Greenbelt Pharmacy Grand Opening Saturday; Gifts, Bargains, Sales!

Saturday morning, May 24, will witness the grand opening of Greenbelt's newest business venture, the new Greenbelt Pharmacy. Occupying the corner store which was in previous years the site of the GCS Drug Store, the new Pharmacy will feature a self-service arrangement. In addition to the wide variety of products displayed in all the larger drug stores these days, the new Pharmacy will also house a complete soda fountain and food service, and provide a free prescription pick-up and delivery service.

The Grand Opening specials cover a huge list of items at bargain prices (see ad on page 4.) In addition there will be free giveaways—balloons and ice cream for the kids, perfume (1000 bottles of Lenthieric Tweed Perfume normally priced at $1.15 each) and necklaces for the ladies, and a surprise for the men.

Owner of the Greenbelt Pharmacy is Leon Strauss, presently residing in Washington. Strauss is a 1944 graduate of the University of Maryland and served on a hospital ship in Japan for two years while in the Navy. In 1949 he opened his own pharmacy at 17th and Pennsylvania ave., N.W., one of the busiest corners in the District. This venture has been eminently successful, and while his Assistant Manager will continue to operate the store in Washington, Strauss plans to spend all his time in building up the Greenbelt store. He and his wife, Phyllis, have two boys, eight and four years old.

While at the University, Strauss was on the school tennis team for three years, and in 1949 won the D. C. Recreation Tournament. He also boxed on the Freshman team. If he has the time, he expects to play some tennis in Greenbelt.

The Greenbelt Pharmacy will handle a complete line of cosmetics, including such famous brands as Revlon, Rubenstein, Yardley, Max Factor, DuBarry, Tussy and others. Outstanding among the displays is a wide selection of Hallmark greeting cards, to be sold exclusively here at the Greenbelt Pharmacy.

The fountain and food department will serve full meals, breakfast, luncheon and dinner, and Strauss was especially pleased to bring with him to Greenbelt the chef he has employed for nine years. He noted with amazement that Greenbelt does not have a decent eating place, and plans to put extra emphasis on filling this gap in the community's services.

Hours of the new Greenbelt Pharmacy will be 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and until 11:30 p.m. on Friday nights. Aside from his chef, Strauss has hired a staff of Greenbelters to man the Pharmacy. He has installed new air conditioners and fixtures, and completely renovated the interior of the store.

Bill Gold Addresses County PTA Ass'n.

Bill Gold, well-known columnist of the Washington Post, will appear at the May 27 meeting of the Prince Georges County Council of PTA.

Gold, who writes the popular "District Limer" column daily for the Post, will lead a discussion on "Facts and Fiction in American Education."

Election of officers will also be held at this final meeting of the year which will be held 8 p.m., at the Thomas Stone Elementary School in Mt. Rainier.

The meeting is open to PTA members and any interested persons.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Greenbelt Little League Farm system will hold its first practice session, Saturday, May 24, 10 a.m. at Handball Court behind the swimming pool.

Center, North End PTA's Make Plans To Teach Foreign Languages Here

Following approval by both the Center School and the North End School and the North End School Parent-Teacher Association, a joint PTA committee has begun work aimed at launching a foreign language program for children of those schools, beginning next fall.

Forms will be distributed to parents within a few weeks which will determine local interest and support for such a program. The language course would be given as an "extra" on a fee basis and would not be a part of the regular classroom instruction. The response to the survey will serve as guidelines for choosing the language to be taught and planning how the program would be conducted.

Chief organizers of the program are Mrs. Rose Amberg of the Center School and Mrs. Helen Geller of the North End School. They have received the approval of both school principals to inaugurate the program which would be optional to students.

Montgomery County has had a similar program in operation for four years, teaching French. About 800 students in 19 elementary schools participate in the program during after-school hours. Next year the course is to be installed in the school curriculum as pilot program at one school on a 15-minute a day basis. Accokeek in Prince Georges County began Spanish lessons for elementary students this past year, giving them as one of the "club" activities held during the school day. It is understood that Greenbelt's own St. Hugh's Parochial School plans to begin a course in Russian next year.

One school in Fairfax County, Va., began instructing French last year during school hours. Instruction is limited to children who elect it and who are average or above in scholastic achievement. It is classed with such other activities as class piano and band. The tuition is $12 per semester. The fee in Montgomery County is $10 per semester.

According to Mrs. Geller, the successful Montgomery County experience provides a blueprint which could be followed by the local schools with certain modifications to meet our own needs. "Educators have pointed out," she noted, "that children in the lower grades learn more quickly than any other time in their lives and can readily and quickly pick up a foreign language."

She emphasized that there is no possibility in the foreseeable future of the county placing a foreign language in the school curriculum and that parents must support such instruction themselves if they want it for their children. She reported that she had recently heard a ten-year-old who has had Montgomery County instruction not only speak French well but with a beautiful accent.

The sale will continue until the close of business in the commercial area, or until about 9 p.m. Proceeds of the sale will enable the school to purchase much-needed visual aids and other items deemed necessary for improvement of the school program.

Cash donations, in lieu of baked goods are also welcome, and should be placed in a sealed envelope for the child to hand to his teacher. It would be greatly appreciated, if it is convenient to do so, to have baked goods, salads, casseroles, candies and other culinary specialties delivered to the stand at the Center in disposable containers, thereby eliminating the need for their return. Persons unable to deliver their donations of food, may obtain pick-up service by calling the following numbers: 6193, 9342, and 9677.

Summer Reading

The North End School announces a summer reading program beginning June 23 and running through August 1. The program will be open to public school pupils, and also to those who attend private schools. $15.00 tuition will cover the entire cost of the course. Applications should be filed immediately. Call Mrs. Maxine Grimm, principal of North End School, GR. 3-2066.

Council Gives News Review Access To Police Dept. Arrest Records

by Russell Greenbaum

The News Review in the future will have access to the city police "arrest record book" to aid the newspaper in reporting on crime news, the city council decided at its regular meeting on Monday, May 19. This action came as a result of a petition by Harry Zubkoff, editor of the News Review, that the newspaper be allowed to see police records so it could report accurately on police activity in the city.

Zubkoff asked that the News Review be permitted to view the complaint sheet upon which is listed all complaints reported to the police along with the details. The complaints, he stated, would not be run as news stories but would be used as "leads" for stories of significance to the community and within the bounds of good taste. City Manager Charles McDonald and the council, however, felt that since the complaint sheet included a number of complaints that were without foundation, it would not be proper to allow it to be used by the press.

It was revealed that it was the regular practice of other communities in the area to keep a record of arrests and make it available to the local press. The News Review learned for the first time at this council meeting that such a record has been kept by the new chief of police Jim Williams since January 1 and that it is available to the press and the public. This record book is a brief listing of the name of the person arrested, date, place, and nature of the crime.

The council indicated that Chief Williams could give further details on the arrest if he did not feel it would jeopardize the work of the police. Zubkoff felt that the community would benefit by accurate and full reporting on criminal activities in the city and would minimize or eliminate exaggerated rumors that have recently been circulated.

Little League Umpires

In other action, the city council voted by the narrow margin of 3-2 to transfer recreation funds that would allow the Little League to hire professional association umpires for its games this season. Previously local youngsters have been used to umpire Little League games as part of the city program of developing local youths.

The Little League umpires, however, have felt that the local amateur umpires were unreliable and not always available and that it is important for the games to be called accurately. Recreation Director Warren Leddick stated his disagreement with this viewpoint and had planned to set up an umpire school this year to train local umpires. However, he agreed to accede to the team managers' request this season.

Councilman Ben Goldfaden stated that outsiders were more likely to be impartial and non-partisan in their decisions and thereby avoid unpleasant controversy. Voting negatively were Councilmen Jim Smith and Alan Kistler.

New Greenhill Road

After hearing a recommendation from Greenbelt Homes Inc. that new Greenhill rd. of the Green Valley subdivision not be joined with Research rd., the council felt that the matter should be explored further and placed it on the agenda for the next meeting. The council also heard a letter from Woodway Homes urging that the road be cut through to the North End in order to reduce the traffic on Northway coming down from the North End.

City Manager McDonald argued that it would be poor city planning to make Greenhill rd. a dead end at the end of the Green Valley development. It would create great difficulties in bringing in fire-fighting equipment and other emergency services. He admitted that the new developers would prefer a dead end, and Councilman Kistler also stated that this might be preferable.

The city would bear the expense of constructing the approximately 100 feet of roadway that would connect Greenhill rd. with Research rd., but it would not be a costly job. McDonald felt that the main nuisance to the frame homes in the area would be during the construction work, but he said the new road might create a hazard for these homes.

New Lights, Walks

The council authorized the manager to put up two additional lights in the area around Ridge rd. and Plateau pl., which is inadequately lighted, provided that the majority of the residents didn't object to the placement of the additional lights. The council also voted that the repair of sidewalks would be with concrete and not blacktop.

Band Concert Mon.

The Greenbelt Band's spring concert will be given on Monday, May 26, at 8 p.m. in the Center School auditorium. This will be the first public performance by the band under the direction of Don Smith, the band's new director. There will be no admission charge, and all of Greenbelt is invited.

In addition to displaying their accomplishments to parents and friends, the members of the band plan to take this occasion to honor their retiring director, Michael Ronca.

A special invitation to the concert is issued to those boys and girls who have expressed interest in participating in the summer's program for beginners. A meeting of the parents of these children will be held on Monday, June 2, the deadline for returning the registration cards distributed through the schools last week. The meetings of parents will be held at 8:30 that night in the auditorium, immediately following regular band rehearsal.

EXCEPTION

To the Editor:

May I take exception to the portion of last week's editorial which stated that only one set of parents evidenced an interest in chaperoning the teenage dances provided by the recreation department?

I think Mr. Leddick will remember the meeting over a year ago to which he invited parents who were willing to provide chaperonage for the teen-age activities. Perhaps because of the icy snow weather condition which prevailed that evening, only six mothers attended the meeting, at least five of whom are members of St. Hugh's Parish, which also provides teen-age activities under the auspices of the Junior Sodality and Catholic Youth Organization. In addition to other year round activities they conduct weekly dances throughout the summer, when the Youth Center is closed, which many St. Hugh's parents, including those previously mentioned, are called upon to chaperone.

In view of the foregoing, I think it unfair to say that "only one set of parents have actually volunteered as chaperones." I do agree with you, however, that too many parents seem disinterested or indifferent, and Mr. Leddick certainly deserves our commendation and appreciation for doing such excellent work in spite of this difficulty.

Very truly yours,
A St. Hugh's Parent

Ed. Note: You are quite right, of course, and we regret our error. But even 6 parents are not enough, and the point of our editorial remains the same.

OPEN LETTER

To Mr. Walton, Manager of the Greenbelt Theater

The members of the Golden Age Club would like to express their thanks for inviting them to attend the showing of The Robe. We sincerely thank you for thinking of us.

LIONS DANCE

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Lions Club will hold its Annual Spring Dance on Saturday, May 24, from 9 to 12 p.m. at the Greenbelt JCC on Ridge.

This is always a festive occasion of good, wholesome, fun and fellowship. It is an opportunity for the 'young in heart' to trip the light fantastic to their hearts desire (or to the limit of their physical endurance.) It is a time to meet friends and renew acquaintances with those in the Community.

The Lions Club extends a sincere welcome to each of you, our friends and neighbors, to come and join with us on Saturday Night.

Don Charney and his orchestra will supply the music; the Lions Club will prepare the hall and the necessities; you may supply your own favorite dancing partner (and beverage). A good time will be assured.

Center School PTA

By Rachel Algaze

The final meeting of the Center School PTA for the current year was held on May 6, at the school's auditorium. As has been true of past meetings, it was well attended. The candidates selected by the nominating committee were elected unanimously. Serving next year will be Leslie A. Robinson, president; Charles Cormack, Jr., vice president; Lawrence Levine, treasurer, and Delia Sinkov, secretary.

As a result of returns of a questionnaire submitted by Rose Amberg, Health Committee Chairman, the May meeting was devoted to "Guidance for Parents Concerning Sex Education for the Elementary School Child." If enough parents are interested, further discussions and workshops can be conducted in the fall.

The featured speaker, William F. Benedict, who is currently the Executive Director of the Social Hygiene Society of the District of Columbia, spoke most inspiringly on the subject. Although Benedict discussed sex education in great detail, the following is a brief resume of his talk.

In recent years educators have recognized the need for a program of instruction to better enable youth to understand the meaning of the sex urge, as it relates to useful and wholesome living. Because of the delicate and controversial nature of the subject, progress has been slow, but sure. Teachers throughout the area are being carefully trained to impart this knowledge properly. However, it was emphasized that sex education be given in the home, as presumably the parents know their child best. A common sense attitude should be assumed, together with the use of proper vocabulary in explaining facts. In the absence of guidance in the home, the school and church are the next best sources of such information, and should assume that responsibility. Benedict also stressed the role of the father as a teacher in the home, aside from the mother. He urged that fathers, in particular not encourage their sons to be hostile, as opposed to sissy behavior, but rather to instill in them the desirability of growing up to be kind, gentle, and considerate, in preparation for their future role of husband and father. At the conclusion of his talk, Benedict called attention to various books and pamphlets on this subject which were on loan to the school.

In earlier announcements, Miss Long invited parents who may have any questions on general matters to feel free to call her between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. The Handbook for Parents, prepared jointly by the Board of Education and the County Council PTA, will be available shortly and orders should be placed with Mrs. Sara Thompson. The price is 35c.

BANK HOURS

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of Suburban Trust Company, consideration was given to the fact that the legal holidays of May 30 and July 4 both fall on Friday this year. It was therefore decided in the interest of the public to have all 14 offices of the Suburban Trust Company remain open for business on Thursday evening, May 29 and July 3 from 5 to 8 p.m.
