Trash Calls Increase As Clean-Up Continues

The recent flood of calls to the City office for special trash pickups indicate that householders are intent on keeping Greenbelt beautiful. City Manager Charles T. McDonald says the Department of Public Works has momentarily had to put aside other work because of it. The increased schedule of pickups from yards is in line with its desire to cooperate with the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful. (Our own Commissioner Frank J. Lastner represents Prince Georges County on the Committee.)

Buddy Attick, Superintendent of Public Works in Greenbelt, and McDonald reiterate that the City is always ready to collect trash from anyone's yard if he calls 2011 for special pickup. Dumping trash in public areas or along roads is illegal. Residents are asked, therefore, to keep clippings, leaves and trash in the yard and call 2011 for disposal.

At the recent April 28 meeting of the Joint Committee on Cleanup with Attick, McDonald, and Police Sergeant Austin Green, improvement of the city litter situation was noted. City Councilman James C. Smith, who heads the Cleanup Committee, commended the city for doing its part well in this respect. Attick's crew had been getting after the debris at the underpasses. Trash cans may once again be placed at the playgrounds as an experiment. The small space between frontyard fences in some frame house sections is making it impossible for city trucks to reach littered spots for cleanup.

No definite cleanup program could be worked out because of the poor turnout at this meeting. Since no program can succeed without widespread cooperation, tentative plans to invite all groups to a future meeting were made. It was agreed that, like housecleaning, keeping our city clean has to be a continuous job, with everyone working at it. Also at the meeting were Elizabeth Flynn, Elsie Reeves, Miriam Solomon, and Mae Zoellner.

Registration Opens For Nursery School

The Greenbelt Cooperative Nursery School will hold its final meeting of the year on May 18, at 8:30 p.m. in the Arts and Crafts room of the Center School. Elections for the coming year will be held. Registration is now open for three- and four-year olds for next year, and mothers of eligible children are invited to attend the meeting. Anyone interested in registering a child for next year should call Mrs. Marian Hatton at 3251. Mrs. Jennie Klein will continue in her present position as teacher of the Nursery School.

The purpose of the school is to provide group play activities for pre-school children and to encourage parent understanding of child development. The program includes frequent field trips. In addition to facilities for indoor play, there is an enclosed yard with sandbox, slide, and other equipment for outdoor play. The school is located at 14 Parkway.

Representatives of all local organizations are requested to attend an organizational meeting for Greenbelt's cerebral palsy drive on Sunday, May 15, at the American Legion Home at 2:30 p.m. The one-night campaign to collect funds for cerebral palsy help will be held May 25.

Ordinance Proposed To Control Baseball

There is no ordinance prohibiting ball-playing in public areas, it was revealed at the city council meeting last Monday night. Complaints from several citizens about youngsters playing baseball in park areas and destroying shrubs and flowers have been a continual problem for police, city manager Charles McDonald disclosed. Police answer the complaints and discourage the children from playing ball, but are powerless to make arrests because of the lack of an ordinance.

A motion by councilman James Smith to instruct the manager to prepare an ordinance prohibiting ball-playing in public areas was approved by the council.

McDonald said there is an area planted with trees which is used by children for ball games. "Right between the pitcher's box and the batter are two trees—the pitcher has to throw a curve to get the ball near the plate," McDonald declared. The future "Porterfields" will have to confine their practice to the approved baseball areas after the ordinance is approved, councilmen decided.

County Mental Health Facilities Discussed

The tremendous need for mental health facilities in this county was the subject of an address by Mrs. Margaret Conant, newly elected president of the Prince Georges County Council of Parent-Teachers Associations, at the Mother's Day dinner of the Community Church on Friday, May 6.

Mrs. Conant, who is also active in the League of Women Voters, gave a brief sketch of the county's recently formed Mental Health Society and discussed the new organization's hopes for improving the situation. She announced that anyone wishing more information on the subject should contact Judge Miazga, president of the Society, at UNion 4-0615.

Center School PTA Elects New Officers

The Center School Parent-Teachers Association will elect next year's officers at the final meeting of the school year, Tuesday, May 17. Gabriel Cherin, chairmah of the nominating committee, has released the following slate: for president, Bernard Sisco and Morris Solomon; vice-president, Janet Cox; secretary, Mary Ann Schmidt and Alberta Tompkins; treasurer, Hal Silvers and Emanuel Dondy.

Preceding the voting, a dance recital will be given at 7:45 p.m. by the modern dance group sponsored by the PTA. More than 60 Greenbelt children will take part, and, in addition, Miss Erika Thimey, the director, will present several older pupils from her Washington studio.

The business meeting will begin at 8:30, and, in addition to the election of officers, reports on activities and finances for the year will be made. The meeting will close with a social period arranged by the hospitality committee.

St. Hugh's Bazaar Features Parcel Post

Plans are now underway for St. Hugh's Annual Bazaar to be held on Tuesday, May 17, according to chairman Bernie Emmert.

In charge of the various departments are: Mrs. Freda Sarni, telephone committee for booths and donations; Mr. Gallant, raffle; Mr. Leonardo, booths and games. A Parcel Post sale is on the schedule of attractions, as well as attic treasures, hope chest, bakery, general store, and many more.

The Bazaar is a special effort to help St. Hugh's in the erection of four new classrooms by this time next year.

Emergency Service Always Available

Emergency aid from rescue squads in nearby areas—available here for the first time since the Greenbelt Squad recently joined the Prince Georges County Association—provided a Greenbelt resident with ambulance service to the hospital last week when the local squad was unable to answer his call.

In a statement issued this week, Chief Jim Williams reported that the Branchville Rescue Squad answered an emergency call here when one of Greenbelt's two ambulances was out on an earlier call for aid and the other was undergoing repairs. When the second call was received, he explained, the dispatcher on duty at the Police Station notified the County Fire Board, which dispatched the Branchville ambulance to Greenbelt.

Chief Williams stated that this service from neighboring squads is now available at all times when emergency aid is needed while Greenbelt's ambulances are already out assisting earlier victims. This means that local residents requiring service at such times will no longer have to wait until a Greenbelt ambulance returns from a trip to the hospital. Under customary procedures of the Prince Georges Association, any rescue squad in the county is ready on call to stand by or assist a neighboring squad when needed. The Greenbelt Squad has on several occasions answered calls to stand by for other squads in this area.

GVHC Approves Self-Help Paint Program For Frame Home Shingles

Following a strong recommendation by Director Frank Kriby, the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation board of directors approved a self-help painting program for the frame homes at its regular meeting Friday night, April 29.

Kriby, chairman of the maintenance committee, stated that he saw no other way of solving the problem of bettering the outside appearance of these homes. He said that there were several types of shingle paint on the market and that GVHC could select one to provide to members free.

The only requirement of the program would be that members must adhere to the original shingle color, which is an off white. Kriby felt that this was necessary to prevent a spotty appearance later when the paint began to deteriorate. Upon the recommendation of Kriby, the board also authorized the manager to start painting homes in which renters reside.

"Eyesore" Areas

The GVHC board also heard a report from Director Percy Andros on various open areas owned by GVHC which have become "eyesores." Andros said he had found ten such areas scattered throughout the city where a large part of the ground was bare. Not only is this unattractive, he said, but it spreads dust around the homes that border these areas.

The board agreed to landscape and take care of this land, particularly if residents near the areas would cooperate by watering the land. Andros said some have already agreed to do this.

Paul Campbell, GVHC manager, revealed that the National Parks and Planning Commission plan to plant and landscape the large area in its charge that extends from the last group of GVHC frame-homes on Southway to the Washington-Baltimore Parkway. Planting is scheduled for this fall but may be delayed until design has been set for the bridge across the Parkway for the new Inter-County Belt Freeway.

Trash Pick-up Problem

Director Al Long reported on the trash pick-up problem. A city ordinance forbids city trucks from picking up "offal" or any commercial rubbish. City Manager Charles McDonald has interpreted this ordinance to mean that no pick-ups can be made of trash left by GVHC maintenance crews after renovating a vacant house.

Long moved, and the board formally agreed to ask the city council, to amend the ordinance so that all residential units, occupied or unoccupied, would be exempted. Trash left by contractors would be removed by them as at present. The board noted that the enforcement of the present ordinance was discouraging to the current cleanup campaign.

Burgoon informed the board that there was no increase in the amount of No. 6 fuel oil used this year despite the fact that the past winter has been ten percent colder. He said that this was due largely to the improvements in the steam plant made by Dave Kane, maintenance supervisor, last summer.

County Adds $6200 To Library Budget

At a meeting held Tuesday, May 10, an appropriation of $6200 was approved by the Prince Georges county commissioners for the Greenbelt library. City Manager Charles MacDonald reported this week. The appropriation now goes before the county library board, who requested an increase in the amount of money set aside for the Greenbelt branch. A final decision on the extent to which the local branch will be integrated into the county system will be forthcoming from the board later.

Council Notes

The city still has about $12,000 left from an $18,000 surplus it acquired at the beginning of the year. Of the amount already allocated to be spent, $3000 goes for new curbs and parking areas in the courts; $200 for new library books; $2175 for new lights at the ball field; $100 for Izaak Walton league assistance at lake clean-up; and $150 for bats and balls for the men's baseball team.

Passed for first readings were an ordinance to amend the city charter so that the council salaries can be raised; an ordinance to forbid ball-playing in public areas other than the ball fields. Tabled for future discussion was second reading of an ordinance to prohibit trash fires in the community. Hitch developed when it was discovered the wording of the ordinance also would prohibit outdoor grill fires and portable grill fires for outdoor cooking. McDonald will reword the ordinance so that the community can enjoy black marshmallows without violating the law.

Leasia Urges Local Civil Defense Campaign

"Greenbelt is far ahead of other communities in the state in civil defense," city manager Charles McDonald informed the city council last Monday night. McDonald's report followed a plea from Leasia Leasia, 45-H Ridge, that the city spearhead a campaign to inform the citizens of civil defense needs and problems, particularly the printed information available on the subject from the Government Printing Office.

McDonald disclosed that the city has distributed a pamphlet about civil defense protection from atomic bombs, is sponsoring a successful home nursing course by the Red Cross, has stockpiles of emergency supplies in the community building, and anticipated the present federal identification tag program by one year. Also, the fire department has practiced exercises in atomic protection, and a revised list of civil defense aids has been submitted to the county health authorities.

Federal Civil Defense programs are working in cooperation with the Pet Milk company to distribute identification tags. McDonald declared, and asked that the city include itself in that program. Present city tags are outdated, because of time (age groups have changed), and move-outs and newcomers to town. The tags have been used in city programs such as identification at the swimming pool for local admission rates. The new Pet Milk tags would serve our purpose, McDonald stated.

Leasia informed the council that he will present a list of recommendations to the council for consideration at a future meeting, regarding the civil defense program.

Zoellner New Prexy Of Fire-Rescue Squad

Marshall H. Zoellner was elected president of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad during a recent election held by the combined organization. Paul Williams was chosen fire chief and James Williams, Rescue Squad chief for the newly merged group.

The election of officers, held under newly adopted bylaws, was one of the final steps in integrating the Fire department and the Rescue squad, a merger which has been worked out over the past several months.

Other newly elected officers, who will serve for the remainder of 1955, are: Thomas Snoddy, vice-president; Ralph E. Miller, recording secretary; Harry S. Atherton, corresponding secretary; Vernon Iseli, treasurer; Rev. Stanley F. Knock, Jr., chaplain; Joe Lewis, assistant fire chief; Earl Hampton, fire captain; Jack Snoddy, fire lieutenant; Paul Reamy, fire sergeant; John G. McLaughlin, fire marshal; John W. Pugh, Jr., superintendent of machinery.

Vince Dutton, assistant chief of the Rescue Squad; John W. Pugh, Jr., Rescue Squad captain; John G. McLaughlin, lieutenant; Jim Harbin, sergeant; Harry Wynkoop, custodian of property; and Earl Thomas, Henry Brantigam, Lloyd Moore, and Robert Hurst, trustees.

To The Editor

"A Little Ironic"

In the last News Review a councilman was quoted as feeling that certain Greenbelters were "usurping the Council's job by conducting unofficial negotiations and discussions with county authorities."

The remark makes one wonder what type of government body the councilman thinks the Council is. My thought was that we had elected a legislative body, not a lobby. Is it not proper for citizens to discuss their needs with the executive bodies that are supposed to meet these needs? Must we resort to political avenues? If we need a policeman, are we supposed to phone a councilman and ask him to notify the police chief?

In the case of the library, the situation is a little ironic. When the Council accepted responsibility for the library, there was some reason for conferring with the Council about library needs. Now that it has voted away its authority, turning the library over to a not-too-eager county, it seems strange that the Council should be surprised that citizens consult county officials about library problems.

The duty of a citizen does not end at the ballot box. I hope Greenbelters will continue to be alert to telling city, county, state and federal officials—elected and appointed—what they want and what they think of what they are getting. Inert citizens don't create a dynamic democracy.

Very truly yours,
Walter R. Volckhausen.

"A Wonderful Community"

Our son, Bobby Parker, was returned home safely last Sunday after several hours of lonely wandering, through the combined efforts of the Greenbelt police, Rescue squad, Fire department and countless Greenbelt residents.

I wish to express my gratitude to all concerned for their part in finding him and strengthening my conviction that Greenbelt is a wonderful community to live in.

Gratefully,
Mr. and Mrs. Hazel Parker
2-L Research.

"I'VE HAD IT"

Today is Mother's Day, as this is written, but it hasn't been very pleasant for this Mother. I can take a lot, but when it comes to vandalism for 3 week-ends straight, I've had it. I had hoped that I was living in a home-loving community, among home-loving people, who had respect for their own place and would teach their children that same respect.

Three weeks ago, I go out to swing my little girl, to find that one of three swings has had the ropes pulled. The next week-end, when I go out to hang up the wash, two lines of new clothes line has been cut and removed. Next, I find one of the supports for one of the swings has been broken (and I don't mean the wood has rotted—it is broken). This afternoon, after having gone out for Mother's Day dinner, I come home to find part of my back-yard (or is it the front yard) fence pulled down from the fastenings on the house and a second swing is broken. I think enough is enough. It's too bad that anyone, regardless of age, has to do such as has been done to my premises in these last few weeks. It's unfortunate that no one is home in the day time to keep an eye on what is going on while no one is at hand to take things in hand.

It might be advisable to have some of the old-fashioned foot patrol of the local police to try to curb some of this and other vandalism. At any rate, something should be done. I can't afford to hire a private detective to catch the offender(s), but I will appreciate any reliable information which will lead to the guilty person(s).

Let's make this a community where we can be proud to live and to recommend to others. I would like to continue to live here for some time, but I also want to know that my property and things on it will not be destroyed—slowly but surely.

Very truly yours,
Genevieve E. Youngs,
1-A Research.

Rollicking Roisterers Roll Rapidly 'Round

A surprise awaited the teenagers who arrived at the Drop-In Friday night when the long awaited roller skates had arrived and everyone got to skate free. The ability to remain in an upright position was not so easy at first, but the skill was soon mastered and between 35 and 40 teenagers were zipping around the gym at great speed. Some difficulty was encountered when some of the boys found that the clamp skates wouldn't fit on the popular "bombers," but a quick trip home for other shoes remedied the situation.

Tentative plans call for skating at the Drop-In at least one night a week with a night set aside for adults also, and perhaps a Saturday morning for younger children.

CARE Announces '55 Food Crusade

The Washington Office of CARE today announced the organization's plans to distribute 300 million pounds of surplus farm food to needy persons abroad during 1955 as a continuation of its successful 1954 "Holiday Food Crusade."

The new "Food Crusade" package will cost $1. The surplus food to be used in it is available to CARE without cost. CARE's nominal charge is to cover distribution costs. The commodities released by the Agriculture Department are milk powder, cheese, butter oil and cottonseed oil.

The quantity of surplus food in each package will vary from 17½ pounds for the family package to an average of 100 pounds for institutions, such as orphanages, hospitals, and schools.

Distributions of the new packages will begin in Austria, Bolivia, France, Greece, Western Germany and Berlin, India, Israel, Italy, Korea, Pakistan, Peru and Yugoslavia. Other countries will be added as arrangements are completed.

Since the food used in the packages is government surplus, it is for general relief only, and may NOT be designated by country, person or by type of package. However, a donor will know who he helps since, for each package sent, the donor will receive CARE's customary receipt signed by the beneficiary overseas.

Orders for the "Food Crusade" packages will be taken at the Washington CARE Office, 309 La Salle Building.

2 Day Camps Begin For County Kids

The Prince George's County Recreation Department plans to conduct two day camps this summer, one in the Anacostia Park area in Riverdale, and one in the Oxon Run Parkway area near the intersection of Suitland Parkway and Naylor Road. Both camps will be located on Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission land and will be held in four two-week sessions beginning June 20 - August 12.

Emphasis at the day camps, which is open to both boys and girls ages 7 to 11, is on outdoor education, with opportunities for outdoor cooking, nature activities, fishing, hiking, exploring and special trips. Indian teepees will provide shelter for rainy day activities.

Campers will plan and carry out their activities in units of 20 with a trained senior and junior counselor for each unit offering help and guidance. A registration fee of $11 will provide daily milk, craft supplies, special trips and camper insurance. All campers will furnish own transportation and lunches. Registration blanks for both camps and further information are available at the Recreation Department, 4803 Riverdale Road, Riverdale, Maryland. APpleton 7-8696.

Democratic Club Hears Senator Wheatley Talk

H. Winship Wheatley, State Senator from Prince Georges County, addressed the Greenbelt Democratic Club, at its annual "get-together" meeting last Wednesday night. Wheatley spoke on the problems of legislation as seen from a Senator's eyes. Toughest legislation at the last session of the Maryland legislature, Wheatley declared, was the "home rule" bill which was proposed the first day of the session and finally passed on the last day.

A senator's days are so busy during the legislature, Wheatley informed the group, that he was forced to meet with the delegation from his own county in the hours from midnight to 3 a.m., in order to discuss problems with them personally. He also disclosed that many of the citizens writing to him regarding proposed legislation do not know the true facts and significance of the legislation they are endorsing much of the time. This is particularly true regarding the means of raising revenue to pay for the legislation, Wheatley added.

After the address, members of the club and Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley enjoyed the refreshments prepared by Mrs. Frank Lastner. The Batter Up!

Practice sessions for the American Legion baseball teams are taking place Saturday afternoons at Braden Field, 1 p.m. Boys must be under 17 to be eligible.

Players Vie For Place
On 4 Babe Ruth Nines

Candidates for positions on the four Co-Op teams in Greenbelt's Babe Ruth League will resume contention this Saturday, 9:30 a.m., at Braden Field.

Special emphasis is placed on the need for more 13-year-old ball players, but anyone in the 13-15-year old bracket will be welcome to participate.

The local league received its official charter from Babe Ruth League Headquarters in Trenton for participation in the National Program this summer. Our Co-Op Babe Ruth League is set up under the following: President William L. Moore, Jr., Vice President Arthur P. Endres, Secretary, Rev. Eric T. Braund and Treasurer Henry Brautigam, coordinated by Recreation Director J. Donald Wolfe. Sponsoring the four team loop are Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., and Greenbelt Recreation Department.

League officers are desirous of obtaining four or more competent team managers who can be present for morning games during the summer vacation. Interested parties apply to the City Recreation Department, 2011. Candidates, new and old, are asked to report to Moore and Wolfe at Braden Field Saturday morning.

Iseli Sodality Prefect

Election of officers of the St. Hugh's Sodality to serve the coming year are: Elizabeth Iseli, prefect; Betty Gallant, vice-prefect; Virginia Klem, treasurer; Clara Tarut, corresponding secretary and Mary Mooney, recording secretary. Nine new members were accepted at the meeting held Wednesday, May 4.

Tennis Court Repairs Delayed; Too Costly

The city will delay any major improvement of the tennis courts because of the expense involved, it was decided at last Monday night's city council meeting. City manager Charles McDonald reported that a discussion of the problem with the Asphalt Institute, (now at the University of Maryland) revealed that only a major paving job should be undertaken. Bids on this type of work ran close to $4,000 for two courts.

The rapidly declining surplus fund used for this type of expenditure and the possibilities of more urgent repairs for other city properties prompted councilmen to request delay on the tennis court repair until next year. At that time it could be included in the budget.

Meanwhile, McDonald was instructed to patch the courts so that "amateurs" could enjoy a game of tennis.
