BUDGET SUBMITTED TO GHI BOARD; MONTHLY CHARGES RISING IN 1965

by Al Skolnik

A Greenbelt Homes, Inc. budget for 1965 of $1,554,300 calling for increases in monthly charges ranging from $1.75 to $3.50 was submitted by general manager Roy Breashears to the GHI board on Thursday, November 19. This is the first increase in monthly charges in four years.

A special meeting of the board will be held on Friday, November 27, to hear membership sentiment and to consider final action on the budget.

Having had two preliminary budget meetings with management, board members expressed the view that the budget had now been pared to a level consistent with the twin goals of maintaining the sound financial position of the corporation and providing adequately for future maintenance needs.

A question still to be resolved is the proportion of the increased budget that should be financed through monthly charges and that financed through other possible sources such as reserves.

In the document submitted to the board, Breashears proposed that members' charges cover $1,398,350 of the 1965 budget. This would be an increase of $55,100 over 1964.

Tax Increase

Almost four-fifths of this increase can be attributed to items beyond the control of the GHI board—namely, real estate taxes and trash collection costs. It is anticipated that the increase in the county assessment of GHI property, amounting to about $1 million, will hike the corporation's tax bill by $36,300. Trash collection, the fees for which were increased by the city from $1.67 to $2.00 per month per unit, account for another $6,300.

The balance of the increase can be traced, for the most part, to higher payrolls and fringe benefits. Last September GHI employees received a pay increase averaging about 3 percent, in keeping with the pattern of pay increases voted Federal employees. Pension costs will also rise, because pension reserves of $13,000 will not be available in 1965, as there were in 1964, to cushion the cost. Hospitalization insurance costs for GHI employees have also risen.

There were some offsetting decreases in the budget, but these mainly concern small items. They included legal costs (cut $1,000), elimination of Center branch office ($400), self-help paint program (down $2,000), and audit and other committee expenses (down $1,200). One large item reduced was contract work for heating and maintenance, which was cut from $17,400 in 1964 to $13,000 in 1965.

Continued Projects

Otherwise, the budget calls for continuation of special projects currently in operation. One is $15,000 for the 5-year roof replacement program for 256 flat-roof brick homes, of which $5,000 will come from contingency reserves. A second is $40,000 for the 5-year frame house hot water line replacement program of which $10,000 will come from contingency reserves. A third is $28,400 for the 5-year cycle exterior trim paint program (up $1,000 from 1964).

Most other major items are budgeted at the same amounts as in 1964. These include fuel oil costs ($200,000), water payments ($75,000), and fire and public liability insurance ($10,700). Board and membership costs are also virtually unchanged although additional newsletters to the members are scheduled. A few items such as materials and postage and office expense show higher anticipated costs.

Income

To help balance the budget, Breashears proposed increases in two sources of income other than members' charges. The first was garage rents—from $3 a month to $4 for open garages and from $6 to $7 for closed garages. This is the first increase in a decade.

The second was the rents charged tenants in the GDC apartments. Additional charges of $5 per month for one-bedroom apartments and $3 per month for efficiencies were proposed. The additional yield from both sources would be $8,200.

Total expected income from sources other than members' charges is expected to be $141,000, compared with $133,500 in 1964. Sales department fees, sales of services to GDC, and interest on GHI savings are the major sources of such income. The GHI lending program alone is expected to yield $18,000 in 1965.

The Police Blotter

On November 18, Officers Bennett and Ambrose apprehended two male juveniles who had forcibly entered the Athletic Club, and were in the act of breaking into cash boxes. The officers were commended for their alert and efficient work in this case.

A letter received from Professor R. J. Mans of the University of Maryland also commended Officer Ralph Bennett for his help and courtesy when the professor's car broke down on Glendale Rd. last week.

On November 22, Officers Paul Reamy and Thomas Galifaro apprehended three male juveniles in the act of breaking windows at St. Hughs School. Restitution will be made for the 13 windows broken.

Message from Police Chief Lane.

When shopping for Christmas presents, do not leave them in plain sight in your car. Put them in the locked trunk; remember the old adage "out of sight, out of mind." Be sure to lock your car when leaving it, and never leave your keys in the car. It would be a good idea now for everyone to have his car checked for winter driving.

News Review Begins 28th Year

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following brief history of the Greenbelt News Review is published for the benefit of new residents of Greenbelt on the occasion of the newspaper's 27th anniversary.)

Six weeks after the first residents of Greenbelt unpacked their household belongings in 1937, a newspaper had been issued. Recognizing the immediate need for a news medium, the first families had formed on November 11, 1937, a Journalistic Club to issue a weekly paper, the "Greenbelt Cooperator."

The policies of the paper, as formulated at that meeting, were: to serve as a nonprofit enterprise, to remain nonpartisan in politics, to remain neutral in religious matters, to print the news accurately and regularly, to make its pages an open forum for civic affairs, to develop a staff of volunteer writers, and to create a "good neighbor" spirit, promote friendship, advance the common good, and develop a "Greenbelt philosophy of life."

These principles still guide the motives and actions of the present Greenbelt News Review, the direct descendant of the Greenbelt Cooperator. The name was changed in September, 1954, in order to clarify the independent status of the paper and prevent its being confused with numerous other co-op organizations in Greenbelt. The Journalistic Club lasted until July, 1940, when it was converted into the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association, which has continued the sponsorship of the paper ever since. An incorporation charter for the Association was granted in September, 1941, by the District of Columbia.

The First Issue

The first issue of the Cooperator, appearing on November 24, 1937, was a neatly mimeographed paper containing sixteen letter-sized pages of local news and editorial content.

The newspaper has appeared regularly every week since then for more than a quarter of a century.

The paper was prepared at the homes of various staff members until January, 1938, when the Federal Government (which owned Greenbelt at that time) made space available in the Center, free of cost, and also loaned much-needed furniture, typewriters, and office equipment. To meet the costs of paper, ink, and stencils, a charge of five cents per copy was made, beginning with the issue of January 5, 1938. Distribution was turned over to the Boy Scout troop, which was allowed to

Council Approves Revised Bid On Renovated Swimming Pool

by David Stern

At a special meeting Thursday, November 19, the city council discussed and accepted a revised bid for renovation of the swimming pool. But no decision was reached regarding the city's proposed master plan and the matter was deferred to a special meeting between the council and the planners.

The revised bid, amounting to $139,739 was presented by Ira C. Rigger; it calls for construction to be completed by June 11. Before accepting the bid council discussed several details of the proposal, such as the replacement of the existing sand-and-gravel filter by a recently developed diatomaceous earth type. As councilman Lewis Bernstein pointed out, the revised plan does not include any work on the old bathhouse; City Manager Giese however noted that the bond issue approved for the pool's reconstruction exceeds the revised bid by about $10,000 and that this amount could be used to renovate the bathhouse.

The other item on the agenda was the city's master plan; it had been intended that, at this meeting, council would give its views of the plan and discuss them with the planners. Unfortunately, Mayor Edgar Smith and councilman Cliff Simonson were unable to attend so that, although a discussion of the plan took place, council decided to meet the planners again in an executive session the following evening.

In discussing the plan council touched mainly on the problems of the perimeter road and of the road serving the industrial area next to the B&O tracks. Both Councilman Dave Champion—who chaired the session—and Bill Hoff foresaw difficulties and large expense in the proposed perimeter road, due to the large amount of federal land required.

Champion also noted that should NASA refuse to open its parkway interchange on the Greenbelt side, traffic from the perimeter road would have to be channeled into Ridge rd. and Northway, defying the road's purpose. He proposed an abbreviated version of the perimeter road, crossing only a small amount of federal land; John C. Joyner of the planning firm pointed out, however, that such a road would have to pass through relatively difficult terrain.

Arguments around the industrial road at the west end of the city were concerned with the need for an additional crossing of the railroad tracks, the cooperation of the land's owners and the feasibility of widening the railroad's underpass beneath the Beltway to include a roadway, as envisioned in the plan.

At the executive session of council on Friday, November 20, all members of council were present and the plan was examined in great detail. Another meeting with the planners was scheduled for Wednesday November 25.

Offices of the Paper

The News Review has had several homes since its inception. From its original second-floor quarters in the commercial center the paper moved its offices four times before finally coming to rest in the present basement office at 15 Parkway. With the withdrawal of the Federal Government from town, Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Greenbelt Development Corporation) continued the federal policy of providing free office space, with the paper reimbursing the corporation for out-of-pocket expenses.

The staff is made up essentially of volunteer workers, although since March, 1957, the governing body has authorized the payment of nominal amounts to the editorial staff and columnists, when finances permit. Attesting to the burdensome nature of the editor's job, the News Review has had 37 changes in editors during its 27-year history.

Free Delivery

An important development in the history of the newspaper was the decision to deliver the Cooperator free of charge to every home in town, beginning with the issue of September 7, 1939. The additional cost of local distribution was small, and this radical change of policy provided larger circulation figures, which could be used as evidence of the value of advertising in the paper. The idea clicked. Local businesses began to advertise in the Cooperator, once its distribution had become communitywide. The town government engaged more and more space for the publication of pending ordinances, budgets and the like.

The policy of free distribution remained unchanged until July, 1953, when the paper was forced by financial straits to go to a subscription basis — $3 a year. The response was fairly encouraging, but the added cost of maintaining subscription records convinced the governing body that the additional income was not worth the additional workload. In January, 1955, the paper returned to city-wide circulation.

Financial difficulties continued to plague the newspaper, and appeals were made to the businesses and organizations in town for funds. Finally, in April, 1959, the News Review resorted to a house-to-house community-wide drive for funds. Organized by the drive chairman, Elaine Skolnik, who was aided by 125 volunteer court collectors, the drive netted over $1,500. It proved such an unqualified success that it was renewed again the following year. The yield from these drives

We're Still Going Strong

This Thanksgiving week, the Greenbelt News Review is celebrating its 27th anniversary. The first issue of the newspaper was published on November 24, 1937, and it has appeared every week since then. A brief history of the newspaper is included in this issue, for the benefit of the many newcomers to Greenbelt in the past year.

The fact that the News Review has never missed an issue—and; in fact, the very existence of the newspaper itself—is something of a journalistic anomaly. By all rights, Greenbelt ought not to have a newspaper. The town is just too small to afford one, by any accepted economic standards. The News Review exists because it is staffed entirely by volunteer workers; people who do the day-by-day, week-after-week chores involved in publishing a newspaper for the simple reason that they enjoy them.

Newspapers issued by enthusiastic amateurs are not rare, but their life expectancy is short. The News Review is unique in that it has lasted for 27 years, and is still going strong. We hold the United States record in this respect, at least according to the author of a study of small-town American newspapers.

The regular addition of new staff members is essential to the News Reviews' continued existence. We extend a warm welcome to Greenbelters with an interest in any aspect of newspaper work, with or without experience. Please pay us a visit some Tuesday night in the basement of 15 Parkway to volunteer your services; or simply to look over the pocket-books in our informal lending library.

The Executive Board of the Woman's Club will meet Dec. 3, 1964 at the home of Mrs. James W. McCarl. Dec. 10 will be the date of the next membership meeting at the Greenbelt Community Church. This will be a Christmas Party with Mrs. Mary Henry as Chairman. The committee is busy completing plans to assure the members of having a gala time. The Membership Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Daniel Branch, wishes to extend another invitation to the women of Greenbelt to join us in our work. Many phases of community service are offered, including the Home and Arts Department which will interest many women. The next meeting of the Home and Arts department will be held on Dec. 17 in the Co-op Hospitality room, at which time that department will hold its Christmas party. Mrs. Charles Cormack, Jr. and Mrs. Walter Adams will be hostesses.

Health guard for 3¢ a day...

add an electric dishwasher to your family

Can the so-called "hot" water used in hand dishwashing protect your family against disease-spreading germs? No! But an automatic electric dishwasher can—and does—because it uses scalding hot water. Does a far better job than the most thorough hand-washing, and gives you an extra hour a day of leisure time, too. Cost? Just 3¢ worth of electricity a day. Choose from portables, built-ins or convertibles, in top or front-loading models. See the big display in the Electric Institute showroom (1st floor, PEPCO Building 10th & E Streets, N.W. Open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.). Then visit your appliance dealer or department store.
