Council Appoints CD Officials; Defers Access Road Proposal

By SID KASTNER

The regular meeting of City Council Monday night concerned itself with two controversial issues, both having supporters and opponents within the community. The issues were the G. C. S. (Co-op) request for an access road to its service station, and civil defense.

A step toward a civil defense program was taken with the appointment by council of Albert "Buddy" Attick as interim Civil Defense Director, and Mrs. Dorothy Sucher as interim Deputy Director. Attick as Superintendent of Public Works, would have, it was felt, the requisite familiarity with the various services and utilities important to the continued functioning of the city. Mrs. Sucher has proposed a detailed program, which was endorsed by Councilman David Champion with the statement "I doubt whether we (the Council) could have done better."

Some discussion preceded the appointments, dealing with the amount of emphasis that should be placed on such an effort and also with the question of the physical make-up of a civil defense organization.

Leonard Baron and Hugh Ernisse voiced the point of view expressed by Jim Cassels at the recent public hearing. This placed the emphasis on exploring ways of reducing international tension, thus lessening the need for a fallout shelter program, rather than focusing on the shelters themselves. A practical, cautionary note was also injected by Harvey Geller, who advised against being led into spending large sums of money on a venture which depended greatly on many unknown factors.

In connection with the make-up of the projected organization, Harry Zukoff expressed the feeling that the appointment of a Director of Attack's stature would perhaps "formalize" the organization prematurely. He felt that the formation of study committee, such as the council itself had suggested earlier in the discussion, was more appropriate at this state.

The Council will meet with Attick and Mrs. Sucher in order to establish guidelines for the civil defense committee.

The discussion of GCS's access request centered around a compromise proposal by Councilman Champion. This suggested essentially that a curved passageway in the buffer strip could be granted to GCS if the following three conditions were concurrently fulfilled:

1. A retaining wall, with fencing on top of it perhaps of basketweave type, should be built along the outside arc of the passageway to guarantee no further intrusion into neighboring territory.

2. The present buffer strip should be replanted by a gardening specialist acceptable to the council.

3. The lessee of the property should pay for the erection of a four-way traffic light, at the intersection, such light to be approved by the State Roads Commission.

Clifford Simonson, speaking for the Advisory Planning Board, said that a passageway of the type suggested would be acceptable if the light were included. A legal representative of GCS felt that it would probably also be acceptable to GCS. However a representative of the owner of the center property, brought out the difficulty that since the traffic light was subject to the approval of the State Roads Commission, it would be out of the hands of GCS and thus the third condition was not realistic.

Councilman Ben Goldfaden suggested that the State Roads Commission be again approached on the alternative of a cut through the median strip. It was generally agreed that this would be the most clean-cut solution. Champion pointed out that the chances of succeeding would be greatly increased if all interested parties cooperated in the effort.

Council assured the GCS representatives that the passageway concept was still an open matter, and would be reconsidered in the event of failure to obtain the median cut.

National Championship Events Slated Here

Last week at the National Amateur Athletic Union Convention the District A.A.U. made bid on two National Championships and were awarded both. The Senior National 15 Kilometer Championship will be held in Greenbelt on September 2, 1962. The Junior National 30 Kilometer Championship will also be held in this area.

City Hunts Xmas Tree

Superintendent of Public Works "Buddy" Attick has begun the annual hunt for a suitable evergreen to serve as Greenbelt's Christmas tree. The tree, to be erected in the Center, will probably be about 20 feet high.

The city is concentrating upon the strip of land to be cleared for the Beltway, since all the trees in that area will eventually be removed. However, suitable trees are becoming more and more scarce in this area. Forest trees are plentiful but rarely develop a symmetrical form, because of the competition from neighboring vegetation.

Two efforts have been made in the past to plant a Christmas tree in the Center mall. Both trees ultimately died, probably because they were too large for successful transplanting.

Mental Health Talks

Reverend Herbert Hillebrand, 17 Lakeside, will be guest lecturer at the Jewish Community Center of Prince Georges County, Westway and Ridge Roads, Greenbelt, on Wednesday, December 13, at 8:00 p.m. Reverend Hillebrand, Protestant Chaplain at the D. C. General Hospital, will speak on "Religion and Mental Health." There is no charge. The public is invited.

Police News

A report of breaking and entering was received from the Greenbelt Junior High School on Thursday morning. Various items of food were missing, and panes of glass in certain doors were broken (probably to enable the trespassers to gain entry into the school rooms). The report has been handed over to County Police.

A report on a stolen car was received by Greenbelt on Sunday at 4:27 a.m. Officer Herb Faulconer located the missing vehicle at 9:42 a.m. that same day.

A young boy turned in a wedding band which he found in the area of the Center on Wednesday.

Rec Review

The Recreation Department, under the leadership of Evelyn Boggs, will hold a demonstration of gift wrapping, gift suggestions, and Christmas decorations at the Youth Center on Thursday, December 14, at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited, without charge.

As part of the Christmas holiday program, arts and crafts classes will be held on Tuesday, December 26, through Friday, December 29, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the crafts room at the Youth Center. The regular fee for materials and supplies will be the only charge.

The Greenbelt Concert Band will hold its first Christmas program on Monday, December 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Youth Center.

On Saturday, December 16 at 1 p.m. in the Youth Center, the Babe Ruth League will hold its annual awards ceremony. Awards will be made to the league champion, Greenbelt Ten Pin Lanes, the All-Star Team, Most Valuable Player, Rookie of the Year, and Outstanding Captain. All parents and players are invited to attend. Special guest will be Jim Lemon of the Minneapolis Twins.

'Meager Meal' Sparks Church Peace Drive

Next Sunday evening, December 10, at 6 p.m. at the Methodist Church, a Sacrificial-Meager Meal will be offered by the Methodist Youth Fellowship in recognition of their concern for world peace. A token fee will be charged for the meal and the proceeds will be donated to the Greenbelt Christmas CARE project.

The meal will be a simple one, after which motion pictures will be shown of the South American community to be the recipient of Greenbelt's CARE funds. Admission is by ticket only, and tickets may be obtained from M.Y.F. members through Thursday, December 7.

Publishes Story

The NEWS REVIEW is proud to announce that another one of its staff has broken into print. Elaine Skolnik, in collaboration with her daughter, Barbara, has written a child's fantasy tale -- "Penny and the Elf" -- which is now appearing in the anthology, A TREASURY OF BEDTIME STORIES, published by the Hart Publishing Company, Inc., New York.

GHI Members Approve Elderly Housing 49-39

By a 49 to 39 count, the membership of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. voted last Thursday, November 30, to proceed with the housing for the elderly project. The original motion as presented to the membership was amended in two ways.

A key change, on a motion by Al Skolnik, provided a limit in the cost of the project. He proposed that if the bids received on the project exceed $400,000, and if, after further negotiation with the low bidder, these costs cannot be reduced to below $400,000, the matter should be brought back to the membership for further consideration. The amount "$400,000" is the "breaking point" cited by the study committee, above which the rentals might be so high as to create vacancy problems.

Another change, on a motion by Seymour Kaplan, specified that any trustees elected from GHI ranks to the governing body of the elderly housing project must be GHI board members.

Both motions were passed with votes to spare.

The proposed site of the project is behind the Medical Center (32 and 34 Ridge). The project is to consist of 56 housekeeping units (four units in a building) all on one floor -- 32 one-bedroom units and 24 efficiency units. A social building is also proposed as well as walkways and sitting-out areas. Financing of the project to be sought through a 100% loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency for a period of 50 years at 3 3/8 percent interest.

A unique feature of the meeting was the submittal of written questions from the audience to the study committee chairman, Charles F. Schwan. Most of the questions reflected opposition to the projects. Opinions have been expressed that GHI might incur costs that would affect monthly charges, and that GHI would not have much control over admissions and related matters.

DIRECTORS' VIEWS
The climax of the meeting came when a member requested that the GHI directors be polled as to their position on the project. Six of the 8 directors present approved the project and 2 disapproved. A summary of the views of the directors follows, in order of appearance.

President Ed Burgoon led off with an unequivocal statement supporting the project as one worthy of the co-operative housing movement. He felt that GHI should be a leader in developing and promoting such projects, which are now attracting the attention of the entire country.

Secretary Hans Jorgensen approved the project, since it would be utilizing GHI-owned land which is now lying idle and eating up taxes.

Vice-president Frank Lastner, another supporter of the project, stressed its humanitarian aspect, while being put on a self-supporting basis with no taint of "welfare statism."

Directors Henry Brautigam and Ed Peters also expressed their approval of the project as being in keeping with the trend of Federal and State thinking.

The first opponent of the project, director Joe Compton, did not feel that GHI should engage in outside housing activities when its resources are needed to meet critical needs arising out of the present housing project.

Another opponent, treasurer Lloyd Moore, while agreeing in principle with an elderly housing project, felt that he could not support the present proposal as long as there was any GHI exposure.

The final director to speak, Harry Zukoff, surprised many observers when he supported the project. He stated that while he originally had misgivings, he had become convinced after a careful and thorough study of the committee's report that the project was economically feasible, would involve only minimal GHI costs, and would meet a need in the community. He felt that special type of housing like this was in keeping with the corporate purpose.

Family Fun Party Sunday

Inaugurating a new policy of family fun and recreation on Sunday afternoons, Twin Pines plans a holiday party from 2 to 5 p.m. December 10. The first such event since the city council authorized use of the Youth Center on Sunday, admittance is not limited to members of Twin Pines, but it will be restricted to families. No children or youth will be admitted without parents.

A full range of activities is planned - according to the wishes of the participants. There will be skating, dancing, games, singing and refreshments. A charge of $1 per family (to cover rental and expenses) includes everything except children's skate rental.

The sponsoring organization sought the Sunday opening so families with young children can be accommodated. Baby-sitters will be provided.

Leaf Pickups Continue

The Department of Public Works will continue its leaf collection for several weeks, weather permitting. Last year at this time, operations had already been suspended because of snow. Last week's high winds, resulting in a number of fallen trees, made it necessary for the city to divert its crews to the job of removing them. However, leaf pickups have now been resumed.

Christmas Workshop

A Family Christmas Workshop will be held on December 10, from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Greenbelt Community Church. Young and old will join in making wreaths, place mats, trees and wall ornaments, stationery folders, and small Christmas trees for the Crippled Children's Division of the D.C. General Hospital.

In addition the Kenneth Stewart family will demonstrate a family Christmas worship service, and help those present to make the necessary individual candle holders for their own services at home.

Junior High PTA

There will be a meeting of the Greenbelt Junior High PTA on Tuesday, December 12, at 8:00 p.m. A program is planned by the music department, with choirs, orchestra and bands participating.

Duplicate Bridge

Bridge players are reminded that the next duplicate game will be played tomorrow, December 8, at the Co-op Hospitality Room, starting at 8:30 p.m. The director keeps himself available to play with any person who needs a partner. Please bring tables.

Bank Awards Bonus

The Suburban Trust Company has announced that a bonus equal to one month's salary is being given to those employees who have been with the bank one year or more and a pro-rata amount to those with less than a year's service.

Forming of CD Committee

The City Council is to be commended for its prompt and forthright action in appointing an interior Director and Deputy Director for Civil Defense, and for scheduling an early meeting with them to outline the scope of their duties and responsibilities. The public hearing last month was convincing evidence of the growing public interest in this subject, and Council's quick response indicates that they are in tune with the general desire to acquire more information on which to base any community action.

Council is now faced with the problem of choosing candidates to serve on the Civil Defense committee staff. In this connection, we think the Council would be well advised to exclude from such service those few citizens whose viewpoints seem to be diametrically opposed to the "defense" aspects of a civil defense program. This is not to say that those who want to work for such things as disarmament, greater international understanding and amity, and more peaceful solutions to the tensions which beset the world today, are wrong or mistaken in their beliefs. On the contrary, some of their points are well taken and their objectives admirable. We believe, however, that the working staff of a civil defense study committee is not the proper forum from which to air their views, and that their presence on such a committee would only tend to obscure its purpose and confuse the issues. It has even been suggested that they form their own committee to pursue their objectives and to use as a platform in presenting their views in Council and the public.

Meanwhile, we would urge the new appointees to proceed with the formation of their committee and the study of their problems in an orderly and systematic fashion, rather than on a "crash" basis. The information which they compile, the results which they obtain, may well lead toward a comprehensive community program. Their findings should be based on careful reasoning, and a patient, thorough, exhaustive examination of all the pertinent data.

Call for Chaperones

Letter to the Editor:

This letter is in reference to the fact that not enough parents are willing to devote some of their time to chaperon the teen club activities. Because of this, the teen club members are refused the right to enter the building to participate in activities previously planned.

This is an urgent appeal to all parents to chaperon when called upon, instead of leaving it up to the few parents who are willing to part with some of their spare time. If you would like to help, please contact one of us.

Jack has expressed his desire to thank the many friends who have wished him well with cards and visits. All of them hope that Jack will soon be back "on the job."

Junior Hi-Lites

By Barbara Sholnik

On the morning of December 2, 140 seventh and eighth grade students and 10 chaperones left on four D. C. Transit buses for a two day to Williamsburg. "It was the most successful trip of all" stated many of the chaperones. Wherever the students went, they were complimented on their conduct and behavior. Since the report was so good, the school has already made tentative reservations for the next Williamsburg trip on November 3, 1962.

"But the ships are so small." This was the opinion of most students upon seeing replicas of the three ships that brought the English to America in Jamestown. They were allowed to go on the largest ship. Following this, they went to the fort, then visited the church, common house, and other houses with straw covered roofs. They even saw a hut which had been burned down.

After arriving at the Williamsburg Lodge, the students dressed for dinner. That night there was an added attraction for them. This was the Lanthorn tour. Here each small group of students was given a lantern, and they walked around in the darkness to different restored shops (wig-making, printing and bakery).

The next morning, Sunday, December 3, everyone was given free time to enjoy breakfast and to browse around in the various shops. Many students chose to ride bicycles. Following this, they continued their tour of Williamsburg with a guide. They saw a movie about Williamsburg, and were taken to the Governor's Palace, where they were very much impressed with the maze. Luckily, no one was lost.

The woman at this PEPCO typewriter gives "Matchless Service", too

The usual image of a PEPCO worker is a man with a yellow helmet climbing a pole. There's a good reason for this image. He's the member of the PEPCO family you see most often.

But how about the many people you don't see—the people in the plants and offices who carry out the thousand-and-one supporting tasks necessary to maintain our high standards of service.

And the ladies, bless them! We're tremendously proud of the hundreds of PEPCO women who work "Matchlessly" at their desks performing the multiplicity of office tasks necessary for the efficient operation of our business.

They're as much a part of the PEPCO team as the men "on the line" who work with great devotion 24 hours a day, under all weather conditions, to bring you all the "Matchless Service" you want and all the help you need in using it to your best advantage.
