4-D Plateau, 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, February 22. Formerly planned for last night, the meeting was postponed so as not to conflict with the GCS meeting.

The subject for February is "County Government." Mrs. Margaret Ashelman, chairman pro-tem of the county research committee studying local government, is in charge of the Wednesday meeting. Revised "Know Your County" booklets will be used as the basis for discussion. Mrs. Georgia Benjamin, county program chairman, will be a guest. State and national program items will also be discussed.

EDITORIAL

*America! America! God shed His grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea!*
The need was never greater for brotherhood from sea to shining sea—not just in America, but everywhere. And the world never seemed further from achieving it.

It is encouraging, though, to see people trying. Perhaps if we could hold up the production of hate for a while, and give the producers of goodwill time to finish their product, there'd be a chance of preventing the final catastrophe that comes closer and closer to seeming inevitable.

Everyone in Greenbelt should go to that meeting next Sunday to celebrate brotherhood, and take back home a bit of the atmosphere.

Greendale Review - Greenbelt Preview

What can happen in Greenbelt is now taking place in our sister city of Greendale, Wisconsin. There are two groups negotiating with PHA for the purchase of Greendale: the resident group (GVCHA), and another group sponsored by the American Legion (ALCDC).

Last week, officials of PHA met with both groups, hoping to bring together their common housing ambitions so that a mutually satisfactory sale could be made.

According to the Greendale Review, the Legion group proposed a plan, and "requested that GVCHA subscribe to this plan without reservation and without change." The proposal was to form a directorship composed of five members selected by the Legion group, five by the Greendale residents, and an eleventh to be named by the State Department of the American Legion from members of its executive board.

GVCHA took issue with the plan, declaring that the proposed division would throw the balance of power to the Legion group instead of to the residents of Greendale, who were expected to foot the bill for the purchase of the village.

Roman Review states "As in the past in conference between the two rival groups, there was ever present an unfortunate element of personalities, which spells doom to all attempts at agreements and compromise."

Both groups are now on an equal footing, with neither having preferential status for purchase.

Greenbelt residents are wise enough to know that a solid, strong, united housing group representing the wholehearted interests of the residents is the most practicable means of acquiring our own homes. Residents who have not joined the Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation are urged to do so now, and help strengthen its forces for D-(Disposal) Day.

Our Own Stromboli

No release has come to The Cooperator on the subject, but we read in the Washington press that the Greenbelt theater will not show "Stromboli." Basing his decision on the slow box-office business that Ingrid Bergman's latest picture did in Greenbelt, the manager was among others in the area who were interviewed on their plans with respect to the "inspired" picture. Whether the decision was also motivated by a censorious attitude toward Miss Bergman's private life, was not made clear; but the fact that he prefaced his reply with "also because" indicated another reason.

If the theater manager were only attempting to keep his business from suffering a financial loss, his announcement might be justified, although many will differ with his opinion as to the possible income to be derived from a picture that has received more lines of copy in more newspapers than any we can remember in Hollywood's career.

Disapproval of the nature of the lines of copy, however, has no rightful part in such a decision. There are enough censors to clip and burn "harmful" scenes before a picture ever reaches a theater to satisfy the most cautious.

In fact, by the time "Stromboli" passed through the hands of the Maryland censors there would be nothing left, anyway. Is it possible that the manager had that in mind, and decided that Greenbelters wouldn't go to see a watered "Stromboli"?

Personal Touch

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Judge, 35-A Ridge, are the proud parents of a baby girl. This makes their third daughter. See, Isadore Parker, you're not the only one who can get three-of-a-kind—so there . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harold Newman, 4-B Laurel Hill, announce the birth of their second boy . . . come on, folks, please let's have a little variety here . . . what's this—Mr. and Mrs. Hogan, 15-A Laurel Hill, announce the birth of a baby—well, at least that's different!

Walter Lingeback, 6-Z-4 Plateau Pl., celebrated his ninth birthday last Saturday. To top it off, his Boy Scout Pack No. 2 gave a party for Walter and Francis Green, 8-J Plateau Pl., who was 11 years old and a member of the same Pack, on Wednesday afternoon . . . Anita Flynn, 13-J Ridge, gave a party for her fifth birthday. Entertainment was provided by her brother, John, who distributed drawing materials to the folks and they had a wonderful time coloring pictures.

This could very easily be called "Mague Week" according to all the celebrating going on around the 2 court Laurel Hill. Mrs. Marcella Mague of Framington, Mass., is visiting her daughter Mrs. James Mague, 22-J Laurel Hill, and everyone's taking a turn entertaining her. Mrs. Thomas Callanan, 2-C Laurel Hill, gave a luncheon in her honor last Thursday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kosisky, 2-E Laurel Hill, entertained Sunday night for her . . . James Mague, chief yeoman stationed at Hampton Roads, Norfolk, came home to see his mother-in-law and this occasioned another celebration—we have it on good authority that Mr. Mague was one of the men who did not help "Mighty Mo" out of the water . . . that ain't all—Bobby Mague was 2 years old Valentine's day and that event was celebrated too. Enough! Last Saturday, Charles Fitch of Silver Spring and Mrs. Leo Benefiel, 6-B Crescent Road, entertained at a birthday party for Mrs. Katherine Reed who is elementary supervisor for Prince Georges County schools and past principal of our elementary school. This was also a homecoming celebration for Mrs. Annie Wilson Donn, who organized the P.T.A.

The Sam Ringels and children, 2-G Westway, are away on a ten-day visit to Chicago . . . the Leon Mitteldorfs, 14-X Ridge Road, are away on their annual hegira to the sunny sands of Miami Beach, Florida . . . Mrs. Martha Treiman, 8 Parkway, plans to leave Saturday for a three-week trip through Florida. Oh, these lucky people! Looks like they picked the right weather, too.

This story comes our way about the young priest who was new to Washington and was in the same group of chaplains at the Veterans Administration as Rabbi Morris Sandhaus. He wanted to do some shopping and Rabbi Sandhaus kindly lent him his department store charge-plate. After the priest had selected a raincoat and given the charge-plate to the salesgirl, he noticed her confusion as she wrote out the salescheck. Glancing at the clerical garb, then back to her salescheck, she handed the charge-plate back to him and she stammered, "Well Rabbi . . . er, I mean, Father . . . if you say so—"

Mrs. Samuel Houlton, 19-G Ridge Road, had the pleasure recently of helping her parents celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Graham, Sr., of Quantico, Md., near Salisbury, which was settled 300 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Graham are 92 and 90 years old respectively, and are life-long residents of the area and descendants of original settlers of the town. They were married January 29, 1880 and have seven children . . . Miss Emma Jo Pack who is studying nursing at the Maryland University School of Nursing received her cap last week. The graduating class numbers 65. N 2ouer

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jensen of 56-F Ridge Road have as their house guests Mrs. Jensen's sister, Mrs. Jerry Valente with daughter, Susan and also her sister-in-law, Mrs. Crisantiello, all of Rochester, New York.

Church Women Observe World Day of Prayer

Women of the Methodist and Community Churches are jointly sponsoring the World Day of Prayer Service to be held on Friday, February 24 at 2 p.m. in the Methodist church in Greenbelt.

The World Day of Prayer is interdenominational, international and interracial in scope. This year it will be observed in 90 countries, starting at dawn in the Fiji Islands and following the sun westward through Europe, Africa, the Americas and the Arctic.

Offerings received are divided between missionary work in America, particularly with migrants, sharecroppers and Indians, and missionary work abroad, contributing to interdenominational colleges in Japan, China and India.

This annual event is sponsored throughout the world by women's devotional groups and in this country by the United Council of Church Women, an organization representing ten million women. Local chairmen are Mrs. Richard Corbin, Mrs. Edward Bonsall, and Mrs. Eric Braund.

GCS Considers Profits, Movies, Lodge, Pantry

"On the whole, profits are greater than ever before," said Bassett Ferguson, assistant general manager, at the regular meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services last Friday evening. Total assets to date are $229,669.43 as compared to $202,811.28 for last year. Sales for the five-week period of January, 1950 were $215,504.63 as compared to $204,129.96 for the corresponding period of last year. Increase in sales is 5.6%. Mr. Ferguson continued, "We have several problem children, namely the North End store and the bus. It might be necessary to discontinue the bus if we cannot cut down $4000 loss in terms of the city tax facing us for 1950. However, the North End store is still the weakest link in the chain."

New Movie Policy

Business in the movie is way off and expenses are being cut wherever possible. Motion picture advertising will be discontinued in the Prince George Post and Cooperator, but the program will be printed on the Co-op food store flyer. With the new policy of showing "art" films, it is hoped that attendance will be greatly increased. Patronage for new business is being solicited from various outlets in the county, announcing this new policy. The admission price will be higher, as required by producers of these films.

Summer Lodge

Mrs. Carnie Harper, in her executive committee report, expressed the need for "building a lodge where employees or the membership may gather on weekends." The investigation of a possible camp site or equivalent was put into the form of a motion by Ben Rosenzweig. The general manager's recommendation to underwrite the Eastern Cooperatives, Inc. summer institute, which is held at Amherst or Wellesley, for $100 was approved by the board. This is in addition to any tuition costs for employees to any tuition costs for employees who may take courses.

Pantry Operation

The operation of the pantry was discussed with Bruce Bowman, former manager, and Attilio "Deac" Bonfanti, present manager, ready to answer questions. Profits of the pantry have increased, it was repeated, although its operation is a difficult one as there is no "carry-over" of experience from one manager to another, as was pointed out by Bowman. Bonfanti suggested "since Friday and Saturday are off days for the pantry in Greenbelt, this might be a good time to go into the outlying districts." This

Boys Club Quints Win 6 Out of 8

The four Greenbelt Boys' Club basketball fives continued their fine play during the past week with each team meeting two opponents and gaining six out of eight victories.

The league-leading Juniors continued their undefeated pace by annexing the scalps of Laurel and College Park by scores of 25-15 and 26-22. Roger Frady led the scoring in both contests with 9 and 15 points respectively. Mike Redd played excellent ball in both games.

Greenbelt's Senior split even for the week by downing Laurel by a 38-19 count and dropping a 29-27 decision to College Park. In the Laurel fray Horan led for Greenbelt with 8 tallies while Carruth was high man in the College Park tilt with 8 markers. All four Junior games were played on their opponents' courts.

The 90-pound club traveled to Washington where they met defeat at the hands of the strong Merrick Boys' Club by a score of 52-46. The local boys played their best game of the season and although defeated were consoled with the fact that the same Merrick Club walloped them in their first game last season by a 48-10 score. Jim Stripling and Mike Cockill scored 15 and 14 points each. These two teams will meet at Greenbelt on March 4, in a preliminary to the Redskin-Lion game.

The 90-pounders experienced little difficulty with Arlington Forest as they won handily 24-10. Dave Schurr's 6 points was high for Greenbelt. The 80-pound club also proved too much for their Virginia opponents by racking up a 20-13 victory. Kenny Clay and Fred Comings each netted 6 points for Greenbelt. 65-pound, 8-year-old Jimmy Attick thrilled the spectators when he scored his first basket of the season. A combination 90-80-pound club traveled to Bladensburg to complete the week with a win over the Bladensburg Boys' Club Midgets, 27-11.

Izaak Walton League Plans Trapping Talks

By E. Don Bullion

Greenbelt interest in trapping has prompted the local Izaak Walton League to promote this popular outdoor sport for its members and the city's younger element. It is one of the few outdoor sports that does not call for specific physical requirements.

John "Jake" Hoffman, well-known local sportsman, will conduct a series of four trapping lectures and several trips to nearby woods and streams. The lectures will cover state laws and the theoretical aspects of trapping, while the field trips will take care of the practical side.

The first lecture is scheduled for Monday, February 20, at 6:30 p.m., at the Drop Inn. A special invitation is extended to the Boy Scouts and the teen-agers.

A complete schedule of the remaining lectures and field trips will be published later. Additional information can be obtained by calling Mr. Hoffman at Greenbelt 7881.
