Council Proposes Righthand Turns To Ensure Safe Exits From Plaza

by Rita Fisher

City Council at its meeting last Monday decided to ask the State Roads Commission for permission to install "Right Turn Only" signs along Greenbelt Road at all exits from the Beltway Plaza. "No U Turn" signs along the same stretch of road will also be requested.

The motion was passed (3-2) in hopes that the accident rate, resulting from cross traffic at the exits, would be cut down. To make a left turn, vehicles would have to turn right toward Branchville or head straight through the intersections into Berwyn Heights, where left turns could be made by circling a block and then coming back on to Greenbelt Road in the direction of Kenilworth Avenue.

Councilman D a v e Champion stated that it would be ridiculous to force cars to go into Berwyn Heights or go up to Rhode Island Avenue in order to turn around.

Monday night's meeting turned out to be one of the shortest meetings on record, lasting less than two hours. Appointments to the various Advisory Boards will be made at a special meeting next Monday. Also held over until a report from the Youth Center Advisory Board is received, were two agenda items concerning Youth Center vandalism and Youth Center policy.

Swimming Pool Rates

The resolution to change the swimming pool rates was passed with one change. Swimming lesson rates for children of Greenbelt residents will be $2.50 (not $3.00) and the family-children rate per session was changed from $5.00 to $4.00.

Council approved an appropriation for the annual mosquito control program. This has proved to be an effective service. Citizens will be informed, via the News Review, of the days that the sprayer will be in operation. The control program will also extend to the streams and waterways. The chemicals to be used are of low toxicity and harmful only to the female mosquito.

Councilman Bernstein reported on a meeting with a group of elderly citizens for "not elderly housing, but specially financed housing for people no younger than 60." A non-profit corporation for persons over 60 is planned, and a construction site near St. Hugh's and the PEPCO substation is proposed. The possibility of creating housing within RPC (Rural Planned Community) regulations is being explored. The matter will be placed before the Advisory Planning Board for discussion and recommendations.

Other Items

The State Roads Commission is in the process of installing the much-needed left-turn signals on Kenilworth Avenue at Greenbelt Road.

Council approved City Manager James Giese's recommendations concerning bids received on the purchase of office furniture and chairs. Included will be the purchase of 72 Samsonite chairs for the council room, to be used by those who sit, watch, listen, and comment at future council meetings.

New County Zoning Law Enacted By Assembly

Prince Georges County has a new zoning law that contains many features desired by Greenbelters. However, it does not go as far as the original proposals made by the County Civic Federation, Home Rule Charter Committee, and other civic organizations. Enacted last week in the last minutes of the Maryland General Assembly, the bill was amended over 40 times before passage.

Among the changes that prevailed in the omnibus rezoning bill were:

(1) Commissioners' votes on all rezonings must be formally recorded;

(2) Rezoning applicants and all witnesses are subject to reasonable cross-examination at hearings;

(3) Applicants must wait at least 18 months before resubmitting rezoning requests on rejected cases. After a second rejection, the applicant would have to wait 24 months.

(4) The Park and Planning Commission must hold public hearings on both initial plans and subsequent changes made before final adoption of its general plans. The agency now holds only one hearing.

(5) Technical staff reports, official correspondence and records on rezoning requests must be a matter of public record.

(6) Any municipality in the county is entitled to a circuit court review of a rezoning decision.

Eliminated from the bill were provisions (1) Requiring that rezoned land not under development within five years after rezoning would automatically revert back to previous land-use classifications; and (2) allowing persons within a three-mile radius of rezoned property to file suits contesting the change.

Local AFL-CIO Man Speaks For Libraries

America's union members have been urged by AFL-CIO President George Meany to help improve the quality of the libraries in their communities and to join in establishing libraries where they do not now exist.

Meany's appeal was made in a letter to more than 700 AFL-CIO central labor bodies throughout the United States urging their participation in National Library Week, April 25 - May 1.

One of the AFL-CIO representatives on the American Library Association - AFL-CIO Joint Committee on Library Service is Albert K. Herling, of Greenbelt. Herling also is president of the Friends of Libraries in Prince Georges County, and has been active in the continuing Greenbelt effort to get adequate library facilities here.

"Every Greenbelt resident should support and participate in the effort to get a more adequate library facility here and join the local library association," said Herling in his capacity as AFL-CIO representative to ALA. "This is especially true for union members who live here. Having a more adequate library here means greater possibility of enriching the lives of young and old alike—of greater opportunity for preparing for, understanding, and enjoying our changing world."

WHITE CANE WEEK

WHEREAS Forty-four Lions Clubs in Lions International District 22-C will hold their annual White Cane Week drive April 18-24 to raise funds for their sight conservation and aid to the blind programs; and

WHEREAS White Cane Week was originated in 1951 by the Monterey, California Lions Club to finance its aid to the sightless projects and now thousands of clubs from New England to California are using White Cane Week to raise money for their sight programs; and

WHEREAS Among the many projects sponsored by the Greenbelt Lions Club from funds raised through the sale of miniature white canes during White Cane Week are:

Financial aid to non-profit institutions serving the blind
Eye surveys in schools, followed up by furnishing glasses to the needy
Support of the Washington Eye Bank

Surgical and hospital care for the blind when necessary
NOW THEREFORE, I Edgar L. Smith, Mayor of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland do hereby designate the week of April 18-24, 1965 as official

"WHITE CANE WEEK"

As sponsored by the Greenbelt Lions Club and call upon all departments of the City, its commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys and girls clubs and all other associations, and our people in general to take an active part in this community program to insure its success.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt to be affixed this Fifth day of April, 1965.

Edgar L. Smith, Mayor
City of Greenbelt, Maryland

County Population Is Now Half-Million

It's officially estimated now — Prince Georges County, as of April 1 has a population in excess of half a million persons. The chairman of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission, in seeking County Commissioner approval of his agency's budget last week, told the Board that the Planning Board now estimated the County's population at 501,300.

This compares with last summer's estimate of 475,000 residents, and with a present growth estimated by the planners in excess of 3,000 persons net increase per month, shows a rate of growth of between 700 and 800 new residents each week.

The last official U. S. census, in 1960, listed 357,000 Prince Georges County citizens. No figures are developed by the Federal government on the County level between the 10-year census tallies. Illustrating the continuing acceleration of population growth in the County, the records show only 30,000 persons living in Prince Georges at the turn of the century. This figure almost tripled by 1940 and doubled again to 194,000 in 1960.

Current estimates are that the County population will top the one-million mark by the year 1990.

Panel Topic To Be "Know Your Neighbor"

A nationally known bi-racial panel, six women from Des Moines, Iowa, has been invited to participate in a day-long "Know Your Neighbor" conference, to be sponsored by the Prince Georges County Human Relations Committee, on April 27 at the University of Maryland. Details of the program will be published prior to April 27.

"Save Greenbelt" Group Gets Officers, and Name - CFPG

A door-to-door membership drive will launch the newly-organized "Citizens for a Planned Greenbelt" organization. This decision was made Tuesday by the 17-man steering committee elected by the citizenry at a mass rally the week before.

Moving into high gear, the steering committee also adopted an official name, named officers and committees and outlined goals.

Machen Pessimistic About Jaeger Tract

In response to a letter from Mayor Edgar L. Smith, the following reply was received from Maryland Congressman Hervey G. Machen (D. 5th District).

"Thanks for your letter of March 18 describing the plight involving the Jaeger tract and the Greenbelt Regional Park. I am well aware of the controversy surrounding the rezoning on this property and the city's role in opposing it so that the Regional Park could be held intact.

"Since the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled against the city and William Avrutis, it would appear that the developers will go ahead and build, unless fast action is taken by Interior Secretary Udall. A bill, identical to previous ones, has been introduced in Congress to authorize the Secretary to purchase the 76 acres. Earlier bills like this met with no success, and it would appear that the possibility of getting scenic easement, as in Merrywood, is very slim, mainly because of lack of appropriations.

"I recently met with Secretary Udall on many matters concerning the Fifth District. We discussed the problem at Greenbelt Regional Park, and I am confident that the Secretary is deeply interested in it. However, to be candid, it appears that the Interior Department will be unable to get the necessary money to acquire the Jaeger tract next to the Park. It is regrettable that the efforts applied to this campaign by the city and other interested citizens have been fruitless.

"Therefore, I will attempt to offer whatever aid I can, but caution you at the same time that all courses appear to be set.

"With kindest personal regards, I am

Hervey G. Machen, M. C."

The Police Blotter

Chief Lane of the Greenbelt Police Dept. announced that two more officers were commended for their actions during this month. Officer Reamy recovered a vehicle that was stolen in Bowie, before it was reported stolen. He made two juvenile arrests. Officer Bennett recovered a vehicle that was stolen in Riverdale, also before it was reported stolen. He made five juvenile arrests.

Officer Pugh is attending the Maryland State Police Academy, from April 5-17. The subject of study is "Criminal Investigation." Lt. Zoellner and Officer Reamy will be attending the F.B.I. School on "Sex Investigations" to be held at Fort Meade from April 19-29.

Although we are well into the school year there have been no accidents involving school children. Chief Lane thanks the Safety Patrols for doing an outstanding job in assisting the officers and adult crossing-guards.

Study Hall Hours

Next week, due to the Easter holidays, the study hall at the Methodist Church will be open on Monday and Tuesday evenings only.

Twenty-five Years Ago

The Park and Planning Commission was under fire at the meeting of the Prince Georges County Citizens Associations at Bladensburg, Thursday, March 7 . . . Greenbelt was represented at the Dental Centenary Celebration in Baltimore by Dr. and Mrs. James W. McCarl, both serving on committees, and Francis J. Lastner, representing the Lockwood Dental Supplies Company of Washington . . . Sales specials in the News Review included a one-year-old Dodge 5-passenger coupe for $585.00; pure silk, full-fashioned hose for 98c; dry cleaning special of suits cleaned and pressed for 49c; and shirts finished for 12c.

Lloyd Moore was elected chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Maffay, corresponding secretary, and Harvey Geller, treasurer.

The goal of the organization, as described by the steering committee, is "to preserve the fundamental character of Greenbelt as a low density planned residential community as spelled out in the city's official goals and to insure that the future growth and development of the City should be in accord with the Greenbelt Master Plan."

To achieve this goal, the CFPG will seek the active participation of all Greenbelt residents. Membership cards will be issued for a nominal charge.

To Exert Pressure

The program of the new group calls for constant and firm pressure directed at elected and appointed officials of the county, state, and federal government. The CFPG will provide citizen representation at all hearings affecting the development of Greenbelt, and take legal action when required.

It pledges itself to keep residents of Greenbelt fully informed of developments and actions that must be taken. A comprehensive educational and public relations program to publicize the Greenbelt fight will also be launched.

The steering committee also set up the following committees:

Membership—Charles Schwan
Official Liaison—Edgar Smith
Citizens' Organization Liaison — Charles Fuchs

Public Relations—Albert Herling
Legislative—Harold Siegel
Way & Means—Leo Gerton
Hearing Representative — James Smith

Volunteers to serve on these committees will be welcome. For information, call GR 4-6888 or GR 4-6060.

American Legion Juniors Flag Dedication Ceremony

One of the highlights of the year for the Juniors of Greenbelt American Legion Auxiliary Unit No. 136 will be their flag dedication ceremony this Sunday, April 11. The ceremony, beginning at 3 p.m., will be conducted by Department of Maryland President Mrs. Richard Burton of Ocean City. Color-bearers will be the chairman of the junior group, Karen McFarland, 3 Fayette Place, and the group's secretary, Anne Evanosky, 58-B Ridge Road. The ceremony climaxes a three-year effort by the Junior group to raise funds to buy the American flag and unit banner, which are scaled down in size for the youngsters. They plan to display the flags in future Greenbelt parades and civic ceremonies, as well as at Legion and Auxiliary functions.

Letters to the Editor

"Save Greenbelt"

It was indeed a pleasure to see so many old friends at the "Save Greenbelt" meeting held in the Municipal Building on March 29th, but it was most disconcerting to find myself so far out of tune with the tone of that meeting. From the very beginning of the meeting a belligerent attitude prevailed toward the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and their revised Area Plan 13 North, and this is where I believe we have "missed the boat."

The citizens of Greenbelt, our elected officials, and GHI officials should not lose sight of the fact that we are all, directly or indirectly, paying taxes for the MNCPPC and it is the proper legally constituted authority to study and prepare Master Plans for the entire area, for the best land use of all of Prince Georges County, and not for the citizens or property owners of any one community.

I can think of no greater affront to the MNCPPC than for our "Save Greenbelt" committee to vehemently attempt to persuade this legally constituted authority by badgering them into accepting any changes from their revised officially approved plan. Certainly, this is not a reasonable approach to expect any favorable consideration.

In the years past, Greenbelt has enjoyed very favorable relations with MNCPPC chiefly by our willingness to recognize the status of this municipal body to discuss, cooperate and negotiate with their staff and officials. As an example of good relations, I point out that all land within the corporate boundaries of Greenbelt now enjoys a 10c reduction in the County Metropolitan Park and Planning tax that no other municipality in the immediate area is presently enjoying. Greenbelt was able to convince the officials of MNCPPC that Greenbelt itself has more park land within its boundaries, maintained by its own tax dollars, than all of the other 28 municipalities in Prince Georges County combined have within their limits.

The Steering Committee of the "Save Greenbelt" program might do well to take a hint from the popular song "A Spoonful of Sugar Makes the Medicine Go Down" before they try unsheathing their swords and sharpening their weapons to better fight Plan 13 North.

While I am in the mood of giving free advice, I might suggest that there is something constructive that this committee can do to "Preserve Greenbelt" and that is in the area where a local citizens committee can be most productive because they own and control the land. First, try to persuade GHI officials to preserve as green areas for park land and open spaces the small parcels of land which they are now considering building on.

Second, persuade City Council to set up funds for improving and extending the inner-walk system, which is certainly one of the outstanding characteristics of our "planned community."

Third institute a much-needed program for the construction of new off-street parking facilities throughout the community.

AMBULANCE CLUB EXTENDS FUND DRIVE THROUGH APR.

On behalf of the Greenbelt Fire Dept. and Rescue Squad, I should like to thank the News Review and the citizens of Greenbelt for your cooperation in the Ambulance Club Fund Drive.

Because of the large increase in population and relatively static state of our membership (in numbers, that is) it will be impossible to cover all of Greenbelt in the time originally estimated.

Therefore, we ask your indulgence and wish to announce that the Ambulance Club Fund Drive will be extended to the end of April. We will try to reach every home and apartment in Greenbelt before April 30.

TV COMMERCIALS WE'D LIKE TO WATCH

Probably the most boring sight on television nowadays is the commercial (and anyone who has watched programs lately knows that keen competition exists for this distinction). It uniformly lacks depth, imagination, truth-to-life, artistry - not even to mention taste. Hasn't it occurred to you that commercials could be greatly improved, made much more interesting (if less effective) by a few twists here and there? Such as the following:

"He is daring! He is a wildcat!" Gushing oil well in background. Bronze tanned subject striding in foreground, Texas-tall, slim as a branding iron.

"For years he tried and searched for the big pay-off and now it has come. A real gusher. Money in the bank. It's Camel time!" Ding-ling-dong! Cigarette pack swings prominently into view. Lighter clicks.

Workmen on bulldozer, yelling: "Hey, you stupid fool, can't you read the sign saying NO SMOK . . ." BAROOOOO. Slow dissolve.

Or how would the friendly folks at John Hancock Insurance like this:

Meek little fellow, on bench next to broadshouldered chap in grey fannel suit, facing cheerful agent across desk: "You go into this detail with every tax return? How can you afford to do it?"

Agent: "Electronic computer. Down at Internal Revenue they do most of the detail work. Gives me time to find the deductions that are wrong just for you."

Fellow, musing: "Mr. Electronic computer. Internal Revenue, eh?"

Community Church News

There will be a procession of the palms by the children of the Greenbelt Community Church at 10:45 a.m. this Sunday. At 8 p.m. a Lenten play, "The Terrible Meek," directed by Mrs. Kenneth Wyatt, will be presented in the church sanctuary. Participants will be Gregg Stewart, Cliff Woodward, Jr., and Elaine Fowler.

On Maundy Thursday, April 15, at 8 p.m. there will be a Candle-light Communion in the Sanctuary. The choir will sing "The Seven Last Words" by Dubois, under the leadership of Clarence Shaw.

The annual Good Friday three-hour service on the Last Words from the Cross will be held from noon to 3 p.m. The following ministers will be participating: Perry Miller, Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church; James Tomasek, St. Paul's United Church of Christ; Jasper Morris, Greenbelt Baptist Church; Roy Stetler, Cheverly Community Church; Sidney Conger, Berwyn Presbyterian Church; Edward Birner, Holy Cross Lutheran Church; and Kenneth Wyatt, Greenbelt Community Church. The public is welcome.

On Easter Sunday there will be a 9:30 a.m. family service of worship and an 11 a.m. service of worship. There will be child care in 2-B Hillside, but NO CHURCH SCHOOL.

Democratic Club News

The testimonial dinner for County Commissioner Frank Lastner which had been planned for May 8 has been postponed indefinitely. All Greenbelt Democrats are reminded that the Democratic State Central Committee will hold a party fund-raising dinner on Saturday, May 8. Bud Dean, president of the Greenbelt Democratic Club, has tickets available for the dinner.

Point of View by Dorothy Sucher

The Gourmet Child

Having a six-year-old gourmet in the house presents a problem. Having a gourmet is easy; you give him coq au vin and a nicely chilled sauterne. Having a six-year-old is even easier; you give him a peanut butter sandwich and a glass of chocolate milk.

A six-year-old gourmet, however, is unpredictable. He'll eat snails but not eggs, pickled cauliflower but not tomatoes.

My six-year-old gourmet would also like to eat TV dinners, which he regards as a rare, exotic delicacy because I seldom serve them. Not long ago, he asked for them. I'm afraid I forgot, for a moment, a mother's duty to be a perpetual model of decorum to her children. Anyway, I replied, "We don't have TV dinners because TV dinners are lousy."

Yesterday afternoon we went to the doctor, and afterwards we waited for a prescription to be prepared at the drugstore. It got late, so I said, "I don't think I'll have time to make dinner. Why don't we buy some TV dinners instead?"

He could hardly believe his ears. "Do you really mean it? Oh thank you, Mother, this is my dream come true." (That's the way he talks.) "I'm glad, and you'll be glad, because TV dinners really aren't lousy. I think TV dinners are delicious. Have you changed your mind? Don't you think TV dinners are lousy any more?"

"Well," I hedged, "I don't know that I'd want to use the word 'lousy.'"

"But you did use it. Last week." "Perhaps I did, but must you quote me?"

He cross-examined me continually while the TV dinners were heating in the oven trying to prove that (a) TV dinners weren't lousy, (b) he didn't think they were lousy,

(c) I didn't think they were lousy, (d) he loved them, and (e) I loved them. But I didn't give in. I didn't want to spoil the child's enjoyment, yet I felt I should stick to my principles.

"Ah!" said he, rubbing his hands together and inhaling deeply when I finally brought them to the table, "TV dinners! My dream come true. Daddy, you don't think they're lousy, do you?"

"Don't call the food your mother prepares 'lousy,'" his father reproved him.

"I didn't. She did." When he had brooded a while over this injustice, he turned to his older brother. "Do you think TV dinners are lousy?"

"They're okay," said his older brother, who doesn't get excited about food.

"They're delicious," the gourmet corrected him. He tasted a forkful of peas, and turned to me. "These peas aren't lousy. They aren't any lousier than the ones you cook yourself."

"True," I admitted. "They're exactly the same, since I always cook frozen peas." You can't fool a gourmet about things like that.

"Well, then?" "Well, then, what? What do you want me to say? Anything for a little peace in the house?"

"(I don't think you should say 'lousy' in front of the children," my husband murmured.

"Please!" I begged. Don't you start, too.")

"Mother," my six-year-old gourmet announced, with an air of finality, "I want you to love these TV dinners."

"All right. I love them."

"Good. Now eat them." Somewhere along the line I think I sacrificed an important principle. But life requires compromise; or do I mean unconditional surrender?

Greenbelt Grab-bag . . . by Punchin' Judy

In the Spring a man's fancy may turn to golf and gardening, but for the ladies it's Spring cleaning and dreams of remodeling and decorating. Oh, those fascinating house and home magazines with their miracles of refurbishing the drab into the spectacular!

Here's a typical example - you've read dozens just like it. For a total expense of $34.58, this clever, clever young woman has turned her shabby 25-year-old kitchen into a dream of modern early American efficiency. The pictures are simply fabulous. Besides the acres of cabinet space, there is a corking little laundry room, a cozy dinette space, and a cunning built-in desk.

And how did this marvel of a home-maker accomplish her remodeling magic? Well, for one thing the lucky girl received all her appliances as a gift from a doting uncle, who had just foreclosed the mortgage on an electronics firm. But the quaint Pennsylvania Dutch breakfast nook was a lucky find - in her parents attic. The sixty-foot counter top was harder to come by. She might have had to pay for it, if her husband hadn't happened to win an election bet from the manufacturer.

And now we come to the piece de resistance, the charming little desk where our heroine pens her redeccorating articles. This took real ingenuity; in fact, she made it over herself, from the baby's bathinette. Of course, if she ever has a second baby, she'll have to buy another bathinette, but perhaps she can make it from an old desk.

Gentle reader, do we sound verdant with envy? Perish the thought. Our kitchen is just 8' long and has four doors in it. No kidding, there really are four doors. Wonder what the magazines would do with that.

Never mind. What if we don't have a cute little desk in the corner of the kitchen. We'll continue to write for the Greenbelt Grab Bag on the edge of the sink drain-board, as long as the kindly editor closes her eyes to the occasional smudges of peanut butter on the copy.

 1 - 5:30 p.m.: Multipurpose Room for Table Games, Ping Pong, etc.
 6:30 - 10:30 p.m.: Record Hop; Gym open for Ping Pong, Volleyball, Basketball
 Friday's schedule—Same as Thursday from 9 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.
 Friday evening—Junior Teen Club.
 All Classes are cancelled for Saturday, April 17.

Easter Egg Hunt
 A gale Easter Egg Hunt will be held Monday, April 19. A different twist this year is planned. All age groups—pre-school, grades 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 — will search for the eggs at the same time. There will be no staggered hunts as in the past. This year the hunt will be held at 10 a.m. at Greenbelt Lake.

Camera Bugs
 An organizational meeting of a Camera Club will be held Monday, April 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Youth Center. If you are interested or know a friend who is interested in photography, come on down. For further information, call 474-6878.

Bowling Leagues
 The battle for 4th, 5th, and 6th place is still going strong. "Two of a Kind" has jumped from 6th place to 4th. "Gutterdusters" are still holding 5th place, while the "Victors" have dropped to 6th place. It is no wonder to us that the "Royalists" have remained in first place with M. Teske rolling a 141 game and a 328 set or T. Kolbrecki with a 170 game and 444 set. Good luck to all teams as the end of the league season gets closer.

Burt - McGaha

Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Burt of 11-E Ridge announce the marriage of their daughter Constance Marie to Rd. 3/c Arnold N. McGaha, U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oda S. McGaha of Beltsville. The wedding took place March 14 in the Emmanuel Methodist Church, Beltsville. The couple are temporarily making their home in Norfolk, Virginia.

Catherine R. Noll

Mrs. Catherine R. Noll, 34-M Ridge, died on March 31. She is survived by her husband Ray and children, Ann, Jane, Beth, Paul and David. Mrs. Noll was active in 4-H, Greenbelt Cooperative Kindergarten, and cub scouts.

"PLASTIC MAGIC"

The Co-op Homemaker's Open House will feature "Plastic Magic" on Wednesday, April 14, at 10:30 a.m. in the Co-op Hospitality Room. Mrs. Edward Jones will demonstrate how toys, decorations, gifts, and favors can be made from empty plastic bottles. Everyone is welcome.

Inside Congressman's Office

Guest speaker at the March meeting of the Greenbelt Democratic Club was James Read, legislative assistant to Maryland's Congressman-at-Large Carlton R. Sicles. Read is the president of the Prince Georges County Young Democrats.

Speaking on the subject, "Inside Capitol Hill," Read discussed some of the problems faced in the running of a Congressional office. Letters and phone calls are frequently received from persons who have the idea that a Congressman can do anything, such as finding jobs, getting security clearance or getting permission for someone to enter the United States.

Read told the story of a man who called to request a speed-up of a security check-up for a job with the Labor Department. Later in the day, the same man called the Congressman's office to thank the staff for their quick action, since the clearance had just been okayed. It was then that Read realized that he had not had time to do anything for the man and that the clearance check had been made without any Congressional assistance. But, he added, the gentleman is now a great booster for the Congressman.

Peace costs money

It takes money to keep our jet pilots patrolling the skies. . . .

Money to let our scientists continue their search for answers. . . .

Money to insure that our productive power will thrive. . . .

Money to help our children learn how to make peace lasting.

Yes, peace costs money. Money for research and schools and military preparedness. Money saved by you to keep our economy strong

You and your family can be the strongest force of all for peace.

Every Savings Bond you buy helps America keep peace in this troubled world.

Chapel Choir Concert

University of Maryland's Chapel Choir will present an Easter concert, Sunday, April 11, at 4 p.m. in the Memorial Chapel on campus.

Selections from the Bach B-Minor Mass, Brahms' German Requiem, and Mendel's Messiah will be performed. Soloists will be Carol Rockwell, soprano, and Thomas Cozzoli, baritone, both from College Park.

The choir is under the direction of founder Fague Springmann.

Last fall Springmann was recognized by Maryland Governor J. Millard Tawes with a governor's gold medal, the first ever awarded in the field of music in the State of Maryland.

IT'S FOR THE BIRDS! Maybe so—but it's the latest in modern design and construction. This new steel cage, as ingeniously light and flighty as its tenants, is for the birds at Washington, D.C.'s National Zoo. It's for bird-lovers, too, who will be able to go right into the cage by way of a foot bridge and entry room. Cables soar from an 83-foot central steel plate mast out to a sweep of intersecting steel arches, and from these to a low outside wall where the steel cables are anchored. Airy, vinyl-coated steel mesh is draped from the cables to keep the birds in bounds. Creature comforts include electrically heated perches and nooks and crannies built into the huge artificial boulders in the bottom of the cage.

How to hang on to your tax refund this year

Get your tax refund in cash, and chances are the money fritters away.

Get your tax refund in the form of a U.S. Savings Bond and chances are you've got it saved. Tucked away to be part of a down payment on a home someday, a stepping stone to somebody's education, or maybe just a big help when some emergency pops up.

You'll find this opportunity to take your refund in Savings Bonds when you come to that line at the bottom of your '64 tax return.

As well as hanging on to your refund, you'll have the satisfaction of seeing it grow 3 1/3% bigger as your Bond matures. You'll also have the satisfaction of helping your country.

Think it over when you ask for your refund this year.

Respiratory Disease

"Getting old, I guess" . . . "Going soft" . . . "Smoking too much—wind can't take it."

Those are the defensive phases with which so many people shrug off the symptoms of RD. RD? The initials stand for "Respiratory Diseases"—an easy handle for a group of ailments that affect the breathing system.

RD has become one of the most serious health problems. In its various forms it's a major cause of lost hours from work and school. And it gains fast headway by wearing innocent-looking disguises: chronic cough and shortness of breath. The first step in dealing with the menace of RD is to find out when coughing and feeling breathless are normal occurrences, and when they're danger signs.

A cough should be checked if you've had it a month or more. Then it's a chronic cough. Even if you cough only in the morning or during the winter—face it, you still have a chronic cough. And you have reason to see your doctor.

The shortness of breath that signals RD is just like rapid breathing that comes from normal causes like running up a flight of stairs. But it's sneaky; it develops gradually. So—all too often—people don't know that anything is wrong until they're gasping for breath.

If unexplained shortness of breath occurs—whether slight or severe—take a tip from your Christmas Seal Association and see your doctor. Informative leaflets on Chronic Cough and Shortness of Breath are available free from Maryland Tuberculosis Association, 900 St. Paul St., Baltimore 2, Md.

"We put heating aggravations behind us," say Mr. and Mrs. David R. Steinle

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Steinle of Berwyn Heights, Maryland

"We changed over to flameless electric heat!"

"Our old burner was always acting up," says David R. Steinle, "and always on the coldest days. So we changed to electric baseboard heat... and what a change for the better. No more filters to change. No more parts to clean and oil. I haven't had to lift a finger... or make a single phone call for service. It's what I call really trouble-free heat. And electric heat is so even... so free from drafts. Best of all, it gives us individual room thermostats, so that the temperature in every room is exactly what we want. I'm only sorry we waited so long to change."

"As a housewife," adds Mrs. Steinle, "I have my own good reasons for preferring flameless electric heat. It's so clean! As they say in the ads... it's as clean as an electric light bulb. I love it!"

How about you? If your current heating system is ready for retirement, profit by the experience of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Steinle. Switch to modern, flameless electric heat! Choose ceiling cables, baseboard units, an electric furnace... or get complete year-round climate control with an electric heat pump (it heats in winter, cools in summer).
