Boys Club Sponsors Mammoth Parade, Fireworks Display At Lake July 4th

Traditional Fourth of July festivities in Greenbelt will be bigger and better than ever, according to officials of the Greenbelt Boys Club, sponsors of the affair. The parade will be the longest and largest, lake activities the most elaborate and the fireworks display will be the finest ever presented in Greenbelt.

Leading the parade, as usual for the past many years, will be Grand Parade Marshal Austin Green, local police chief. Featured in the line of march, which will begin at Ridge and Southway, down Southway through Centerway, onto Crescent at the fire house, and out Crescent to the lake, will be units of the Maryland State Police, Greenbelt Police, Jones-Lee Cottage drum and bugle corps, American Legion Post No. 136 Drill and Color Guard, Boy and Girl Scouts, Lions Club, Greenbelt National Guard, Company D 163 Military Police, Greenbelt Community Band and floats from the Izaak Walton League, Greenbelt Consumer Services, Community Church, Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation, Woman's Club, News Review, Little League, Boys Club Midgets, Nancy Pony Ring, Crisp's Garage and the perennial Cipriano's.

In the second division, led by Assistant Parade Marshal Pop Bell, are the Greenbelt Majorettes, Rescue Squad, Ladies Auxiliary, and Fire departments and Rescue squads from Greenbelt and nearby areas.

Awards of cups, trophies and merchandise certificates will be given to winners of the following categories in the parade: Best-appearing "pumper", oldest piece of equipment in actual service, company coming furthest distance, best Ladies Auxiliary marching unit, best-appearing ambulance, best-equipped rescue squad, best commercial float, best civic float, best youth float, best decorated bicycle, best decorated tricycle, best decorated wagon, best costume for boys, and best costume for girls.

The reviewing stand will be placed on Crescent near the large playground before Eastway. Judges occupying the stand will be Colonel A. J. Stevens, Fort Meade, Captain C. C. Walz, District Fire Department, and Frank Lastner, county Commissioner of Prince Georges County.

The parade will begin to assemble at 10 a.m. After reaching the lake, following the parade, Frank Lastner will speak at 11:30. Following that an exhibition of the Jones-Lee unit will be given, and at noon the Laurel Rescue Squad will put on a fire-fighting exhibition. At 12:15 the concessions and games will begin, with pony rides, merry-go-rounds, and refreshments continuing through the day. There will be a track meet and novelty races, horseshoe contest and a giant Bingo. Music will be offered continuously over the loudspeaker system. Best-looking women over 40 years old will be given a prize, but no entries are expected.

The spectacular fire-works will begin as soon as it gets dark.

Last and latest event to end the Independence Day holiday will be a midnight swim at the community pool, from 10 to midnight.

Planning the many activities for the day are the directors of the Boys Club. Proceeds from the concessions and games will go towards uniforms and equipment and year-long operating expenses for the vital youth programs the Boys

GVA Tax Bill Higher Than Estimate; Possible Monthly Payment Raise Seen

Because GVHC taxes are running about $20,000 higher this year than expected, the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation has been forced to dip into its contingency reserves to the extent that members will probably be required to make higher monthly payments next year, the GVHC board of directors have been warned.

County Takes Over Local Library July 1

The Greenbelt Library will begin operating under the county July 1, it was announced this week by Mary Kenan Hadley, county librarian. According to Miss Hadley, the same selection of new books, recordings, popular reading, how-to-do-it books, and other informational materials as in any other branch will be found on the library shelves.

To take books from any branch of the library, you have only to sign your name and address each time, and present identification if it is required. Miss Hadley disclosed. "Children like to write their name, and to help each other", she added.

"Mrs. Marjorie Muir and Mrs. Slauch will operate the library here for the county, and the numerical transaction system in use in the county system relieves them of much filing and checking. No waiting for books just returned either. When the T-card is removed, the book is ready to go again. Hang on to those T-cards in the book pocket — they are your receipt!" Miss Hadley stated.

Appointed as liaison between the county commissioners and the board of library trustees was Frank Lastner. They will discuss problems of joint responsibility.

Among the books for all ages that have been sent to the Greenbelt branch are some recent publications for loan at 5 cents a day. This policy was adopted by the county library board two years ago to insure new titles for library users. Music recordings for loan free, a new service, will be provided Greenbelters.

Mrs. Muir disclosed that she likes to be able to call any one of the 18 librarians on the county staff and get help in locating materials for local patrons and to talk "library" with them. More space will soon be available, Miss Hadley revealed, through the removal of the paraphernalia for preparing new books for use. All that will be done at the Administrative office in the future.

Hours for the summer months will continue the same as before. The hours beginning in the fall will be announced later.

Vacation Bible School Commencement Tonight

Vacation Bible School, sponsored by Greenbelt Baptist Chapel, will hold Commencement program June 30 at 7:30 p.m. at Center school.

Commencement will begin with a procession of boys and girls led by two boys from the junior department carrying the American and Christian flags, and a junior girl carrying a Bible. The service will include a call to worship, recitation of the school's motto, singing of a worship hymn, and pledges of allegiance to the American and Christian flags and to the Bible. Program will continue with recitations and group singing by Nursery, Beginner, Primary, and Junior Departments. After service, parents and friends will visit each department to view handwork made by children.

Vacation Bible School, which began June 20, has experienced good attendance.

Rev. Glenn W. Samuelson, principal, thanks his hard-working faculty for their cooperation.

ADULT SWIMMING

Registration for adult swimming classes will be held this coming Saturday morning. A registration fee of two dollars will entitle you to free swimming instruction every Saturday morning at a time when no children will be allowed. Fifty-eight adults have already registered.

Paul Campbell, GVHC general manager, made the report to the board at its meeting on Friday, June 24. The GVHC budget for this year was made up before tax rates had been set, he recalled, and GVHC budget-makers estimated that county, city, and state taxes would total $205,000. The members' monthly payments would have covered this amount, but GVHC taxes will instead reach $225,857, Campbell reported.

The county increased its tax rate from $1.98 to $2.15 per $100 valuation; the state real estate tax went from six cents to 11 cents; and the Maryland Park and Planning Commission tax went up from three cents to eight cents, for a total increase of $15,000. In addition, the city tax turned out to be $5,000 more than GVHC had estimated.

Part of the $20,000 deficit is being made up by GVHC through the use of surplus funds accumulated last year when taxes ran lower than GVHC's budget estimate. However, there remains about $10,000 that must come out of the contingency reserves.

There are two reserves — one for the brick and one for the frame homes. Members pay into these reserves at the rate of $10,000 a year for the brick homes and $20,000 a year for the frame. About $8,000 has come out of these reserves to pay for Hurricane Hazel damages not covered by insurance, reducing the brick contingency reserve to $19,000 and the frame to $32,000.

Although last year's tax surplus was about $29,000 ($13,500 from the brick homes and $15,500 from the frame homes), water costs were about $20,000 higher last year than expected, and this deficit was met out of the tax surplus. Since the brick homes now have about $6,700 in tax surplus, about $3,000 will have to come out of their contingency reserve to meet the tax bill; whereas the frame homes with only $3,000 remaining in tax surplus must draw about $7,500 out of their reserve to meet the increased tax bill.

Higher Apartment Rents

Probable higher rentals for tenants in GVHC-owned apartments was foreshadowed by another Campbell announcement. He asked for a board meeting of the GVHC subsidiary, Greenbelt Development Corporation, which operates the apartments, and the board decided on one for Tuesday, June 28.

Two items scheduled for the GDC board meeting were a rent increase and the filling of GDC board vacancies. Ralph Webster, GVHC president, prior to his move-out of Greenbelt last year, filled a GDC board seat now empty, and there may be other vacancies, Campbell said. A majority of GDC board members are also GVHC board members.

Campbell and board members indicated that the rent increase would be necessary to avoid losses on that operation, but no details were given.

Sublease Policy

The board acted on the request of a member who is moving from a frame to a brick unit, who wished to sublease his frame home until he is able to find a suitable purchaser. Discussion by the board revealed general sentiment against lengthy subleases since this would encourage members to own two homes and rent one of them, which is against policy.

Director John Phariss explained that basic GVHC policy has been and should be to encourage homeownership, which is the type of community that has been planned here. Director Al Long originally moved to permit the member in this case to have a two-year sublease, but he later amended it to one year which carried, Campbell noted that the member would be responsible for payments on both units.

Dear Mr. Editor,

Why can't we have a dog? If I can keep him in a fence, how can he hurt anybody or mess anybody's grounds?
 So if you do keep your dog leashed or in your fence can you have a dog?

Miss Diane Pisano
 6-G Plateau Place

Dear Diane,

I understand how you feel about your dog, and how boys and girls all over the world feel about their dogs. There is something very special about the way children love dogs, and there's something special about the way dogs love children, too. But here in Greenbelt we have a problem. You see, Diane, Greenbelt was planned as a garden city, a place to bring up children, a place where boys and girls would have lots of room to run around and play and grow up. Greenbelt was built for children.

Now the people here have considered this question of dogs many times. There were never any fences here before, and they felt that if everybody had a dog, pretty soon there would be more dogs than people and they would become a serious nuisance.

The city passed a law saying that dogs must be kept on leashes and under control at all times. But when we all bought our homes we signed a contract, and that contract says that we may not have dogs in our homes. Even more important than this, however, is the fact that the people voted not to have dogs — many times, and each time almost all the people voted against dogs.

Diane, in this country we have a way of doing things. Some people call it the democratic way, and some call it the American way, but they all mean the same thing — the majority rules. When most of the people vote to do something, then everybody goes along with it. There are always some who don't like it, but like I said, the majority rules.

So, Diane, if the people who want dogs would get together and call for another vote, maybe they would win this time. If they lose the vote, they should abide by the decision of the majority. That's the way it is. Diane, I would not for the world want to take your dog away from you. But I think that those people who defy the wishes of the majority are selfish and inconsiderate of their neighbors. You see, most of the people don't have dogs because they respect the wishes of the majority. Do you think it's fair for some people to have dogs, while others can't have them because they respect their neighbors?

I know it would be very hard to give up your dog, Diane, but sometimes you have to make a sacrifice in order to be a good citizen and a good neighbor. And I'm sure that that's what we all want — to be good citizens and considerate neighbors.

Playgrounds Thrive Throughout County

Children all over the County flocked this week to summer playgrounds which opened Wednesday, June 22 under direction of Prince George's County Recreation Department. Supervised play programs are being conducted five days a week, 9 to 5, in 60 communities for youngsters six to seventeen.

Checker tournaments at each playground are scheduled for next week.

Weekly swimming trips have been arranged for each playground to Laurel, Greenbelt, and District pools. Through cooperation of the Air Force, pools at Andrews Air Base and Bolling Field have been made available on a limited basis to children coming from playgrounds.

Playgrounds will be closed Monday, July 4.

Golden Age Clubs For Prince Georges County

At the Community Chest Building in Mt. Rainier, May 9, the National Council of Jewish Women, Prince Georges Section, held a meeting to survey the need for recreational facilities for adults past fifty. To this meeting were invited some of the outstanding men and women in the county.

Hope was expressed that in cooperation with other community groups, a Golden Age Club or Recreational Center could be forged in one of the more heavily populated areas of the county, organized and staffed by Volunteers of the National Council of Jewish Women. Statistics in the county, from the 1950 census, show a population of 17,000 people over 65 years of age.

Mrs. Melvin Menes, President, presided, and Mrs. Theodore Peyser, member of the National Board of Council, described in detail the workings or functions of similar clubs started by Council Sections throughout the country.

Mike Canning Wins MVP; B. Petroff Stars In Co-op Babe Ruth Loop Opener

Highlighting the Co-op Babe Ruth League of Greenbelt opening day ceremony at Braden Memorial Field June 25 was the presentation of a trophy to Mike Canning, 4-E Ridge Road, star catcher of Gonzaga High School and Greenbelt Legion Post 136 nines. Mike was adjudged the Babe Ruth League's Most Valuable Player in 1954. The personable 16-year-old was captain of Co-op Drug Store's valiant team, starred as pitcher, catcher and hitter, and was an outstanding example of good sportsmanship to the league's younger players.

Mayor James D. Wolfe tossed out the first ball amongst all the uniformed Ruthers just before the game. From the ensuing scramble big Frank Jerry emerged, clutching the souvenir ball. 15-year-old Jerr is the 200-pound firstbaseman for Variety Store.

Saturday's "opener" was a personal triumph for Barry Petroff. The big righthander pitched and batted Variety Store—last year's champs—to an 11-7 win over Drug Store. Barry struck out 12 batters and walked 9. Seven of the walks came in the last two innings when it looked like a good Drug Store hit would kayo Petroff. They never got it; Barry was also fanning 5 men in those last two innings.

Ronnie Bussard, 15-year-old chucker for Drug Store, got off to a shaky start, yielding 6 runs before settling down. Tiring, Bussard turned over pitching chores to his battery mate in the 6th and 7th innings. Bussard whiffed 10 and walked 7; Clark fanned 3 and franked 5.

Petroff collected 3 of his team's 6 hits—all doubles—and batted in 5 runs.

Diminutive Robert Taylor bested burly Tommy Iveson in a Co-op Babe Ruth League pitching duel to spark Service Station's 3-1 victory over Drug Store the morning of June 22. The little lefthander fanned four and gave away but 3 walks while being touched for just 7 scattered hits. Iveson allowed only two hits but was wild, walking 11. He also made a costly throwing error in the third inning. Ivy struck out eleven Gas Pump batters.

The Drugmen made menacing gestures in their 6th. Bobby Canning singled to left, Lance Walden tapped to Taylor and both runners were safe when Lefty's throw pulled Pete Bowman off first base. Momentarily unnerved, Taylor walked Bobby Oring to load the bases with no outs. Roy McCauley saved the Gasoline lads' skins by grabbing Doug Endres' third-baseline smash and throwing truly to Dale White, forcing Canning at the plate. Cather White calmly tossed to Bowman, nipping Endres, to complete the crucial double play. Taylor then fanned Billy Steele.

Benny Lopez made a nice running catch in leftfield to thwart Clark's bid for a long hit in the 12th.

Bob McGlothlin bested Fred Slauch, June 23, as Service Station got its second win in a row, nipping Supermarket by 9 to 8. Bobby struck out 21, walked 6 and gave up 9 hits while big Fred fanned 9, walked 5 and was touched for 7 safeties. McGlothlin's single and double drove in 4 runs and Pete Bowman's pair of singles plated 3 men. Freshmen Ellsworth Byers and Roy McCauley hit Slauch solidly. Byers had two singles and McCauley smacked a two-bagger.

Big hitters for Supermarket were Ronnie Newman and Rich Fonda with three hits apiece, Newman scoring 3 and Fonda two times. The southpaw catcher batted in 3 runs and Hank Trattler batted in a pair with his second inning single.

OPEN LETTER

The City of Greenbelt is again planning its annual Fourth of July celebration. This year it is under the local Boy's Club unit with the gala celebration and the fireworks being held at the Greenbelt Lake Park.

The usual fine parade is planned at 10:30 a.m., and a cordial invitation is extended to all organizations to participate in this parade.

If your organization can send a marching unit, or a float, please notify us.

Austin R. Green
Parade Marshal.

GCA Opposes Reported Attempts Of Clubs To Sell Hard Liquors Here

Presented with information that certain unnamed fraternal organizations in Greenbelt may shortly apply for permits to sell hard liquor by the drink in clubhouses here, Greenbelt Citizens Association has expressed itself as "unalterably opposed to the granting of such permit."

The GCA meeting Tuesday, June 28, also voted to ask the City Council to institute a family subscription rate for use of the swimming pool evenings, or evenings and Saturday mornings, for the rest of this season. The subscription plan for this season, although on a limited-hours basis, would be a trial run for guidance in considering the placing of the pool on a family subscription basis next year and largely doing away with pool use by non-Greenbelters starting with the 1956 season.

After hearing an explanation of the regulations and procedures presented by City Clerk Winfield governing Greenbelt City elections, McCamy, the Association voted unanimously to express its gratitude to her. While the Association does not back specific candidates, it invited Mrs. McCamy to explain the way candidates are put on the ballot and the way residents may participate in the election process.

Greenbelt City elections will take place Sept. 20, 1955, when five City Councilmen will be elected. Candidates' petitions for places on the ballot must be submitted to Mrs. McCamy between July 22 and Aug. 22, and should be submitted to her as early as possible in that period. GCA also voted to set up a committee to study the city budget—taxes and services—starting as soon as possible so that residents may have more information on the subject when they consider views of candidates for the City Council and so that budget and tax issues will be better understood when next year's city budget is being made up by the Council and discussed at the Council's open hearings. Greenbelters who would like to serve on the committee should get in touch with Bob Volckhausen or other GCA officers.

GCA plans to hold at least one—and maybe two meetings in September—before the Greenbelt city elections. At one meeting, all candidates for election to the Council will be invited to appear, present their views, and answer questions. If it is possible to hold a meeting before the candidates' meeting, it would be devoted to a report on budget matters and a discussion of them.

Swimming Pool

Herman Sirlin kicked off the swimming pool discussion in a report which compared the swimming pool situations at Greenbelt and at Garrett Park. At Garrett Park, he reported, family subscriptions are sold each season to 250 families at $20 per family. This covers operational costs and some amortization and — on the assumption a family uses the pool daily — means an outlay of 40¢ per family per day. Non-resident use of the pool at Garrett Park is discouraged by a $1.50 adult ticket and 95¢ tab for children. Therefore residents there use the 49th Place, College Park.

pool daily, Sirlin said.

If a Greenbelt family of four were to use the pool here daily—and many Greenbelters shun it because of the crowded condition—it would cost $55 for the season at present ticket charges, he continued. He held that sale of season subscriptions at, say, $7 per family to 2,000 families, would cover costs and end the need to depend on non-residents' admission charges covering expenses. And expenses could be cut with smaller crowds, he held.

Sirlin displayed charts showing among other things, that on an average day the Greenbelt pool is used by 375 Greenbelters and 410 non-residents. On such a day he said it takes in $52 from Greenbelters and $129 from non-residents. Seasonal income is about $14,600 including 1,000 swimming lesson fees at $2. Seasonal expenses of the pool were placed by Donnie Wolfe at $15,000, not counting $5,000 worth of repair and maintenance work done before the season and coming out of the City Budget, Sirlin said.

Liquor Issue

The hard-liquor issue was placed before the GCA by Clancy Wells, a retired Army captain. Wells said certain fraternal organizations, which he refused to name, are considering applying for on-premises consumption permits for spirituous liquors sales in Greenbelt and one will decide soon whether to do so. Such permits are within the jurisdiction of the Prince Georges County Alcoholic Control Board, he explained, and the City Council has no power in

Davy Crockett Prizes

More than 1,100 entries were submitted in the Davy Crockett Days limerick contests recently held at the CO-OP shopping centers at Greenbelt, Takoma Park and Wheaton.

After much deliberation, the judges came up with the winners of each contest. In Greenbelt the winner was Mrs. A. Wayne, 11-H Southway. For submitting the winning entry Mrs. Wayne was awarded $100 in merchandise certificates.

The youngsters had their days, too. Every day one of them was selected — by the Daily Draw — to receive a real Indian War Bonnet, to be sent to them from Wyoming. The winners in the Greenbelt CO-OP daily draw were: Gordon Wayne, 11-H Southway, Caren Clevenger, 19-K Ridge, Ned Greene, 60-K Crescent, Jay Coleman, 11-D Hillside, Eric Greene, 55-H Ridge, Nancy Lawson, 18-C Ridge; Roberta Johnson, 5506 60th Avenue, East Riverdale; Stephen Smith, 19-F Ridge; and Dennis Brown, 9611

GVHC Board Reaffirms, Clarifies Policy on Sales Fees To Members

The Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation's existing policy on the charging of the 2 1/2 percent acquisition fee and the $25 handling fee on the sale of GVHC homes was unanimously reaffirmed for the record by the GVHC board of directors at their meeting Friday, June 24.

All those who purchase GVHC homes are charged a 2 1/2 percent acquisition fee. When a GVHC member decides to transfer to a different GVHC home that is more expensive, he must pay the difference between the acquisition fee on his original home and the 2 1/2 percent fee that would normally be charged on his new home.

However, if the new home he is purchasing is the same price or lower than his previous home or the difference between the two fees is less than $25, then the member must also pay a $25 handling fee. In the case of a member who bought his original home before the 2 1/2 percent acquisition fee was instituted, then he must pay the entire 2 1/2 percent fee on the new home he is purchasing.

If a member sells his home to a private party and not to or through GVHC, the purchaser must pay the $25 handling fee. Questioning by board members brought out that even a bequest of a home by a member to a relative is subject to the $25 handling fee.

Switch Box Problem

Paul Campbell, GVHC manager, reported an issue vexing certain frame house owners. One member in each group of frame homes has the electric switch boxes and meters affixed to his home, either outside or in a cupboard. Those in cupboards take up desired space, and some members have asked that they be moved or removed.

Al Long objected to GVHC bearing any expense for this, on grounds that we each have some disadvantage which we bear for others and which we accepted when we bought. Leland Leasia countered by citing the space problems created for residents by the meters, and Andros noted that sometimes PEPCO installs the troublesome equipment after a member has bought his home. An amended motion by Long was passed, which directed Campbell to write PEPCO asking that its equipment be moved in such cases, to the residents' satisfaction and at no cost or liability to GVHC.

Campbell asked and secured unanimous permission to spend $3,500 for an air compressor unit and drill, clay digger, tamper, and breaker machine. The machinery is to be used in rebuilding sidewalks, cutting soil, tamping earth after holes have been cut in the soil during repair jobs, cutting through walls, and so forth. It could also be used on a charge basis on jobs for members.

Dave Kane, maintenance head, has located a used compressor for sale at $2,350, which would cost $4,663 new, Campbell said. The rest of the $3,500 would be for accessories. GVHC president Ed Burgoon described the purchase as a morale-builder for the GVHC employees and a labor-saver too. It was an example of long-range thinking, he held.

Landscape Plans

Hans Jorgensen, reporting for the landscaping committee which he heads, brought in three alternative plans for landscaping. The plans are to be carried out jointly by GVHC and the city. The board voted unanimously to recommend to the city the plan emphasizing the planting of deciduous shade trees this year, with the supporting plantings of shrubs to be done in the following year. Jorgensen said somewhat over 200 bare-root trees could be bought wholesale and planted this year.

The alternative would have been to plant area by area, as was done last year for Southway. Jorgensen noted that the plan approved will give the best over-all pattern. Campbell added at the discussion's end that, since GVHC maintenance men probably will be busy during planting-time, perhaps GVHC will put up money and the city will furnish labor.

Day Camp Begins; Kids Learn Skills

About sixty boys and girls are enjoying camp life at Prince George County Recreation Department's first day camp session at Camp Pioneer, Riverdale.

Three units, 20 youngsters each, directed by six leaders, are learning fire-building, cooking on a "hobo" stove, lashing archery, nature crafts and other outdoor skills. A turtle pen has been constructed so the children can study habits of turtles as well as plan for a Turtle Derby. Weather permitting, youngsters will climax their two weeks camp experience with a "sleep out" under the stars.

Additional sessions are planned for July 5-15 and July 18-29. A two-week session, August 1-12 is planned for Negro children in the County. Camp fee of $11 for two weeks covers camper insurance, weekly trips from camp, craft supplies and milk. Openings are available in July and August sessions, and applications can be secured from Prince George's County Recreation Department, 4803 Riverdale Road, Riverdale, AP 7-8696.

Explorers Post 229

Under leadership of Ben Graves, Post Advisor and Leader, members of Greenbelt Boy Scout Explorer Post 229 spent Saturday, June 11 "exploring" Andrews Air Force Base.

Since heavy rain prevented the boys from camping in pup tents as originally planned, the boys returned home. Early Sunday morning they drove back to the base for more exploring and were treated to a flight over Baltimore and Chesapeake Bay in a two-engine transport.

The Long View

by A. C. Long

"The boss wants to talk to you after lunch — something about a sensitive position," his secretary informed me one day a couple of weeks ago.

"Tell him not to worry, I'll get used to it or get rid of it," I replied, thinking he meant the itchy seat pad someone had palmed off on me.

"No! No! Not that," she explained. "He means a security check on your job."

"My heavens! Not another one!" I thought, but sure enough in a few days a polite, courteous little man was making his surreptitious rounds in the neighborhood and at the office.

First, one of my neighbors belted out good-naturedly, "What did you do? Steal some money or something? There was an investigator here and I fixed you up right. Told him your grandfather was hanged as a horse thief and that you couldn't be trusted with blondes! Ha ha!"

Then a quiet, concerned neighbor sidled up to me and in a low whisper said, "I thought I should tell you that you're under investigation." Then looking at me doubtfully, "I hope I was right in telling them what I did."

"Oh, yes, perfectly all right," I told him, not knowing what he said about me — he never told me that.

Another neighbor gave me some odd looks for several days, then blurted out, "Say, are you suspended or something? They are investigating you, you know."

"Hope you get the new job you're after" was the remark I got from the optimist in the court. When one of my friends was asked if he had ever heard any bad rumors or gossip about me, instead of saying "no!" — merely stated firmly that he never put any faith in hearsay. What a friend!

I don't think they got to my enemies yet. But then, who knows what one's friends might do to you?

the matter other than to express its views the way any other group can do.

Wells argued that liquor sales can be controlled by the authorities when drinks are sold in a tavern where there are employees, etc., but that in a club manned by volunteers it is uncontrollable despite the most tightly-written house rules. He noted that non-members of certain fraternal organizations, at whose clubhouses beer now is consumed, may be found drinking there now. Wells warned that Greenbelt would get a bad name if trouble ensues after hard liquor is served and consumed in clubhouses here.

Other GCA members noted that traffic hazards may result if drinkers drive from clubhouses inebriated. It was recalled that about 10 years ago Greenbelt overwhelmingly, by a 9-to-1 ratio, rejected the idea of a package liquor store in Greenbelt when that was broached. That was the last time the issue was the subject of a poll here, these old Greenbelters recalled.

Wells' resolution putting GCA on record against clubhouse on-premise hard liquor sales and consumption in Greenbelt was seconded by Hans Jorgensen and by the ev. Glenn M. Samuelson, pastor of the Greenbelt Baptist Chapel. It was carried on an 8-to-2 vote with 3 abstentions after considerable discussion.

Girls Invade Braden Field

At long last, dulcet noises of children at play at Braden Field include the sound of female voices. It is hard-hitting softball that the girls are bringing to town and you owe it to yourself to see the Greenbelt Girls Softball League in action.

There are four teams, each boasting a complement of 15 girls, but what with parental vacation plans there is still time for girls not yet signed up to get into the act. Contracts can be secured at the Tobacco Shop and must have parents' signatures — and remember there is no guarantee of openings, but it is a possibility.

How the girls got to Braden Field is a story worth telling. Phyllis Wilson and Florence Shinderman could see no good reason why girls should be excluded from participation in the great American sport, and proceeded to do something about it. Having secured immediate and gratifying response from girls in town, they then proceeded to secure sponsors for four teams. In less time than takes to write about it, four sponsors were secured: Suburban Trust Co., the petroleum division of Greenbelt Consumers Services, Greenbelt Realty Co., and City of Hope National Medical Center's Regional Office.

Bats, balls, gloves and catcher equipment are required to get the game going, and these were secured through sympathetic cooperation and efforts of Don Wolfe, city recreation director. City Manager McDonald approved the program and through Don Wolfe's efforts it was integrated into the City Recreation program.

Charles Link, Jr., manager of Little League farm teams, is overall coach, assisted and encouraged by Mrs. Link. Thanks are due to Larry Miller, Ernie Boggs, Elliot Bukzin, Nat Shinderman, Willard Wilson, and Chester Speziale. Now it's up to you to come on Wednesday evenings at 6:30 and cheer for the girls.

Carnival At Lake Attracts Crowds

The summer carnival at the Greenbelt lake is in full swing this week. Complete with rides, bingo, and nine games of skill, the carnival will be open evenings from 7 until 11:30 through Sunday night.

Scores of Greenbelt small fry were on hand, clambering into the roller coaster and Ferris wheel, and munching cotton candy, hot dogs and similar fare as the carnival got underway Monday evening. An octopus, airplanes, and merry-go-round rides were among dreds of local residents this week, the attractions.

The nightly bingo drew hun-while game stands temptel others to test their skill. Large crowds are anticipated for the weekend, as the carnival committee predicted record attendance at this year's event.

The carnival is sponsored by Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad. Proceeds will help finance their emergency services to local residents.
