Housing for Elderly Committee Meeting

GHI's new Advisory Committee for the Housing for the Elderly Program got off to a start at its organizational meeting last Monday night by electing as its general chairman C. F. Schwan, 7-A Crescent. Schwan, who is Washington representative of the Council of State Governments, brings to the committee considerable acquaintance with the general subject of the aging and with many of the experts in the field.

After some preliminary discussion of the underlying philosophy of the program proposed by GHI and of several of the practical aspects of the plan, the group decided to organize into subgroups to investigate in greater detail certain specific problems. These were: physical standards, including unit design and location; housing and social need (a study of the elderly population to be served); financing and financial operation; priorities for admission, as between present GHI members, relatives of members, etc.; and publicity, or communication between the Board and the membership on all aspects of the developing program.

Emphasizing the importance of drawing into its membership all GHI homeowners who are in any way interested in the Housing for the Elderly program—whether in one or several of the aspects outlined above—the committee agreed that one or two members of the original group act as chairman or co-chairman of the five areas under investigation, with other members of the corporation being encouraged to participate in any of the subcommittees in which they expressed a particular interest. Co-chairmen of the subcommittee on physical standards will be Rose Amberg, 10-D Southway, and Roy K. Davis, 4-J Ridge. Mrs. Herbert Hall, 20-T Hillside, and the Rev. Robert Hull, 33-K Ridge, agreed to chair the group studying housing and social needs of the elderly. Ed Peters, 11-C Laurel Hill, and John O'Reilly, 7-A Hillside, George W. Adams 46-D Ridge, agreed to chair the subcommittee on admissions, and Virginia Beauchamp, 8-A Crescent, will head the subcommittee on publicity. Two other committee members, Elliott Bukzin, 6-N Ridge, and Walter Dutton, 2-E Southway, have not yet received assignments.

Future tentative plans of the group include preparing for three public meetings at which GHI

Main Replaces Gill At Methodist Church

Dr. Orris Robinson, District Superintendent of Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church, has announced that a full time pastor will replace Charles Gill, the present pastor. Dr. Robinson feels that the double responsibilities of his religious studies and the needs of the church put too much pressure on Gill.

Clark Main, a retired minister, will replace Gill on a temporary basis until the Baltimore Annual Conference appoints a full time minister at its meeting in June.

Police News

A 22-year-old Berwyn Heights man was arrested and charged with assault and battery last week after he was identified as the person who took a six-year-old girl on an alleged two-and-a-half hour ride in his car. The little girl and a friend had just been dismissed from school at 2:30 and were near 26 Crescent when the young man stopped his car and began talking to the girls. He offered them candy if they would go with him. One child refused, and he warned her to keep quiet about his stopping. He did manage to lure the other child into the car and drove off. A witness to the scene reported remembering most of the license number, and the owner of the car was identified with the help of the Department of Motor Vehicles and excellent police work by the men on the Greenbelt force. The man was identified by three witnesses. The child was examined and she had not been sexually molested, although the man is accused of having laid hands on the girl. The accused was found to have no previous police record.

A three-month-old baby, the child of a domestic employed in Greenbelt, was suffocated to death here last week. The child was apparently laid face down on a sheet of plastic on top of a bed, and although it was heard crying by its mother, she thought that the baby had gone off to sleep when the crying ceased. About forty-five minutes later, when the mother returned to the bedroom, it was too late. Two doctors listed the cause of death as suffocation due to the plastic laundry bag. Chief James Williams stated, "These pieces of plastic shouldn't even be saved for wrapping things."

Private garage owners are urged to close their garage doors at all times, to keep temptation away from possible trespassers, particularly young couples.

All 1960 Maryland license tags expire on Monday night. Animal licenses are now available at the Police office. All animals, (cats, dogs, rabbits, chickens, etc.) that are allowed outdoors are required to have licenses issued in Greenbelt.

Again there has been a report of damage to the garages at 17 Ridge. Four hub caps were stolen from an auto on Parkway. The chrome stripping from the rear window of a 1957 Chevrolet was stolen from the car of a Silver Spring resident while the driver was visiting at 37 Crescent. Two spotlights were reported stolen from a car on Parkway.

A film entitled, "Booked For Safekeeping," will be shown on April 3 and 5 at the Firehouse to members of the police, fire and rescue departments. Any organizations interested in viewing it on Tuesday, April 4, can call Chief Williams. This film, a 33 minute, 16mm film, shows how to handle mentally disturbed persons.

A ten-minute film, "Strangers," will be exhibited at the three elementary schools on May 22 and 23. Any organizations wishing to see the film on the dates mentioned may make arrangements with Chief Williams.

SODALITY DANCE

The Sodality Easter Dance will be held in St. Hugh's Social room on Sunday, April 2, from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Dress is heel and tie.

No News Review Fund-Raising Drive For This Year

The GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW will not conduct a community-wide, house-to-house, fund-raising drive this year.

In making this announcement, Al Skolnik, president of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, governing body of the weekly newspaper, stated that while advertising revenue is still not covering operating costs, the fund-raising drive of last year yielded sufficient funds to cover the paper's deficit for two years.

Family Plan Favored For Swimming Pool

The Greenbelt Junior Chamber of Commerce has completed its survey of local residents on their feeling about the present admission policies of the city swimming pool. A slight majority indicated their willingness to subscribe to a family resident subscription plan, with the pool used exclusively by Greenbelters and their guests.

Fifty-eight percent of the town's families were queried, and their replies were tabulated into the following categories: no opinion, 22%; satisfied with present operation, 23%; prefer a family plan, 62%; willing to subscribe to such a plan, 57%.

The discrepancies in the percentages were due to the fact that some people who were satisfied with the present condition of the pool would still like a family resident subscription plan. Of those who were willing to subscribe to such a plan, $10 and $20 were the figures most frequently mentioned. Most of the people who favored a family plan felt that some provision should be made for the guests of members. Many of them hoped that even if a family plan were not put into effect, the pool could still be limited to Greenbelt residents.

The Jaycees, who conducted the survey, are a civic organization of young men whose main purpose is community betterment. Charles Collins, president of the organization, and Jerry Conway, Committee Chairman for the Community Development Survey, stated: "The survey was not made to try to influence public opinion, but rather to discover the prevailing attitude in the community as to the existing conditions in our swimming pool and to obtain the residents' opinions in relation to one

Lutheran Services

Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 22 Ridge Road, will celebrate Holy Week with a series of special services conducted by the Rev. Edward H. Birmer, pastor of the church.

A communion service will be held on Maundy Thursday at 7:30 p.m. On Good Friday, 7:30 p.m., there will be a service of darkness.

Several services are planned for Easter Sunday, beginning with a Sunrise Service at 6 a.m. to be held on the front lawn of the church at the foot of an 18-foot-high flower-bedecked cross. Immediately after the service, a breakfast will be served. At 8:30 a.m. there will be a communion service, and at 9:30 a.m. the usual Sunday School and Bible classes will be held. Following these services, the 11 a.m. festival service will take place.

"The decision of the board of directors not to hold a drive," said Skolnik, "is based on the supposition that advertising volume for the next year will maintain the same level as attained for the last six months. If advertising falls off to any considerable extent, then we may be forced to rely on a fund drive later in the year."

The paper, continued Skolnik, has been operating at a deficit of $500-$750 a year. Due to the generous response of Greenbelters to last year's campaign, about $1,700 was collected. Part of this - $500 - went to clean up previous debts, leaving a reserve of $1,200 to meet the operating deficits for last year and the coming year.

"Thus," concluded Skolnik, "We have high expectations that the reserve will be sufficient to carry us through the coming year. It seems equally probable, however, that an appeal to the community WILL be necessary in the following year. In other words, we are still not able to envision the paper as a self-sustaining operation, fully supported by advertising revenue."

Conscious of the need to cut operating costs, the NEWS REVIEW last December switched from printing by letterpress to printing by photo offset. Under the latter process, the copy is typed on special typewriters, pasted on a master dummy, and then photographed. This is considerably cheaper than the letterpress method, which requires the use of large expensive typesetting machines manned by skilled operators. The photo offset process also lends itself to the inexpensive but excellent

Reverse Centerway Traffic

By now, the city council should have noted the inadequacy of the Centerway traffic change, and should recognize the desirability of reversing the one-way traffic to its original direction. The diagonal parking, however, which has proved popular and convenient, could remain.

The most prominent faults in the present direction of traffic are the awkward ingress and egress movements. As laid out originally by the city planners, the curbs and streets were designed to accept traffic only from east to west. The fact that so many signs and so much painted calligraphy adorning the pavement, in addition to a bicycle stand barrier, are needed to reverse the flow is ample proof of inadequate planning. To make it work, entries should be redesigned to improve turning movements, and curbs and islands should be constructed.

But such changes are costly and, we believe, unnecessary. Parking on Centerway street could have been improved without changing the direction of traffic. The objective of the planning advisory board, which proposed the change in direction and denial of access to the east parking lot, was apparently to reduce the flow of traffic on that street, so that angular parkers could back up without too much risk. The present system appears to have increased rather than decreased the traffic count on Centerway.

To throw traffic from the west parking lot onto a school pavement violates all sensible as well as theoretical planning practice. Planners generally try to keep traffic away from schools.

Denying left turns into the east parking lot has already elicited complaints from one businessman officially, and others informally. If, as one councilman stated, the change was made at the request of GCS, it seems unreasonable to make changes for the benefit of one business to the detriment of another. The Victor Gruen plan proposed making Centerway a parking area, but it was part of a larger plan, and envisioned certain major structural changes in the streets and business area. Without them, it is poor planning.

It is unfortunate that the first proposal of the city planning body has been accompanied by such confusion. However, they should not be discouraged from experimenting further; Greenbelt itself is a continuing experiment. But we should recognize our mistakes and accept them with determination to learn from them.

Thanks

No Co-op Theater

To the Editor:

It seems as though the most popular pastime these days is engaging in someone else's business, or at least not minding your own. Well, maybe I'm guilty of the same thing, but as a member of Twin Pipes, I think it is my business when they try organizing a co-op theater, which is really none of our business at all. I've already said what I think about the GHI Board's ideas about housing for the elderly, motels, etc.---none of our business! And as a member of GCS, I think an attempt to organize a credit union is also none of our business. Now if these organizations will mind their own businesses, I'll mind mine, too.

reproduction of photographs. The NEWS REVIEW is delivered free of charge to every household in Greenbelt. For most of its history since its first appearance in 1937, it has been completely dependent on advertising income for its existence. In 1959 and 1960 for the first time the paper was forced, because of its financial situation, to rely on a house-to-house appeal for funds. The response to these drives was overwhelming and exceeded all expectation, due in no small part to the efforts of more than 125 Greenbelters who volunteered their services as court collectors.

"In fact," commented Skolnik, "it is this knowledge that we have a community reservoir of goodwill on which we can always fall back if our financial situation worsens that makes it possible to consider our budgetary situation in its most optimistic light and to avoid calling for a fund drive until absolutely necessary."

members may raise questions and air objections to the three major areas involved in setting up a housing program for the elderly: the architectural standards and site design, the nature of the population to be served (including regulations concerning admission to residence), and the financing and financial operations of the project. The consensus of the group at the Monday meeting was that a comprehensive and detailed investigation of the project probably could not be completed in time for the annual membership meeting, to be set sometime in May. They expect instead to call a special membership meeting at some later date.
