GHI Quorum Pass Amendments

Despite the snowstorm that hit Greenbelt last night, almost 200 Greenbelt Homes, Inc. members turned out for the annual membership meeting at Center School to give GHI its first quorum-attended meeting since October, 1957.

The membership voted to reduce the quorum requirements, to shift from a majority to a plurality system of voting, to stagger the terms of board members, and to give the corporation authority to make loans for refinancing sales and home improvements. In addition, a resolution was passed 71-9 requesting stronger and more adequate controls of pets by municipal authorities. A host of minor by-law changes was also approved, including one changing the annual meeting time from the month of March to May.

Most of these changes were accepted by the membership as recommended by the board. The exception was the resolution increasing the pay of board directors. Instead of voting for a flat increase to $750 for each board member, the members voted the increase for just the offices of president, secretary, and treasurer, which formerly drew $500. The pay of other board members were increased from $400 to $500.

As a result of the change in election procedures, there will be no turn-off election this year. The nine candidates receiving the highest number of votes for the board will be declared winners. Those four candidates getting the highest number of votes will serve two-year terms. The other five candidates will serve for one year and be required to stand for election again next year.

The by-law change reducing the quorum requirement from 10 percent to 5 percent of the membership, or 75 whichever is less was passed by a close vote. This change, plus all other by-law changes, required a two-thirds majority.

The resolution passed on dog control requested the city government to strictly enforce the present ordinance to pick up dogs running at large and to prosecute owners. It further requested that the city amend its ordinances to provide licensing of dogs, proper inoculations, and mandatory graduation of fines. A provision was also asked which would make destroying of property and excessive barking to be subject to damage settlement and fine upon conviction.

The membership voted with few dissents for GHI to be represented at today's hearing at Upper Marlboro in opposition to a local citizen's application for a license to operate a liquor store in Greenbelt.

LOCAL REPUBLICANS MEET

Emmett H. (Zip) Nanna, Jr., former Prince Georges County Trial Magistrate for Juvenile Causes, will be guest speaker at the March meeting of the Greenbelt Republican Club. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m., Tuesday, March 22, at the residence of Mrs. Adelaide Kaighn, 8-A Southway.

Nanna was a resident of Greenbelt for 14 years prior to 1952 and will discuss "Problems Peculiar to Prince Georges County." All local Republicans and other interested persons are invited to attend. For further information, phone W. Gordon Gemeny, GR. 4-4838.

Milasi House Burns; First Floor Guttled

by Rita Fisher

When young Frank Milasi arrived home from school on Monday, March 14, he and a friend, George Clinedinst, Jr., spotted smoke coming through the front door of Frank's house. When they realized that the house was on fire, George called the Fire Department and Frank, extremely worried that his mother might have been taking a nap upstairs, got in touch with his father, Paul Milasi, who operates a shoe repair shop at the Center.

Fortunately, no one was in the house while the fire ravaged the entire first floor. Mrs. Milasi was at the Center at the time. She took the car and rushed home, leaving Mr. Milasi behind because she feared the shock would do harm to his heart. But as Mr. Milasi put it, "I walked up and down those steps about fifty times and then I was afraid that my wife might have gone into the house and got burned, so I walked home."

The fire, of unknown origin, had destroyed every bit of furniture downstairs. Mrs. Milasi salvaged the few things she could from the drawers, and the house was boarded up for the night. Workmen have already begun to tear up the burned portions of the house. But for the Milasis, it means a lot of heartache while they readjust themselves.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Greenbelt Volunteer Department and Rescue Squad is asking for help from people of Greenbelt to help replace the things lost in this tragic fire. Many people have offered assistance to the Milasis, and the Auxiliary would like to act as a central point for anyone wishing to help. Information as to how you can help will be given you if you call Mrs. Dutton at GR 4-6156 or Mrs. Fisher at GR 4-6787.

Chaplain Swanson Will Lead Baptist Services

Special Services will be held in the Greenbelt Baptist Church for a two week period beginning Sunday, March 27 and concluding on Palm Sunday, April 10. Chaplain George C. Swanson, U.S. Radio Station, Cheltenham, Md., will be the guest preacher and George Gregg of Greenbelt will direct the congregational singing and conduct the volunteer choir. The Sunday services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. while the week night services, with the exception of Saturday evenings, will begin at 7:45 p.m.

Chaplain Swanson was reared in Warren, Pa., and was active in the Calvary Baptist Church there. He received his education at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, and Asbury Theological Seminary of Wilmore, Kentucky.

Chaplain Swanson has held pastorates in the Midwest. He was in full time evangelistic work with the Fuller Evangelistic Foundation from 1949 until 1952. Since 1952 he has been a chaplain in the U.S. Navy. Naval assignments have taken him as far as Japan in the Pacific and to Europe and the Mediterranean Sea. His son, Dane, who is five years old, was born on the island of Guam.

Waldo King serves as the chairman of the evangelism committee, which is guiding this effort.

Police News Review

The snow has been the major issue of complaint to the Police Department this past week. Boys who had been cautioned by the police to cut out the horseplay with snowballs but still continued, were taken to headquarters, where they remained until their parents came to take them home.

A drive is now underway to search for cars with dead tags. One man whose car had temporary tags was sought out and asked to remove the tags. Two out-of-state cars were found with expired tags, and the owners of the cars were notified to alter the situation.

Public Appeal Made Necessary By Rise in Printing, Delivery Costs

For the second year in a row, the Greenbelt News Review will conduct a door-to-door fund-raising campaign throughout the community, to begin April 4. The decision to make a public appeal was taken by the board of directors of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, publisher of the weekly newspaper, after a careful consideration of the financial status of the paper.

"While our advertising situation has picked up since last year," said Al Skolnik, president of the 5-man governing board, "our costs have also gone up. Effective January 1, 1960, our printing charges, after

Twin Pines Members Hold Annual Meeting

Members of Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association will gather tomorrow (Friday) evening for a bit of socializing and to transact their annual business. Coffee and cake will be served beginning at 7:30 p.m. and the business portion of the evening will get underway at 8. Meeting place will be the Social Room of the Center School.

The Board of Directors has recommended a clarification of the Twin Pines By-Laws. At the present time it is not clear whether the power to lend on the security of a co-op home is limited by the purpose for which the loan is intended. The proposed change would make it clear that Twin Pines could lend to its members for any good purpose, if they are willing to put up their home for security.

Another proposal the members will be considering is whether or not to pay those members of the loan committee who are not on the Twin Pine staff a fee of two dollars for each loan committee meeting they attend. Also on the agenda is a panel discussion with Eleanor Ritchie, Jacqueline Shabe, Harvey Geller, and Bruce Bowman on "How Twin Pines Can Be Of Greater Service To Its Members And The Community."

Another feature of the evening will be the elections to the Board of Directors, Supervisory Committee, and the Nominating Committee of the Association. One third of the Board of Directors and half of the Supervisory and Nominating Committees are elected each year.

Candidates for the Board are Jeff Chapman, 35-F Ridge; Howard Laster, 15-A Ridge; Joseph L. Muller, 13-K Hillside; George C. Reeves; 2-C Eastway; Edward Schneider, 5-B Crescent; and John S. Webb, 3-B Crescent.

Gerald Boisvert, 7-C Crescent; David Cottrill, 14-S Laurel Hill; John A. McCafferty, 44-E Ridge; and William Sauls, 59-D Ridge are running for the Supervisory Committee.

COUNTY BUS COSTS

The Prince Georges County Board of Education reports that the cost of transporting pupils on the county buses (210) is $22.00 per pupil as compared to $41.00 per pupil in privately-owned buses (29).

being kept stable for a period of 5 years, were increased 15 percent. In addition, we have incurred the expense of expanding our crew of delivery boys to cover the new residential homes and apartments and to provide more effective and reliable service to the older homes."

"The situation facing the paper is simply this," continued Skolnik. "To publish a 4-page paper every week in the year is now costing us about $8,000 a year. Based on last year's experience, we can anticipate that revenue from advertising will run short of this figure by $750 to $1,000."

Fortunately, the successful fund drive held by the News Review for the first time last year yielded enough income to cover last year's deficit plus a reserve to meet part of this year's deficit. "But," Skolnik added, "with the increase in printing charges at the beginning of the year, this reserve is rapidly being depleted."

Alternative

The board of directors considered the alternative of raising advertising rates. One upward adjustment had already been made in the rates earlier in the year. It was felt, therefore, that another increase sufficient to meet the entire deficit might result in the undue loss of advertising accounts.

"Many of our advertisers advertise liberally in the paper as a matter of public and community service," said Skolnik. "We did not feel that it would be fair to shift the entire fiscal burden of supporting the paper on their shoulders. We think it is much more equitable to encourage the financial participation of the individual members of the community in what we consider to be essentially a community activity and project."

The News Review is delivered free of charge to every household in Greenbelt and thus is completely dependent on advertising income (and fund drives) for its existence. The paper is staffed by a volunteer group of residents, under the editorship of Russ Greenbaum. The newspaper has been an independent institution, both financially and editorially, since it made its first appearance in 1937, just a few weeks after the first residents moved into the new government-built experimental housing project.

No set amount for each family to contribute is being asked by the News Review. However, as an approximate gauge of what each family might want to consider donating, Skolnik pointed out that if the paper were on a subscription basis, the cost to each subscriber would be two dollars a year.

"We hope that each family in deciding what to contribute will consider the services the News Review has performed in the past year in keeping the family informed of local events, in furnishing its favorite local organizations with publicity, and in providing what we hope has been a source of pleasurable reading."

Mrs. Elaine Skolnik, 2-E Northway (6060), has been named to head the organization for the drive and she is seeking volunteer collectors in each court.

Vol. 24 Thursday, March 17, 1960 No. 33

Not Immoral

To the Editor:

In last week's News Review an article regarding the City Council hearing on the Liquor Store License contained a statement as follows: "The main objection was the possible unwholesome effect the existence of a liquor store in Greenbelt would have on the youth."

The liquor store cannot possibly have any effect on the youth since by law they are forbidden to patronize a liquor store and we all know that there isn't anyone as law-abiding as the youth of Greenbelt.

Various state (Pennsylvania, Michigan) and county (Montgomery) governments operate state and county liquor stores, with Civil Service employees. Are these state and county governments engaged in activities that have an unwholesome effect on youth? A liquor store is not an immoral, degrading, or disrespectful business!

And just where were all these concerned adults and teenagers (concerned teenagers' letter . . . "seriously damage the moral attitudes of Greenbelt's Youth . . ."), yes, just where were they when the movie "Baby Doll" was being shown in Greenbelt? Adults and teenagers can view a liquor store on into eternity with no effect on their emotions or morals, but can the same be said for just one showing of the movie "Baby Doll"? In Time magazine's review of the movie, such raw, vulgar and illicit sex concerned adults and teenagers when "Baby Doll" played in Greenbelt and who now oppose a liquor store on moral grounds?

Another statement in the article . . . "The Council was urged to look upon the opposition as a moral rather than a religious viewpoint!" Is the opposition so naive as to think that there might be someone who will believe that? Let's quit kidding.

The representative for Greenbelt Consumer Services Inc., appearing before Council could very easily have explained to all those yearning for a 'shoe store' just what happened to the shoe store that the Co-op once operated here. Further, the Co-op grocery store, much nearer to school, youth center, swimming pool, has excellent sales in a variety of beers and wine, in fact, a monopoly! Why shouldn't those people desiring other types of alcoholic beverages have the right to purchase such beverages just as conveniently as those using beer and wine?

The repeal amendment is still in the Constitution of the United States. Let's keep it there and give the people of Greenbelt the rights granted in that Amendment.

And what fuzzy-wuzzy thinking do-gooder had the audacity, the poor judgment, to drag non-voting, non-taxpaying teenagers into an affair that strictly, positively, belongs only to the voting and taxpaying adults of this community?

JCC SERVICES

Services will be held at the Jewish Community Center Friday, March 18, at 8 p.m. Chaplain Harry Schreiner of Fort Meade will conduct. He will be assisted by Arthur Waxman, soloist of the United States Army.

Following the services, a Ner Tamid award will be presented by the Chaplain to Allan Levine. An Oneg Shabbat will conclude the program for the evening.

"WINE IS A MOCKER"

To the Editor:

"Wine is a mocker. Whoso is deceived thereby is not wise."

If that advise was needed hundreds of years ago, it is a hundred times more needed today. Greenbelt has had a character to maintain.

Let's keep it growing.

When The SIREN BLOWS

by Rita Fisher

March 17

Greenbelt, without any serious house fires in quite a while, had two of them this past week. The first one, on Saturday, March 12, was in a home on Ridge Road. The fire, of unknown origin, was confined to the mattress on the bed of a two year old child. The mother was in the room making up the other twin bed when she saw the mattress and bedclothing burning. She called for the Fire Department, and the fire was brought under control. Damage was estimated at about $150. No injuries were reported.

Another fire, much more serious, occurred on Monday, March 14. Two boys, on their way home from school, saw smoke coming from a house on Ridge Road. One of the boys lived there. They tried to get in but found it impossible, so they quickly notified the fireboard. The entire contents of the first floor were destroyed, except for a few dishes which lay in the closets, covered with smoke-dust. The entire living room and dining room were burned beyond the possible salvage point. The cause of the fire is still undetermined as no one was home at the time. At this writing, Fire Chief Vince Dutton is with the Prince Georges County Fire Marshal, investigating the scene. Although not destroyed, the upstairs walls and furniture were smoke-charred and clothing was sooty and smelly from the fire. No one was injured except for a little parakeet, which was burned to death in its cage. The family involved had no fire insurance on their household possessions.

The Rescue Squad made three trips to Prince Georges Hospital and one to Providence this week. Taken to Prince Georges on the ninth was a man who slipped on the ice on Ridge Road and suffered a possible broken hip. A four year old girl who slammed the front door on her hand up on Hillside was taken to the hospital for stitches. One of her fingers had been cut about three-quarters of the way through. Stitches were taken and her finger was saved. Also on the tenth, a man on Ridge needed assistance when he suffered a heart attack. Oxygen was administered while enroute to P.G. At 2:49 a.m. Saturday morning, the ambulance carried a man, critically ill with a liver ailment, to Providence.

Have you thought about fire insurance lately? We've been thinking about it for some time.

Mrs. Greenbelt at Home

by Vivian Greenbaum

Back in the days when I got married, being an independent, modern young woman, I insisted that the word "obey" be stricken from the marriage ceremony. If I had it to do all over again, I wouldn't bother about such trivia. I wouldn't want anything deleted from the ceremony but something added to it. Somewhere along the "love and cherish" part I would have this put in: "And do you promise to guarantee your wife at least three sick days a year, in bed, and to feed her during that time so she doesn't starve?" And here I would have the rabbi fix Russ with a piercing look, designed to make him squirm for all the times in the future that he was going to break this vow.

I'm not saying that I never get a day in bed when I'm sick, but I have to go into my Camille act to get it. This is a strenuous role to play, and once I gain my objective, I abandon it for that of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. I am particularly well endowed to play Elizabeth Barrett Browning. When it comes to languishing on a couch, I can make E.B.B. pale into nothing.

Once he is resigned to it, Russ is quite cheerful about staying home. He announces that this will be a good opportunity to put the house in apple-pie order and get it running on an organized basis. He is going to wash everything in the clothes hamper, and maybe then he can match up some of the socks in his drawer. He is going to clean out the desk so that we can find things like envelopes and stamps. He is going to weed out the magazines. He is also, he informs me, going to rearrange the kitchen cupboards so that it will be possible to find a frying pan without taking everything out.

From my bed I watch him gather up the first load of clothes to be washed. These are his clothes exclusively, and the load includes a pair of red pajamas, never wash-

GARDEN CLUB MEETING

The Greenbelt Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, March 17, at 8 p.m., at 2-B Hillside. Clayton Werner will speak and lead the discussion on continuous blooms. Subjects to be discussed at subsequent meetings include pruning of ornamentals, flower arrangement, Christmas lighting, and vegetable gardens. Other events scheduled include a tour of Sherwood Gardens, Dumbarton Oaks, Aquatic Gardens, Plant Industry Station, and Greenbelt gardens.

The Garden Club was organized in 1938 by a group of Greenbelters interested in landscaping and care of yards or in vegetable gardening. It conducts monthly meetings, occasional field trips, and yard and garden contests. New members are cordially invited to attend any meeting. For information, call Hans Jorgensen, GR. 4-9286.

Safe as these homes appear, it can happen here. Maybe we should do a little more than just "think" about it. (I mentioned this paragraph to my husband this evening and he informs me that we do have fire insurance.)

I was just getting ready to fix supper when my husband arrived home from work and the siren blew three times. I held the door open while he put his jacket on, and he was on his way. Figuring that I'd wait for him to return before any of us had supper anyway, I called to my oldest daughter to give the baby her supper while I went out chasing after the engines. I drove down to the Fire House, where the location, "Space Agency," was written on the blackboard. Having the time and the car, I decided to take a look.

On the way down Glendale Road, I noticed some equipment from out of Greenbelt already leaving the scene, so I guessed that whatever it was was already out. I found out that it was a small fire in one of the basements in an unfinished building. It was put out fast. What makes me feel good is the rapidity with which these fire companies answer calls.

ed before. It will be worth being sick just to hear Russ when he discovers that he is going to be wearing pink underwear for the next six months.

The children wander up during the day eating strange concoctions, such as chop-suey sandwiches. Russ also comes up to tell me that he doesn't see why I have so much trouble getting the children to eat. They gobble up everything he gives them. The trouble is, he says, that I lack imagination in feeding them.

The next morning, I come downstairs to take over the reins of my now organized household. The pile of magazines to be discarded sits in the middle of the livingroom floor. It contains all the magazines I want to save. I replace them on the magazine shelf. I contemplate bleaching Russ's underwear but decide against it. I'm entitled to a few laughs in life.

I open my kitchen cupboards and notice they have been rearranged. Russ has been instructed, on pain of death, to keep out of my kitchen cupboards. Tonight, I think I'll retaliate by sticking my feet in the refrigerator before going to bed.

HEARINGS ON LIBRARY BUDGET NEXT WEEK

The hearings on the 1960 county library budget, which contain a request for funds to provide a special children's librarian for the Greenbelt Library, will be held next week by the Prince Georges County Commissioners.

There will be a hearing in Upper Marlboro on March 22 and one in Hyattsville on March 24 (one day earlier than usual because of a county holiday on March 25). The library budget will be discussed at approximately 10:45 a.m.

The library budget request for this year is $698,445 as compared to $396,944 approved for the past year. However, the library requested $524,556 last year as urgently needed, and further increasing costs and wider needs account for this year's larger figure.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Laster, 15-A Ridge, announce the arrival of a daughter on March 6. Sarah weighed 7 lbs. 1 oz., and joins two sisters, Lisa and Jane, and a brother Jonathan.

It's a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Warren Richards, 6-P Plateau. Christine Lee made her debut on February 29, weighing 5 lbs. 9 oz. She has a brother, George, age 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Terwilliger, 25-E Parkway, announce the birth of a daughter. The important date was February 27.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Daleton Smith, 12-F Hillside. Kevin Craig was born on March 3, and weighed 6 lbs. 13 oz. He joins two brothers, Douglas and Brian.

Good luck to Jim and Jean Mann, 37-H Ridge, and their four little ones who are leaving Greenbelt.

James Clyde Stripling, Jr., 1-K Gardenway, was one of twenty-two students from Maryland who are receiving scholarships this year at Harvard College. This represents over 25% of the 76 Maryland students enrolled in the College.

Georgeanna Lammons has been initiated into Beta Sigma Omicron Sorority at Millsaps College, Jackson, Mississippi. Georgeanna was one of seventeen students who became new members of the organization following initiation ceremonies this month.

The Geller family, 117 Northway, enjoyed the visit of cousins Heddy and Julius Marmorek from Buenos Aires last week.

Congratulations to John Matthew Lloyd, Jr., 3-K Research, who received his Master of Arts in Education at the Winter Convocation of the George Washington University on Monday, February 22, at the University's Lisner Auditorium.

Army Specialist Four Teryl C. Lawson, son of Mrs. Miriam A. Reynolds, 115 Northway, participated with other personnel from the 101st Airborne Division's 327th Infantry in Exercise Colorado Eagle 1, an air mobility maneuver at Fort Carson, Colorado. Lawson, a rifleman in the infantry's Company B at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, entered the Army in January, 1958.

Glad to hear that Mrs. Lucille Rowe, 14-Q Hillside, is back home and feeling better. She wants to thank all her friends and neighbors for their thoughtfulness while she was hospitalized.

We hope that Gladstone Lewis, 5-A Gardenway, will soon be feeling better.

A get-well-quick to four year old Jimmy Lake, 4-D Gardenway, who recently underwent surgery.

Helen Geller's, 4-H Cloverettes entertained Evelyn Simonson's newly formed 4-H group at the Geller home, 117 Northway on Monday, March 14.

A demonstration on how to process fabrics was given by Elise Geller. The girls gave a hilarious performance when they showed improper and proper ways of conducting a 4-H Meeting. Games and songs were also on the program along with wishes of good luck to the new group.

Breathes there a Greenbelter with soul so dead

Who never to himself hath said,
"When the News Review is in distress

I'll gladly answer its SOS."
Hark - 'tis time for a call to be made,

A call that cannot be delayed,
To the phone - at once - dial (GR. 4)-6060.

Say that you are ready to go.
O Woodland Hills, let's hear from you.

Parkbelt, Lakeside, Lakewood too,
G. H. Iers, apartments all,
Volunteer - make that call!

Thanks from UNICEF

To the Editor:

The many residents of Greenbelt who helped the world's needy children by sending UNICEF Greeting Cards last fall will no doubt be gratified to learn how much their generosity has helped to accomplish.

Through the selfless efforts of Mr. Bruce Bowman, and of the "Greenbelt Consumer Services Inc.," 630 boxes of UNICEF Greeting Cards were sold in Greenbelt in 1959. In terms of the aid given by the United Nations' Children's Fund to over 55 million needy children and mothers in 104 countries, this represents one of the following:

—enough BCG vaccine to protect 31,500 children from tuberculosis;
—enough DDT to protect 2,520 children from malaria for one year.

The U.S. Committee for UNICEF is proud to express its heartfelt gratitude to the residents of Greenbelt, and to Mr. Bruce Bowman and the "Greenbelt Consumer Services Inc.," who helped make this possible.

Executive Director

NEW PARKING REGULATIONS FOR G.H.I. COURTS

If you desire a designated parking space in the Service Court of your residence you may now obtain one, assigned to you by permit.

The new Ordinance provides that "by written petition of 51% of the owners of record in any court, the City Manager shall be authorized to assign by permit one parking stall to each housing unit in the respective service courts.

The new Ordinance spells out some exceptions to the above regulation, relating to courts that have both garage compounds and parking stalls.

There is no charge for the permit.

There is a fine for unauthorized parking in an assigned space.

Petition forms are available at the City Office.
