City Council Studies Youth Center Budget

Faced with a deficit of $12,500 from the operations of the Youth Center for the fiscal year 1961-62, the city council last Monday night directed the city treasurer and Teen Club Advisory Board to submit a detailed report of the revenues received from the building since its opening. These reports are intended to give a clearer picture of the nature of the gap between anticipated expenditures of $18,500 and income of $6,000.

Warren Leddick, Superintendent of recreation, explained that until the city has at least a year's experience with the building, estimating revenues from the many programs is a difficult process. "Judging the skating revenues, for example, from the first months of operation would prove misleading since attendance figures are at their peak in the months of January, and March."

With the Recreation Advisory Committee's recommendations as a basis for questioning, councilman David Champion queried city manager Charles McDonald and Leddick on the conditions of the ballfields and play areas. He was told that work has been done on the fields and they are in better condition this year than in previous seasons. However, a shortage of manpower prevents the city from doing all that should be done.

Champion specifically asked what care had been given the large play area in the vicinity of 45 Ridge which had been sodded last year at a considerable cost. McDonald replied that lack of proper personnel again was the cause of not performing the necessary work. The Recreation Advisory Committee had contended that proper conditioning of these areas each year would prove most economical in the long run.

Another recommendation of the Recreation Advisory Committee concerned the resurfacing of the tennis courts. The courts have been continually deteriorating. Because of their poor condition, Leddick stated, it was thought that the county recreation department would not provide Greenbelt with a tennis instructor during the summer. An appeal was made from the floor that some repairs be undertaken in order to participate in the county program.

With respect to the Recreation Advisory Committee's proposals for a summer tot playground program, Leddick said he felt that the program was not workable. Helen Geller asked council to consider at least a pilot project for the tot playground. "In this way," she said, "we could learn how much interest there is in the program."

Ben Goldfaden expressed his view that the Youth Center should be as completely self-sustaining as possible. Elaine Skolnik warned that in working toward a fully self-sustaining Youth Center, charges might become prohibitive, thus eliminating the youngsters who were in greatest need of the programs. Goldfaden agreed that some activities should be subsidized. He also mentioned the possibility of oper-

Some sentiment was expressed from the floor that the youth should assume more responsibility for their own programs.

The next budget meeting will be on Tuesday, May 30. The public hearing is scheduled for Monday, June 5. The budget must be adopted by June 10.

Police News

Police received a call on Monday night that some house furniture had been stolen. Investigation showed that the woman of the house had moved out several weeks before and had returned when her husband was not at home and removed the furniture. No action was taken by police.

A man on Parkway reported the loss of a license plate. Police advise that anyone finding active plates should turn them in to the police office where information can be obtained to locate the owner.

An eight-year-old child informed her teacher at St. Hugh's Thursday that a man approached her on Monday while she was waiting to school and offered her a dollar bill. She ran away from the man. She was able to give a description to police. A suspicious man was reported near the Community church on Friday.

An alert resident spotted two young men trying to strip a car in front of the apartments on Crescent and called police. When police arrived on the scene, the boys were still at work, but they started running when they spotted the officer. They were apprehended by Officer Marshall (Bud) Zoellner. Both boys, one a former resident of Greenbelt, a former resident of Greenbelt, were charged with larceny.

A juvenile was charged with assault with an automobile when a car in which four boys were riding tried to hit a teacher at Greenbelt Junior High. They boys were not students at that school.

Minor incidents for the week included a smashed car window, vandalism to a convertible, and the theft of a tool box from a residence on Southway.

Rabies tag information can be obtained from Dr. Gibbs at RE 5-4049.

Summer Daily French Classes Started Here

Another pioneering venture in teaching foreign languages to youngsters will be launched this summer by the Foreign Language Association of Greenbelt, (FLAG). For the first time in this area daily French classes for elementary school pupils will be held using the Berlitz method which was initiated successfully here this past year. Registration will be held tomorrow (Friday) in front of the Co-op from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Henri Duques, veteran Berlitz teacher, who has been conducting the Greenbelt classes and will also teach the summer program, stated that "more French can be learned in three weeks of daily classes than twice-weekly classes all year long." Classes will be held from July 10 to July 28 for grades 1 through 5.

"Registration is very important," said Mrs. Dorothy White, president of FLAG, "since the summer program cannot function unless at least 30 students register." The group will be divided into three classes. For more information Mrs. White can be contacted at GR 4-7123.

GHI Elects 5 Men to Board; Zubkoff Polls Highest Vote

By AL SKOLNIK

A near-record high of 531 Greenbelt Homes Inc. members voted at last week's annual membership meeting to oust three incumbents and return two others to the board of directors. The winning candidates for the five vacancies on the board, with their votes were: Harry Zubkoff, 291; Frank J. Laxtner, 276; Joseph D. Comproni, 246; Stephen (Ed) Peters, 236; Allen D. Morrison, 213.

GHI Membership Votes To Okay "Pink" House

By AL SKOLNIK

Spurred on by one of the most vigorous election campaigns in the history of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., more than 200 persons crowded the Center School auditorium on Wednesday, May 17, to hear the last-minute appeals of the candidates and to cast ballots for the five vacancies on the 9-man board of directors.

Almost overshadowing in excitement the election, however, was a heated floor discussion regarding the "pink" house on Gardenway, now in the process of being sold by Miss Mabel Kandler. During the last year, Miss Kandler and the GHI board have been at a standoff over the member's insistence upon painting her house a color at variance with her neighbor in violation of corporation policy that uniformity of color be maintained in a row.

The latest fuss was caused by GHI insistence that before the resale of the Kankler house be approved, the house be repainted. The new purchaser has indicated a desire to maintain the pink color, and Miss Kandler, through her attorney, Bernard Bordenet, petitioned the membership for a resolution directing GHI management and board to refrain from imposing an obligation to repaint the house as a condition for resale.

Membership Acts

The membership defeated this petition by a 40-35 vote, only to turn around and approve a motion by Mat Amberg that the "pink" house, because of its beautifying effects, be allowed to stand as such. In presenting this motion, Amberg made it clear that it was not intended as a repudiation of board policy requiring all houses in a row be painted a uniform color that meets the approval of all residents in the row.

That the membership considered the Kandler house as only "an exception" to the general rule was subsequently made apparent when general manager Paul Campbell asked the membership what he should do with respect to other pending requests for deviation. Several members voiced the opinion, with no apparent dissents from the audience, that management should continue to enforce the rule of uniformity as hertofore.

In other action, the membership tabled a 6-point resolution presented by Bordenet which aimed at protecting the rights of members against action by the corporation. In tabling the motion, the membership voted that a study of these proposals be undertaken, with the assistance of a specially-appointed membership committee, and that recommendations be submitted to the members for their consideration at another membership meeting within four months.

The Bordenet-proposed resolutions called for (1) giving the members 30 days notice of any expenditures by GHI for purposes

The winners now join the present four members of the board--Ed Burgoon, Lloyd Moore, Hans Jorgensen, and Henry Brautigam--to round out the 9-man board. The organization of the new board and election of officials will take place at the board's regularly scheduled meeting tonight.

Zubkoff, Comproni, and Peters represented the newcomers elected to the board upon their first attempt. The first two were part of a foursome that campaigned as a slate. A third member of the slate--Morrison--was also elected, while the fourth member--William P. Helm--finished in 6th place with 170 votes.

The defeated incumbents were Bruce Bowman (168), Paul R. Kasko (154), and George M. Eshbaugh (142), who finished in 7th, 8th, and 10th places, respectively. Bowman had served on the board since 1949; Eshbaugh had four years service and Kasko one year.

Other unsuccessful candidates, in descending order of votes, were:

William C. Wanbaugh	150
Hugh W. Ernisse	150
Joseph C. Cherry	104
George W. Adams	71
Donald McCaughey	66
William C. Wanbaugh	57
Frank E. Gonda	55
Henry J. Lyons	51
Jessie W. Dean	43

The five successful candidates were elected to two-year terms. The four present members of the board have one more year to serve.

Elected to the audit committee without opposition were Samuel

Cornelius, Charles M. Cormack, and John O'Reilly, 7-A Hillside, whose name was entered from the floor. Also nominated from the floor and elected without opposition was the nominations and elections committee, consisting of Beverly Fonda, Amos M. White, Mat Amberg, Charles Schwan, and John O'Mahony.

The number of votes cast--531--was the second highest in the history of the co-op, surpassed only by the record 536 votes registered in the 1954 election. About half the votes were cast by residents of brick homes and half by residents of frame homes. Over 1,500 GHI members--approximately 1,000 in the frame and 550 in the brick--were eligible to vote. Thus, the proportion of brick residents voting was almost twice as great as that of frame residents.

There was a minimum of bullet voting. Only 16 ballots had one candidate checked. Thirteen ballots had two names, and 10 had three names.

An Unusual Election

The election of the GHI board of directors, held last week, was unusual enough to warrant special comment. It marked the first time in our memory that a major election in this city was decided largely on the basis of an exchange of letters published in the News Review. Probably no one is more surprised than Harry Zubkoff to find himself elected to the GHI board principally as a result of the series of "open letters" exchanged with board member Bruce Bowman, which was touched off by a brief letter Zubkoff addressed to the editor just two months ago. Not only was he elected, but he received the largest number of votes, topping even that redoubtable vote-getter County Commissioner Frank Lastner.

Furthermore, Zubkoff carried with him Joe Compron and conceivably also helped to reelect Allan but changed his mind to join forces with Zubkoff and thus indicate his opposition to GHI board policies. The fourth man on Zubkoff's ticket, Bill Helm, did not pull enough votes to gain a board seat, but he narrowly beat out Bowman, who initiated the battle of letters by choosing to defend publicly the board policies under fire. For Bowman it was the first time he has failed to be reelected to the board since it was established nine years ago.

There are so many unknown factors in an election that no one can state positively what caused people to vote for certain candidates. Nevertheless, the fact of Zubkoff's overwhelming victory and the excellent showing of his ticket, together with the defeat of Bowman, points strongly to a mandate from the members. In effect, the members have indicated their dissatisfaction with the past administration and policies of the GHI board and have put it up to Zubkoff and his supporters on the board to examine closely the situations that they criticized and to effect corrections if they are needed.

Thanks

Many thanks to those Greenbelters who supported me in the recent G.H.I. elections.

The Pink House Issue

In an editorial in the November 3, 1961 NEWS REVIEW, we made the following comments with respect to the Kandler house on Gardenway which was painted pink without Greenbelt Homes, Inc. approval and without securing the neighbor's agreement as to uniformity of color.

"When this matter was first raised the board could simply have looked at the situation from the point of view of whether the member's color scheme actually enhanced the beauty and appearance of the area. If the board reached such a conclusion, it could have passed an 'exception' to its rule of uniformity, at the same time reiterating its authority to pass on the color of homes and severely rebuking the member for painting without securing the prior approval of the board.

"The determining factor which would then apply to future cases would be whether the proposed 'exception' actually enhances the beauty and appearance of the area. No precedent would be set in the sense that any member could automatically claim the right of painting his own color scheme based on what happened in this first case."

We are pleased that the GHI membership a week ago Wednesday saw fit to follow in substance the course of action advocated by the NEWS REVIEW. We do caution, however, that this rule of exception be used sparingly; otherwise the exception could become the general pattern, with very deleterious effects.

We think the burden must rest exclusively upon any member wishing for an exception to demonstrate how his color scheme will enhance the beauty and appearance of the area. We also suggest that GHI set up a committee of members -- a fine arts commission, if you will -- to help management in making decisions, and perhaps also to be a court of appeals for members who disagree with management decisions.

In any event, we do not think that an appeal to the membership every time a member disagrees with a board decision is a proper, orderly, or sensible method of handling these controversies.

Proud and Humbled

Open letter to the membership of GHI:

I am at once both proud and humbled by the honor you have conferred upon me in electing me to serve you on the board of directors of GHI. During the course of the coming year, I hope to get an opportunity to thank each of you personally. Meanwhile I pledge that I shall devote every effort in making the board and corporation more responsive to the wishes of the membership and in bringing the membership into closer touch with the board, its thinking, and its actions.

Harry Zubkoff

Thanks

I am appreciative of those who showed their confidence in my ability by voting for me. I am sorry I won't have the opportunity to serve as a member of the G.H.I. Board, but hope to make myself heard from the floor.

Utter Falsity

To the Editor:
Since being refused recognition on the floor at last week's GHI meeting, I desire to take this opportunity to speak to my fellow members.

Reference is made to the charge by GHI Board Chairman Burgoon that I, as selling salesman, had not disclosed fully the facts relating to the purchase of the "pink house" to its purchaser. This is a serious charge, reflecting discredit upon both myself and the company by which I am employed. Before making such a charge, the maker should certainly ascertain the facts.

The charge is slanderous and false.

The maker must have known, or had reason to know, that it was false.

As evidence of the utter falsity of the statement, I offer the following:

1. The purchaser of the "pink house" was at the meeting last Wednesday, and has pointed out to me that she caught the full implication of Mr. Burgoon's statement, and recognized it as false.
2. The purchaser has authorized me to state that in her opinion I made a full and detailed disclosure of all the facts relating to her purchase, and that she is entirely satisfied with my treatment of her transaction. She has fully authorized me to write this letter.
3. The Purchaser has authorized me to state that she told the officials who interviewed her that I had, in fact, disclosed all the facts concerning the situation.
4. If Mr. Burgoon did not know these facts, he certainly had an opportunity to find them out, and as a responsible officer of the corporation should never make any statements without ascertaining the facts.

It is a fact that she forced the selling member into painting the "pink house" before transferring title, then this was no concern of the purchaser. However, I did inform the purchaser that, as matters stood, the house would probably have to be painted. Her position was that she liked

IF YOU ARE THINKING OF MOVING----
JUNE IS THE MONTH FOR BUYERS AS WELL AS BRIDES, BECAUSE:

1) Financing is better now than it has been for a long time. You can buy with little or no money down, and at lower interest rates.

2) We have a better selection of houses than usual--probably the exact house you have been dreaming of (with 2 or more baths, a recreation room, etc.)

3) This is the best time to sell your Greenbelt house (school will soon be out, and so will the house-hunters).
