Greenbelt Xmas Tree Has Thousand Bulbs

Paul Campbell, GVHC manager, reports the wonderful cooperation received from Pepco officials, and city, county, and Federal officials in helping GVHC to erect the Christmas tree at the Southway intersection in front of the Armory. The city lent equipment to GVHC and is paying the electric bill, while Pepco brought power lines to the island. The tree has 24 circuits and 1000 bulbs.

Chasanow Urges GVHC To Drop House Sales

Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation has taken under advisement a letter from Abraham Chasanow, pointing out the economies that could be effected in GVHC's operations by not engaging in the real estate business.

Chasanow wrote that his analysis of sales figures for the first nine months of 1955 indicated that GVHC is losing more than $9,000 per year by engaging in the sale of houses. The amount actually earned in sales commissions by GVHC, he charged, covers only about half the selling costs, if those expenses buried in administrative or other expense items were properly attributed to selling cost.

Chasanow stressed that over two-thirds of the sales income received by the corporation is attributable to membership and transfer fees which would accrue to GVHC even if it did not engage in the real estate business. He suggested that the Comptroller check his figures for their accuracy.

The Chasanow letter intimated that the Board may want to consider curtailing its real estate activities, especially in light of the fact that the charter or the membership has not authorized GVHC to engage in the business and it has done so without a real estate broker's license.

Chasanow Dropped

The proposal of Chasanow came at a time when the GVHC board had just announced an increase in monthly charges for next year and is cognizant of the need to keep costs to a minimum. Last month, Chasanow's contract as GVHC general counsel was not renewed for 1956 as part of the drive of the board to curtail legal expenses.

GVHC president Ed Burgoon said that the letter will be studied by management and discussed at a future Board meeting after receiving management's analysis and recommendations.

Carolers Tour City On "Reindeer Bus"

The Junior High Fellowship of Community Church, with a membership of 64, will go Christmas Caroling by bus around town this Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 accompanied by their Counselors Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Moore.

Operating the "reindeer powered" bus will be Donald Wolfe, city recreation director. The group will make stops at various points in the community and will be assisted in their singing by three master musicians—Ronald Atherhold and Tommy Bartholomew, Trumpets, and Eddy Moody, Accordion.

Following the singing, the party will regroup at Fellowship Center for thawing out, refreshments, and games directed by Robert Halpin.

YOUTH CENTER DANCE

The Youth Center will hold a Christmas Dance Friday, December 23, in the Center school; music by Marty Lanner's orchestra. Time: 8 to 11:30 p.m.

The Blessing of Christmas

Children look forward to Christmas anticipating the gifts they will receive. Students enjoy Christmas because they have a vacation from school. Merchants know that Christmas brings more profits.

But apart from the exchange of gifts, vacation from school, and greater financial gain, there are deeper and more abiding values of this season of the year.

The first Christmas message came to fearful shepherds as they were keeping watch over their flock by night.

"Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the City of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord."

The heavenly choir responded to the angelic announcement with

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

From these proclamations comes the true meaning of Christmas. The baby born in Bethlehem's manger was born to be the Savior of mankind.

"Thou shalt call his name Jesus for he shall save his people from their sins."

Flowing out of this great truth are the abundant blessings of Christmas, namely: freedom from fear, good tidings of great joy, and peace on earth.

FREEDOM FROM FEAR We are fortunate in living in America where we have freedom of worship, freedom of the press, and freedom from want. We are not however, guaranteed the fourth basic freedom—freedom from fear. This freedom comes from above.

"God has not given us a spirit of fear, but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

GOOD TIDINGS The message the angel brought on the first Christmas night was good news to people living in bondage. Even in our day when tensions are mounting in the world scene and where unrest is experienced by so many people, it is reassuring to know that the good news proclaimed in Bethlehem over 1900 years ago is the solution for the needs of all people today.

PEACE ON EARTH Within the heart of every individual there is a deep desire for inward peace. This is also true in international affairs. The way to gain peace takes top priority on the agenda of the nations of the free world and in the hearts of enslaved peoples.

Peace for the individual as well as for the nations is made possible through the Prince of Peace, whose birthday we commemorate.

So to you and to your family may you have a Blessed Christmas filled with the true meaning and the deep abiding values of this season.

City Council Approves New Budget; Tax Rate $1.68; Will Spend $332,786

The city council presented Greenbelt with a Christmas gift of the lowest tax rate in its history — $1.68 per $100 assessed valuation, at its meeting last Monday night. Culminating an intense series of budget meetings, the council went on record as "doing the

Free Polio Shots To First Graders

Greenbelt's first grade children will receive free polio shots as soon as the Public Health Service releases a new batch of the vaccine, according to Sidney Rubin, former treasurer of the Greenbelt Health Association.

Rubin said that arrangements have been made with the GCS pharmacy to secure a supply of the vaccine, which, along with the expense of administering the shots, will be paid for out of funds left by the health association, which went out of existence in 1950.

Local Kids Receive Second Polio Shots

By Rose G. Amberg

The second series of polio shots were given to Greenbelt's second and third grade youngsters Thursday, December 15. As before, the cooperation of parents, school, county health nurses, and local doctors reflected in the youngsters' attitudes. Clenched fists yes, but tears almost non-existent. To quote Ed Murrow, "these are some of the people who helped make this program possible".

Baptist Chapel Choirs Present Musical Cards

The Cherub and Chapel Choirs of the Greenbelt Baptist Chapel will present "Musical Christmas Card" Sunday evening, December 25, in the Center school at 8 p.m.

As the setting for the musical program, there will be ten scenes in silhouette form similar to those found on Christmas cards including portrayals of Bethlehem, the manger, Madonna and Child, shepherds and the wise men.

The candlelight program will begin with a solo from the hall by Mrs. Glenn W. Samuelson singing, "O Holy Night" followed by the Chapel Choir in black robes singing "Joy To the World" during the processional. After the Bethlehem scene and duet, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" by Mrs. William Webster and Mrs. Bernard Carson, the Cherub Choir, wearing their new red gowns, will sing, "Away In A Manger" and "Little Baby In A Manger, I Love You" during the manger silhouette.

The Chapel Choir will sing the anthem "The Christmas Story" during the shepherd scenes. Other soloists are Mrs. Donald Uhlin, John S. Stewart, Jr., Dr. James T. McCarl, and Rev. Glenn W. Samuelson. The Chapel Trio consisting of Mrs. John S. Stewart, Jr., Mrs. Glenn W. Samuelson, and Mrs. Donald Uhlin will sing "Sleep Child Divine."

This original presentation was written by Mrs. John J. Oleksak, director of the Chapel Choir. Lighting and art work is under the leadership of Donald Uhlin. Mrs. James T. McCarl is the director for the Cherub Choir whose ages range from four to eight.

best it can" to encourage new development in the community, hardly a city department escaped the economy ax in the council efforts.

Next year's estimated budget was approved as $332,786—a reduction of $18,047 from city manager Charles McDonald's recommendation. Compared to this year's estimated expenditures, it is about $3000 less. Included in the 1956 budget is a $10,000 surplus.

Economy Keyword

Examination of the budget cuts indicate an "economy budget" with amounts like $50 and $100 reduced from gasoline expenditures, delay of improvements in the community building (new stoves, painting, lock repairs, etc.) and elimination of capital outlay items in the swimming pool, parks and other departments. Community promotion expenditures were reduced, with enough left for programs on Independence Day, Labor Day and Halloween. "Advertising" was cut $250. Materials and supplies in various departments were cut and various amounts intended for overtime help in "finance" and "roadways" were eliminated.

No Improvement

In general, the new budget leaves little room for improving services and the council indicated its intention to put any anticipated emergencies on a priority list to be financed by accumulated surplus during the year. Although no services were eliminated, the council disclosed, more volunteer help from citizens may be necessary to maintain the previous level of quality.

Special Xmas Show

For the admission "price" of canned goods, toys or clothing, kids and adults, too will be able to enjoy a special two hour show at the local Greenbelt theatre on Friday, December 23. The Greenbelt American Legion Post 136 is sponsoring the annual event and is in charge of distributing the gifts collected to local needy families. There will be two performances at 1 p.m. and at 3 p.m. Everyone is invited.

Merry Christmas

NO VACANCIES

For the first time in GVHC history, there are no vacant housing units in Greenbelt. Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer, supervisor of sales and services, announced this week that every house will be either sold or rented by December 31, 1955.

To Do Our Part

Another year has rolled around, with frightening speed it seems, and here we are again. We recall so vividly the situation confronting us last year, when the News Review seemed close to folding. But, as with so many crises in our stormy history, we survived—a little subdued, perhaps, but still kicking. And that's why we're doubly pleased this year to extend to all our readers our very best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

It has been a rare and wonderful privilege for the staff of the News Review to serve the needs of our community this past year. And we are looking forward to another year of participation in our civic life. It is our wish and our prayer that next year will see many of the plans for the betterment of the city come to fruition. It is our wish, too that the spirit and harmony so characteristic of this holiday season will take root and blossom all year—that our readers, friends and neighbors will all pitch in and continue to make Greenbelt a wonderful place to live in. It may be a little early to make resolutions, perhaps, but nevertheless, we resolve to do our part toward that end.

"YEAR OF DEVELOPMENT"

Great credit is due the city council and Mayor Tom Canning for their successful effort at reducing the tax rate. More credit is theirs for the painstaking, time-consuming study of the budget, an effort which surpassed any other city council in our memory. For the first time, we believe, the council knows where every penny is destined and for what use. Although the tax rate was reduced a few cents under this year's, it is in reality - an economy budget."

Of course, the motivating force behind the council's zeal was the prospect of new homes which a reduced tax rate is supposed to encourage. But as one councilman put it - "If they are going to build, they better do it this year; we can't cut this budget any more than we have."

Services have not been eliminated, but they have been reduced. The council hopes for greater volunteer citizen participation in community life, particularly in recreation activities and youth groups. City manager Charles McDonald must watch each expenditure even more closely, because of cuts in materials and supplies. Although the prospect is hardly one of "austerity" we expect a year of business-like atmosphere that will not encourage quick appropriations from surplus unless an extreme emergency requires it.

So this is to be the "year of development" in Greenbelt. The council has set the lead, shown the way, removed the largest obstacle. By next Christmas we will know if council's "gift" to the community was truly worth the effort. But then, it isn't the gift—it's the sentiment behind it that counts.

WORTH A THOUGHT

Dear Sir:

It seems to me that Greenbelt Consumer Services is inadvertently overlooking one of its best sources of revenue by virtually ignoring the market at home, the people of Greenbelt. The Washington Star ads don't get to all the potential customers in Greenbelt, yet the ads in the News Review are woefully lacking in information, last week's toyland providing an excellent example. Would it not pay GCS to experiment a bit and see what bringing the complete picture to Greenbelt, in the form of full advertising, would produce in the form of revenue. And one other point, if I may. What ever happened to news about GCS meetings? There seems to be none whatsoever in the News Review, despite the organizational change of a few months ago which was designed to bring GCS closer to its owners. Perhaps publishing the minutes of the meetings, in the form of paid News Review ads, might be part of the answer. At least it might be worth a thought.
