G. C. S. Loses On Sugar Sales; Discuss Black Market Threat

GREENBELT

Determination to avoid trading in the black market, while providing the community with adequate supplies of needed commodities, was expressed by the board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services at its regular meeting on June 3. General Manager Thomas Ricker reported that this was be-coming increasingly more difficult to do, and that in the case of sugar the cooperative was now taking a loss on every sale it made. He said he had found a source of lower priced sugar which would be available to the cooperative providing permission could be ob-tained from O.P.A. to stock 20,-000 pounds at one time, and that he was endeavoring to obtain that permission. In the case of meat, Mr. Ricker reported that although it was no longer easy to find adequate legit-imate sources, he felt that there was as yet no particular cause for alarm.

Moyer Resigns

The resignation of Clif Moyer was accepted by the board with an expression of appreciation for his service. Nominations of can-didates to fill the vacancy made by this resignation were made and the scretary was instructed in in the secretary was instructed to inthe secretary was instructed to in-vite the nominees to the next board meeting on June 10 for a review of their qualifications and of their interest in serving. Those nominated were Ben Goldfaden, Anthony J. Madden, Mrs. Hilda Bochner, and Bob Volckhausen. Treasurer Fred Delager report.

Treasurer Fred DeJager report-Treasurer Fred Debager report-ed that the patronage refund re-ceived by the cooperative from Eastern Cooperative Wholesale on purchases for 1942 amounted to $1160.24. This was 2.1 percent of the purchases. The cooperative now has $6325 invested in the wholesale wholesale.

Final action approving the pay-ment of $2500 on the loan from Consumer Distribution Corporation was taken and a motion to make another $1000 payment was ordered placed on the agenda of the next meeting it being the board's policy not to take action on large expuditures at the same meeting they are proposed except in emergency cases. Record Week

The General Manager announced that sales in the Food Store for the week ending May 29 amounted to $13,850, an all-time high.

On the recommendation of Membership Committee Chairman Carl Hintz the board approved six ap-plications for membership, repre-senting three families, and authorized the issuance of nine shares of stock. Repurchases of shares amounting to $149.82, from members leaving to wr, were also auth-orized. Mr. Hintz also outlined a membership drive program which the board approved. Ex-

Nursery School Enrollments Now

The Greenbelt Cooperative Nur-sery School completes its third successful year next Friday, and enrollment for this fall is now open. An even dozen is the most practicable number for the ac-commodations in the basement of 14-A Parkway, although if enough parents are interested in the project, it would be possible to run the nursery school with a morning and an afternoon shift with twice this number of childwith twice this number of child-ren. The applicants should have reached the age of three by Sep-tember and not be over four. Ap-plications should be made at Mrs. Kinzer's office. This year the ses-sions lasted from 9 to 11:00 Mon-day through Friday mornings. The charge per month was $5.00. This cooperative nursery school

This cooperative nursery school is not designed for the children of working mothers, as each mother is expected to volunteer to help the teacher one morning or one after-noon weekly or bi-weekly. The mothers who have participated during the past year are enthusi-astic over their opportunity to observe nursery school methods at close range, and to get acquainted with their childrens' new friends. The primary purpose of a nursery school is to help children play to-cether happily and constructively gether happily and constructively. Learning to share and to take turns with others are two funda-mentals of community living that one can hardly learn too young. The Nursery School has been extremely fortunate in securing teachers with excellent back-ground and experience. During the school's second year Mrs. Wagner trained Mrs. Ruth Lebergott, of the University of Michigan to succeed her. She has done a subadid ich this year has done a splendid job this year. Finding someone of equally high calibre is the concern of the pres-ent Parents' Board. Applications for the position are still being ac-cepted at Mrs. Kinzer's office.

Fort Washington '9' Plays Here Sunday; Boggs New Manager

Sergt. Eddie Haladay brings his fast stepping Fort Washington soldier nine to Braden Field Sunsoldier nine to Braden Field Sun-day to do battle with the improv-ing Greenbelt Shamrocks. It will be the second local showing of the soldiers. The Irish downed them in the second game of the present season by a score of 4 to 3. Wal-ter Clubb, snail-ball righthander, long a nemesis of the Big Green, but heater in that earlier grame but beaten in that earlier game, will probably be on the firing line for the Fort.

Over burdened with so many town recreational duties, big Ben Goldfaden turned over the mana-gerial duties of the Shamrocks to Ernie Boggs. Boggs has been purchably the most nonular player probably the most popular player on the team with both fans and players and should make a pleasing skipper.

Up until this season the blond hurler had played in every game since the Shamrocks were organized, has always been the mound work-horse and has always gotten his share of base-hits whether pitching or playing other positions.

Ernie's debut as boss man last Sunday resulted in a pair of ding-dong ball games. He kept to the bench in score-carding his boys to a 2-0 victory in the first game and took to the mound to lose a 2 to 1 heart breaker in the nightcap.

Fort Washington will play a single game Sunday, starting very promptly at 2:30.

Many Offer To Donate Blood

Well over half of the required 135 blood donors have already signed up to give their blood dur-ing the visit of the Army-Navy Red Cross Blood Plasma bank on Monday, June 21 from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. at the local Elementary school.

More donors will be needed to assure a successful visit of the traveling blood bank which is doing such valiant work to aid the wounded men of the allied fight-ing forces throughout the world.

People can do a real service for their friends or relatives in the armed forces by donating a pint of blood during the visit of the bank to this town.

This occasion will mark the first time that the Red Cross mo-bile bank has come to Greenbelt and the committee hopes to put the town over the top as a tribute to the more than 576 men in the service represented by the town's new service flag.

It's time for fond mothers to put the annual cotton in their ears and grit their teeth, for they have but one more week of precious peace before the offspring is let loose again.

Come June eighteenth, and the breaking loose of the furies will be no doubt a mere tempest in a teapot to the joyful hegira of the schoolchildren.

It's the Ides of March-tho un-seasonable-for the poor parent, and the always vacationing small fry who have had swings and swimming pool pretty much to themselves this blissful Spring.

But it's an ill wind that blows nobody good, so it's a happy day for SOME little people, anyway.

Summer Round-Up For Kindergarten Soon

The summer round-up of children who will enter kindergarten this fall will begin in the near fu-ture, according to Public Health Nurse Frances Stauffer. The physical check-up will in-clude examination of eyes, ears,

The Greenbelt Health Association physicians will no longer have the privilege of accepting private fees for insurance and anaesthetic work, according to a vote of the board of directors at a lengthy ex-ecutive session held Monday night.

The vote was passed at the sug-gestion of the physicians, an of-ficial statement indicated. In addition to the "no private fee" vote, the new contracts between the doctors and the association were completed, with the exception of minor details, and accepted by the physicians.

Following the closed meeting, from which the Cooperator re-porter was excluded, Borah Deut-schman, a member of the board, issued the following statement.

"A motion was passed at the request of the physicians withdrawing the permission granted to the doctors to accept fees privately for insurance and anaesthetic work. In addition, the doctor's contracts were completed, with the exception of minor details, and were accepted by both physicians."

The association members agreed upon a definite and vigorous pro-gram of health and medical education for all Greenbelt residents.

The board members announced that they are still attempting to supplement the present medical staff in order to care for the in-creased number of patients.

TRIPLICATE TROUBLE

BY ANNE HULL

Wasn't your curosity aroused by the letter from the mother of triplets appearing a couple of weeks ago in the Cooperator? Did you wonder how she ever man-A representative of the Coaged? operator knocked on the door of 4-N Laurel Hill Road and proceeded upstairs one day last week, shortly before two in the afternoon.

noon. "Chuck", the 'youngest' triplet, was lying luxuriously on the ham-mock of the bathinet while his mother scrubbed him down fore and aft. Mrs. Meredith was dressed for her job in shorts and halter. "Hank" was making it known from the nursery that he knew it was bath time and wanted his turn. "Alex", who occupied the other end of the crib, was sound asleep—bless him! Little Mrs. Meredith appeared to be hav-ing a whale of a good time bathing a whale of a good time bath ing that baby. As poised and skillful as a nurse, she said she had had no experience with babies before her own arrived.

Chuck and Hank are blonde;

their mother seems to be the only one who can tell them apart. Alex has blue eyes like his brothers, but his hair and lashes are very dark. Alex was the heaviest at birth, weighing three pounds and ten ounces. He was the first born or eldest. Formula trouble has since put him behind his brothers. At four months they weigh in the neighborhood of nine pounds each. Mrs. Meredith believes the boys are individuals and that they deserve individual names—no 'fads and fancies'. "Chuck", the larg-est triplet, is named 'Charles Clark', one name for each grand-father. "Hank" has been yclept 'Henry Woodis' after his paternal great grandfather. Alex An-thony bears the name of his dad's best friend.

The triplets learned in the hos-pital to drink from bottles sup-ported on folded towels. Mrs. Meredith doles out the bottles one at a time. Three lusty foretopur-en nursing hungrily—and in unison. It must be seen to be fully appreciated.

Although Mr. Meredith is in the service, he is luckily able to live in Greenbelt with his thriving family and help to bring them up, although his hours are so irregu-lar that it complicates his wife's schedule. She gets up anywhere between 4:30 and 5:30 in the morning to dash off some work before the six o'clock feeding. Be-ginning at 6:30 she makes twelve bottles of formula, washes diapers for three, and prepares breakfast. for three, and prepares breakfast. By 9:15 the triplets get cereal, which has to be administered singly, of course. This consumes an hour and a quarter. "They have good appetites and they en-joy their food, so I don't try to rush them". Then comes more laundry, and Mrs. Meredith must also find time for her lunch. Air-ing and sunning the babies is a problem, as she has no play pen or carriage. So they take turns or carriage. So they take turns being put out in a bassinet.

Civilian Defense Practice Called Off

Mobilization night of Monday, June 7th was called off by J. Robert Sherwood, Director and Com-mander of the Prince Georges County Civilian Defense Council, owing to the acute gasoline shortage in this area.

Mr. Sherwood feels that in order for the Civilian Defense workers to conserve their individual gaso-line supply, a simplified mo-bilization plan will have to be formulated to meet the present situation and perhaps a mobilization will be called for later on in the month if the present gasoline situation eases.

Some Shortcomings

The protest of the rent increases by Greenbelt residents has progressed to the point now where several real inequalities have come to light. In the beginning the whole question seemed to have been lowered to bickering on a personal basis which was regrettable and which probably did more harm than good. Now, however, some of the shortcomings of the graded rent schedule as applied to Greenbelt are being brought out not on a personal but on a community basis.

As we have stated before, we like the idea of graded rents as a principle. We believe it to be a more cooperative method of purchasing shelter and heat. The fault as far as the application of this particular schedule seems to be that the real income of residents is not taken into consideration.

Real income, we know, is one of those figures which can be twisted to mean just about anything and on which a viewpoint dictates the outcome. In this particular case we mean that several more factors should be taken into consideration in determining the amount of an income upon a rent will be based. Among them are: (1) cost of living, (2) the size of the family, (3) whether or not a part of a family's income should be considered as income as in a soldier's base pay, pensions, etc., (4) indebtedness. In short, the rents should be fixed more on ability to pay and less on gross income.

We realize that it would have been an almost hopeless task for the administration to collect and consider all the items which go to make up real income in the short time alloted to them to make the change from fixed to graded rents. The fault would seem to be twofold: (1) that too few factors were considered and (2) that too little time was allowed to secure the necessary data.

Legal steps, which we understand are being taken, may force FPHA to establish rents on a real income basis. It seems to us that it would be much better for Greenbelt and much less embarassing for those in authority if this could be done voluntarily.

300 Attend Nutrition Demonstration

BY ESTELLE DOLGOFF

The interest of Greenbelters in home canning was evidenced by the many questions raised by an audience of about three hundred residents last Tuesday evening, June 8th at a demonstration in the Elementary School auditorium. This program was sponsored the Hebrew Congregation and the B'nai B'rith Women of Greenbelt. At the invitation of Harold Weiskott, the speakers were Ina S. Lindman, Director of the Home Economics Department of the United Fruit Company, and Mary I. Barber. Expert Food Consult-ant to the Secretary of War.

Miss Lindman demonstrated different methods of canning acid and non-acid foods by the use of the open kettle, water bath, and the pressure cooker. She stated that the government recommended that only the pressure cooker method be used in canning non-acid foods, and that all foods be pre-cooked as a space saver. The angular middle-man banged out 3 singles and a double in 8 tries to spark his mates as they split the twin bill with Capitol Transit's previously unbeaten

16 Goose Eggs

A double by Geyer drove in the only two runs of the first game as Ray Glasgow pitched his second shut-out victory in a row. Ray was in fine form, walking no batters, striking out 6 and allowing but six hits.

He was backed up superbly by the execution of three double plays. Ray started one while Geyer started the other pair.

Bogged Down

Ernie Boggs pitched scarcely less brilliant ball in losing the night-cap by 2 to 1. The blond fire-baller had perfect control, too. He struck out nine batters and held a 1-0 lead until the seventh inning when Artie Sawyer booted a ground ball allowing booted a ground ball, allowing the runners who had been on second and third bases to score.

Every effort will be made to bring the Capitol Transit nine back for a return engagement.

THE GREENBELT COOPERATOR

Ben Goldfaden got a break when he found some one as capable as Ernie Boggs to unload a portion of his recreation burden on. Ernie will run the Sham-rocks retroactive to last Sunday. —000—

We'd like to see the Shamrocks absorb some of their new manag-er's hustle, both afield and during practise.

,The return of Jerry Geyer gives the Big Green infield a shot in the arm. The former Wisconsin flash was all-league shortstop last season.

Geyer joined the Navy late last winter and everyone was sure that we'd se no more of the dandy little double-play starter; but, after "boot" session he was sent to Washington and moved in at Greenbelt a couple of weeks ago. Mrs. Geyer joined her lanky hus-band last Sunday morning in time to see him star that day.

Jerry pulled one of those plays in the first game against Capitol Transit that everyone sees and then mutters, "I don't believe it". -000-

Wayne Davis, who has been playing with a badly pulled leg muscle for a couple of weeks, had to stay out of the second game Sunday when the leg "char-ley-horsed" up on him. Wayne broke into the contest as an un-successful pinch hitter. --000--

Barney Secretarski has been out of the Shamrock lineup for a couple of weeks because of a very bad case of poison ivy.

Greenbelters Go Well in College Park Pin League

The Yankees finished seven full games out front in a Friday night bowling league at Charlie Gen-tile's College Park alleys. Greenwas well epresented as Lloyd MacEwen, Walter Dickhaut and Phil Taylor were on the five man team which won 68 games and lost but 40 in taking first prize. The Yanks were sparked by the fine bowling of Gordon Reme-berg, captain, who led the league with an average of 121. Lloyd MacEwen's 115 average won him top average prize money as Rems-berg took high set prize cash.

Slugging of Bauer and Egli Wallops Guardsmen for Reps

The Reps took a better posi-tion in the county softball race when the disposed of Lieut. Jack Allen's Captain of the Port Coast Guard ten last Saturday night at Braden Field. The score was 10 to 3, with Curt Barker stifling the strong Guardsmen.

The local softies salted the game away in the third inning when George Bauer uncranked a triple with the base loaded; then, with Bauer puffing on third base, Bob Egli exploded a home run.

Bauer, with a pair of triples, and Egli, who walloped a homer, and a single, and barely missed another round-tripper when Prokop sensationally caught his liner in deep center, were the batting leaders of the Reps.

The course covers the technique of handling all the varied modern infantry weapons and the tactics of leading small infantry units in combat. It also includes study of many varied subjects which future officers must know along the lines of administration, military law, etc.
