GREENBELT'S DEMOCRATIC VICTORY MIRRORS A NATIONWIDE LANDSLIDE

by Al Skolnik

In keeping with the national and state trend, Greenbelt voters gave a landslide victory to incumbent President Lyndon B. Johnson in Tuesday's balloting. The Johnson-Humphrey ticket received 2,633 votes to 1,053 for the Goldwater-Miller slate. About 79 percent of the 4,694 eligible voters in Greenbelt cast ballots.

President-elect Johnson's majority of 71.4 percent was markedly better than the 61.7 percent majority given John F. Kennedy in 1960, when the Democratic Presidential victor polled 1,748 votes against Richard E. Nixon's 1,087 votes in Greenbelt.

Sickles Outdraws Johnson

Huge Democratic majorities were also racked up for the rest of the ticket. In fact, Democratic incumbent Carlton R. Sickles, seeking his second term as Congressman-at-large, even outdrew the President. Sickles received 2,653 votes in Greenbelt to 857 for his Republican opponent, David Seull. His majority of 75.6 percent was considerably better than that in 1962 (67 percent).

Joseph D. Tydings, the Democratic challenger to the incumbent Republican Senator J. Glenn Beall, did almost as well, winning out by a count of 2,572-1,028 in Greenbelt. Beall, in losing, polled 28 percent of the vote, compared with 35 percent in 1958 when he last ran for the Senate.

These majorities of more than 70 percent in Greenbelt indicated that none of the Democratic candidates would have difficulty in carrying the State. Johnson won by 350,000, Sickles by 385,000, and Tydings by 285,000.

Pre-election observations that a Greenbelt majority of more than 60 percent for Hervey G. Machen, Democratic candidate for the 5th District House seat vacated by retiring Rep. Lankford, would portend a district-wide victory for Machen, proved sound. Machen won in Greenbelt by a 2,119 to 1,310 count, with write-in candidate Bruce Bowman receiving 76 votes. Machen secured 61.6 percent of the majority-party vote in Greenbelt and carried the District by 45,000 votes.

Majority for Referenda

All of the referenda and constitutional amendments received a majority in the Greenbelt voting. On the question of creating a charter board, the vote in favor was 1,908 to 1,093. The constitutional questions, all of which were officially endorsed by the Democratic party, received majorities of about 3 to 1. These dealt with extension of time for a charter board to produce a plan, permitted notary publics to also hold elected office, and permitted the State legislature to meet annually in 70-day sessions.

On the referendum for endorsement of the 1964 State legislature's action in extending civil rights accommodations legislation to the entire State, the vote was closer.

Junior High PTA Meeting

The Greenbelt Junior High P.T.A. will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 8 p.m., with the theme for this month's meeting concerning National Education Week.

At 7:30 p.m., prior to the meeting, there will be a teacher visitation period.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING — MASTER PLAN NOVEMBER 9, 1964

The City Council of Greenbelt will hold a Public Hearing on Monday, November 9, 1964 at 8:00 P.M. at the City Offices, to hear citizens' comments on the Master Plan proposed by the Advisory Planning Board and Marcou, O'Leary and Associates. Copies of the street plan and land use plan are shown elsewhere in this newspaper. All persons are invited to attend.

Greenbelt voters favored the State action by a 1,578 to 716 vote.

The charter board race saw Greenbelt voters giving a substantial margin to the Prince Georges Home Rule Charter Committee. All five candidates were high men, by roughly 2 to 1 (see accompanying box). Greenbelt Mayor Edgar L. Smith, chairman of the losing Citizens' Charter Convention, received the highest vote among the losing candidates.

While the actual number of citizens who cast ballots this year—3,727—was the highest in Greenbelt's history, the proportion of eligibles who voted was about the same as in 1960 (80 percent).

Citizens Demand Apology From Mayor Smith and CCC

At a protest meeting of about 100 Greenbelt citizens in the Municipal Building last Sunday, a resolution was passed urging Mayor Edgar Smith and other Citizens' Charter Convention campaigners to tender a public apology to County Commissioner Gladys Spellman.

The citizens gathered to protest the distribution by the CCC of a campaign leaflet attacking Mrs. Spellman and the Home Rule Charter candidates in vitriolic and distorted terms. Mrs. Spellman addressed the group, citing new evidence linking the CCC with the anti-charter James J. Casey, and showing his authorship of the CCC campaign literature and his behind-the-scenes leadership of this group.

The resolution was offered by Albert K. Herling and was passed unanimously.

Last Friday evening, Oct. 30th, over 350 goblins, witches and spooks descended upon the Shopping Center and the Community Building in Springhill. To the screams of happiness, delight and fright, the miniature monsters marched before their friends, parents and costume judges. We wish to thank all the parents who so generously gave their time to be judges.

TRAFFIC LIGHT, POOL RENOVATION, NEW ORDINANCE MAKE PROGRESS

by G. K. Hodenfield

A traffic light at the intersection of Greenbelt and Edmonston Roads moved a step nearer reality at Monday night's regular meeting of the City Council. So did renovation of the swimming pool, and a city ordinance which spells out specifically those acts of disorderly conduct which shall be made punishable by fine or imprisonment.

City Manager James Giese reported receipt of a letter from the State Roads Commission, authorizing installation of a traffic light at the auto-snarled intersection. The Commission estimated the cost of installation at $5,500, and said the light would be maintained at its (the commission's) expense.

What the commission did NOT say was who shall pay for the installation.

Council's reaction was "Let's get the light installed, and determine later who has to pay for it." It adopted a motion proposed by Lewis Bernstein, authorizing the city manager to take whatever steps are necessary to get the light installed, without precluding a later determination of who shall pick up the tab.

Swimming Pool

After lengthy and sometimes sharp discussion, council voted, 3-2, to move ahead with renovation of the swimming pool. The vote came on a proposal by David C. Champion that the City Manager be authorized to instruct Greenhorne and O'Mara, engineers hired by the city, to enter negotiations with the Ira C. Rigger Co. and E. Don Bullian Construction Co.

Aim of the negotiations is to bring the cost of renovation down to a price acceptable by Council—preferably around $140,000. The Rigger-Don Bullian combine must conform to the specifications set forth by Greenhorne and O'Mara, or present alternate specifications agreed to by the engineers.

Champion was supported by Mayor Edgar L. Smith and Councilman William Hoff. Councilmen Bernstein and Clifford Simonson protested the proposal, and urged instead that other firms, particularly the pool building companies, be asked for their figures.

Simonson declared, "I think the course we are now taking is going to cost the city an additional $50,000."

Part of the expressed reason for deciding to work with Rigger-Don Bullian is that if negotiations can get underway immediately, the company says it can start work by Dec. 1 and have the pool ready for use by the traditional Memorial Day opening.

Ordinance Amended

The proposed ordinance "to prohibit disorderly conduct in public places" came up for a second reading and possible adoption. Instead, it was amended, the amended version was given a first reading, and it will come up for a second reading and possible passage at the next regular council meeting, Nov. 16.

The ordinance would make unlawful such disturbances of the peace as "use of any profane language, indecent or obscene words or gestures," as well as obstruction of the free use of streets, avenues, alley roads, etc. "Any person convicted thereof," the proposal says, "shall be subject to a fine not less than $25, and not more than $50, or 30 days in the County Jail."

Most of the amendments, proposed by Councilman Bernstein, were designed to shorten it and clarify the wording. Council also took strong exception to the Hallowe'en vandalism at High's Dairy Store in the Center. "A window was broken, and two swastikas and a Star of David were painted on the storefront. Mayor Smith made public a letter from City Manager Giese to Police Chief Lane, which said:

"I am most disturbed concerning the report of vandalism which took place last weekend at High's Dairy Store. The marking of the front of the store with symbols places the act beyond the realm of simple vandalism and puts it as a type of act which can only be considered reprehensible by those who believe in this country and in this form of government. Please make every effort on the part of your department to determine who the vandal or vandals were who did this so that they may be duly prosecuted."

It was suggested by a member of the audience that perhaps the federal authorities might be interested in this particular case, and Mayor Smith asked Chief Lane to check. Giese noted that much of the language in the proposed ordinance is already contained in state statutes and the acts described are therefore already illegal. However, he added, "This ordinance brings it home and publicizes some of the difficulties we have had in the Center area."

At Councilman Champion's suggestion, Chief Lane was requested to check New York City authorities about an ordinance proposed there which requires unattended but open places of business (such as the laundromat in the Center) to keep an attendant on duty between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Underpass Cleaning

A letter from several residents of the 19 Court of Ridge Road remarked on the "deplorable" condition of the underpass leading directly into the center, and asked council to take steps to clean it up. Giese said arrangements had already been made to have that underpass sandblasted and painted, with a coat of paraffin applied on the surface to discourage writing on it. Giese said the city works department also has been instructed to clean up the city's other underpasses and apply whitewash where necessary.

In other actions, Council:

—Authorized the city manager and the city treasurer to borrow $100,000 on tax anticipation notes to meet current payroll and other regular obligations. The city manager said sizeable real estate tax payments due Oct. 1 remain unpaid, including assessments on Klein's Department Store, Beltway Plaza and the Smith & Ewing property.

—Agreed to hold a special meeting early next week to act on the request of Greenbelt businessmen for permission to erect a sign advertising the Greenbelt Shopping Center on the National Guard Armory property.

—Carried over until next meeting the appointment of two members of the Advisory Planning Board.

Women's Club News

An Important Hearing

A public hearing on Greenbelt's new master Plan will be held on Monday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in the municipal building. The Master Plan was a joint effort of the city's Advisory Planning Board (APB) and the city's hired professional planners, Marcou, O'Leary and Associates.

The Master Plan outlines in orderly fashion a proposal for Greenbelt's future growth as Greenbelters would like to see develop. In some ways it conflicts with the controversial Plan 13 of the Maryland National Capital Park & Planning Commission, now under intensive scrutiny in the area. The APB's plan projects a future Greenbelt population of 30,000; the Plan 13 projection is for 50,000. The APB recommends a series of perimeter roads to carry heavy traffic, while the Plan 13 proposal includes four-lane highways through the center of Greenbelt.

We believe that the Greenbelt Master Plan deserves careful study by the citizenry. The direction of this area's future expansion and the principles that are to guide it will affect us all before long. Only an informed citizenry can hope to influence the decisions that will be made. We seriously urge Greenbelters to attend next Monday's public meeting.

the nearest phone is a country mile away!

Having to stop work at a critical moment to answer a faraway phone can try the temper of the most patient handyman.

Why not make your leisure-time projects more relaxing with a nearby extension phone? It's probably one of the handiest tools you can add to your workshop—certainly one of the least expensive! It will cost only pennies a day.

Extension phones come in styles and colors appropriate for any area in your home.
