Council Handles 22 Item Agenda, Approves Zoning For Offices

by Charles T. McDonald

In a well attended meeting on Monday, November 18, Greenbelt City Council handled a 22-item agenda and adjourned at 11:15 p.m. At the meeting Council heard from three recently organized groups, the Greenbelt Civic Association, Inc., the Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing and the Greenbelt Library Association.

The Greenbelt Civic Association, Inc. was not represented at the meeting but had sent a letter to City Council recommending a number of changes in the manner in which zoning problems are handled by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission and the County Commissioners. The subject was placed on the agenda for the next Council meeting, December 2, in order to give members of the Civic Association and other interested citizens an opportunity of being present when the subject is discussed by Council. Mayor Smith pointed out that the letter followed the recommendations of the P.G. Municipal League's Program which will be acted on at the meeting of the League on Thursday November 21 and the Council will be better prepared to discuss the recommendation after that meeting.

The Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing were well represented at the meeting, with Jan Turkiewicz as the spokesman presenting a petition to City Council to establish a Greenbelt Human Relations Advisory Board. The stated objective is to insure that a transition to integrated housing in Greenbelt will be as smooth and peaceful as possible. This subject was placed on the agenda for the next City Council meeting, with the City Manager instructed to prepare a resolution on the establishment of a Human Relations Advisory Board for later discussion by City Council and all interested citizens.

Professional Offices

Councilman Dave Champion moved to recommend approval of zoning for professional offices, as recommended by the staff of MNC-PPC for the Martin property between Kenilworth and Edmonston Roads. The owners had petitioned for industrial zoning. (This is the parcel of land for which the Stidham Tire Company had requested industrial zoning but had been turned down by Council last May in a 3-2 vote) City council voted 3 to 2 in favor of Champion's motion. Councilman Bernstein and Simonson preferred to postpone any zoning action until the Planning Commission had presented an overall zoning plan for Greenbelt.

The Greenbelt Library Board had planned to present a petition requesting City Council to arrange for the purchase of a 7500 square foot parcel of land in the Center adjacent to the Post Office as a new library site, however, the group became the victim of City Council's determination to adjourn the meeting at 11 p.m. This action was taken at the opening of the meeting to permit Mayor Smith to leave for Salisbury, Maryland, to attend the funeral of his sister on Tuesday.

The library item had been scheduled on the agenda as item No. 21 to permit some members of the library Board to attend an earlier meeting. Councilman Cliff Simonson attempted to have Council set up an early special meeting for the discussion of the library site but because of the many commitments of the Council members the subject was carried over until next meeting.

Bus Service

The WMA Bus Service scheduled to start in Greenbelt next Monday, November 25, came up for discussion with the members of Council expressing their concern for students at the University of Maryland since the bus now only goes to the Beltway Plaza, the problem of domestic help coming into Greenbelt with no connections at Branchville, and the price of school children fares, particularly those attending Junior High School. A report was requested from the manager.

As a carryover from a previous meeting, the subject of a paid fireman was removed from the table. After considerable discussion it was decided that Council should await an expression from the membership of G.V.F.D. & R.S. before taking any action and the subject was again tabled.

City council accepted the recommendations of the Advisory Planning Board that the several items in report #34, having to do with land within the boundaries of Greenbelt, i.e. Smith and Ewing property, should be denied for apartment zoning. In the discussion of the remainder of the 46 petitions covered by report #34, Council decided to await the report of the MNCP & PC on area 13 before taking any action. A motion that proposed denial of all the petitions was tabled.

A letter from the local D.A.V. requested the use of the Greenbelt Athletic Club for the D.A.V. clubhouse. This matter was turned over to the City Manager for review and a report to Council.

City Land Misused

The city managers' progress report revealed that a new resident whose property backed to the Greenbelt Lake had cut down some trees to improve his view and had encroached on the strip of land owned by the city which lies between the water and the sub-division property. A study is being made to determine the extent and value of the damage to city-owned property. All property owners along the Lake have been cautioned against transgressing on city property.

New roads in the Spring Hill Lake development were accepted by resolution into the city's inventory, which means that the city will receive additional State revenue under the street mileage program.

The ordinance which establishes regulations under which streets and roads must be constructed was amended to conform to the P. G. specifications.

WMA Bus Will Make 20 Stops in Greenbelt

A last-minute revised WMA bus schedule, adding 9 runs to NASA and reducing the runs to Beltway Plaza, has been issued and is printed on Page 3. Residents are cautioned to note sign on buses since they will be headed in same direction whether going toward NASA or downtown/Beltway Plaza.

The new WMA bus service, which begins this Monday, will make 20 stops at points within the city during all its runs, according to a revised routing announced this week by WMA officials. The bus, originally scheduled to make a loop around the North End, will now circle the community completely, except for the sections of town west of Southway and west of Hillside.

Temporarily until the road construction is completed the bus will make only one stop at Springhill Lake Apartments. This will be on Springhill Drive between Edmonston Road and the Recreation Building at the exit to the parking lot.

The first stop in Greenbelt inbound will be at the 9 court of Southway, then Southway and Ridge, Southway and Crescent, and Crescent and Gardenway, which will be a layover point.

The bus will then stop at the 58 court of Crescent, Crescent and Eastway, Crescent and Hillside, then turn up Hillside, stopping at Northway and then at Hillside and Laurel Hill. After turning up Laurel Hill and stopping at the corner of Ridge, the bus will go down Ridge, stopping at the 57 court, then opposite Plateau Place, Ridge and Eastway, the 37 court, the 33 court, Gardenway and Ridge, the 21 court, Ridge and Southway, and the final city stop at the 8 court of Southway.

The entire circling of the city is expected to take about five minutes plus about four minutes at the layover point at Crescent and Gardenway. WMA bus stop signs have been placed at the stops around the city. The WMA bus seen around town this week is a substitute for the city bus, which recently broke down.

Pay Raise for GHI Staff Voted Effective Dec. 1st

by Claude Wimberly

The Greenbelt Homes Inc. board of directors voted corporation employees a sorely needed and long awaited pay increase last Thursday night. The pay hike, which will fatten worker's December 13 pay checks by an average 3.98 percent across the board, was the outgrowth of a recent survey conducted by corporation management expert Nathan Shinderman.

Shinderman, who has since become a GHI director, had recommended the entire pay structure of the corporation be revamped along lines similar to that of the Federal government.

The increase will bring GHI wages to a level comparable to that of federal workers in similar pay grades after they have received the second increment of the 1962 pay raise on January 1, 1964.

Included in the resolution adopted by the board are changes in pay schedules as set forth in the Shinderman report. Under the re-adjustment, so-called "blue-collar" workers pay rates will be made to correspond more closely to those of government wage board employees. Clerical and other GHI staff ratings pay will coincide with equivalent GS ratings.

During discussion on the resolution, the only opposition came from board members Bill Helm and Joe Cherry, who argued enactment of the wage boost should be held up pending discussion of the 1964 budget.

Helm noted the government pay raise was not effective until January 1, and felt the wage increase should be held in abeyance until then. At the same time, he said the board could determine whether or not sufficient funds should be included in the new budget to pay the additional cost of the raise. Management estimates that the annual cost of the raise will be about $10,000.

Shinderman protested any further delay in putting through the pay reforms, and said, it must be paid for regardless of budgetary considerations. He cited the managers' problem in hiring sufficient numbers of competent employees because of the present low wage scale. He declared only immediate enactment of the new pay schedule could put GHI in a favorable competitive position in local labor markets.

Others on the board were overwhelmingly in favor of immediate passage so employees could benefit from the pay raise before Christmas. It carried easily over the objections and will become effective December 1st.

Medical Clinic

In answer to a query on the status of a proposal made earlier this year by a group of local physicians seeking to buy a parcel of GHI land on which to erect a medical clinic, Board President Harry Zubkoff said the matter was being given "intensive study" by the GHI land use committee and a full report was expected soon. In this connection, the board voted a sum of $100.00 for out-of-pocket expenses incurred by committee members in pursuing this and other work. The $100.00 was in addition to $25.00 that had already been allocated for this purpose.

In other actions, the board:

1. Continued the term of Hyattsville attorney Albert Ginsberg as corporation counsel for another year. His appointment was about to expire.

2. Reaffirmed its policy with respect to conserving one of GHI's finest assets — its trees. The board denied a petitioner's request to remove a large oak from his yard, even at his own expense. Inspection by a GHI expert established that the tree is healthy, poses no hazard and there is no justifiable reason for its removal.

3. Deferred action on a recommendation to hire an administrative assistant. Manager Brashears declared that although he needed help badly, he felt the pay boost for GHI employees was far more important at this time, and said he could get along without an assistant for a while.

4. Voted an exception in the case of a handicapped member who wants to wire a rental garage for electric power and lights. The permission was granted in order that the person in question might use the space for rehabilitation and training purposes. However, the board stipulated the garage must be restored to its former status at the end of a year. It also ruled the occupant is forbidden to conduct any sort of business from that location.

Local Man Revealed As Silent Film Star

Greenbelter Russell Griffin, a former child star of silent films is scheduled to be interviewed next week on radio station WWDC in Washington.

"Griff," as he is known to his many friends here, consented to the interview which will take place at 10:30 p.m. November 29 on the Steve Allison show.

Griffin for years managed to keep his childhood movie stardom a secret until the appearance of last Sunday's Washington Star magazine section. An article in the magazine exposed his well-kept secret.

Russell appeared in many silent "flickers" in the late 20s and did a two-year stretch on Broadway in a long-run play — "Street Scene."

His career ran from infancy thru the early teens and ended when his father decreed a normal childhood was better for the youngster than the glamorous life of a movie star.

By the time talkies came along, Russell was in the U. S. Navy, where he spent some 20 years. Last January he retired with the rank of Chief Petty Officer. He is presently employed at the Pentagon in the office of public information.

Griffin lives at 16 M Ridge with his wife Charlotte and a daughter, Rita. He also has a married daughter, and is a grandfather.

Co-op Store Gets New Name

The new policy will feature extensive discount prices. Rosenzweig stated that the lowering of prices is being carried out "in lieu of trading stamps, coupons or other promotional gimmicks."

Council OK's Preparation Of Final Plans For Pool

By Rita Fisher

The city council at a special meeting on Tuesday, November 12, unanimously approved the recommendations of city manager James Giese and the Recreation Advisory Board concerning the reconstruction of the swimming pool. The engineering firm of Greenhorn and O'Mara was instructed to complete the final plans preparatory to letting out the construction job for bids.

Attending the meeting was William Armstrong, an officer in the AAU, invited to the meeting by the swimming team, who expressed concern that in relining the pool the length would be cut from 60 to 59 feet, one foot short of AAU regulation size. He stated that he would not like to see Greenbelt's pool become ineligible for AAU swimming meets and asked if the wall could be moved back. Armstrong, who normally serves as a paid consultant, offered his services to the city without charge and also to Greenhorn and O'Mara. Council members indicated they were impressed with his knowledge of swimming pool design.

Robert Sharf, representing Greenhorn and O'Mara, was questioned by councilmen regarding his opinion on moving the walls, shallowing the present deep end to five feet, (which would enable a larger capacity permit for the pool,) and the use of gunnite or poured concrete to line the pools. It was decided that, in these three areas, the designers would be expected to submit alternate plans.

Sharf was instructed by council to draw up the plans calling for: a separate diving tank, larger deck and sunbath areas with the entire deck being replaced, bathhouse to be built of brick facing on cinder-block, lockers, a concession area which would provide service inside and outside the pool area, hot water for showers and an improved appearance to the center section of the bathhouse.

Armstrong reminded Council that grass areas are now prohibited in Virginia, and being discouraged in the District of Columbia.

Councilmen suggested other improvements for the designers to consider such as underwater lighting, pigmentation of the concrete deck, and possible planters.

Council agreed that no consideration would be given to a covered pool at this time due to the additional cost involved. It was learned that one such pool in this area must face a cost of $1,000 a month in order to keep it heated.

City Notes

Tid-bits of Nov. 4

The council approved an ordinance authorizing the city to borrow $25,000 to meet current payroll and other obligations of the city. Council directed the manager to inform Congressional representatives that it opposes a stipulation that would prohibit local governments in the Washington Metropolitan area from receiving Federal funds from the Open Space Land Grant Program. (This Federal program contributes 20 to 30 percent of the total acquisition cost for new park land and other recreational areas).

Cutting Trees Prohibited

City Manager, James K. Geise, has reported that an incident recently occurred in which a property owner cut and removed trees and shrubs on adjacent city property without obtaining city permission.

Ordinance No. 514 provides that:

"No person may injure, deface, disturb or befool any part of a park or playground or public parking area or any building, sign, equipment or other public property therein. No person may remove or destroy any tree, flower, fern, shrub, rock or other plant or mineral"

Any person violating any of these restrictions is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of up to $25.00.

Mr. Geise noted that many of the homes in Greenbelt border city property. This is particularly true in the Woodland Hills, Lakewood, Lakeside and Lakecrest Subdivisions. Also, many properties border wooded land owned by private owners or G. H. I. In no case should trees and shrubs be removed without obtaining the owners permission.

The city will cooperate with homeowners in any efforts on their part to beautify their properties and adjacent City property.

Taxicab Fares Explained

Complaints being received in the office of W. A. Poole, Director of the Department of Taxicab Inspection and Licenses for Prince Georges County, are the result of a lack of understanding on the part of county residents as to the county and interstate rates for taxi service and the method by which the drivers arrive at the correct fare.

Rates are posted in each taxicab as follows:

Within Prince Georges County, .50 for first mile or part thereof; .10 additional each one-fourth mile; .10 per mile additional for each passenger over two. One piece of standard size or two bundles equal in size to a standard size suitcase are

DISPUTES REPRESENTATION

To the Editor:

I would like to correct a statement appearing in the Greenbelt News Review on November 14. It was stated that the Springhill Lake Citizens Association "represents the 1,500 occupants" of the Springhill Lake area. This is not true. The Springhill Lake Citizens' Association, at the present time, represents only the approximately 60 occupants of this community who are members of this organization.

News Review Begins 27th Year

This week the Greenbelt News Review is celebrating its 26th anniversary. The first issue of the newspaper appeared on November 24, 1937 and it has been published continuously every week since then as a volunteer non-profit effort. For the benefit of the many newcomers to Greenbelt in the past year, we are publishing below excerpts from a history of the newspaper written upon the occasion of its 25th anniversary.

Six weeks after the first residents of Greenbelt unpacked their household belongings, the town had a newspaper. Recognizing the immediate need for a news medium, the first families formed on November 11, 1937 a Journalistic Club and adopted the tentative plan calling for the issuance of a weekly journal to be known as the Greenbelt Cooperator.

The policies of the paper, as formulated at that meeting, were: to serve as a nonprofit enterprise, to remain nonpartisan in politics, to remain neutral in religious matters, to print the news accurately and regularly, to make its pages an open forum for civic affairs, to develop a staff of volunteer writers, and to create a "good neighbor" spirit, promote friendship, advance the common good, and develop a "Greenbelt philosophy of life."

These principles still guide the offset process (from September 1938 to August 1141 and from December 1960 to May 1962). A photo-offset method which reproduces the paper photographically has financial advantages over letterpress and also permits the liberal use of photographs. Nonetheless, the staff has felt that letterpress produces a more attractive appearing paper and also permits more flexibility in the size of the paper and in the kinds of type employed.

Free Delivery

An important development in the history of the newspaper was the decision to deliver the Cooperator free of charge to every home in town, beginning with the issue of September 7, 1939. The additional cost of local distribution was small, and this radical change of policy provided larger circulation figures,

Civic Group Urges New Zoning Policies

The Greenbelt Civic Association at its meeting of November 7 approved a letter to be forwarded to the Mayor and City Council of Greenbelt, urging those officials to recommend to the County Commissioners the adoption of revised procedures on zoning. The proposals supported by the Civic Association are based on recommendations by the Prince Georges County Municipal Association.

The civic group asked that the County Commissioners hold zoning hearings in a place of "reasonable access" to the town involved in the zoning hearing and that such hearings be held in the evening hours to accommodate a larger number of citizens. The group also asked that the Commissioners provide as a public record a written decision on each petition including the recommendations of the municipality involved, the Park and Planning Commission and the reasons why the County Commissioners took their action.

The Civic Association also suggested that the zoning applicant, after rejection, be restrained from refile "in an unreasonably short period of time." (Note: a year's waiting period is now required.) The civic body also feels that the applicant should show cause for filing applications piecemeal on parcels of land near each other and that past objections by citizens should be automatically considered each time an application is refiled.

The Civic Association has also established an adhoc committee under Douglas Ward to consider a complaint by the Golden Age group that the discontinuation of the city bus would result in an unreasonable hardship on our Senior Citizens, many of whom cannot physically journey to the city's recreational center for Golden Age meetings. A corollary problem is substitute bus transportation for Catholic children, who now rely on city buses as the only transportation to St. Hugh's. Anyone interested in committee consideration of this problem should call Ward, GR 4-6375.

Any residents desiring to work with the committee on City Zoning Problems, particularly with reference to property adjoining the Greenbelt Lake, should call Mr. James Fritz, 474-6423.

Cloverbud, 4H News

by Linda Simonson

4-H Achievement Night is held in recognition of all outstanding 4-H'ers. This year Achievement Night was held on Saturday, November 16, in Forestville. Seven Cloverbud club members attended the banquet and program along with about 300 4-H'ers and their families from all over Prince Georges County. Guest speaker Miss Dorothy Emerson spoke to the 4-H'ers and parents. Laura and Linda Simonson won record book awards, a gold pin on a green ribbon. Our club won an Achievement seal for the past year's work.

Officers of the Greenbelt Cloverbuds were installed at a candle light ceremony. Kathy Labukas is now President; Ellen Hanyok, Vice-President; Laura Simonson, secretary; Jane Branch, treasurer; Linda Simonson, county delegate; Claudia West, song leader; Jenny Simonson, game leader; Rita Schumaker, county newspaper reporter; and Beth Noll, news reporter.

With the withdrawal of the Federal Government from town, Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Greenbelt Development Corporation) continued the policy of providing free office space, with the paper reimbursing the corporation for out-of-pocket expenses.

The staff is made up essentially of volunteer workers, although since March 1957, the governing body has authorized, when finances permit, the payment of nominal amounts to the editorial staff and columnists. Attesting to the burdensome nature of the editor's job, the News Review has had 35 changes in editors during its 26-year history.

NEW GROCERY STORE TO OPEN HERE SOON

Go-by Gas Station Starts Operations

Opening date of the new store has, for several weeks, been the most popular conversation piece in Greenbelt, and it is felt that at this time some word of its progress will be welcome.

While Consumer Services is ready to open the store, there will be some delay until the premises are ready for occupation. Electricity and refrigeration have not yet been provided for, and as several holes have yet to be drilled through the eight inches of concrete floor, and plumbing lines have to be run through the building, it is unlikely that the store will be ready for several days.

This announcement was made with deep regret by Mr. R. H. Trueman, store manager, who had hoped for an earlier opening date.

The filling station, by way of compensation, has now been operating for several days. This will also be run according to the cooperative principle, meaning that the Greenbelt car owner may now buy gas as well as groceries cooperatively.

JOURNALISTIC CLUB BEGINS WORK ON NEWSPAPER

Consumer Services Also Greenbelt Weekly

The Greenbelt Journalistic Club held its first meeting Tuesday evening, November 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes, 35 O Ridge Road.

More than fifteen persons participated in a general discussion on the best methods now available for the distribution of authentic news and announcements in Greenbelt.

Several attending the meeting summarized their personal experiences in publicity and newspaper work and volunteered their services as reporters.

Tentatively, a plan was suggested to issue six numbers of the Cooperator, a weekly journal, covering matters of local community interest.

The principle generally adopted by club members is that any bulletin or newspaper in the community shall be non-partisan in politics, and cooperatively designed.

As its first venture the club will sponsor the Greenbelt Cooperator with the assistance of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc.

The club elected the following officers: Louis Besemer, president; William R. Poole, vice president.

motives and actions of the present Greenbelt News Review, the direct descendant of the Greenbelt Cooperator. The name was changed in September 1954 in order to clarify the independent status of the paper. The Journalistic Club lasted until July 1940, when it was converted into the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, which has continued the sponsorship of the paper to this date. An incorporation charter for the Association was granted in September 1941 by the District of Columbia.

The first issue of the Cooperator, appearing on November 24, 1937, was a neatly mimeographed paper containing sixteen letter-sized pages of local news and editorial content. Before the sixth experimental issue had been distributed, the townspeople so clearly recognized the need for such an organ that the staff decided to continue its publication. Since then the newspaper has appeared regularly every week for a quarter of a century without interruption.

The paper was prepared at the homes of various staff members until January 1938 when the Federal Government (which owned Greenbelt at the time) made space available in the center at no cost, and loaned much-needed furniture, typewriters, and office equipment. To meet the costs of paper, ink, and stencils, a charge of five cents per copy was made, beginning with the issue of January 5, 1938. Distribution was turned over to the Boy Scout troop, which was allowed to retain two cents for each paper sold.

During most of its life-time, as at present, the newspaper has used the letterpress method in printing. For short periods of time, the paper experimented with the photo which could be used as evidence of the value of advertising in the paper. The idea clicked. Greenbelt Consumer Services immediately discontinued its practice of advertising by circular and put the funds into increased Cooperator advertising. As the paper's distribution was now community-wide, others followed suit, and the town government engaged more and more space for the publication of pending ordinances, budgets and the like.

The policy of free distribution remained unchanged until July 1953, when the paper was forced by financial straits to go to a subscription basis — $3 a year. The response was fairly encouraging, but the added cost of maintaining subscription records convinced the governing body that the additional income was not worth the additional workload. In January 1955, the paper went back to city-wide circulation.

Financial difficulties continued to plague the newspaper and appeals were made to the businesses and organizations in town for funds. Finally, in April 1959, the News Review resorted to a house-to-house, community-wide drive for funds. Organized by the drive chairman, Elaine Skolnik, who was aided by 125 volunteer court collectors, the drive netted over $1,500. It proved such an unqualified success that it was renewed again the following year. The yield from these drives has been sufficient to make other drives unnecessary since 1960.

The News Review has had several homes since its inception. From its second-floor quarters in the commercial center, the paper has moved to a successive number of

AAA Offers Advice

What's the most dreadful sound on a cold morning? To motorists it is that slow, grinding moan of an automobile starter on its last, dying gasp.

This was the discouraging sound that greeted thousands of area motorists last year and quite certain to face thousands, perhaps even the same motorists, again this Winter. But you can do something to avoid this seasonal headache, claims George T. Viverette, Director of Emergency Road Service for the AAA's D. C. Division.

He pointed out that 85% of the calls the D. C. AAA received last year from stranded motorists throughout the Washington area were "can't starts," attributed primarily to dead batteries. Frozen gas lines made up the bulk of the remaining calls, he added.

He offers the following advice for better Winter motoring:

* Make certain that your battery is fully charged at all times, and that cables are tightened and terminals clean.

* Use a premium grade gasoline that contains an anti-freeze additive . . . and keep your tank filled at all times.

* Use a lighter-grade motor oil — it will make the engine turn over faster on a cold morning and reduce the strain on your battery.

* Make sure that your anti-freeze is up and strong enough to keep your car from freezing-up.

Mr. Viverette also advised motorists not to forget to have the car's exhaust system checked. Fumes from leaky mufflers or tailpipes could prove fatal in a car with the windows closed, which should never be closed completely, he stressed. The fumes might also cause drowsiness, he added, greatly increasing the chances of having an accident.

preceding Christmas. Business mailers should utilize the NIMS concept and deposit mail early in the day. Business firms should use the new air mail separation band if they have substantial outgoing air mail volume.

Pre-Canceled Stamps

It is suggested that businesses and mailers who do not have postage meters use precanceled stamps for the mailing of third class calendars or other seasonal advertising.

Labels

As in the past, it is requested that greeting cards be separated into local and out of town bundles. Labels for this purpose shall be distributed by letter carriers, star route, and rural carriers to all patrons on their routes. A small supply of these forms will be retained by carriers for subsequent requests by patrons.

Air Mail Separation Band

Business firms with substantial outgoing mail will be supplied with this important new item.

Addressing Mail

It is very important that all mail be addressed complete and legible including zip code. Much mail was undeliverable in 1962 due to illegible and incomplete addresses, missing apartment or office numbers, improper abbreviation or because the piece of mail lacked the return address.

Please use the zip code that your correspondent has used in his return address.

Proper Packing

It is very important that all parcels be properly prepared before mailing. Use cartons of proper size, heavy wrapping paper and strong twine in wrapping all gift parcels.

P.O.D. Publication 2 How to wrap parcels for mailing is available at your local post office. This publication will give you many helpful suggestions. It is suggested that you please cut out this article and save it so as to help you with your Christmas mailing.

Lock In Precious Vitamins

Lock those precious vitamins and minerals into your vegetables after hurrying them home from the market—and you just might lock out those non-prescribed vitamin pills that caught your eye at the drug counter.

Here are some tips from Mrs. Judith Pheil, Extension food and nutrition specialist, University of Maryland, that are guaranteed to make you "nutrition wise as you economize."

When trimming, peeling or scraping vegetables before cooking, remember that the leafy parts of collard greens, turnip greens and kale contains much more vitamin A than the stems or midribs.

The outer eaves of head lettuce are coarser and contain higher concentrations of vitamins than the inner, tender leaves, while the cabbage core—as well as the leaves—is high in vitamin C.

To store your fresh vegetables properly, refrigerate kale, spinach, cabbage, broccoli, turnip greens, chard and salad greens promptly in the vegetable crisper or in moisture-proof bags.

Keep your cookpots from enjoying those robust vitamins and minerals before you do by cooking your vegetables only until tender in just enough water to prevent scorching. Covering the pan with a tight-fitting lid helps prevent the escape of steam and vapor, thus hastening the cooking time.

PGCML Booknotes

From among the treasures of my own reading, one of my great favorites was a lively adventure-some autobiography of the novelist, Edna Ferber, entitled "A PECULIAR TREASURE". Now a second part of her autobiography, "A KIND OF MAGIC", is with us, and though Miss Ferber is older and more mature, she still has managed to put some of the magic of the earlier book into this new one. She covers WW II and her service to the nation, her feudin' and fussin' with Texans over her tirade against them in "GIANT", her dealings with movies and movie people and her active busy life as a fabulously successful novelist whose novels are now included on most school reading lists. All in all, it is a delightful bit of reading by a delightful person who gets a great deal of "zest for livin'" into her pages.

Another treasured reading experience has been the witty, wise, and sometimes biting remarks of John Mason Brown in "Seeing Things" and "Seeing more things". Now after a silence of some years, he published a new volume of pieces, mostly about the theatre, "Dramatis Personae" and again he has much to say that is wise and witty, but more muted which make the essays seem deeper and more heart warming. Mr. Brown, then, is a delight to read - and informative too. These pieces can be read with profit by anyone taking the time to taste their rich ingredients.

"THE LEOPARD" by de Lampedusa is another treasure in my reading trunk, but it is being nudged by a glorious new book "HE WHO FLEES THE LION" by J. Kein-Haparash. Set in Europe just before World War II, this long, richly detailed novel takes an aristocratic man, Lutz for short, deep into the problems of his time both high and low and an enterprising woman from rags to riches, weaving their stories with magical masterful strokes into a sweeping epic of one year in the life of our times. It has enough in its pages to delight all readers.

One last treasure has always been John Keats "THE CRACK IN THE PICTURE WINDOW". Now the same Mr. Keats has written a stirring story of guerilla warfare in "THEY FOUGHT ALONE" through the activities of Wendell Fertig, a mining engineer, who lead a small group of Americans in a kind of guerilla war with the Japanese in 1942 that was one of those unsung heroic actions in World War II. All of this is brilliantly retold here with all its pain, brutality, and high drama. This is a raw but moving reading experience.

All of these books are or will be available in the Greenbelt Branch or in other Branches in the PGCML system. You can have the reading pleasure they offer for the asking.

Junior, Senior High Art Contest Slated

The Annual Art Contest sponsored by the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs will again be held throughout the junior and senior high schools of the County. Last year both of the State winners in the contest were from Prince Georges County.

The Federation offers two scholarships for the State winners for Saturday classes or an order for materials amounting to $75 each. One class is at the Maryland Institute in Baltimore and one at The Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D.C., A class can be arranged with a qualified teacher if the winner lives in an area where it is impossible to attend either of the above.

This year the State Federation offers a second prize in the State Contest of a $50 Savings Bond for the winners in the Junior and Senior High School. All secondary school students are eligible to compete and their work will be judged as follows:

Class I - Students in 7th, 8, 9th grades.

Christmas Seal Campaign

The 57th annual Christmas Seal campaign in Prince Georges County received its traditional sendoff Friday, November 15, with the general mailing of Christmas Seals to residents. Proceeds of the campaign will be used by the Prince Georges County Tuberculosis and Health Association to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Mr. Joseph C. Longridge, Christmas Seal Chairman, said that millions of lives have been saved since the first contribution was made for a Christmas Seal. "But the saving of lives is not enough," he added. "We are also continuing to wage a relentless fight against the suffering, tragedy, loss of time and money that result from TB and other diseases that affect breathing."
