GHI ADOPTS 1965 BUDGET MONTHLY CHARGES RISE

by Al Skolnik

With some minor adjustments, the Greenbelt Homes, Inc., board of directors Friday, November 27, adopted a $1,551,792 budget for 1965. The board approved increases in monthly charges ranging from $1.75 to $3.50 per unit and an increase in monthly garage rents of $1 per unit. These increases will go into effect Jan. 1, 1965.

The board also recommended to the Greenbelt Development Corporation (wholly-owned subsidiary of GHI), operator of the apartments on Parkway, that the charges go up $5 per month for one-bedroom units and $3 for efficiencies. These recommendations will be taken up at tonight's GDC meeting.

Only about 10 members attended the public hearing preceding the adoption of the budget. Director Ed Burgoon attributed this low turnout to the confidence of the membership in the ability of the board and management to produce a sound, realistic budget. He observed that most co-ops falter when the board of directors, composed of part-time workers, tries to run the corporation. In the case of GHI, he said, past and present boards wisely have followed the policy of hiring competent management personnel and then letting them do the job.

Breashears Praised

Director John O'Reilly reinforced Burgoon's views by asserting that the real credit for keeping GHI costs and monthly charges to a minimum belongs to manager Roy Breashears and his staff, who are on the job day after day.

GHI president Charles Schwan, however, cautioned that GHI is facing continual increases in labor, materials, taxes, etc. It was noted that more than four-fifths of the new increases in monthly charges were due to items beyond the control of GHI board - namely, taxes and trash collection costs. In the next two years, he continued, GHI will have to meet the problem of paying 18 months' city taxes in one year as the result of state legislation that requires all municipalities to convert from a calendar to a fiscal-year basis. (At present, the city's fiscal-year budget is being met by taxes raised on a calendar year basis, thus creating a six month's lag in revenue.)

Concern Expressed

From the audience, Sam Cornelius praised GHI for keeping monthly charges stable during the previous four-year period, when the corporation itself was subject to considerable inflation of costs. However, he expressed concern over future budgets and wanted more data gathered on how such factors as depreciation, shifts in area market values, reserve needs, additional tax adjustments, and other inflationary pressures would affect these budgets.

Schwan stated that the "blue-ribbon" central planning committee which will be officially appointed at the GHI meeting tonight will be delving into such matters.

Budget Adjustments

The budget as finally adopted contained three adjustments in the original document submitted by Breashears. The first was a $1,950 increase as the result of the 3 cents per $100 assessed valuation hike for 1965 in the State real estate tax rate. This tax, which is used to meet State debt requirements, was 15 cents per $100 last year.

More than offsetting this increase were two reductions in the budget.

(1) the amount allocated for personnel in the heating department was reduced $3,000 to account for the fact that turnover and other factors usually produce "lapsed funds" - that is, personnel funds authorized by the budget but never expended. The budgets for the other departments had allowed for such lapsed funds.

(2) the depreciation period for the closed doors on garages was lengthened, thus reducing the annual depreciation costs from $4,500 to $3,000.

As a result of these changes, the amount required in monthly charges to balance the budget came to $1,395,802, or $52,533 more than in 1964. The remainder of the budget will be met through income from sources other than monthly charges ($141,000) and through established contingency reserves ($15,000).

Greenbelt Players To Offer Drama

The Greenbelt Players, sponsored by the Recreation Department, will present their production of Agatha Christie's "Witness for the Prosecution" on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Dec. 10, 11, and 12 at 8 p.m. in the Center School auditorium. The play will be directed by Michael Murdock of the graduate drama department of Catholic University. Play-goers may remember him in the university's recent production of Christopher Fry's "The Lady's not for Burning."

The members of the cast, who have been rehearsing for the past five weeks, are from Greenbelt and the surrounding area. Those from Greenbelt are Judith Holland, Josephine Vella, Remie Paschal, and William Atkinson.

"Witness for the Prosecution" is an exciting drama which involves a trial for murder in England's famous Old Bailey Criminal Court, and there is a typical Agatha Christie surprise ending.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Twin Pines office, as well as at the Center School immediately before each performance. There are special rates for children. The proceeds, after payment of royalty fees, will go towards establishing a Recreation Center Drama Fund. It is hoped that a full season of plays can be presented.

Volunteers are needed to serve as house manager, stage hands, and ushers. If you can help, please call the Recreation Center, 474-6878.

Junior High PTA Meeting

The December meeting of the Greenbelt Junior High School PTA will be held at the school Tuesday, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m., with the music department presenting its annual Christmas program. The Glee Club and instrumental groups will perform selections of Christmas music.

Homeowner Query On GHI Addition

by Al Skolnik

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. procedures for approving requests for additions again came up for questioning at Nov. 19's GHI board meeting. This time, a member stated that he went to the expense of purchasing architect's plans for an addition, only to find out after submitting his plans to GHI that a storm drain ran through the proposed site of the addition.

He charged that GHI was remiss in that he had had preliminary talks with GHI officials regarding the addition, but was never informed of the easement on his property until he submitted a written plan. Director Ed Burgoon defended the corporation by saying that the GHI staff gets many casual inquiries regarding additions and it would be burdensome and expensive for it to make a search of plats for easements until it had a written plan before it. The member, however, said that everyone knew his intent was serious, since he had just built one addition.

The member is now faced with the choice of moving the storm drain at his own expense or of constructing the addition and guaranteeing to pay for any future maintenance costs that might arise in connection with the present drain. The city, which is responsible for

by Al Skolnik

In a series of meetings last week, the city council reviewed the Greenbelt Master Plan prepared by the city's Advisory Planning Board and Marcou, O'Leary, and Associates. No official decisions were made, pending a meeting with the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission regarding Area Plan 13.

Local Boy Burned Friends Ask Help

On November 8, while visiting relatives in Somerset, Pennsylvania, little Donald and Jonathan Lynch, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lynch, 6-N Plateau, were seriously burned when a coffee pot overturned on them.

The boys were rushed to Wimber Hospital in Somerset County, where Donald, age 5, was placed in a cradle frame to keep the coverings from touching his body. Seriously burned on the chest, arms, and legs, Donald faces months of skin grafting and will be under a doctor's care until spring. His brother, Jonathan, age 2, who was burned on the lower part of his body, was released from the hospital.

At present and in the months to come, the family's medical expenses will be excessive and are not covered by hospitalization. Friends and neighbors have banded together to lend a helping hand. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Josephine Seay, 6-S Plateau, or left in Twin Pines.

Tree Lighting, Xmas Concert

Next Sunday at 6:30 p.m. the Greenbelt Community Church will observe the annual tree lighting on the Church lawn. A traditional part of the annual observance is the conducting of the service by the senior high fellowship, and the choosing of a member of the Church to light the tree as an honor for his, or her, contribution to the life of the Church over the years. Following the tree lighting, families of the Church will participate in a workshop to make articles and decorations to take to the hospitals. Under the direction of Mrs. Wyatt and the Board of Christian Education, many novel projects will be suggested for all ages. The program will conclude at 8:30 with refreshments and family prayers. All are welcome.

Sunday Christmas Concert

On Sunday Dec. 13, the massed choirs of the Community Church and the Eldbrook Methodist Church in Washington, D. C. will give a Christmas concert in Greenbelt at 8 p.m. Colonel Robert Landers of the famous Singing Sergeants will conduct the combined choirs and instrumentalists. On Dec. 20 the Greenbelt choir will join in giving The Messiah at the Eldbrook Methodist Church. This will be a rare musical opportunity for the people of Greenbelt.

The storm drain, has indicated that it would not approve the construction of the addition unless one of these conditions was met.

The GHI board voted unanimously not to incur the costs of either alternative.

Future Meetings

Because of the Christmas holidays, the board decided to hold its regular meetings on December 3 and 17, instead of the second and fourth Thursday of the month.

Mrs. Josephine Seay announced for the Member Relations Committee that an open house will be held on Sunday, December 27, from 2 to 6 p.m., at the Administration Building. GHI members are invited to meet the board and GHI employees.

Insurance

Accepting the low bids offered from among nine companies, the board awarded Nationwide Insurance Co. its one-year automobile insurance and 3-year general liability and burglary policies. The bids were considerably lower than those of the other competitors, but slightly higher than the premiums previously paid for such insurance. The Kemper Insurance Co. was low bidder for the workmen's compensation insurance.

Council has indicated general approval of the major features of the Greenbelt Master Plan, especially with respect to the land use plan. The only changes being contemplated are a shift in the site of the neighborhood shopping center for the Boxwood-Lakeside North area and the addition of a neighborhood shopping center on the Smith-Ewing properties.

Some school sites may also undergo change as the result of new decisions of the county board of education. It is understood that the latter is now proposing elimination of one of the two elementary and one of the two junior high schools in the Springhill Lake section. Also the school site for the Smith-Ewing properties may be shifted closer to the NASA properties.

The council has instructed the planners to add a library site in the Center to the plan.

Road Plan Changes

With respect to the highway plan, council has in mind a shuffling of the road system in the northwest part of town. It is felt that the proposed perimeter road would bite into too much Federal property with its attendant problems. An alternate suggestion for having the perimeter road follow the city boundary from Kenilworth Ave. east to the water tower is being favorably considered. The road would then head north as presently proposed by the planners. There would be some sort of tie-in between the perimeter road and Ridge rd. near the water tower.

Another change involves smoothing out Crescent rd. near the Beltway so as to avoid an angular road.

Council members have expressed their desire to the planners that open spaces and green areas in the central core of town be preserved as much as possible. The problem is that much of this land is in private hands. Council is thinking of a land acquisition program financed through long-term bonds. The planners were asked to draw up a catalogue of such areas so that priorities and costs could be established.

DEC. 10 DEADLINE

December 10 is the deadline for senior citizens in Prince Georges county to file for real estate tax reductions. Applications for exemption may be filed by persons 65 years of age or older who have resided in the county for the preceding five years and whose total gross income does not exceed $4000 per year. The application has to be resubmitted every year.

The exemption applies to both private home owners and GHI members. To receive an application form, call immediately the County Commissioners' office in Upper Marlboro or the GHI accounting office at 474-6601. Completed forms must be received by the commissioners' office by Dec. 10.

Local Teachers Form New Democratic Club

A group of Prince Georges County teachers met on Sunday, Nov. 15, and organized "Teachers' Democratic Club of Prince Georges County." Officers elected were: Arthur Kirkland, President; Clem Martin, Vice-President; Charles R. Dorsey, Secretary; and Robert Mautino, Treasurer.

This Democratic Club, according to President Kirkland, "was organized for the purpose of getting the teachers of Prince Georges County politically active." The organization plans to affiliate with the Democratic Party in the county.

The next general membership meeting will be held at 111 Centerway, Greenbelt, Maryland, on Sunday, Dec. 13. County teachers (regular, substitute, and retired) are invited to join.

Madden - Dunleavy

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony M. Madden, 3 Lakeview Circle, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Jane, to Michael Joseph Dunleavy, son of Mrs. Michael Dunleavy of New York City and the late Mr. Dunleavy.

Miss Madden is an assistant head nurse at the Neurological Institute of the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York. She is a 1961 graduate of the Catholic University of America. Mr. Dunleavy is a 1958 graduate of Fordham University. He is a senior buyer with Consolidated Edison Company, Inc. of New York.

A spring wedding is planned.

Mogel-Reed

The marriage of Marsha A. Mogel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Mogel, Greenbelt, and Clifford V. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, Berwyn Heights, took place Nov. 21 in the Greenbelt Community Church. The Rev. Kenneth B. Wyatt officiated in a candlelight setting of gladiolus and palms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Miss Jeanne A. Carriere was maid of honor and Sue Schwimmer and Nancy Jane Beale were bridesmaids. Jan Mogel, sister of the bride, was the flower girl and J. Richard Wynkoop was ring bearer.

Thomas Hook was best man with Robert W. Mogel, Jr., brother of the bride, Leonard Joy, Ralph Barrett and George Lauterbach as ushers.

Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception for 250 guests was held at the American Legion Post #136. The couple will be at home at the Kirkwood Apartments, West Hyattsville.

4-H Achievement Night

Seven 4-H'ers from Greenbelt won a total of eight awards and four leaders received service pins, at the Prince Georges County Achievement Night on Saturday, Nov. 14. Once a year, youngsters who have done outstanding 4-H project work and have kept excellent record books are singled out for recognition, receiving gold pins and the plaudits of their fellow 4-H'ers, friends, and families. Eventually many members go on to state and national competition.

Laura and Linda Simonson both won awards for food preservation. Jenny Simonson was cited for her forestry project. Kathy Labukas received a pin for her outstanding work in breads. All these girls are in Mrs. Simonson's Cloverbuds.

In the Cloverettes, led by Mrs. Geller, Margaret Amberg received two pins: one for public speaking and the other for child care; Elise Geller received an award for a winning dress in the annual style review; and Barbara Geller was among those with outstanding record books. Mrs. Clifford Simonson and Mr. James Cassels received five-year leadership pins; Mrs. George Neumann and Mrs. Jay Brubaker received three-year pins.

WETA Programs on Chess

How a young lady won a husband and a monk won a bishopric because they could play chess... are some of the anecdotes related on a new 30-program series giving practical advice on playing chess on WETA/Channel 26, Washington's educational TV program.

Because of the great interest in chess in the Washington area, WETA will broadcast each program three times a week—Sundays, 2:30 p.m.; Mondays, 4 p.m.; and Tuesdays, 8 p.m.

The tales are told and the tips are given by master chess player George Koltanowski, nationally syndicated chess columnist. At the conclusion of each program, he presents a problem for the audience to solve before the next week's show, when he gives the solution.

Writers are Invited To Join Our Staff

by Rita Fisher

The Greenbelt News Review, although adequately staffed on Tuesday night when the paper is put together, lacks a very important element - reporters.

Not long after I moved to Greenbelt, about eight and a half years ago, I got the journalistic itch. Having worked for the Office of War Information during World War II, I felt that I might be able to offer my services in some way to the News Review. I've been a member of the staff ever since.

It took a while for me to meet the regular Tuesday night crew because I started as a proofreader, working silently many, many Wednesday nights with Editor Harry Zubkoff. I can remember how quiet Harry's house was. While I sat reading over the printer's galley for errors, Harry would be cutting up another set of galley, measuring space needed for the ads and then setting them up on dummy sheets. I could then offer my services to help scotch-tape everything together.

Eventually, the writing bug hit me. Mind you, I am only a high school graduate with no formal training in journalism. But my words in print were accepted and I was encouraged to do more. To this day, covering a city council or GHI meeting scares me to pieces but I am proud to do it.

Through the years, my name has appeared in by-lines for numerous features. Remember "When the Siren Blows" or "Those Living Behind Locked Doors"? Or "Police News" and "Police Blotter"? I've reported on council meetings, GHI meetings, various club meetings, and done some personal feature stories. I even wrote a special poem one year for Christmas.

The point I am making is this: there undoubtedly are many residents of Greenbelt who might have wanted to write for the News Review but feel that they are not good enough. I dare you to try. The encouragement you will receive is very rewarding. And frankly, the Tuesday night sessions down at the office at 15 Parkway are the most exciting part of it all. Where else can you feel the pulse of the city but in a newspaper office? And the News Review on Tuesday nights is really jumping.

Volunteers are needed, reporters to cover the many important meetings that are held in the evenings and also to cover the events that take place during the day. And don't worry about needing a large vocabulary. Of course, it would help, but if you've read my stuff, I sure ain't got one.

Turkey Trot Race Results

Lou Castagnola of the American University Track Club won Sunday's 20-mile race in the Greenbelt Jaycee Turkey Trot, and will hold for 1 year the possession cup presented to him after his victory by Lou Chiccehitto, Vice-President of the Greenbelt Jaycees. A total of 80 runners participated in the 3-event racing card. The 5 1/2 mile race was won by Frank Moeller, also of AUTC. 40 runners competed in the 1 1/2 mile "Run For Your Life," with James McDowell of Dunbar High School the winner. Larry Noel of Greenbelt received a trophy for best time for a Greenbelt resident in the Run For Your Life Race.
