Controversy Over Addition Marks GHI Board Meeting

by Russ Greenbaum

An aroused group of residents from the 45 court of Ridge faced the board of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., with an unusual dilemma at its special meeting last Thursday. The residents were there to protest a decision by the board two weeks earlier in which it gave approval to the plans of Earl Bragonje, 45-A Ridge, for an addition to his house.

Bragonje is proposing to build a combination carport and hobby workshop to be connected to his house by a roof which will form a breezeway. A petition signed by a number of the residents objecting to this structure had been heard at the previous meeting, with the board deciding that none of the objections was valid. None of the petitioners had appeared in person.

The only requirements for the construction of an addition are board approval of the plans or design and the consent of the neighbors on either side. Bragonje, who lives in an end unit, had obtained the consent of his only immediate neighbor.

The spokesman for the petitioners, Abraham Chasnoff, 45-N Ridge, explained that he and members of his group had deliberately stayed away from the previous meeting to avoid an eye-to-eye confrontation with a good neighbor. He felt that such action would have been detrimental to court harmony.

Chasnoff argued that a definite majority of the residents of the court were opposed to Bragonje's plans for his structure and that this factor should carry considerable weight with the board. Director Charles Schwan, on the other hand, pointed out that such a majority opinion was bound to be significant but that this alone could not control the board's decision.

Object to Size

One of the major objections of the petitioners was the location of the structure at the rear of the house, where it would blot out a large green area including part of Bragonje's hedge and also infringe on what is generally considered to be the public "front door" area of the court. Another principal argument was the size of the structure, which will be 52 feet long. Chasnoff claimed that this would impart a congested, "slum-like" appearance to the court area, especially if other residents followed Bragonje's precedent.

Chasnoff drew an admission from GHI Maintenance Head Dave Kane that never before had an addition to the rear of a GHI unit been approved by the board. There was also some feeling among the petitioners that the use of cinder block for construction and the lack of any windows made the building architecturally undesirable.

GHI President Harry Zubkoff noted that a member of the board's standards and improvements committee had consulted an architect who reportedly disapproved of Bragonje's plans. However, Bragonje challenged whether the committee member was biased in his viewpoint. Later in the meeting the board decided it would consult an architect on its own and have an opinion for the next meeting.

The issue of whether or not Bragonje's proposed addition was in reality a free-standing structure was again raised by Director John O'Reilly, who had made this point at the previous meeting. The GHI board has a policy against permitting any member to construct a free-standing building (other than small sheds) on his grounds and, in fact, had disapproved of a garage-workshop previously proposed by Bragonje on this basis. Both O'Reilly and Chasnoff questioned whether the device of attaching the building to the house by means of a roof really took the structure out of the free-standing category.

The dilemma faced by the board was how to deal with the protests of residents whose written petition had already been considered by the board and a decision reached after a review of that petition had been made. Director Bill Helm pointed out that it would not be proper for the board to reverse or rescind its decision unless new arguments or new "alarming" evidence was presented. He noted that the 45-court residents were simply repeating arguments already spelled out in their petition.

Propose Private Meeting

The only concrete suggestion of a way out came from Directors Hans Jorgensen and Schwan, who proposed that the petitioners meet with Bragonje and attempt to reach an amicable compromise. Bragonje, who pointed out that he had previously discussed his plans with several of the court residents, agreed to consider "some" modifications.

The petitioners were asked to report the results of their discussion with Bragonje to the board at its next meeting on July 11. The board made it clear that it hoped that this would settle the matter without the need of further board action. On the other hand, if there were a continued impasse the board would be required either to reverse or reaffirm its previous decision presumably relying heavily on the opinion of the architect.

Traffic Accidents Analyzed

A summary of accidents investigated by the Prince Georges County Police Department for the period between June 21, 1963 and June 27, 1963, shows one hundred and thirty-eight (138) motor vehicle accidents were investigated, 42 of which resulted in injury to persons.

The three major causes of accidents in the order given were:

1. Excessive speed.
2. Failure to yield the right of way and following too closely.

Police Chief Speaks at Meeting About Anti-Loitering Ordinance

by Rita Fisher

Greenbelt Police Chief Robert A. O'Brien addressed a meeting of the Greenbelt Businessmen's Association on Tuesday, July 2 on the subject of the proposed anti-loitering ordinance in Greenbelt.

Statement On Police Chief

City manager James K. Giese issued late yesterday the following statement, clarifying the current status of the chief of police:

Last Friday, June 28, 1963, Robert A. O'Brien submitted his resignation as Chief of Police effective July 3, 1963.

After his decision was made known, the Chief was requested to reconsider this action by a number of citizens and businessmen in the community. Following extensive discussions, Chief O'Brien withdrew his resignation and has agreed to continue serving in his present capacity.

Chief O'Brien expresses his appreciation to the many Greenbelters who urged him to reconsider his decision to resign and to the many, including the News Review, who have praised his efforts to provide effective law enforcement in the community. The Chief indicated, however, that effective, strong law enforcement requires the cooperation and support of the entire community.

Lastner Urges Greater Aid to Civil Defense

Local governments throughout the nation "will have to stand on their own feet during an attack and for some weeks thereafter," is the view of Chairman Frank J. Lastner, of the Prince Georges County Commissioners.

Testifying Monday before the U. S. House Armed Services Committee, Lastner spoke as Chairman of the Civil Defense Committee of the National Association of Counties in supporting pending legislation to increase Federal contributions to local communities to provide community fall-out shelters.

Lastner pointed out that there are 113 buildings now located in Prince Georges County which could provide shelter spaces — but only for about 35,000 persons out of a population well over 400,000, and he urged rapid action on the proposed legislation.

July 15 Deadline For Admission

College Park, Md.—Students planning to enter the University of Maryland for the 1963 fall semester must file admission applications before July 15.

According to G. Watson Algire, university director of admissions, the deadline was established by the Board of Regents last fall because of the growth in the number of applications to the university, and the time needed to process the applications and to notify the students of the admissions office action. At the end of May, a total of 2393 new students had applied for admission to the university.

Algire predicted that a total of 10,000 new students would apply for admission to the university this year.

Under unusual circumstances, undergraduate applications will be accepted between July 15 and September 1. Applicants filing after July 15 will be required to pay a non-refundable late fee to defray the cost of special handling of applications.

Applicants to the university's Graduate School must file all documents with the office of the dean of the Graduate School before September 1.

The applications deadlines do not apply to students registering in the evening classes offered by University College.

O'Brien stated that 54 incidents involving juveniles occurred in the period May 10 to June 15 during the hours of darkness. In addition, three serious gatherings on separate occasions of more than 25 youths, mostly juveniles, made it necessary to call on State and County Police for assistance.

O'Brien explained that there is no local ordinance covering this sort of gathering. For this reason, he appeared recently before Council to request an ordinance of this type. Without the tools to do the job, the Chief feels that the hands of the law enforcement officers in the city are tied.

He emphasized that he has not proposed a curfew, and that persons opposed to curfews have strongly favored anti-loitering laws in other towns. Such laws have proven effective as a deterrent in localities where they are used.

O'Brien said that officers charged with maintaining law and order must have something to act on. The first action would mean a written warning. If the warning is not heeded, then a charge on a violation can be placed. Under present conditions, officers can do nothing unless they catch violators actually in the process of violating the law; they cannot take preventive action.

Incident Cited

Chief O'Brien cited an incident in which two juveniles were apprehended for failing to comply with an officer's order to stay out of the Center earlier in the day. These same boys had been restricted from certain business establishments for being disorderly. They were seen in the Center later the same day, and were told to leave. When they refused, the officer on duty took them to Upper Marlboro. All charges against the boys were dismissed because the anti-loitering law was not in effect.

Since he has been in office, Chief O'Brien said he has tried to deal fairly with juveniles. In cases where the boys had no past record of continual vandalism, he has talked with the boys and their parents. He has informed them that the boys could either be sent to Juvenile Court or as an alternative, could work off their punishment by performing tasks on city property. The usual length of time for the work would be two hours a day for a total of eight hours. Usually the boys have been given jobs cutting grass, pulling weeds, picking up bottles, sweeping debris, and cleaning walls and windows in the City offices.

County Taxes Due

Prince Georges County tax bills in record numbers are being mailed this weekend by the office of County Treasurer Charles E. Callow.

The number of real property accounts on the levy books for 1963 now totals 115,084, an increase of 4,549 over last year.

Payment of taxes will be accepted beginning Monday, July 1 in the Treasurer's Office, Upper Marlboro Court House, or they may be paid at any bank in the County.

Mr. Callow added the warning note that taxes will be considered delinquent and subject to interest if not paid by Sept. 30 of this year.

Sell Swim Passes at Pool

The sale of swimming pool passes has been transferred to the swimming pool. It is no longer possible to purchase passes at the City Treasurer's office. However, season passes may still be purchased at the swimming pool.

Arrangements can be made for obtaining replacement passes for passes lost or destroyed at the swimming pool also.

POLICE ACTION PROTESTED

To the Editor:

We feel obliged to protest the action of Greenbelt Police in enforcing an anti-loitering proposal which is not yet law, as reported in the June 27 Greenbelt News Review. The duty of a police force is to apprehend offenders against legally established statutes, not to arbitrarily annoy people whose actions disturb the police.

We also oppose the proposed anti-loitering ordinance. It is a catch-all under which the most innocent citizen could be arrested by the police. We and our year-old boy have frequently "loitered" in the Center, enjoying the fall of night and the movement of people. A teen-ager who is neither destroying property nor offending other people has, we think, as much right as we to spend time in the one urban spot of this city.

In our opinion, Council would be fostering resentment and infringing personal liberty if it should pass an anti-loitering ordinance.

Mr. & Mrs. Stephen B. Weinstein

Offer Archery and Tennis

Registration last Monday for the new archery and tennis programs showed a great deal of local interest, especially in the latter sport. City Manager James Giese has clarified the question of the support of the tennis program by pointing out that the county finances six hours of instruction per week, while the city of Greenbelt underwrites the remainder — by far the bulk of the program.

IT'S THE LAW

The following ordinances were passed by Greenbelt's City Council on April 1, 1963: (worded in condensed form)

Ord. 551 Amendment to Ord. 375 — Any vehicle approaching the intersection of Centerway and the road to the East parking lot designated one way shall come to complete stop and shall yield right of way to any vehicle approaching or in the intersection.

Ord. 552 Amendment to Ord. 461 — All vehicles approaching the crosswalk between the Center Mall and the sidewalk to the underpass shall stop and yield right of way to any pedestrian using the marked crosswalk.

Ord. 549 Repeal of Ord. 484 — Ordinance 484, which prohibits the left hand turn from Centerway to the East parking lot is waived for a period of sixty days.

Birthday greetings to Beverly Francisco, 2-H Northway, who will be twelve years old on Monday

Howard and Pat Savage ran away from the rest of the field in last Friday's duplicate bridge session with a tremendous .750 score in which they garnered 10 tops in 18 boards. Second place went to George Kaufman and Marchal Fuller, seven points behind. Next game: Friday, July 12.

A hole-in-one scored by Gary Robison, 15-A Ridge, may earn him a trip to Scotland for two plus $1,000. When Robison hit his memorable shot at the Glenn Dale Golf Club, he was entered in the Old Smuggler Hole-In-One Sweepstakes. The name of the winner will be revealed at the end of the year.

Happy birthday to Bonnie Boykoff, 2-C Northway, who was 17 years old this week. Ditto sister, Birdie, who chalked up 9 years. Helping them celebrate were cousins Adrienne and Howard Langer of Brooklyn, New York.

Michael, Ricky, Angel and Bobby Belt, 4-A Gardenway, have just returned from Ocean City and Beverly Beach where they were vacationing. Glad to hear that Michael is recuperating nicely from an eye injury.

Ah - vacations! I'm still suffering from vacationitis, an ailment that attacks its victims the very moment home is sighted. My children and I find the best treatment is two to three hours daily at the Greenbelt Swimming Pool. (If you haven't as yet joined the family plan, do it now, and assure yourself a refreshing summer).

Our vacation itinerary took us 2,200 miles. The first stops were the University of Michigan and Niagara Falls where we bunked up with the Geller clan, 117 Northway. The pace was fast at the falls. Clothed in black rain-gear from head to toe, we squished along the underground corridors behind the falls, rode in a cable car across the turbulent whirlpool (there was not full participation in this venture), cruised down to the edge of the falls in the Maid of the Mist, and visited many historical landmarks. The breath-taking beauty of the falls casts a hypnotic spell over its viewers and it was difficult leaving. The Gellers headed for home and we explored the upper New York state mountain area - its beautiful lakes and even went to the North Pole high in Whiteface mountains where Santa Claus has his workshop.

Belated birthday greetings to Debbie Stair, 6-T Hillside, who was ten years old.

It's a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Parrish, 11-Q Laurel. Dolly Ann made her debut May 30, weighing 8 lbs. 4 oz. She joins Bobby, Billy and Jimmy.

Honeymooning at the Hotel Corporation, at Carlton Beach in Bermuda are Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Oehler, 6201 Springhill Drive.

The Douglas Wards are now residing at 37-A Ridge.

Visiting the Geller family, 117 Northway, Miss Ellen Young from Perthshire, Scotland. Ellen is among the 160 young adults from all over the world visiting families in the United States under the International Farm Youth Exchange, a program sponsored by 4-H. Ellen will remain with the Gellers until July 11 and then will spend time with farm families in Maryland and Indiana.

Sorry to learn that Lloyd Moore, 9-K Ridge, has been hospitalized. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Condolences to Mr. Harold Steadman, 11-U Ridge, on the death of his wife.

Another YELLOW PAGES Success Story

FURNITURE MAN HARRY L. CURTIS SAYS...

"I couldn't afford to be without the Yellow Pages"

Curtis Brothers Furniture Store is a real Washington success story.

Its president, Harry L. Curtis, has seen it evolve from a small ice delivery business to one of Washington's leading fine furniture stores.

"It's easy to recall when my brother and I were my father's only employees and our only equipment was a single wagon," he reports.

"Today we employ 173 people and own a fleet of 75 vehicles. In 1962 our gross sales ran over $6,000,000.

"Believe in the Yellow Pages as an advertising medium? Indeed I do! One time I tried not advertising in the Yellow Pages and it was the saddest move I ever made. I found you just can't coast on reputation alone.

"The large Yellow Pages circulation brings results. I wouldn't be missing from the Yellow Pages for one minute."

Mr. Curtis is right. The Yellow Pages reach virtually everyone in your trading area. Many advertisers report the Yellow Pages brings them sales every day of the year.

The reason is clear. Your message is always timely. Prospects find you the moment they need your product or service.

Make sure you're represented in the Yellow Pages this year. It's an investment in success. Just call your C & P Business Office and ask for a Yellow Pages representative.

City Notes

The Greenbelt Department of Public Works has been constructing a storm sewer and manhole in the vicinity of 50 Lakeside Drive. A catch basin from the street in that area has caused an erosion problem.

The Lakewood drainage project has now been completed. Before finishing work, the contractor installed several asphalt pathways in the area. These will be given a surface treatment by city workmen.

New picnic tables and charcoal grills have been placed in the park at Greenbelt Lake. In addition, three picnic tables have been installed in the wooded area near the swimming pool.

Adult Swim Sessions Are Proving Popular

The Friday night adult swim session at the Greenbelt pool promises to become a popular feature of the local summer scene, according to City Manager James Giese. Approximately fifty adults attended the first session last Friday night, which was enlivened (or the reverse) by phonograph music in a light-classical vein, instead of the usual rock and roll. Many of those present indicated their enjoyment to the city manager, who was also taking a dip. "Many people are still unaware that we are offering an "adults only" swim session," Giese commented. "Sitters are also provided at the wading pool for children under the age of six." The adult swim periods are scheduled for Friday nights from 6 to 8 p.m., and they are open to everyone over the age of 18.

New Model on Display In Lakeside Development

"The Brookside" a new "Forecast Home" presented by the Washington Gas Light Company and builder, Charles Burton, has been added to the display at the new Lakeside development.

This split level dwelling, with five bedrooms and two and a half baths, has central gas air-conditioning and heating equipment included in the purchase price of $32,325. The home's ranch-style kitchen has a huge brick fireplace, with raised hearth at one side. Appliances are gas, including a Sun-Ray gas range with two ovens and a separate broiler; gas Norge refrigerator-freezer; and a gas Preway dishwasher. Hot water is heated by gas. In the full basement are a gas combination clothes dryer-washer, and a smokeless, odorless gas incinerator.

There is a paneled den which may be converted into a sixth bedroom. One of the bedrooms is "dormitory size" capable of sleeping up to five children. "The Brookside" also has a large paneled recreation room, a formal living room, and separate dining area. From the last room glass doors open to an outside terrace.

Lions Club Replaces Center Memorial Tree

This week a white spruce was planted to replace a tree that had been planted as a memorial to Angus B. MacGregor. The replacement for the original tree, which had died, is approximately eight feet high and is located beside the MacGregor Memorial marker across Centerway from the Mall.

The new memorial tree was donated to the city by the Greenbelt Lions Club. Hans Jorgensen of the Lions Club arranged for the purchase and planting of the tree.

MacGregor was employed by the Federal Government to do the original landscaping of Greenbelt after it was constructed. He planted a great many tulip poplar trees, for he had learned that they were favorites of President Roosevelt.

Record of No Traffic Deaths Here for Thirteen Years

At the Fifteenth Annual Pedestrian Safety Awards Dinner sponsored by the Automobile Club of Maryland and the D. C. Division of the American Automobile Association held in Baltimore on Tuesday, July 2 the City of Greenbelt received a Pedestrian Safety Achievement Award for having no pedestrian traffic fatalities in the past thirteen years. Greenbelt was one of sixteen Maryland cities which received awards for having no traffic fatalities during 1962. Sparrows Point Maryland was awarded for not having any pedestrian traffic fatalities during the past twenty-two years. Seat Pleasant and Greenbelt were tied for having the second longest period of time without fatalities.

Accepting the award for the city were Councilman Richard R. Pilski and City Manager James K. Giese.

Kilowatts don't grow on trees . . .

Neither does the money required to generate those kilowatts. PEPCO's vast and continuous expenditures for new power plants, transmission and distribution facilities are made possible by the continuing support of the investing public.

What do we offer stockowners in return for their financial backing? The assurance of a steadily growing market for "Matchless Service." The belief in our ability to fill all the needs of that market, with maximum efficiency. Investors are vitally concerned in the efficiency of our operation, just as customers are, because there are always many thousands of companies and channels competing for each investment dollar.

It is with these objectives in mind that PEPCO plans ahead, and builds ahead, always conscious of our responsibility to the many individuals and institutions who are PEPCO and to all who depend on us for an abundance of Electric power—when and where they need it at lowest practicable cost.
