Council Defers Rezoning For GHI Elderly Housing

By Harry Zubkoff

The question of rezoning a 3½ acre tract from RPC to R-18 was discussed at considerable length at the city council meeting Monday night. Action was postponed, pending a special meeting on the subject. Greenbelt Homes, Inc., had requested the rezoning in order to construct an elderly housing project and the matter had been referred to the city's Advisory Planning Board for study and recommendation. The Board, in a two-part report, recommended approval of the request, although it raised a number of unanswered questions for council's consideration. These questions were largely answered by a letter from GHI Manager Paul Campbell, read into the record by Mayor White.

Opposition Speaks

In attendance at the council meeting were GHI board candidates Helm, Cherry, and Fritz, all of whom objected to council's taking any action on the request at this time. They pointed out that they did not believe that the GHI vote which had approved the elderly housing project represented a majority opinion of GHI members, and that they had a petition before the GHI board requesting that the matter be reconsidered. The suggested therefore, that the city postpone a decision on the rezoning request since reconsideration might conceivably lead to abandonment of the project altogether. Councilmen for the most part dismissed these objections on the grounds that the request had been made by the duly constituted authorities of GHI, and they were bound to respond to any such legitimate requests. In any event, it was pointed out, Campbell had assured the council that if, for any reason, the project were not consummated, the GHI board would request that the land be restored to its previous zoning classification.

Schwann Praises Project

Charles Schwann, who had been chairman of the GHI Elderly Housing Committee, addressed council on behalf of the zoning request, stressing the fact that the project would be a worthwhile addition to the community and that the fears which had been expressed that the project might become an eyesore were completely unfounded, since GHI could be depended upon to maintain it in excellent condition. Councilman Dave Champion also spoke vigorously in favor of the rezoning request, declaring that it was not at all comparable to the requests of other land owners who had sought (and been refused) R-18 zoning for their property, in some cases for frankly speculative reasons and in others without submitting any development plans. His motion to approve the request, however, failed for lack of a second. Councilman Bill Phillips displayed a considerable lack of understanding as to the nature of the project by asking questions about the kind of financing "we want to obtain", when the fact had been brought out a number of times that the project would be entirely financed by the Federal Government. City manager Charles McDonald, when asked to comment by Mayor White, spoke forcibly against using any of the city's green areas for any purpose whatever.

The prolonged discussion ended with a motion by Goldfaden, seconded by Phillips, to seek a 30-day extension, so that council could investigate more thoroughly. A special meeting will be scheduled in the near future to treat this request at length.

Polls Open May 15

Primary election polls will be open on May 15 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. at Center School. Several Greenbelt residents are running in both the Democratic and Republican primaries this year.

Local Democrats running for County Commissioners are Frank Lastner, 19-P Ridge, and Simon Pristoop, 2-A Plateau.

SRO As Council Plans Rec Personnel Change

A record crowd of teen-agers and adults attended the city council meeting Monday evening to discuss the council's plan to reorganize the recreation department. There was standing room only in the council chamber, with spectators lining the stairwell, as a brisk discussion took place on the merits of the reorganization plan.

Mayor White described the proposal briefly, pointing out that the city plans to eliminate the position of superintendent of recreation and to establish two new jobs—a director and an assistant director of recreation, both to be working positions rather than simply supervisory positions. It was council's feeling, he explained, that the individuals hired for these positions would have enough recreational skills so that they could replace many of the part-time people who have been employed by the recreation department to conduct the various programs. Of course, he conceded, there would still be a necessity for some part-time specialists, but many of the wasteful practices previously known to exist in the recreation program would be eliminated by the new organizational structure. Discussion further brought out the fact that council foresees a possible saving of perhaps $4,000 a year, with a concurrent improvement in the quality of the recreation program, through the proposed reorganization.

The teen-age contingent, who for the most part strongly protested the reorganization, were only partially mollified by the answers to the numerous queries they posed. Their conduct at the meeting was dignified and respectful, but their response to council's action was not enthusiastic.

The Maryland House of Delegates are Lawrence J. Burns, 42-D Ridge, and W. Gordon Gemeny, 6 Green-tree Place; for the State Central Committee, Norman A. Taylor, 3-F Laurel.

Another candidate from Greenbelt is David Champion, 11-D Ridge, who is unopposed for the office of State Comptroller.

11 Nominees to GHI Board Compete For Four Openings

By Al Skolnik

A total of 11 candidates will compete for the four openings on the board of directors at the Greenbelt Homes, Inc., annual election on Wednesday and Thursday, May 16 and 17. Among the new candidates are Lou Lushine, 3-C Gardenway, and Gordon O. Allen, 14-X Ridge. Biographies of all the candidates appear on the inside pages of this issue.

GHI attorneys have notified the corporation that according to the by-laws, a referendum on the housing for the elderly project cannot be added to the election ballot. The by-laws state that during the recess of the evening meeting no business shall be transacted, other than the election of officers.

A petition requesting such a referendum had been submitted by a slate of candidates opposing the incumbents. On this slate is Joe Cherry, Joe Fitzmaurice, Jim Fritz, and Bill Helm. The incumbents are GHI president Ed Burgoon, secretary Hans Jorgensen, treasurer Lloyd Moore, and Henry Brautigam.

The opposing slate also contains two candidates for the 3-member audit committee — Henry Lyons and Bernard Bordenet — who are challenging the incumbents — Charles Cormack, Sr., Sam Cornelius, and John O'Reilly.

Quorum

Attendance of five percent of the membership or about 75 persons is required for the conduct of official business. Members who are unable to attend the meeting may be counted toward the quorum if they complete a proxy form assigning their voting rights to another GHI member. Blank proxy forms may be obtained from the GHI office and returned by midnight Friday, May 11.

Unlike city elections, no previous registration is needed to vote. Membership in the housing co-op automatically entitles a member to a vote. Each family is entitled to only one ballot and vote. Voting at the annual election is by secret ballot, with each member asked to vote for as many choices as there are vacancies.

The polls will re-open the morning following the membership meeting at 7 a.m. at the Centerway Office of the Corporation, and will close at 7 p.m. The four candidates polling the greatest number of votes will be declared board winners. There will be no run-off.

Agenda

The agenda for the annual meeting will feature a report by the Holm Committee, which was appointed to study the proposed Bordenet resolutions. All but one of the recommendations of this committee were endorsed by the GHI board of directors.

The recommendation not agreed upon concerns a by-law change proposed by the Helm Committee which would place dollar limits on board expenditures for civic and philanthropic matters and for projects relative to the development of vacant land, improvement of the homes, and planning purposes. The GHI board considered that these dollar limitations — of $600 and $1,000 respectively — would tie the board's hands unnecessarily.

Help of Co-op Members Sought for New Store

A drive, launched by members of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., is underway in Greenbelt to raise a new and "outstanding" CO-OP Supermarket and Pharmacy on the same location where the former building burned to the ground on April 11.

Over 2700 questionnaires, asking members to list the features they'd like to see in the new building have been mailed, and will be collected and tabulated by a group of 25 volunteers, who have held an organizational meeting on May 7 in the Co-op meeting room.

A "Share-Per-Month" Club — initiated a few weeks ago — if off to a flying start with 100 new members; the goal is 1250 charter members who will agree to invest $10 per month to buy a total of 21 shares annually. The Co-op has paid 5% dividends on stock for 22 consecutive years.

J. S. Carman Speaks At Community Church

Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Carman of India will speak at the Greenbelt Community Church next Sunday, May 13. Dr. Carman is the Director of the Christian Medical College at Vellore, which is affiliated with the University of Madras. Mrs. Carman is the daughter of Rev. & Mrs. R. C. Hull of Greenbelt.

Elect Kindergarten Officers

The newly elected officers of the Greenbelt Nursery School, Inc., are Joanne Philleo, President; Virginia Beauchamp, Vice President; Marge Owens, Secretary; Pat Savage, Treasurer; and Winnie Dicks, Financial Secretary.

Board of Directors
GREENBELT HOMES, INC.

I Would Like to See . . .

as a member-owner and permanent Greenbelt resident, within the framework of our monthly charges, a renewal program for our homes on a practical basis. We should be able to use our cooperative purchasing power to obtain improvements to our property, or we may find ourselves living in a cooperative slum, surrounded by the prettiest landscaping in the County. Renewing or rebuilding is the only course open to us, because our homes are aging, and simple mending, patching, and maintenance will very shortly prove inadequate (and already has, in some sections of town). This is a program that is within reach of G.H.I., and we can see signs of its imminence if we re-read the by-laws of the corporation and scan back copies of the G.H.I. newsletter.

I was a charter member of the Lions Club and Toastmasters Club; member of American Legion and Disabled Veterans; have served 10 years on the Youth Center Advisory Board; member of St. Hugh's Catholic Church.

My Platform: I believe this corporation should at all times be operated on sound business principles. If elected, my business experience should be extremely helpful to the GHI Board.

If elected I would, as in the past, work towards economical operations in every department, keeping all charges within reason, yet enough to assure the continued financial soundness of our corporation. I shall keep the members informed and in all decisions be fair to both the members and the corporation.

Active in Greenbelt organizations, including past president of St. Hugh's Home and School Association, Cub Scouting, former member of Greenbelt Federal Credit Union, and former member of the Board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc.

I seek your support in returning me to the Board because I share the concern of many members of Greenbelt Homes over the disregard of the best interest of us all by the entrenched incumbents who are seeking re-election. I also earnestly request that you support my fellow candidates — Messrs. Cherry, Fritz, and Helm for the Board, and Messrs. Bordenet and Lyons for the Audit Committee — because I am firmly convinced that I can work with them most effectively for the welfare of the membership. In my opinion, the desired results will not be obtained unless these men are likewise re-elected.

I will always strive to act prudently, if elected, in all actions I may take in connection with the corporate affairs of the corporation.

B. James Fritz, 2C Woodland Way

I have been a resident of Greenbelt since 1953. Graduate of George Washington University with a degree in Political Science. Employed as a senior examiner by the Government Employees and Critetion Insurance companies, for the past nine years.

Basically, I am running for the Board of Directors for two reasons: First, I believe a relatively unchanging board year after year has been harmful. It has led to assured votes for favorite projects of directors and a static, resigned outlook with respect to monthly charges and expenditures. Second, my work over the years on various GHI committees (Chairman, Dog & Cat Committee, member, Audit Committee and Bordenet Committee) has convinced me that a Board chair is the only key to complete information on GHI activities. Without that information there is no real means of either investigating questions relating to GHI planning and expenditures or impeding efforts to push through issues without membership approval.

All my past civic work has been tied into GHI. It has been voluntary. My only profit has been in learning about GHI and deciding what I might best do to serve it further.

My fellow candidates, Cherry, Fitzmaurice and Helm for the Board of Directors, and Bordenet and Lyons for the Audit Committee will join me in working to re-establish the interests of GHI members as the primary function of GHI management. We will appreciate your votes.

William P. Helm, 21-J Ridge rd.

Presently self employed as an attorney in Maryland and the District of Columbia. Education: LLB and LLM Georgetown University Law School. BS in Business Administration at University of Maryland.

Experience in GHI: Two terms on Audit Committee and Chairman of Bordenet Resolutions Committee.

Prior Employment: Representative of United Mine Workers and Officer in U.S. Navy.

Professional and Civic Organizations: American Bar Association, Naval Reserve Association, Lions Club of Greenbelt.

Having lived in Greenbelt over four years, in both frame and masonry houses, and having served GHI on various committees, I solicit your vote to represent you on your Board of Directors of GHI because I strongly feel that the efforts of the Board of Directors and management should be aligned more directly in service to the members: I feel that the Board and management should be more responsive to the needs of the members and that the talent, time and effort of the Board and management should be directed primarily toward efficient operation of GHI, plus improvement where possible. Their efforts should not be spent on major projects of little value to GHI members, or of no value at all. The other members of the NEW TICKET concur and I also solicit your support in their behalf.

Hans Jorgensen, 19-E Hillside rd.
Candidate for reelection. North End resident for 18 years. Served on the Board of GHI for eight years. Present Head Gardner at Goddard Space Flight Center. Chairman Greenbelt Community Church Landscape Committee for eight years. President of the Garden Club and assisted the Garden Club in allocating garden plots for eight years. Sponsor and organizer of GHI Landscape program.

Continued landscaping of the city is my special interest. This is one program which has cost the members very little and will in years to come increase the value and beauty of the city.

As a frame house resident I will continue to strive for any constructive program which will improve the frame houses and at the same time improve Greenbelt as a whole.

Keeping operating cost down is not easy. Continually looking for other income to offset rising living cost is one of my major objectives. In almost ten years of operation we are in the black; we have money in reserve. If reelected I will continue to work for GHI an all members as a whole. I will not work for myself or any special interest group but only for the best of GHI. Yours for a sound GHI!

AUDIT COMMITTEE

(Vote for 3)

Bernard J. Bordenet, 1-D Gardenway

Bernard J. Bordenet. Former board member and chairman of the legal and finance committees. Degrees in law and accounting. Attorney, U. S. Government. I am running because I believe in democratic principles and that members should be adequately and correctly informed on all important financial transactions, policies, and procedures of GHI, as well as of all other financial matters affecting the welfare of its members. I am particularly interested in determining whether, and if so to what extent, there may exist irregularities or violations of the integrity of the competitive bidding system established in the by-laws, or otherwise, an din the methods used in determining and allocating costs.

Charles M. Cormack, Sr., 6-B Ridge

Road

After graduation from Cornell University in 1920 as a Civil Engineer, I entered the real estate business as a member of the firm of Cormack, Rich and Co. in Buffalo, N. Y. Our firm engaged in sales management of rental property, insurance, subdivision, and construction activities.

In 1935 I was called to active duty as a Reserve officer in connection with CCC activities and served as Officer-in-Charge of Construction and Company Commander in camps in N.Y., N.J., and Utah, until 1938, when I accepted an appointment as Management Engineer with the United States Housing authority in Washington, D. C.

For the past 24 years, except for military service of 3½ years during World War II, I have been engaged in the management supervision of public housing projects throughout the United States and territories. My present position is Director of Management Operations of the Public Housing Administration. Over 450,000 dwellings are now operated under this program.

In 1946 I was appointed Community Manager of Greenbelt and served in that capacity until 1949. We have lived in Greenbelt for the past 16 years and both my wife and I have been active in community organizations.

At the request of the original Board of Directors of GVHC I served on the committee which estimated probable operating costs, developed basic operating policies and developed formulae to govern the appointment of costs to members.

Observed (1) no hint of impropriety, (2) very careful attention by every Board member to the corporate and individual interests of member owners, (3) considerable imagination and patience as to details of the business and opinions of members, (4) excellent reports, especially through the impartial News Review.

Platform: Upon proper occasion this committee of "watchdogs" should be quick to "bark", and if necessary able to "bite."

Henry J. Lyons 14-Z-3 Hillside

I was born in Massachusetts, graduated from the University of Maryland in 1960 with a B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering. I am presently employed at the Emerson Research Laboratories in Silver Spring. I was previously employed by ERCo in Riverdale, and Westinghouse in Baltimore. I have been a resident of Greenbelt for almost four years. I have served on the Committee for Housing for the Elderly, the sub-committee on admissions to the Housing for the Elderly, the Bordenet Resolutions Committee and a sub-committee on investigation of the use of basements in the homes of 'Old Greenbelt'.

If elected to the audit committee I will endeavor to bring it out of its lethargy and get it functioning in the manner for which it is intended. I have served on two major committees in GHI during the past year. On one I had the feeling that I was on a 'hand-picked rubber stamp' committee for the board of directors; on the other committee however we had to work long hard nights for months in order to arrive at a final report that would be acceptable to the Board of Directors. Of the first, I feel some reservations; of the second, I am proud to have served on it and I hope that, if elected to the Audit Committee, I can turn the Audit Committee into a vital function of this corporation instead of a do-nothing rubber stamp. I am running as a member of the NEW TICKET and I solicit your votes for the entire ticket.

GHI Issue Hotly Debated Referendum Issue

To the Editor:

During the past several weeks, GHI members have seen a series of letters to the editor regarding issues confronting that organization, most notably the elderly housing project. Furthermore, a slate of new candidates for the board of directors is now circulating its campaign literature, and the chief issue around which this campaign is built is the elderly housing project. In response to the numerous queries I have received I should like to make my position clear on this issue—both to the candidates and to the membership.

To begin with, there is no question that the members have a right to bring up any issue for discussion at the annual meeting and, if they so desire, they have a right to demand a referendum. Moreover, there is no question that they have the right to reverse any decision made by the board or any previous decision made by the membership. But along with their rights, the members also have some obligations, one of which is the obligation to vote intelligently on the basis of facts and study—not on the basis of emotion or prejudice.

If a referendum is to be held, however, the members should once again be given the opportunity to study the facts and the information surrounding this issue, so that their vote will reflect an intelligent appraisal. For it must be conceded that this is a complex matter which requires thoughtful study, and this cannot be done in the short time remaining before the annual meeting. I would therefore favor a referendum two or three months hence, with an intensive information program to be conducted in the interim.

I have personally spent many hours studying the information developed by the Elderly Housing Committee—which by the way, performed its job most admirably. By the process of sheer intellectual persuasion I have become convinced that the elderly housing program is well within the purview of GHI activity, and that if it is carried out it will benefit both the corporation and the community. I am also convinced that anyone who studies this program with an open mind will become similarly persuaded.

Nevertheless, if after such study, the membership response to a referendum is negative, I would submit to their wishes and vote to drop the project. And I would remind the members and the candidates that board members have certain obligations also. They must exercise leadership and prudence. They should express their convictions honestly and not allow political expedience to shade their integrity. They should bear in mind that their responsibility extends to the entire membership and to the corporation as a whole, not merely to one small segment, or one large segment, either.

But in the final analysis, they must be responsive to the wishes of the membership, as those wishes are reflected by the majority of the voters. This is why I believe it is terribly important that there be a frequent turnover in the composition of the board, for in our democratic process of free election where a choice of candidates is provided to the voters, a powerful incentive is created for responsiveness on the part of the board to the wishes of the membership.

I state this as a general principle, but let me make it clear at once that I am not a party to the campaigns for election which are being carried on this year. The slate which is running does not have my support! Indeed, I strongly disapprove of and disagree with many aspects of the campaign literature being circulated. But I do believe that Bill Helm is a better man than his campaign would seem to indicate. For this reason, I support him, — despite his campaign, not because of it.

Servants Not Our Masters

To the Editor:

Concerning Mr. Campbell's attack on me in the GHI Newsletter, in which he refused to publish my views, Mr. Campbell deplors the meager time and expense involved in considering the Bordenet resolutions concerning the rights of GHI members under their contracts and the bylaw limitations on the authority of the board of directors. I notice that he does not deplore the time and large expense involved in the SIX YEARS he has been pushing Elderly Housing (which commits GHI thousands of dollars), motels, and other projects, which GHI has no business getting into, since the bylaws state that the purpose of GHI is to provide housing "in the interest and for the housing of its members," and limits membership to financially responsible persons who have ownership contracts with GHI. That time should have been spent on GHI business.

Mr. Campbell views these rights and limitations on board authority as "negative. I suppose it is heresy to question the authority of the board or management. Negative or otherwise, these resolutions are just the first installment on members' BILL OF RIGHTS. They call for treating members as owners and not as mere tenants. Our servants are not our masters. Future installments will get down to basic issues on just what members' property rights are under the law and whether GHI can lawfully abridge them. Persistence in the present attitude of Mr. Campbell and the board may result in the choice of a different forum in which to test members rights, a forum where authoritative decisions based on law rather than on propaganda can be obtained. Remember the dog and cat case?"

The GHI attorney's opinion contains demonstrably erroneous statements of fact and premises which do not support his conclusion, since the contract and bylaws have always contained adequate machinery to fully protect GHI and its members financially and enable it to recover all expenses involved in sales, but the right to determine these matters is reserved to the membership and not left to arbitrary board action. Perhaps the reason that machinery was not utilized is because the manager could not factually justify his proposal. Tailor-made cost figures based on a three-day survey (and announced after a year of evasion and protestations of the difficulty of determining costs) and loud shouting do not establish facts. Also I was surprised to see the attorney deny the well established principle of the right to freedom of contract, which is basic in our legal system.

Until recently my position was not based on mistrust (as Mr. Campbell suggests), but upon Maryland law permitting the membership to democratically reserve to itself the right (1) to decide certain questions of policy and (2) to exercise the powers of the corporation. The refusal of Mr. Campbell and the board to furnish certain information requested of them with respect to GHI policies and the basis for them, however, has generated considerable distrust. Also I notice that some other members must share some distrust, since they have signed petitions against a motel (which Mr. Campbell also characterized as "negative") and to reconsider the Elderly Housing program (which he is desperately trying to stop).

I hereby challenge Mr. Campbell to a public face-to-face debate on the question of members' property and contractual rights and the policies, practices, and procedures of GHI in relation to them. In such a public debate he will have full opportunity to prove his allegations against me—if he can—and to explain just what the GHI policies are and the basis for them. I suggest that he is afraid to accept this challenge.

B. J. Bordenet

P.S. Contrary to the statements and innuendoes in Mr. Campbell's Nominate Everyone?

To the Editor:

The by-laws of GHI provide a most democratic means of nominating candidates to run for election to the Board of Directors and the Audit Committee. This is through a five man Nominations and Elections Committee which is elected by the members at the annual membership meeting for the express purpose of soliciting, selecting and nominating individuals who, in the opinion of the committee, are best qualified to serve the membership if elected.

It is vital to the organization that this committee be free to operate entirely on their own initiative, being responsible only to the membership. They are not, and rightly should not be, required to make any report of their progress or to even explain the reason for their actions to the Board of Directors or individuals seeking nomination by them.

The by-laws require that the names of candidates nominated by the committee be in the hands of the Secretary of the corporation not later than ten days prior to the annual meeting. However, it also provides an alternate means of placing names on the ballot. For the benefit of individuals who have not been nominated by the committee, they have three more days in which they can present their consent form and a petition signed by any ten members to the secretary and their names will be placed on the ballot with no distinction made between them and candidates nominated by the committee.

Unfortunately, this year a few of those seeking nomination seemed to feel that it was the duty of the committee to nominate everyone who desired to run for office and became quite belligerent when the committee failed to do so. If such were the intent of those who originally drew up the bylaws they would have eliminated the Nominations Committee and instead, had a box placed in the center (possibly along side of one of the trash containers) where anyone could drop their consent form.

I have served on this committee for several years and honestly believe that no past committee ever worked so diligently or were so conscientious in their consideration of candidates. Well over one hundred man hours were spent in soliciting and selecting proper candidates and each one was given all possible consideration; some even being personally questioned before the committee until we were satisfied as to their qualifications.

A committee elected by the members to carry out specific duties never expects to be commended for doing their assigned task. However, neither do they believe they have to be subjected to abuse, insults or false accusations such as this committee has been by a disgruntled member of a so called "slate" who was not nominated by the committee. This person merely bore out the good judgement of the committee in not nominating him when he pounded on my door at 11 p.m. Sunday night (accompanied by another member of the slate who had been nominated) and "demanded" that his petition be signed by me. When I declined he spat on my porch, shook his fist in my wife's face, and accused the committee of being in collusion with the incumbent candidates. Is this the type of "gentleman and scholar" you would want to look out for your interests and to represent you? I don't believe it!

Bev Fonda

letter, my opinion is that the Committee on the Bordenet Resolutions agreed in essence with ALL of the Bordenet resolutions except the one relating to eviction of members, as demonstrated by our committee report which was also published in the Newsletter. It is incredible that anyone would interpret our report otherwise.

Set the Record Straight

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:

There seem to be so many misconceptions being disseminated concerning the proposed elderly housing project that I should like to set the record straight.

What is proposed is that there be built 56 housekeeping units for occupancy by elderly persons. Funds would be obtained from the Housing and Home Finance Agency under its direct loan program. The project would be administered by a single-purpose, non-profit corporation. The project would be a self-sustaining, taxable unit. Tenants, all of whom would have to be elderly, would be required to show evidence of ability to meet rental payments. No burden on GHI or the community is contemplated or possible.

The GHI responsibility, much of which has been met, is to inaugurate the effort and to undertake certain financial commitments calculated not to exceed $10,000. GHI would also sell management and maintenance services to the elderly housing corporation at cost and extend to it the savings made possible by GHI volume purchasing.

The project is a worthy one. Those who conceived it - a group not including the writer of this letter - deserve to be congratulated. They envisioned attractive, well-built, comfortable homes for elderly persons at the lowest possible cost. They calculated correctly that there exist in Greenbelt both a need for and an interest in such a project. They have exhibited a caliber of leadership that, sadly enough, we may prove we do not merit.

What prompted the proposal? Was it meanness of spirit? Was it a selfish interest? What meanness of spirit or selfishness can there be in wanting to provide decent, safe and sanitary housing for elderly people? What purpose would be served by delaying, obstructing or thwarting the project? Why should there be requested still another vote on the proposal six months after the membership approved it if the project can be built for not more than $400,000? Who will be hurt if the project is not built? Who will gain? Mr. Editor, these are some of the questions that have occurred to me. Can they be answered?

Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

Constructive, Not Destructive

To the Editor:

I have read with interest of the proposal of several G.H.I. members to place the geriatric housing program again on the ballot. This has certainly made interesting and eye-catching reading. I use the term "geriatrics" instead of "elderly" because it is generally known that not everyone over 60 feels very elderly.

The framework of G.H.I. has allowed the election of this program by the members, and it is therefore apparently legal. One must assume that an election held within the framework of certain rules and laws is a binding one, unless fraud has been proven. Since there is no fraud in this case, only a dearth of member-voters, then the proper thing to do is to graciously accept the ballot on this question. We should not attack the end result, only the means to this end, if it is found to be unpalatable. I have yet to see a presidential election be repeated because insufficient voters turned out at the polls.

Perhaps we all, as G.H.I. members should turn with greater interest to the working of our corporation, in which each of us has a financial stake. Constructive, not destructive criticism, is what G.H.I. needs in order to remain "healthy". A greater attendance at all G.H.I. meetings is mandatory upon the conscience of every member-owner. If any of the corporation's rules and regulations are found to not be in the best interests of the majority of member-owners, then it is up to the the same member-owners to bring about legislation in an orderly fashion to produce the desired end result.

Mrs. Marjorie Bergemann

Devious Means Will be Used

To the Editor:

Your editorial last week presentend the point that a referendum on Elderly Housing was a sound idea—for those who oppose elderly housing. We believe that it is a sound idea for all the members of GHI, including the present board, and that the present Board should have initiated a referendum last December when less than one hundred members attended the special meeting on elderly housing. Your editorial states "Perhaps GHI should adopt the World's Series approach, with the best four out of seven decisions determining the outcome." May we suggest that if GHI were to accept the best one out of two votes taken, those opposed to elderly housing would prevail.

Some persons have remarked that should GHI change its mind on Elderly Housing, the corporate reputation would be injured. We just don't believe that this is so. Management was morally obligated to inform anyone consulted on the elderly housing matter that only 3% of the members gave a conditional go ahead, and that at a later Board meeting, at least one director warned the Board that the membership may have more to say on elderly housing at the next regular meeting. Certainly anyone so informed would praise the corporation for encouraging a large number of the members to express their views on the matter. It may enhance the corporation's reputation for being democratic, rather than bureaucratic.

However, it appears to us that those in control do not want a large number of members to express their opinion. We believe that every imaginable scheme or trick will be used to keep elderly housing off the agenda and to prevent a membership referendum on the question of elderly housing. Devious means will also be used to insure that any further consideration of elderly housing takes place only at a special membership meeting.

We don't claim to know what the outcome of a vote on elderly housing will be. We do believe that if such vote is taken simultaneously with the election, a large number of members will express their opinion and the Board can act accordingly. However, if they won't let us vote by secret ballot, we encourage every member to attend the membership meeting next Wednesday evening to express their opinion and to vote on elderly housing.

Should Ins Nominate Outs?

To The Editor:

After experiencing the events of the past week concerning the group opposing Messrs. Cherry, Helm et al, I feel that your Editorial of last week was a week early and directed toward the wrong people.

We now have a new basis for an editorial on "Democracy or Obstructionism?" Do you feel that it is democracy when the "ins" will not nominate the "outs" to run in an election against them? Or would you call this a type of, to use your own words, "PURE OBSTRUCTIONISM"? It may be the right of the Nominations and Elections Committee to nominate whomever they please but I do feel that when they fail to nominate a person for an office, as they did to me, they ought to be BIG enough to give their reasons. I really do not know what they hoped to accomplish as I would not have filed to run for the Audit Committee had I not ten friends to sign a petition for me.

I also wonder what special qualifications one must have to serve on the Audit Committee that Board Members do not have. I was nominated to run for the Board of Directors last year by a committee chaired by the same man who chaired the committee who refused for no cause to nominate me this year. Furthermore they failed to nominate three other members of the "New Ticket", all of whom had been nominated & endorsed in past years.

In closing I reiterate the previous question "Is this Democracy or Pure OBSTRUCTIONISM?"

Yours Truly,
Henry J. Lyons

Clear The Air

To the Editor:

It looks like Greenbelt's "Secondary" political season has brought out a full quota of ingenious campaign-issue manufacturers. As a recently-announced candidate for GHI Board, maybe I should latch onto one or two myself.

In the meantime I seem to remember a burning issue last spring which faded into absolute obscurity after the election, and the memory makes me suspect that the present referendum will suffer a similar fate however inconclusive its results.

Furthermore I doubt very much that the present GHI Board represents any power clique organized as well as the accusing "slate." I suspect it suffers from disorganization, instead. The "slate", itself, looks very familiar: like something fallen from last year's roof. I'd hate to think its accusations were directed toward the two Board members we elected from it last spring.

But the straw which tipped the balance for me (I'm almost ashamed to admit I've joined this free-for-all) is the slate's insinuations concerning the commercial zoning. The GHI Board had neither the legal nor moral right to express the corporation on that question. As much as that silence hurt, I must give credit that it was correct: as an official position. On the other hand no slate has the right to, imply, however indirectly, that it took any more active part in the matter either. The zoning controversy has no place in this campaign.

We might wish our Board members to show a little more willingness to act as individuals and accept individual responsibilities. How can we expect them to make responsible decisions otherwise?

Gordon O. Allen

"Reckless Minority"

To the Editor:

Member-owners of G.H.I. in great number had better take the trouble to turn out to vote for their Board of Directors next Wednesday night and on Thursday before 7 p.m. Otherwise the continuing improvement of their properties may be endangered.

For a so called "New Ticket", operating in the machine tradition, is stirring up general disgruntlement and organizing intensively the minority which is vulnerable to demagogic cultivation.

Without substantial issues and very shaky even as to a few minor "facts" which it alleges, the slate tends to ignore the individual characters and records of its opponents. Its argument is to kick out all of those old rascals, and put in all the prettier new ones. Thus incumbents will become a good word when they get in, but until then it is a dreadful dirty word.

Intelligently critical members need to be aware that a wrecking operation through the slate by a reckless minority is not impossible, if too few voters turn out. Such an operation could consolidate a power clique, attempted through another slate, last year.

Three completely new Board members added last year have been assimilated usefully. If one or two new members are elected this year, they also might be assimilated without jeopardizing the continuity of the Board. But a slate cannot do this. This Board is not entrenched or frozen. That is only one of the many spacious pretenses by the "New Ticket" of general oppositionists, in their advertisement last week in the News-Review.

To balance the slate-lovers, diligently coaxed to the polls, there must be a spontaneous turnout of more independent voters, judging individuals rather than the slate, or the incumbents.

Prefer to Maintain Faith

To the Editor

It is hoped that members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. will think for themselves in the coming elections on May 16th & 17th.

Certainly, recent statements made by members of a 'slate' of candidates for the Board of Directors should be studied carefully. Some proof of accuracy should be required to support many of the points, stated as fact, concerning 'Housing for the Elderly,' 'Operation and Management of GHI' and 'Present incumbents on the GHI Board of Directors.'

Many of us have lived in Greenbelt since the inception of GHI, and have worked hard to help put GHI where it is today. We take great pride that GHI is considered to be one of the most successful housing co-ops in the country, if not in the whole world.

We take pride that our Corporation is financially stable, our homes secure, our standards high, and our surroundings pleasant. We believe this reflects much credit upon the service of those who have served so faithfully on the Board Directors, on the specially appointed committees, and on the management staff.

Therefore, we would prefer to maintain faith in the substantial leaders of our community who have labored for years on the Board, committees, and management, to 'build up' our Corporation; not, to 'tear it down'.

We believe it necessary to maintain the standing and prestige of our Corporation by sticking to decisions and policies once they are determined by a majority vote in a democratic manner.

If you also believe these things, you will not be easily misled by the flagrant attack of a disgruntled group who are using tactics of 'tearing down' Greenbelt Homes, Inc. in order to place themselves in the same position of authority which they are accusing others of holding.

Renewing Your Auto Policy

Heard our singing commercials: "9 out of 10 come back again for Nationwide car insurance"? According to the figures, though, more than 90% of our auto policyholders renew with us. Our slogan is an actual fact, as well as a catchy tune. But what about the (less than) 10% who don't renew? Some sell their cars, some quit driving, or move out of our operating territory. Some leave us, too, because they think they've found a "better buy." (Yet over half of these people come back to us later on! Which proves there's no substitute for finding out the facts for yourself.) We're mighty happy about our renewal record—because there's no advertisement like a satisfied customer. If you would like to know about Nationwide's broad coverage, low rates and fast claims service, ask one of our 2½ million satisfied policyholders. Or, call me I'm a Nationwide policyholder too.

"My first call!"

Karen is placing her first Long Distance call for a customer, maybe you.
It's a pretty exciting experience. She has recorded the necessary details preparatory to making the call, referred to many of her helpful records at hand and, thanks to all of her training, everything is going smooth as clockwork.
Karen already understands why so many young ladies enjoy being Telephone Operators.
It's one of the few jobs where a girl really gets the satisfaction of helping people.
Every call is a new experience. New people to talk with and to help, new places to "visit."

We'll be following Karen's career in the weeks to come—watching her enjoy the challenge of an interesting job in a modern, vital industry.
And, if you have the feeling that Karen and you have a lot in common, why not see about becoming a Telephone Operator yourself?
Our job counselors are located at the Employment Office, 725 13th Street, N. W. (between G and H Streets).
And there's nothing these ladies like better than chatting with girls like you.

David Hume

For Governor

In the next few days, until the May 15th primary, voters have a rare opportunity to join together in splitting the sorry slates offered this year. Vote the individuals you believe to be good — skip wherever you have no real choice.

David Hume has no machine support. His platform is his own; strong for reapportionment, long-time fighter for conservation in Maryland. Would drive slots from all counties. "Support of education is our major issue."

Meet David Hume on Friday, May 11, 8 P.M. at Coral Hills Hall, Marlboro Pike and District Line
