

General Alarm Forest Blaze Quenched

Local Department Assisted By Berwyn Ht's Volunteers

11:45 A.M. on Monday, November 14, a general alarm was sounded, calling all maintenance men to the fire house. A dangerous fire had been reported on the Washburn place, about one mile west of Greenbelt.

Within five minutes, some 30 men had answered this call, and all proceeded to the scene of the fire with the fire truck and other equipment. One truck of the Berwyn Heights Volunteer Fire Department also answered the call, they having been notified by A. H. Smith, owner and operator of the Smith and Gravel Company at Branchville.

It was found that a brush fire had spread over several acres of low land on the edge of a wooded area of the Washburn place. A dozen or more piles of old and dry cord wood stacked on this land had caught fire from the spreading flames. Because of the dry weather and high wind, the entire wooded area of this section was threatened.

The Greenbelt fire truck was driven through the woods over an old and rutted road within a hundred feet of the fire, where there was also a supply of water from the swamp that surrounds the property owned by the Smith Sand and Gravel Company. The pump was put in operation, supplying a pump pressure of 120 pounds to 750 feet of hose. After a battle of two hours, the fire was extinguished.

This was probably the most difficult fire that the Greenbelt Department has been called upon to handle since the establishment of the Town Department of Public Safety.

Chief W. F. Mabee complimented the entire force for their splendid services on this occasion. He also tendered thanks for the efforts made by the Volunteer Department of Berwyn Heights.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT AND DR. WARBASSE CONGRATULATE COOPERATOR ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Upton Sinclair Permits Use Of Novel

(Below is greeting received from Dr. Warbasse, outstanding cooperator in the United States)

Upon the completion of its first year of existence, "The Greenbelt Cooperator" deserves congratulations. The requisite for long life, success and prosperity is to have survived the first year. This is the first big task that confronts every candidate for hale and hearty longevity. The first year is the foremost; that means the most important. It is also the hardest, because most living things in both the vegetable and animal world, to say nothing of institutions in the economic and social world, never survive it. The first year knocks them out. The first year has a higher mortality rate than the first decade, century, and millenium all put together. War kills its thousands, but the first year slays its billions. The wonder is that so many get through it at all.

Having passed through the hazards of the valley and shadow of the first year, the rest should be easy. All that is needed is to keep on doing the things that made survival possible, and there you are - year after year. I once knew a great man who unfortunately died during his first year. He had the heredity, the station in life, and the opportunities out of which greatness is made - and his parents knew he was going to be great. He even looked the part. And he never had to deliver the goods. It is true: some are born great, and

My dear Mr. Chinitz:

I was very much interested to learn of the first anniversary of the "Greenbelt Cooperator". My congratulations go to you and my good wishes for the continued success of this publication.

Very sincerely yours,
Eleanor Roosevelt

Dear Mr. Chinitz:

I have your very friendly letter and will be perfectly willing for you to publish the "Flivver King" as a serial.

Perhaps you might be more interested in the enclosed series. You may have this free if you cannot afford the very low price.

Sincerely,

then have greatness thrust upon them. And they may never know of either event.

"The Greenbelt Cooperator" has attained success by virtue of its merit. It is newsy. It presents cooperative philosophy. It is democratic in giving voice to old and young, men and women, hope and despair, wisdom and waggery. And it is spicy. It reflects the cooperative spirit of a community of people growing increasingly conscious of the

COUNCIL NOTES

At a special meeting of the Town Council called Monday night to consider specifically proposals of the Town Manager for town improvement, the Council authorized the expenditure of a maximum of about $9,000. Items approved are as follows:

1. An additional clerk for office at salary of $1440 per year, salary for one month to be provided pending next year's budget.
2. Replacement of faulty pole on Athletic Field, need for which was pointed out by President Bauer of the Athletic Club.
3. Permanent Christmas Tree decorations, price not to exceed $300.
4. Preliminary sketches and plans for proposed Community Building, for which not more than $500 was authorized.
5. $150 was allotted to meet the Town's share in taking Greenbelt's census.
6. $570 for a pickup truck for general duty.
7. $800 for fences around small playgrounds.
8. $127 for time clock in fire house.
9. $125 for map cabinets for wall maps.
10. $50 for painting laboratory for sewage disposal plant.
11. $450 for road patching equipment.
12. $115 for check protectograph.
13. $700 for town accounting equipment.
14. $400 for furnishing display house.
15. $500 for transferring equipment to shops in new warehouses.
16. $150 for painting picnic house and moving log cabin to shooting range by disposal plant.
17. $800 for improvement of cemetery.
18. $200 for recreational equipment.
19. $3000 for library books.
20. $300 for shooting range.

The following items were laid on the table for further consideration:

1. $1,000 for trails, fire stops, parks, etc.
2. $2,000 for jail cells and supply rooms.
3. $1,000 for repairing storm sewer inlets.
4. $1,500 for piping water to picnic area at lake.
5. $1,000 for building boat landing.

Before the business of the evening, Mr. DeJager petitioned Council to authorize appropriation of funds for installation of electric organ in auditorium. He pointed out that, although it would cost around $2,500, it would be of great cultural value to the community. Mr. East moved, Mr. Bessemer seconded, that consideration of the matter be tabled. This was done.

The Town Manager reported that the Town Government had reached an agreement with the American Legion concerning the boys' baseball uniforms. These are to be under the supervision of the Town Recreational Director for general community use.

President Lastner of the Citizens' Association called to the Council's attention the need for a drinking fountain for the Athletic Field.

$12.50 was appropriated from the Advertising Fund to place community pictures in the Anniversary Edition of the Cooperator.

Present were Councilmen Maurer, East, Bessemer, Morrison, Taylor, Manager Braden, Clerk McCamie, Engineer Vincent, Assistant Community Manager Fulmer, and Director of Public Safety Mabee.

value of practicing the cooperative method among themselves. It is the voice of a great movement surging through the hearts of a people and quickening the zest in their lives.

More success and continuous prosperity to "The Greenbelt Cooperator!"

N. Y. A. Plans Big Youth Project Near Greenbelt

The National Youth Administration is planning a Residential Project adjacent to Greenbelt. A large house is to be remodelled, and other buildings erected, to house about forty boys and girls, ages from 18 to 24 years.

Special emphasis will be placed on Arts and Crafts, and Youths will be chosen who show ability and promise along these lines.

The National Youth Administration hopes to develop a program which will be of interest to Greenbelt residents, whose participation and assistance will be welcome to the Administration.

At present it is not possible to forecast at what time the buildings will be completed. Engineers and Architects are busy on plans, and material is being hauled to the site.

TRAFFIC COURT HELD AT GREENBELT

On Tuesday night, November 15, five traffic cases were presented before Judge Phillips. For the convenience of the defendants, Judge Phillips had arranged to hold the hearings in the Council Room of the Management Building in Greenbelt.

Three persons were charged with violation of Town Ordinance No. 5, which forbids exceeding a speed limit of 25 miles an hour. In the first two cases, the defendants were found guilty and fined $2.00 and costs. In the third case, the defendant did not appear for trial and therefore forfeited $26.45 cash collateral that was issued for the defendant's release at the time of arrest on Sunday, November 13.

The last two cases were postponed hearings on the traffic accident of two weeks ago. In both cases a charge of reckless driving was presented, the Judge rendered a decision of guilty, with fines of $5.00 and costs imposed.

DIPHTHERIA AND SMALL POX

During the life time of most of us living in Greenbelt, we have seen children inoculated against diphtheria and small pox. To most it is a necessary procedure but seldom does the average person think of the change that has taken place since the time of our grandparents.

Diphtheria was first described completely in 1570 in Central Europe and since then has appeared in practically every corner of the world. Only 15 years ago, doctors carried tubes in their bags to insert into the air passages of victims. Today an intubation set is a rarity outside of hospital practice. The disease takes its name from the dirty gray membrane that forms in the throat of patients afflicted. In small children this membrane if treatment is not early frequently kills by strangling the patient. The disease is caused by a bacteria called the Klebs-Loeffler bacillus, a small, comma shaped organism which among other things produces a powerful toxin.

Starting with this toxin, a harmless toxoid is produced which may be injected into susceptible children and while in all but a few will protect the child from diphtheria. In every community where the children have been given the diphtheria toxoid at 6 months of age and where the Schick test has been given at regular intervals, diphtheria has practically vanished. In communities where public health measures are lax, each year finds numerous cases for which there is no excuse; either the toxoid is not available for the children or else the parents have been neglectful.

The history of smallpox has been a fearful one and it is impossible to estimate the loss in life and property which man has paid in tribute to this disease. Again when vaccination came into use on a wholesale scale, the disease became a rarity and few of us have seen cases. However, there are cases in the United States even today -- a very powerful argument against any laxity in vaccinating children and all who are in doubt about this disease.

To us in Greenbelt, these diseases are of importance only because they should not exist. They are of interest only because we can prevent them by inoculations. Every Greenbelt parent owes every baby diphtheria toxoid at 6 months of age and vaccination at least by school age. These two presents are worth more than many others which are perhaps more enjoyable but quite worthless to stave off disease. If your child has not had these immunizations, by all means have them done now and recorded.

SCHOOL QUESTION BOX

How We Select Spelling Lists

Why do we learn to spell?

To enable us to express our ideas accurately and adequately in written form.

What words should we learn?

Only those we need to use in written records.

Do vocabularies vary? Yes! One needs a vocabulary for reading totally different from that needed for spelling.

On what basis would you select a spelling list?

- 1-On the basis of childhood usage.
- 2-On the basis of frequency of use.
- 3-On the basis of the grade or group in which the words are most commonly used.
- 4-About 500 additional everyday words.

Investigation has disclosed that for everyday use it is not necessary to aim at greater efficiency than this in direct instruction.

Rambling

Something should be done for the sightseers who come out Greenbelt way over the weekends. It makes me feel bad to see the hurt look on their faces after they have spent the whole afternoon vainly searching for signs of regimentation, liberty-throttling rules and restrictions and barefoot women who use their frigidaires for china closets.

Now Paris, France has its underworld to entertain visitors and the same can be said for San Francisco with its "Tourists' Chinatown", so why can't we rig up something to satisfy the naive curiosity of our sightseers? Why not a little entertainment for them? Say for instance--some of us could put on the oldest, ragged clothes we have, pull a rickety chair out on the lawn facing the street and prop our bare feet up in the sunshine. That would give the visitors a chance to see how the underprivileged spends his Sundays, and then too, maybe some newspaper man would happen along and we would get our picture in the paper under a caption something like this: BAREFOOT GREENBELTER CAN'T TELL FRONT FROM BACK YARD.

Then some of the others might rig up some sort of uniform and go goose-stepping down the main drag so that the folks who "come to see", could see how we are getting regimented. The newspaper man surely couldn't miss this one, and we would probably see ourselves in the Sunday paper under: DICTATOR BRADEN PARADES HIS MIGHT BEFORE CONSERVATIVES.

Portable signs, something light which we could remove after the rubbernecks had gone back home, with large illustrations indicating the dire punishment which would befall anyone who was caught stepping on the grass, hanging out wash after four o'clock, or buying groceries outside of Greenbelt, would serve the purpose of convincing the trekkers that the trip wasn't in vain; that they had so much to be thankful for in the personal liberty and exercise of free will granted them by their own city governments.

Then last, but not least, we could erect a small booth in which we could place a uniformed guard with instructions to salute any and everyone as they left our city limits. I might suggest, as an appropriate salute, something different from the usual run of salutes----right hand raised, thumb touching nose with fingers waved vigorously back and forth----but I won't!

Question: There seem to be different types of co-operatives: marketing cooperatives, producers' cooperative, and consumers' co-operatives. What are the differences between them?

Answer: Marketing cooperatives are formed by individuals who produce separately but pool their produce when they wish to send it to market. In this way they can be their own middlemen and save themselves the commissions they would pay to private commission merchants. By pooling their produce they can regulate the flow of products to the market thus preventing market glutting which brings down prices. They get better prices and save themselves the commission. The fruit growers, dairy and wheat farmers, cotton and tobacco growers form most of these marketing co-operatives.

Producers' cooperatives are formed by individuals who pool their labor, and then share the income from their labor. The factories or farms are not privately owned but may be owned or leased by the entire group who work in the industry. An example of this type is the Workers' Aim factory at Hightstown, New Jersey where garment workers make women's coats and dresses in a factory leased from the government. They pool their labor, make the garments and sell them, and divide their net profits among the workers.

Consumers' cooperatives, purchasing co-operatives, are made up of individuals who pool their purchasing power to buy all kinds of supplies or services which they need. They can buy in larger quantities than they could as individuals, and by pooling capital they can go into their own warehousing and wholesaling. In some instances they have gone into the processing of commodities. The Consumers' Co-operative at Kansas City, besides doing wholesaling, has been making its own paint, blending its own oil, and is now building its own oil refinery.

More than once I have felt the urge to refer to Greenbelt as "The Campus". More and more this community is taking on the aspects of a university.

Of course it does lack the huge administration and laboratory buildings, and it does abound in small children.

But, then universities sometimes lack huge buildings; and there is no reason why faculty members or students should not have children.

We do have the rolling lawns, the shaded nooks, the "sweet young things", the husky athletes, the soda fountain loungers, the absent minded students, the club joiners, the "get-by-ers", the amateur actors, the plodding workers, the flashy shirkers, the friendly back-slappers, and the unknowable recluses.

And we have the clubs, and the teams, and the classes, and the dances, and the teas, and the midnight snacks.

But most important of all, we also have the opportunity to learn by doing.

In school we could spend four years "getting by" without "getting on" one little bit. We got our diploma but not much else. Or we could obtain a wealth of experience out of it all. What we got depended upon what we gave.

Here the same thing is true. If we merely master the minimum requirements of our jobs so that we can keep those jobs, and if we meet the requirements of our leases, we will get by.

But Greenbelt offers much more than that. It offers us an unprecedented chance to learn the arts of living with our families, our neighbors, and our communities. and we can learn the best way--by doing. We can run our own organizations, our own stores, our own health association, our own amusements, our own paper, our own government, our own bank.

Personally, I'd say a year in Greenbelt could easily equal two years in college.

But that depends -- upon us.

"But - Greenbelt has a staff of 60. And Greenbelt, and a number of other projects, SELL their paper to the tenants of their communities at 5¢ or 10¢ per copy. Multiply this by 1000 to 3000 families and you have a nice working capital with which to hire a staff - a large one."

VOLUME 3, NO. 11

NOVEMBER 23, 1938

Our First Birthday

On November 24, 1937 the first issue of the COOPERATOR appeared. This, then, is our birthday edition.

The year that has elapsed since that Volume 1, Number 1 first found its way into Greenbelt homes has not been particularly momentous in our little town. The events that have shaken this globe, the ebb and flow of forces at work in our own nation, these have left very small ripples here indeed.

Our progress has been largely along lines preconceived, our course at all times orderly and predictable. The community has grown to planned size and our civic institutions have solid roots. So much the better. As much as it hurts us to disappoint the Washington newspapers, as deeply as we feel for those Salomes in high circles who wanted Greenbelt's head on a silver platter, we must utter this brash truth. No, dear friends, everything has been pretty quiet in our sector this year. Maybe we can start that revolt for you next fiscal ditto.

The COOPERATOR has grown with the town. How much we think we have improved--that might be immodest for us to say. Newspapers, as well as human beings, not infrequently think better of themselves than others think of them.

Our weaknesses have been largely the result of inexperience. How to do the job in our case was generally learned while doing it. And there is this to remember--that the staff of our paper, all earn their living elsewhere; midnight oil burned in the Cooperator Office has meant no salary for anyone concerned, other than 4 or 5 cents an hour on a few occasions.

Summing up for the past year we can say:

That we never missed an issue.

That we tried to be truthful.

That we generally put out the best paper we could.

And that we wrote as we thought fit.

To past staffs, to those many citizens who worked hard and without fanfare for the existence of a COOPERATOR, our thanks.

To Greenbelt our pledge that we will try to merit its continuing loyalty and confidence.

A.C.

Mutual Interest Versus Enlightened Self-Interest

How very often, in the not too distant past, our ears fairly rang from the oft' repeated phrase "enlightened self interest".

Oh! happily conceived phrase, what genius brought you into being? To the mind of a "soul insulated" world of nationalism, begotten by the "go-getter" or "big shot" type of philosophy, with its train of selfishness, intolerance and disregard for social well-being, here was a phrase compatible with the current trend of thought. Here was a serviceable instrument that could properly be invoked to pry a few grudging dollars from the coffers of the fortunate to be placed into the stream of commerce to fatten and multiply and steer their charted course back to their owners again. Here was a new approach to the problems of industrial stagnation and widespread unemployment - a practical thought compatible with the then current national diet and, as such, possible of easy digestion. The by-products of "enlightened self interest" are found to bear little family resemblance to the "wished for" benefits. Its theory has been proven false and its advocates ill advised.

Compare, for a moment, the results obtained by this method of economics with the results to be expected from the pursuit of a policy of "mutual interest" as contemplated by our cooperative.

The future effect of a temporary sacrifice on the part of the present subscribers, some 200 families, and of those who will follow them, will not be an enrichment of their lives alone. Its benefits will be diffused, democratically, over the entire neighborhood. In this manner, "community interest" will supplant "enlightened self interest" in Greenbelt, and mutual sacrifice beget mutual benefit.

Dr. Bone Is Guest Of Journalist Club

Dr. Hugh A. Bone, Professor of Political Science, popular instructor at the local night school, will be guest of the Journalistic Club this evening at its regular monthly meeting devoted to journalistic technique and public policy.

Dr. Bone will lead the consideration of public policy with particular reference to journalism. Also on the program is a consideration of the more specific problems of technique and style that must be solved in writing for, editing, and producing a paper (the Cooperator in particular). This part of the meeting will be led by Editor Chinitz.

The meeting is to be in the Cooperator office, tonight, at 8:15.

All interested are invited to attend.

Letters to Editor

ANNIVERSARY GREETING

As a former editor of the COOPERATOR, it is a great pleasure to me to see that before its first birthday the COOPERATOR has already discarded its baby clothes, and donned the garb of an adult of the news world.

May the COOPERATOR, with Greenbelt's support, continue its growth as our local news organ and as advocate of the best interests of Greenbelt.

Walter R. Volkhausen

THE COOPERATOR MOVES FORWARD

(The following greeting was received for our Anniversary Issue from former Mayor Louis Bessemer, the COOPERATOR'S first editor.)

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Cooperator made its first public appearance Wednesday, November 24, 1937.

Born into an atmosphere vibrant with exciting events on a new frontier of cooperative living, the "lusty youngster" was snatched up by the heels and generously spanked until its first feeble screams grew into firm stentorian calls.

The Greenbelt Journalistic Club held its first meeting Thursday evening, November 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes, 35-G Ridge Road. The town was then beginning its second month and already it appeared eager for self-expression.

There were so many things to be done for the "first" time; so many news items to make their first appearance. Reports on the town's first gasoline station, grocery store, first dance, first families, first Legion Post, citizens association, student council, post office, first Girl Scouts, bridge club, choir, and church--everything seemed to be bursting, blooming, booming! What an October! What a November! It was in this atmosphere that the Cooperator was born.

Now about to enter the second year of its existence, the Cooperator moves forward, occupying an enviable place in the esteem of the people of Greenbelt; in its new dress, smart style, modern fashion, it answers a community need. The Cooperator has consistently recorded the town's progress, digested difficult problems, analyzed statements pro and con, quelled ugly rumors and whole-heartedly served all civic groups.

Our community is a repository of our aspirations and ideals; our community newspaper reflects for the present, and distills for the future, our special interests and experiences. One dare ask nothing less, nor demand anything more of a faithful journal.

We believe that the Cooperator is dedicated to an American Way of Life--a life of truth and an appreciation of beauty. In no small measure are we thankful for the courage and devotion of such leaders as Dr. Rexford Guy Tugwell, Administrator of the FSA, and John S. Lansill, director of the Greenbelt Town Program, and a large number of town planners, engineers, architects, and toilers--all who shared in the conception and development of this community.

Therefore, in giving recognition to a significant milestone in the life of the Greenbelt Cooperator, we may well ponder the words of three teachers of Columbia University (we refer to Rexford Guy Tugwell, Thomas Munro, and Roy E. Stryker) for in the third edition of their book, "American Economic Life and the Means of Its Improvement" they had this to say in 1930:

"It was our conclusion that a sort of symphonic masterpiece of the life of use might be worked out by each individual for himself which might become whatever kind of masterpiece his own capabilities would permit. We found ourselves rather against compulsions, and rather for social persuasion as against the indiscriminate persuasions now being widely used. But we hoped, here again, for a new vision, in the youth of coming years, of the significance of genuinely creative living that should contribute to a better future."

May the Cooperator live long to share in the reality of that vision!

Louis Bessemer

COOPERATOR, YOU HAVE KEPT FAITH

(The contributor of this article, Mary E. Van Cleave, will be remembered as the author of "We Pioneers", an article written for the first issue of the COOPERATOR and reprinted in the Baltimore Sun.)

To the Editor:

One year has passed since Volume 1, Number 1, of the Greenbelt COOPERATOR was released. The first edition was issued and was mimeographed on paper of a bright green color. It contained sixteen pages of news, announcements, editorials, and letters, all painstakingly prepared by a few willing workers obsessed with the challenge of an untried project. There was need of a medium by which the news of our citizens could be given to our citizens; for this newspaper belongs to us all and it is you, and you, and you who make the news.

For me, personally, the past year has been one of sunshine and fresh air; of trees and hills; of health and happiness; of life fulfilled. The Government gods have been kind.

For the Community itself, the year has been one of remarkable growth, activity, and development, from the opening of the grocery store and gas station to the recent selling of shares.

For the COOPERATOR, it has been a year to look back upon with pride. There have been mistakes, yet there has been progress. It has been a year full of the sort of experience it takes to build a real newspaper. Fundamentally, the COOPERATOR has measured up to the original policy formulated for it. The most successfully achieved point in this policy was the most important one; "to create a Good Neighbor spirit, promote friendship, advance the common good, and develop a Greenbelt philosophy of life." The COOPERATOR has accomplished just that. It has kept our civic duty before us, it has helped build up a great pride in our community, and it has placed Greenbelt, and all things concerning Greenbelt, next to our heart.

Cooperator, - you have kept faith.

With much excitement the 9th birthday of Amelia Mona, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Benjamin, 21-A Ridge Road was celebrated. Mr. Benjamin's father, and Miss Anna Selig were out of town guests, who stayed for the week-end. Other guests from Washington and Baltimore were also there to enjoy the happy occasion. A huge birthday cake was cut and served and lots of fun was had in watching Amelia Mona open her lovely gifts.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASSES STILL OPEN FOR REGISTRATION

Women's classes in dressmaking, children's clothing, and home decoration, are still open for registration, it was announced by the adult education committee of the Citizens Association. Classes have been organized in Greenbelt with the aid of state vocational education funds and all classes are open to women of the community.

Those participating may take advantage of a ten-lesson course. Classes are being held evenings from 8 to 10 o'clock in the home economics room of the Community Building. The first classes were held last week. Due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the Wednesday and Thursday class will not meet this week.

Anyone wishing further details should telephone Mrs. Mabel Bessemer (Greenbelt 3211). The schedule of classes follows:

Monday--Advanced Dressmaking	8-10 P.M.
Tuesday--Children's Clothing	8-10 P.M.
Wednesday--Dressmaking I	8-10 P.M.
Thursday--Home Decoration	8-10 P.M.

MOTHERS' CLUB

Last Thursday evening, Nov. 17, the Mothers' Club held their regular monthly meeting, featured by a Thanksgiving Candlelight Service.

Mrs. Lillian Mitchell gave a very constructive talk on "Family Fireworks".

Vocal trios by Mrs. Max Hayes, Mrs. Irvin Quigg and Mrs. James L. Pinckney were enjoyed. They were assisted at the piano by Mrs. George Barr.

The next meeting will be held December 15, in the Social Room.

HOMEMAKING

by Mrs. Mabel Bessemer

In roasting turkey, the appearance and flavor are much improved by rubbing the entire surface with one-third cup butter, creamed and mixed with one-fourth cup flour. When the flour on the turkey begins to brown, reduce heat and baste every 15 minutes until the bird is done. The flour-butter mixture gives a beautiful golden brown appearance.

Cranberries are at their best during this season. Since they are an excellent source of vitamin A and a good source of vitamin B, they should be included frequently in the diet.

CRANBERRY SALAD

1 lemon jello	1 lb. cranberries
1 c. sugar	1 c. celery
2 c. hot water	$\frac{1}{2}$ c. nuts

Dissolve jello and sugar in water. Put cranberries through a coarse grinder. Drain thoroughly. When the jello mixture begins to thicken, add berries, celery, nuts. Place in individual molds. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Winter Red Sherbet

1 lb. cranberries	$\frac{1}{2}$ c. Pineapple juice
2 c. water	juice 1 lemon
$1\frac{1}{2}$ c. sugar	grated rind $\frac{1}{2}$ orange
$\frac{3}{4}$ c. orange juice	2 egg whites

Cook cranberries 10 minutes, rub through coarse sieve. Measure pulp. Use 2 cups. Add sugar, juices, salt and rind. Cool. Beat eggs until stiff and dry. Fold into cranberry mixture. Freeze.

Letters to Editor

IN ANSWER

(This is in answer to two letters to the editor, appearing in last weeks issue, relating to our stores.)

To the Editor:

In the last issue of the Cooperator appeared two letters presenting similar problems, essentially objecting to the fact that our stores by not offering certain commodities were losing business that could be theirs.

In considering this problem we should first realize that Greenbelt's stores never will try and never should try to get all Greenbelt's business. We shall probably never deal in pianos, to take an extreme example, though it is very possible that one or two of our residents may soon buy pianos. The problem our stores must decide is what goods and services they should supply, and what goods and services they could not supply.

The problem is complicated by the fact that the capital available is limited. I think we will all agree that this capital should be invested where it will bring the greatest return. Thus the question arises as to whether it should be devoted to increased stock in the Variety Store, as Mr. Sherby suggests; or to a Bakery, as Mr. Dunbar suggests; or to an additional gas pump at the Branchville crossing, as Mr. Carroll has suggested; or to a truck for purchasing food store supplies, as Mr. Atkins has suggested; or to a hot house for raising plants as the Garden Club has suggested; or to a garage; or to milk distribution; or to numbers of other ventures.

I do not mention these suggestions to criticize them. They are good suggestions--so good that for the store management or the C.O.C. to accept any one of them without weighing the others would be decidedly unwise and would indicate failure to assume proper responsibility for the funds which our people are investing in our stores.

Certainly we cannot do all these things at present, or for some years to come. Certainly it will be wiser to choose carefully than to choose quickly.

Not to be overlooked by those who advocate undertaking new enterprises or decided expansion of old ones, is the probable effect upon the profit of our stores as a group, and therefore upon potential patronage returns. Every store opened so far has, as is to be expected, run at a loss for some time before making profits. There is no reason to expect that a bakery, or an expanded variety store, or a new gas pump, would do otherwise.

At present there is every reason to believe that even under the very conservative procedures of cooperative accounting, the present quarter will show a profit, and in that event the Board of Directors, or Consumer Distribution Corporation, whichever is in control at the time, may decide to issue patronage returns. Unduly expanding our services now will surely remove this possibility.

I am not sure that the majority of the people of Greenbelt are sufficiently anxious for some of the proposed enterprises to be willing to sacrifice potential patronage returns.

Our services should and must expand. But the expansion should follow understanding, not intuition, and capital limitations should not be overlooked.

GREENBELT COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN

The Greenbelt Welfare Committee can point with pride and gratitude to the fact that it was well worth the effort to put on its own campaign. There are a few more contributions coming in to add to the total and a final report on Nov. 22, but the total to date is $120. 55 pledged in town. Most residents who work in offices downtown were glad to cooperate by designating 50% of their donations to the Prince Georges County League. A conservative estimate would indicate that at least 75% of the residents did contribute to the Community Chest and it shows that we are living in a generous and public spirited community.

The following ladies gave unsparingly of their time and energy to organizing the house-to-house canvass of their respective Blocks and we are all the more grateful for their help in that they have previously not all been on the Welfare Committee: Mrs. Geo. Berkalew, Mrs. Hertford Downs, Mrs. Wallace Mabee, Mrs. Fred Pfeiffer, Mrs. Quigg, Mrs. Beryl Titus, Mrs. Chas. Welsh. Mrs. Harvey Vincent and Miss Ollie Hoffman found the Administration Office and the Consumer Services particularly fruitful for canvassing because their individuals had not been solicited by any other group. In the various Blocks these above mentioned Captains were aided by Mrs. Fitch, Peeler, Lastner, Spector, Tretter, Burke, Howard, Jones, Carroll, Edmunds, East, Jernberg, and Mr. Mather.

To all these Captains and Workers and to all the Greenbelt contributors and signators, the Committee conveys its congratulations and sincere thanks for making our Chest Campaign a success.

The United States at large will focus its attention on Philadelphia Saturday where football's most colorful spectacle, the Army-Navy game will be played.....Rather a pleasant thought when you consider the "Contests" they are waging in other countries.....The entrants in the Greenbelt A. C. basketball league look darling in their brightly hued new trunks...B block's are particularly cute..... Stanley Provost, local high school senior should be excellent material for some college grid coach even though he has been denied the privilege and benefits of interscholastic football because of the State of Maryland's silly ban on that sport in its high schools.....How does a Maryland schoolboy gain recognition if he happens to be a potential good grider?.....Provost, who towers about 6'2" and tips the scales at 180 is a youngster who can make the grade if given the chance..... During one of the basketball games the other nite, Al Bracken got his signals mixed and let one go at the wrong basket...Eracken is a good infielder..... Ben Goldfadden hails from a real basketball hotbed; Newark, N. J.....New Jersey, in our estimation produces the country's best basketball players..... Such fellows as: Lou Sugarman, Ted Kearns, George Glasco, Dutch Dehnert, Johnny Beckman, Benny Borge-man, and Jimmy Campbell, whose names are legend in basketball history all originated from Jersey..... Bill Schoeb is unquestionably Greenbelt's No. 1 football fan.....About the only teams Bill hasn't seen in action this season are those on the coast... ..We like Penn over Cornell ...Columbia over Brown and Texas A. and U. over Texas tomorrow..... and Army over Navy....Pitt over Duke.....Georgia Tech over Georgia....Dartmouth over Stanford..... ans Washington State over Washington on Saturday.... If the pending Petunia Bowl game between Wellesley and Maryland materializes, we shall string along with good, old Wellesday.....the dears.....

J BLOCK TOUCHERS TAKE ON BLOCK D

Greenbelt will have its own little Turkey Day grid contest tomorrow morning when the big brawny J block touch footballers take on a shifty D block six. J block is being quoted by the local betting gentry as a 10-7 favorite. It is rumored that the boys from that block have pooled together the sum of 19¢ and are ready to put it on the line if they can find any takers. The kick-off is scheduled for 9:30 which will give the boys sufficient time to get their fractures set before tearing into that turkey.

To the Sports Editor:

We of the Athletic Club can be thankful that the usual drab atmosphere of the gym has finally been brightened by Lester Sanders' colorful pants.

COUNTY P. T. A. MEETING

A regular meeting of the Prince Georges Federation of Parent-Teachers Assocs. will be held at Seat Pleasant School on Friday, Nov. 18, at 8:00 P.M. Dr. Reuben G. Steinmeyer, Associate Professor of Political Science at the University of Maryland, will speak on "Educating for Citizenship."

GOLDFADDEN SIGNS WITH HEURICH'S

Greenbelt basketball fans will be interested to know that Ben Goldfadden, who moved to town in time to help Widger's Cliff Dwellers win the soft-ball championship, has been signed by the Heurich Brewers basketeers who have taken a franchise in the fast professional American League.

Goldfadden, a George Washington University luminary for several years, was a member of the Heurich quintet last season. He is employed as a recreational director for the District of Columbia and is assisting with the promotion of the local basketball league.

BOB TEMPLE SETS PACE IN BOWLING LEAGUE

By virtue of stellar performances of the Beavers and Cardinals, the race for first place in the Greenbelt Bowling League now stands in a three-way tie. This was accomplished by the simple procedure of the Cardinals bumping the former pace-setting Drakes two games out of three, while the Beavers trounced the Alligators three straight games. The Cobras took the Bears in camp in three straight, and the surprising Eagles repeated the task by taking the set from the luckless Jeeps.

Outstanding was the scintillating set tossed by Bob Temple, 129 - 119 - 135 - - a new record set for the season of 383.

The standings to date are:

GLIDER CLUB

The Greenbelt Glider Club met Friday Nov. 18 to discuss ways and means of purchasing a glider. Due to the fact that membership is small at the present time, the actual purchase of a glider will be deferred until the membership is increased. According to one of the members, a second-hand glider can be purchased for $100.

SPORTS

BASKET BALL LEAGUE

In the third round of the Greenbelt Basket Ball league played last Friday night, four well played, exciting games were witnessed by all those present.

In the first game, Carnegie defeated Juniata by the score of 26 to 5. In this game, Abrahams, who played on the Greenbelt team last year, played with the Carnegie boys for the first time, and was the spark-plug of the team, scoring ten of the 26 points.

The second game was the most exciting and best of the evening, the Eton team winning their third straight, defeating Columbia 42 to 28. Donahue and Sidwell were the high scorers of this game, the former getting credit for 16 points, and the latter 13 points.

The third game brought together the two block "B" teams, and Bucknell emerged victorious over Brown, 21 to 11. This game was featured by good defensive play and that is the reason the score was rather low. At some stages in the game it almost looked like football, but this was due to the keen block rivalry.

In the final game, Joliet ran away from Dartmouth and scored at will, and when the final whistle blew, the score was Joliet 41, Dartmouth, 21. Taylor and Barker were high men for Joliet, each sinking 5 goals and receiving credit for 10 points.

The Theater World

The Drama

by John P. Murray

THE GREENBELT PLAYERS' new show, "THE DARK TOWER", opens its two-day run next Tuesday, Nov. 29th, at the theatre. The mere mention of this fact would have packed the house, six months ago, but today Greenbelt is a bit different from yesterday. There was a time when the Players' shows were the town's only entertainment but now they find themselves sandwiched between "Room Service" and "Romeo and Juliet". In spite of such competition the local talent is confident that their offering will be more remarkable in a lot of respects than either of these.

For one thing it will be better cast. Everyone knows there are better actors and actresses in Hollywood than the Marx Bros. and Norma Shearer but where in all Greenbelt can you find finer performers than Joe Muller or Bill Kinsley? Where in the whole countryside can you match the histrionic abilities of Gladys Freeman or Lexey Jan Craigin? These are just a few of a truly star-studded cast.

With a feeling of thankfulness in keeping with the season the Players list these as things for which they are thankful.

Sherrod East	Thankful Harold Buck and Joseph Maynard turned up in time to take the place of Eric Fundin working on scenery construction. He has been forced to retire because of a new job in Western Md.
Betsy Woodman	Thankful she isn't directing a double feature.
Lucille Cooper	That she is only assistant director.
Fan Sohein	That this isn't a costume or period play because being wardrobe mistress for a modern one has enough headaches.
John Murray	Thankful for the end of trying to think up original stories and ideas for publication.
Helen Cowell	That her script as property mistress doesn't require any livestock or grandfather clocks.
Ford Lyman	That there isn't going to be a bank night to add to the troubles of his business.

WHY NOT HAVE IT REPAIRED?

It is not necessary that this form be observed exactly as it is shown here but it is essential that each nomination be seconded by two members in good standing, according to the by-laws of the Association.

The nominations must be in writing and in the hands of the Nominating Committee by January 1 (a postal card is sufficient). Persons are instructed to mail or give their nominations to any member of the Nomination Committee. The members are: Sherrod E. East, chairman, 33-L Ridge Road; Joseph O'Leary, 1-D Northway; and Mrs. Denzil Wood, 11-A Ridge Road. Nominations also may be mailed to the Health Association or turned in at the Health Center and they will be turned over to the Nomination Committee.

NOTICE

Individuals and organizations who have special ideas or suggestions they would like to have incorporated in the proposed Community Building, if and when it is built, should give them to the Community Manager or one of his assistants as soon as possible, as preliminary plans are now being drawn up.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Mr. Roland E. Sliker, principal of the Greenbelt High School will address the Greenbelt Parent-Teacher Association on the subject, "What Is an Accredited High School?" at the regular meeting Monday, November 28, at 8:00 P.M. The parents of children of high school age are especially invited to this meeting.

The explanation and discussion of the working of the elementary program will be continued under the direction of Mrs. Reed, Principal of the elementary school.

Mrs. J. F. Albert will conduct the musical program.

The business meeting will follow these features and refreshments will conclude the evening.

HEALTH ASS'N TO HOLD EDUCATIONAL MEET

At the third-quarter meeting of the Association on October 26 it was announced that plans were being made to hold an educational meeting which would be open to all Greenbelt citizens. Inasmuch as the Directors are still negotiating for a suitable moving picture and a speaker, definite arrangements have not been completed. They plan to hold the meeting as soon as possible, however, according to one of the Directors.

RADIO CLUB

The Radio Club met for its usual code session, and was tickled to see "Pete" Petersen again around with hopes for an early, uneventful recovery. After jamming the key for 7 words a minute, a new club high, the class went into a study of the electron theory and the two-element vacuum tube, from the days of the Edison tin-foil studies thru the modern Fleming valve, up to the full-wave rectifier #80 tube.

Next week the Club will return to a consideration of the Wheatstone bridge, by building up a bridge from the elementary parts which make up a theoretical bridge, through the courtesy of Petersen, Pres.

The attendance was satisfying, with Reno, and Reno, Jr., Edmonds, Murray, Johnston, Miller, Nugent, Bradford, Porter, and Rosenzweig all present in good voice.

WHITE CHRISTMAS TREE FOR PRE-SCHOOL MOTHERS

At the next meeting of the Pre-School Mothers Club, on Wednesday, Dec. 7th at 8 P.M. there will be a white Christmas tree, around which the mothers will place packages wrapped in white, containing something old (or new) for which they have no further need. These packages will be turned over to the "Clothing and Toy Exchange", where they will be put to good use. Children's clothing and toys are particularly needed - but anything at all can be used.

There will be an interesting program: the topic, "Overcoming Fear" will be discussed by Mrs. Lucile Cooper. There will be some special entertainment and refreshments. Mothers are invited to enter into the spirit of the coming Holiday.

TOSCANINI MUSIC IN MEETING ROOM

Symphony music, almost at its best, may be heard in the Meeting Room Saturday night at 10 o'clock, when the regular Toscanini broadcast will be heard over the new radio-phonograph combination which has been acquired for the community by Greenbelt Consumer Services.

All interested are invited to gather in the Meeting Room shortly before ten, Saturday night.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB

The Bridge Club has arranged for a series of bridge lessons to be given by our own experts, Mr. Pinckey and Mr. Wofsey. The classes will begin promptly at 7:30 P.M. November 29. Rubber bridge can be played afterwards by those who do not care for duplicate.

The boards were especially kind this time, dealing so many potential hands to E-W and N-S alike, which, coupled with the exceptionally fine play of everyone present, makes it impossible to single out one hand as the most interesting.

Three couples from Colonial Village were present and we enjoyed playing with them very much. All of them stand very high in their own Duplicate Bridge Club.

In order to prevent any misunderstanding about the mid-season tournament the following details are listed: the tournament will run five weeks beginning November 22; everyone who plays on Tuesday night will be in the tournament; you must play in at least three of the five nites to win; and there is no extra charge.
