PG Commissioners Deny Library Funds Request

After meeting with the County Commissioners on Friday, July 1, the Prince Georges County Library Board found itself still stymied in its attempt to get money to buy the first of four sites for proposed regional libraries, according to county newspaper reports.

The Commissioners at this meeting once more denied a board request to pay $35,000 for a three-acre regional library site off Colesville rd. near Prince Georges Plaza.

Instead the County heads want a detailed list of sites, prices, locations and agents of other parcels examined by the library board. These number about 12, according to George R. Hammond, board chairman.

He said his group has looked at all available land it can find but none suits the purpose of the regional building except the one on Colesville rd. As instructed earlier by the Commissioners, the board met with the school board to see if it had any land to offer.

The Commissioners were in hopes the library board could build on a school site with the school building, and thereby save some land purchase money. Hammond said the school board had nothing available that would benefit the library board.

"We're right back where we started," Hammond said.

"We can't get too much on these other (12) sites because the agents know we have no authority to negotiate," he added.

Cost of the regional library, the first of four proposed, would be met through a $1 million bond issue authorized for that purpose by the 1959 Maryland Assembly. The library board now operates 10 branches. The regional building would house 100,000 volumes.

Outside of the Colesville rd. property, Hammond said the sites checked are either in a bad location or too expensive. Commissioner Frank J. Lastner asked him to check into land along University Blvd., set aside originally as a parking lot for employes at Lansburgh's in the Langley Park Shopping Center.

Commissioner Jesse S. Baggett said he was opposed to the regional idea because it never has been explained to him in detail. There have been no costs submitted, exact locations, and explanation as to just how it would fit into the branch library concept, he said.

"What is all this going to cost the taxpayers? That's the important thing," Baggett said.

Hammond said his group will keep in contact with the school board in hopes a site will be found that could house both a school and a regional library building.

IMPROVED TRASH CANS

To help in reducing the clean-up problem—which takes the major share of the time and manpower of Greenbelt's maintenance department—a new type of trash container is being installed throughout the city. These are 55-gallon drums which pivot between two upright posts. Although they are easy to empty, they cannot be upset except intentionally, thus making them dog-proof. Refuse containers of this type are recommended by the Maryland-National Park and Planning Commission and are used in many of the national parks throughout the country, particularly where bears pose an additional problem as trash pilferers.

New trash cans of this type have so far been installed in the park area below the statue in the Center, around the softball and baseball diamonds at Braden Field in the park areas at the Greenbelt Lake and in the 55-57 Ridge playground area.

ALL STARS OPEN TOURNEY

The 1960 Babe Ruth League All Star team will travel to Frederick, Md., on the 27th of July to open this year's state tournament. Every year each league within the state select 15 of their top players to represent their league in a state tournament. The winners then go to a regional playoff and from there to the national tournament.

The 1958 Greenbelt team went to the state finals and lost in extra innings 3-2 to a strong Bel Air team. Greenbelt in 1959 met this same Bel Air Squad in the semi-finals and again lost. Bel Air went on to win the championship.

This year promises to be a different story, as coach John Huffman claims this to be his best team yet. The boys have the size and experience needed to take the title. They have already played one practice game and defeated the Washington, D. C. team by a 1-0 score. Louis Caruso pitched a two-hitter striking out 11.

On July 23-24 the Greenbelt team will travel to Quantico for games with Quantico Babe Ruth All Stars.

This year's team will include: Pat Cawley and Ray Sherman of the Tobacco Shoppe; Louis Caruso, Kirk McCauley, Tim Moore and Ronnie Danner of the Fire Department; Tom Klem, James Caruso, Joe Miller, Dave Palmerton and Bob Greene of the Co-op; Al Morza, Ken Powell, Alex Grant, Phil Miller and Mike Wayne of the Bowling Center.

The first half league winner, the Fire Department team, will meet the Quantico Braves this Saturday, July 16 at 6 p.m. on Braden Field. The Quantico Braves have won 6 and lost 2 in their series.

Ritchie and Shwimer Nominated for Board

The names of two local citizens were presented by City Council members as nominations for the 3-man personnel board which will fill the requirements of one of the recent charter changes regarding dismissals of city employes. Thomas Ritchie and Sam Shwimer were presented by Tom Canning and Alan Kistler. The other council members will offer names, and an election of the board will be held at a later date.

Approved for first reading last Monday night was the ordinance to set up an advisory planning board of nine members, as recommended by the advisory committee on planning. Selection of the board members will follow final approval at a later city council meeting.

This ordinance, which was reported in the News Review of June 30, establishes a planning board composed of nine members—a city councilman, the city manager, and seven citizen-members—to "engage in such planning activities as are necessary to provide the council with workable solutions to such problems as residential, commercial and industrial land development park and recreational land development; zoning changes; building and housing codes; urban renewal; transportation and community facilities; capital budgeting; and other activities . . ."

The ordinance and report were formally presented by Charles Schwan, president of the committee, and Rex Tugwell, committee member.

NO REPUBLICANS HERE?

The keynote speech at the city council meeting last Monday night was made by Alan Kistler, who advised the council that it would be convenient to adjourn the meeting, if possible, at an hour which would enable those present to hear the keynote address of the Democratic convention. The council barely made it, closing its meeting by 9:45, and covering the whole agenda in record time.

Little Legion Chatter

By Bud Dean

Monday Pepsi Cola Athletics still fighting to stay in the American League race were stopped cold by Bob Nuzzo's 2 hit shutout, as the DAV Tigers went on to win, 10-0.

Tuesday Co-ops fighting hard to make a race of it in the second half gave the DAV Tigers a scare before weakening in the fifth, as the Tigers clinched the National League championship, 10-3.

Wednesday the Lions had an easy time of it with Greenbelt Pharmacy Orioles winning, 9-0.

Thursday Pepsi Cola Athletics getting mad after their defeat by the Tigers took out their mad on the American Legion Cardinals, beating them, 16-12.

Friday Co-ops still fighting hard gave the National Guard Indians a rough time of it until the sixth when they weakened allowing the Indians to score 12 runs to dash their hopes of an upset. Indians won, 20-6.

NEW MAINTENANCE WORK

Two large projects now being undertaken by the city's maintenance department have both arisen because of building construction in Greenbelt. Since the city's sewage disposal plant is no longer in operation (its function having been taken over when Greenbelt came under the jurisdiction of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission), the limestone gravel in the filter beds is no longer needed. Several hundred tons of this gravel are now being transferred in city trucks to form a bed for the driveway of the new fire house, now being constructed on Crescent rd. Later this base will be surfaced with black top.

A storm drainage problem has been created by the construction of the new apartment buildings near the Center. Grading of the land around the two buildings on Crescent has caused a far larger flow of rain water into the catch basin near the underpass than was originally contemplated when the catch basin was built. A city crew will soon begin the job of enlarging it so that it will be able to contain the overflow of future storms.

Little Leaguers Split With Quantico Team

The Greenbelt Little League in cooperation with the Recreation Department played host to the Quantico Youth League Saturday, July 9 at Braden Field in an afternoon and night game.

In the afternoon game the DAV Tigers, National League Champs, took the field against Quantico's leading team, the Red Sox. This was a slugging match from start to finish with the Tigers winning 14 to 10.

In the nightcap it was a horse of a different color as the Greenbelt All Stars were topped by the Quantico All Stars, 3-2. Mikesell of the National Guard Indians pitched for Greenbelt and Dzialo tossed for Quantico.

Police News Review 2 on Council Query New Building Funds

Greenbelt police found five men stopping cars near the lake and told the men to leave the area. They were creating a hazard by stopping cars and, although they had County licenses, they did not have licenses to sell in Greenbelt.

A wheel from a car was stolen from 9 Court of Ridge. Police are following up a lead as to the thief.

Quite a few complaints have been recorded from people who claim that their clothes were stolen from the laundromat at the Center. Police warn those who leave their clothes for hours or even overnight (and in one instance, two days) that this is a risk. With the numerous reports of thefts being received, it is advised that this practice be discontinued.

Officer Lee Byrd picked up a man who was on the wanted list by the State Police. Greenbelt police suspect this same fellow is involved in the breaking and entering at Dr. Eisner's office recently.

Another "peeping Tom" was reported in the 10 Court of Plateau on Thursday night around midnight. The suspect, believed to be around thirty-five years of age, eluded three policemen.

The main complaints for the week have been for speeding, restricted parking and barking dogs.

In the monthly report submitted to City Manager McDonald, Police Chief Jim Williams reported an increase in restricted parking charges, most of which were for parking on the grass and overtime parking. Inlisting the complaints, offenses included 20 animal calls, 7 littering, 5 ball-playing, 4 shooting 4 firecrackers, and 15 miscellaneous. Most of the complaints were minor.

A total of $98 was collected for tickets this past month by the city. The State collected $177.10 for forfeited tickets for the same period.

In last week's Police News Review, the wording in the item about an officer tripping over a log while chasing a "Peeping Tom" seemed to indicate carelessness. The facts are that the officer was chasing this man in the dark and ran into a low man-made barrier which had been constructed by a resident to keep children off his property.

Swim Team Loses Close Match; Meet Saturday

In a meet on Saturday, July 9 which featured close matches from beginning to end, Greenbelt's Swimming Team lost to Takoma Park by the close score of 157 to 164. The Greenbelt Team, under the coaching of Jack Trudeau, took 13 first places in the 26 events and was leading until the last two relay matches were held.

In the eight-year-old and under meets, Steve Hillebrand and Terry Wilson took a first place in one event and a second place in another. George Aulisio took first place in the 10 and under breaststroke.

Linda Keer achieved first place in all three of her events and turned in a good 26.3 seconds for 40 yards free-style. Ronnie Squires also took first place in all three of his events. Sandy Bowman, 16, took first place in free-style and second place in 80 yard backstroke.

The next meet will be held in Greenbelt on Saturday, July 16 at 9 a.m. against Pleasantview.

Two members of the city council have expressed serious doubts about the amount of money being spent from the special building fund to pay for the completion of the fire department building and the new community recreation center. In earlier meetings an accounting of all money withdrawn thus far from the fund was requested from the city treasurer. Last Monday night, city manager Charles McDonald informed the council that the balance sheet was not yet available, but will be shortly.

The situation was disclosed after a payment to the building contractor had been presented for approval by the council. The lone "nay" vote came from David Champion, who declared he could not honestly vote for the approval unless his previous request for an accounting of funds was answered. Mayor Alan Kistler went on record as voting for no further payments after this one, unless he, too, was informed of the status of the special building fund. (City manager Charles McDonald disclosed later that the fund can pay for erection of both buildings but not for land improvements or equipment. The total building fund was derived from the sale of the Center School to the county board of education).

Councilman Edgar Smith cautioned the council that payments to the contractor cannot stop without jeopardizing the construction of the units or causing legal consequences.

Of serious concern to the council was the possibility of floating bond issues to pay for the completion of the buildings, although it has been accepted by all that the new municipal office building will be paid for totally by bonds. This building is now in the architectural planning stage.

Library Runaround

The current runaround the County Commissioners are giving the County Library Board on the matter of purchasing a site for the first of four proposed regional libraries (as reported elsewhere in this issue) would be a farce if there were not so much at stake. The Commissioners have stalled every effort of the library board to get this program started. The actions of the Commissioners have now generated the impression that they couldn't care less about expanding the county's library system.

It is impossible to understand the attitude of the Commissioners, who are presumably vitally interested in seeing Prince Georges County progress and grow. There is a concerted effort underway to bring new business, industries, government facilities, and housing into the county. The Commissioners want the county to develop as much as anyone. Yet the kind of government facilities, businesses, and new residents that we want in Prince Georges are not going to move into a "backwoods" environment.

Is that language too strong to describe a county where some of its leading officials consider the reading of books to be a luxury or a waste of time? We think not. This will be our reputation if the County Commissioners persist in their present course.

We can't help being a little disappointed in Greenbelt's own County Commissioner, Frank Lastner. While he is not one of the adamant bottlenecks on the Commission on this matter and has tried to come up with helpful suggestions, he has been generally ineffective in forwarding the library program. At any rate, we would like him to know that the News Review — and we are sure we speak for many citizens of Greenbelt — is solidly behind improving the county library's facilities, even though it may mean higher taxes.

Just as the intellectual and cultural level of a university or a home is judged by its library of books, so is a county judged by its library services. We want to take pride in our county. At the present time, our County Commissioners are not making us very proud.

Install New American Legion Post Officers

Before 200 American Legionnaires and their guests, new officers of Greenbelt Post 136 and Auxiliary for 1960-61 were installed on Saturday, July 9 at a joint dinner ceremony at the Legion Hall. Attending the ceremony were Greenbelt Mayor Alan Kistler, city manager Charles T. McDonald, and noted Legion officials, including Bill Clay, DAV State Commander, and John W. Matthews, Maryland Department Commander.

The new Greenbelt commander is John L. Hogman, 2-B Southway, who succeeds Charles Link. Hoffmann served previously as commander in 1955-56. Mrs. Elaine Wood was installed as president of the Auxiliary.

Other Post officers installed were James Wersick, senior vice commander; William McBride, junior vice commander; Wayne A. Roberts, adjutant; Clarence Anders, finance; Lester Sanders, judge advocate; Richard Flatau, historian; Harry L. Bell, chaplain; and Hugh Miller, sergeant-at-arms. The executive committee consists of Malcolm Dougherty, Leroy McCaulley; William Peake and Charles Link.

Officers for the Auxiliary are Anne Link, 1st vice president; Shirley Appermann, 2nd vice-president; Leona Weedon, secretary; Pauline Anders, treasurer; Mary Scott, chaplain; Lillian Riley, sergeant-at-arms; and Dorothy Palmerton and Ruth Miller, color-bearers.

The Greenbelt Post has a record number of members—716—the highest number of any post in the Southern District of Maryland.

CLOVERETTES AT CAMP

By Helen Geller

Our club had eight of its eleven girls at 4-H Camp this summer: Barbara Bowman, Carol Dalton, Eva Garin, Elise and Barbara Geller, Rebecca Kaplan, Jeanette Louk and Barbara Skolnik as well as the rest of the Geller family; Helen Geller, club leader, as one of the Crafts Counselors, Harvey Geller as Athletics Counselor, and Holly Geller, aged five, as all-around-pest. Keko Dalton and Darlene McCauley of the Colverbuds attended too.

The Western Maryland 4-H Center is beautifully located on a lake in Garrett County, high up in the mountains. It was unusually cold there last week, and we all piled on our extra clothes at night when we went to bed much to the wonderment of the friendly little white belied field mice who considered our cabins their homes too.

Highlight of the activities each day was the evening campfire. We were divided into five Indian Tribes when we arrived (the adults automatically belonged to the Big Feet Tribe), and around the campfire the various tribes vied in challenging each other to stunts and feats of all sorts from tongue-twisters to human pyramids.

We are all very proud of Elise Geller and Eva Garin, who passed the Red Cross swimmer's test. Elise was also accorded the very high honor of being tapped as an All Star Camper during a beautiful candlelight ceremony.

See you all at the County Fair!

Baptist Convention greeting Rev. and Mrs. Earl Martin on May 3 as they returned from their first missionary assignment to East Africa. The Martins will be showing colored slides of their work during the Training Union hour at 6 p.m. on Sunday, July 17. Mr. Martin will preach at the 7 p.m. worship service.

Rev. Earl Martin was pastor of the Temple Hills Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. for four years prior to spending three years and four months in Nairobi, Kenya, East Africa. He states, "Without a doubt, Africa is the continent of the future. It is the last continent to be developed economically and politically. There are many nations on the continent which are striving for national independence, and it is inevitable that in this decade many of these nations will achieve this goal. This is the opportunity for Christian missions." Citizens of Greenbelt are welcome to hear the Martins.

Dr. James T. McCarl, deacon and chairman of the building committee, will preach Sunday morning, July 17 at the 11 a.m. morning worship service. Dr. Glenn W. Samuelson, pastor, and his family left this morning for their vacation and they will return on Aug. 4.

Scout Troop 202

At 10 a.m. Sunday, July 3, 23 Boy Scouts of Troop 202 departed for Camp Theodore Roosevelt until July 9.

While we were there we had an inspection from the National Office of the Boy Scouts in New Brunswick, N. J., checking on such things as camp set-up cleanliness of boys and camp, program, advancement, etc. The Troop scored an outstanding rating on this and came home with the Clean Campers Award. They were also given 15 individual clean campers awards and rated the highest advanced troop in the camp.

There were 28 merit badges earned, plus two second class, two life, two star ranks and six totem chips class scouts.

Our special thanks to Mr. Fred H. Birdseye who acted as Assistant Scoutmaster to Mr. F. Barry Coggins.

Life Scouts Smith, Pels, Loftus and Star Scout Blair completed Jr. Leader Training courses, respectively, in scout activities, aquatics, nature and handicraft.

Three members of the troop have been elected to the Order of the Arrow, a National Society of Honor Campers.

The Name Is Familiar

By Dorothy Sucher

Editor's Note: We present the first of a series of capsule interviews designed to acquaint our readers with some of the many interesting and well known people who live in Greenbelt.

In appearance, Harry Zubkoff, perennial editor of the Greenbelt News Review and its present advertising manager, rather suggests a bit player from Guys and Dolls: the bookie with the heart of gold. When he begins to speak, however, in a voice that is mellow and pleasing, emphasizing his remarks with a pair of eloquent eyebrows that tend to point upward just above his nose, he gives the impression of a very thoughtful, even earnest man. Yet there is more than a hint of devilry in his eyes, especially when he describes the awful fates to which he would consign those advertisers in the News Review who have fallen behind in their payments.

Harry takes a proprietary pride in the present healthy condition of the paper, and with good reason. When he first became editor, the News Review was at one of the lowest points in its 23-year history.

"I didn't know Harry Zubkoff the first thing about running a paper," says Harry. "I'd been dropping in at the News Review for a couple of months when the editor resigned, and somehow I found myself in charge. Probably, because everyone else knew better. Well, the first Tuesday night I came down to the office I discovered that nobody—but nobody—had showed up. Naturally, this made me feel a little insecure, so I telephoned the editor. She said, 'Gee, I wish I could help you but, ha ha, I'm going out.'"

"So I worked till 3 a.m. Wednesday night again I worked till 3 a.m. Thursday the paper came out. Great! Thursday night I got a call from the printer that started off like this: 'Well, Zubkoff, I understand you're the new editor. Congratulations! When are you going to pay the thousand dollars you owe me?'"

"But things moved fast in the next few days. For instance, the telephone company removed our phone because we were three months behind in our bill. Also, all the desks and the typewriters were moved out of the office because PHA (the government agency then

Correction: The Ted Dalbows, 14-P Hillside, their son, Douglas and guest Harold Goldberg, 14-L Hillside, have returned from Ocean City, N. J., where they visited relatives.

Greenbelt is very proud of Karen Klem, 4-D Hillside, Robert Haslinger, 11-N Ridge, Matthew McDonald, 28 Woodland and Tony McCarthy, 6-J Ridge. Karen, Regina High School's representative to Girl's State, spent one week in Annapolis. Robert and Matthew, representatives from DeMatha and Tony, representative from High Point, attended Boy's State for a week on the campus of the University of Maryland. Courses in citizenship, meetings and social events filled the days of these teenagers, sponsored by the American Legion.

Congratulations to Joan Haslinger, 11-N Ridge, who made the Dean's List at Trinity College.

A very happy birthday to Linda Samuelson, 4-E Hillside, who celebrated her 8th birthday.

Accompanying the 4-H girls and boys to the 4-H Camp in Swanton, Md., last week were Helen and Harvey Geller, 117 Northway, Ethel Nusinov and son, Marcus, 50-Ridge. Thanks to their many abilities and fine leadership, the youngsters had a marvelous time.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vernoff and daughters, Ellen and Debby, are now living at 11007 Lombardy rd., Silver Spring, telephone JU. 8-4581. Vernoff had been both prin-running Greenbelt), who had loaned them to us, needed them back."

But Harry Zubkoff survived these crises, and so did the paper. He served as Editor-in-Chief for a total of seven years. Russ Greenbaum, the present editor, once remarked reminiscently, "I'll never forget the look on Harry's face when he discovered I was actually willing to take the thing off his hands. He seemed stunned—he couldn't believe it was real."

So last fall, Harry Zubkoff became a free man again. But apparently his association with the paper had produced in him a trauma so deep as to be incurable. At any rate, if you look for him on Tuesday nights, there's only one place to find him: down in the grimy cellar the News Review staff fondly calls "the office," still plugging away, still one of the indispensable men on the staff of the Greenbelt News Review.

When The SIREN BLOWS

By Rita Fisher

July 12

There was a minor auto fire which was out on arrival on Greenbelt rd on July 5.

A series of brush and grass fires had the men on the go this week. Two calls came in from the B&W pkwy., both probably started by carelessly tossed cigarettes. Other brush fire calls came from Berwyn Heights (minor), the wooded area on Ridge between Laurel Hill and Research and one that was started by a man on Lakeside who did not know that a permit is needed for burning trash, grass, leaves, etc. here in Greenbelt.

A fire of different origin was the cause for the siren going off three times on July 10 at 10:34 a.m. The fire, caused by an overheated motor, was located in the switchbox in the boiler room of 30 Crescent. The fire was extinguished with a CO-2 tank, and the estimated property loss was $50.

The men of the Rescue Squad carried two maternity cases to hospitals this week. On July 6 they carried a woman to Washington Sanitarium in order to increase the population of Greenbelt. The other woman was transported to P.G. on the 10th.

Three children were in need of emergency transportation. One child, from Orange ct., a three-year-old girl, drank an excessive amount of adult cough syrup. The other call was to rush a four-year-old boy to P.G. after he had fallen down stairs and was bleeding from his mouth and nose. The child was a hemophiliac (bleeder) and emergency treatment was urgently needed. A little ten year old girl on Parkway was bitten by a dog on July 9. She suffered laceration on her right arm inside the elbow. She was carried to P.G.

The siren called for a Rescue Squad crew this morning around 11 a.m. to go to the scene of an accident at Kenilworth and Pontiac st. The man's name was listed as John Doe and he was DOA. I got the story later. A State Roads truck was proceeding south in the slow lane and a man in the jump seat was picking up wet paint signs. A truck was following behind as a warning to others with its dome lights flashing. A tractor-trailer came up from behind and collided with the second truck pushing it forward and hitting the first truck. The man in the jump seat was knocked out of the seat. The truck following went off to the side of the road but the tractor-trailer continued forward, side-swiped the first truck and ran over the man who had fallen out.

The Greenbelt Rescue Squad carried the deceased to P.G. for official confirmation of DOA. An ambulance from Branchville carried two other injured men to P.G. including the driver of the tractor-trailer. State police will place a charge of failing to reduce speed and failing to devote full time and attention to the driver of the tractor-trailer, pending his release from the hospital.

"Over half of my service business comes through the Yellow Pages" says Milton L. Klein, President, A.C. Electric Co., Washington.

Mr. Klein founded A.C. Electric Co. in 1945, as a one-man one-car operation. Today he has 27 employees, with 14 service trucks, 4 company cars for estimating, and one station wagon. From the start, Mr. Klein has advertised in the Yellow Pages. "As far as I am concerned, it is the only advertising there is!" he says.

Why does Mr. Klein feel the Yellow Pages are such a good investment? His reasons:

Universal local coverage—in the areas you serve, the Yellow Pages carry messages into almost every home and office!

The message is timely—always there when the people you want to reach want to reach you!

Great for new business—since newcomers to your community almost always make first contacts with local stores and services through the Yellow Pages!

Mr. Klein reports that "if it weren't for the Yellow Pages, my service business would be doing only half as well as it is today. They have proven to be the most profitable means of advertising, with the greatest results!"
