City Council Discusses the Possibility of Appealing County Zoning Decisions

by Dave Stern

In a special session held Tuesday, July 27, the City Council discussed the advisability of appealing the wholesale rezoning of land in and around Greenbelt which was decided by the County Commissioners two weeks ago.

The meeting was opened by City Manager James Giese, who reviewed the latest rezoning actions of the district commissioners. He noted three main areas: the "Golden Triangle," which was rezoned C-2 (general commercial, the highest commercial category available), the Smith and Ewing property, which was rezoned to a density lower than that of the Area 13 plan but higher than that recommended by the city; and the Schrom property, which was partially rezoned R-10 (high density apts.) and partially C-2, the latter in order to "...round out the area..."

Following Giese, the city's attorney, Joseph DePaul, gave his views on the legal aspects of the rezoning and of a possible appeal. He expressed the opinion that the city's case against rezoning was strongest concerning the first two areas, which lie within its limits. He noted, as one possible argument to favor contesting the rezoning, the alleged fact—voiced by Commissioner Gladys Spellman when she reversed her vote on the "Golden Triangle"—that the commissioners in reaching their decision used evidence which had not been presented at the zoning hearing. He affirmed the importance (demonstrated during the Jaeger case) of having local citizens file appeals, as well as city officials, and asked council for more time to finish his study of the case.

The discussion that followed was mainly concerned with the technicalities of the issue, but also, indirectly, raised some interesting points. Thus, Councilman Cliff Simonson complained that the population estimates which were published as a result of the rezoning were far too low, since they are based on out-of-date estimates of average family size in various zoning classes. Following them, Simonson said, up to 2000 more dwelling units than actually exist would be needed for Greenbelt's present population. In another comment, Councilman Dave Champion said that he has learned of Korvette's latest plans and they do not involve the "Golden Triangle." He voiced his fear that the tract could degenerate into a disorderly commercial growth like the one on University Boulevard, with the central section ultimately being rezoned for high-rise.

Following the discussion, Council voted to request De Paul to submit a memorandum about the legal basis for a possible appeal. Further action will then be considered.

World's Fair Trip Aug. 7

The Greenbelt Travel Club has announced a one day trip to the New York World's Fair on Saturday, Aug. 7. The trip will originate in the west parking lot near the Suburban Trust Company at 6:30 a.m. and return to the parking lot at 4:15 a.m. Sunday. As usual, the bus will make one trip around Greenbelt to leave people near their court. Seats on the bus may be reserved at the time of registration for the tour.

The club is also announcing a second trip, which is a two-day trip to the World's Fair and New York City on Sept. 11 and 12. It is expected that this will be the last two-day trip that the Travel Club will sponsor to the New York World's Fair.

For further details concerning both trips and registration stop by the Twin Pines Office.

Police Arrest 36 At Noisy Party

A noisy party led to the arrest of 36 persons, 15 of them juveniles, last Saturday night, July 24. Complaints from neighbors brought police to 53-B Crescent, where a 22-year-old resident was giving a party while his mother was out of town.

Beer was served, and since many of the guests were minors, the police announced that everyone was under arrest. A Mack Sennett chase reportedly ensued, with a number of the partygoers jumping off the second-story balcony. No one was injured, and police waiting below gathered them up, stowing them in a county paddy wagon which had been borrowed for the occasion.

Less athletic guests sought hiding places inside the apartment. Police flushed several out of the closets and kitchen cabinets, pulled others out from under the bed and from the space between the mattress and the springs, and discovered one cool chap in the refrigerator. His whereabouts were betrayed by the fact that he had left the door open a crack. Last to be discovered were some boys who had made a hole in the ceiling, climbed up into the attic crawl space, and covered the hole with insulation.

"We're all in favor of parties," stated Greenbelt Police Chief William Lane, "as long as they don't disturb the neighbors and no alcohol is served to minors—which means anyone under 21." Lane warned that the department will continue to enforce the law against the possession or consumption of alcohol by juveniles, as well as against the furnishing of alcohol to minors by adults. He said: "I think the use of alcohol impairs the judgment of the teenager, sometimes leads to the relaxation of morals, and also leads the teenager to commit other unlawful acts that will get him into trouble."

Police estimated that about 50 people attended the party; some managed to run away, and are still being sought. The 36 persons arrested included 21 adults (ages 18-23), two of whom were girls; and 15 juveniles, nine of them girls aged 16-17. The adults were charged with disturbing the peace, and the juveniles with being in possession of, or consuming, alcohol, as well as disturbing the peace.

The host was charged with a disorderly house and contributing to the delinquency of minors by furnishing them with alcoholic beverages.

The juveniles have been released in the custody of their parents. The adults all posted bond or collateral for a hearing August 3 in Peoples Court, Hyattsville.

Most of the guests at the party were not Greenbelters.

Rear Admiral Hill Is Parade Marshal

Greenbelt Police Sergeant Austin Green, parade chairman for the annual Labor Day festival, announces that Rear Admiral Andrew J. Hill will serve as Honorary Grand Marshal for this year's annual Labor Day parade.

Admiral Hill has won many decorations for heroism during World War II, when he served as commanding officer of the USS Nicholas, and during the Korean War, when he commanded a Destroyer Division. His decorations include the Navy Cross (twice), Silver Star Medal, Legion of Merit, two Gold Stars, and two Bronze Star Medals.

The following will serve as parade judges: Lt. (j.g.) Janet Blumberg, U. S. Navy; Mayor Joseph Lilly of Hyattsville; David Brigham, a national executive committeeman of the American Legion; and Sgt. Robert Mogel, representing H. A. Galotta, District of Columbia Fire Chief.

Master of Ceremonies will be Richard Mansfield, a retired police inspector who is director of the school safety program of the Washington Evening Star.

Louis L. Goldstein, Maryland's comptroller of the Treasury, will be among the honored guests, as will also Hervey G. Machen, Member of House of Representatives, and Fred L. Wineland, State Senator.

Festival Committee Meeting

The Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Committee meeting will be held next Thursday, Aug. 2, at 8 p.m. at the Twin Pines Office. The public is invited.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT MEASURES DEBATED AT COUNCIL MEETING

by Mary Smith

At a special meeting last Monday night, July 26, to consider a policy for special assessments to pay for new roads and their improvements, City council hammered out a solution for financing one of the two proposed new roads that will lie within the city limits. No decision was reached on the other road.

In a precedent-making decision, Council voted to prepare an ordinance which would assess the Greenhill Rd. extension at 100% of cost, to be levied against the adjacent property owners on both sides of the road, according to the amount of their front footage. Total cost is estimated to be about $11,000, or roughly $22 a front foot. The city will bear the expense of connecting the road to the existing end of Hillside Rd. — about $3,000.

Because of a different situation in the case of the Ridge Rd. extension to Lastner Lane — namely, that the adjoining property is mainly city-owned and presently undeveloped — a different plan was proposed. Based on a suggest of City Manager, James Giese, the city in this case would first install a paved 24-foot strip (providing two 12-foot traffic lanes); as the adjoining lots are developed in the future, the builders or owners would be required to construct 8-foot-wide parking strips, curbing and gutters. The cost of the initial roadway would be paid by the city; the much greater expense to the builder would not technically be an assessment, but would produce the same result.

Richard Reed, engineer for Greenhorne and O'Mara, thought that this plan had much merit, since the road would not have to be torn up at a later date to install sewers, etc. However, though apparently this plan received the support of council, it was not acted upon at the meeting.

Ordinance Consulted

A 1961 City Ordinance, #465, establishes the procedure for levying and collecting special assessments. Using this ordinance as a guide, Councilman Lewis Bernstein moved that the city manager submit to council at a special meeting on Aug. 2, an ordinance for assessing the costs of Greenhill Rd. extension at 66%, payable over a ten-year period, and that the usual public readings be dispensed with.

A flurry of objections and amendments followed. Councilman Clifford Simonson seconded the motion, provided that it was changed to 15 years. Councilman David Champion said, "This is the most controversial thing that any council has done for years, and I don't think we should suspend the regular rules. I am absolutely against it." Mayor Edgar Smith stated, "I am inclined to 100% assessment against the property owners, with the city paying costs of tying in with the present roads." Councilman William Hoff agreed with Smith.

The motion was amended to 100% and 15 years and was passed unanimously. Provision was made for two readings of the new ordinance, on August 2 and August 16, with a public hearing to be held Sept. 13.

Present at the meeting to give their advice were Thomas Brooks, City Solicitor; John Marburger, Director of Public Works for Prince Georges County; and Richard Reed, engineer for Greenhorne and O'Mara.

Registration Confusion

With the city council election just around the corner (September 21), it would be well to remind Greenbelters that the city elections are quite distinct from the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. elections, as well as from the county, state, and national contests.

A person must qualify separately to vote in each of these elections. Eligibility for the GHI elections or the county, state, and national elections does not qualify a person to vote in the city elections.

To vote in the city election, you must be a registered voter. Registration is automatic if you have voted in at least one of the two previous city elections. But be sure it was a city election. Many a prospective voter has showed up at the polls, convinced that he had voted "in Greenbelt" before, only to find out that it was a GHI election or a state or national election.

A citizen can register any day in the week by dropping in at the city offices during business hours (Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) and asking to see the City Clerk. Registration closes August 23.

Qualifications? A citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and a resident of Greenbelt for six months and of Maryland for 12 months at the time of the election.

Greenbelt Grab-bag . . . by Punchin' Judy

by Punchin' Judy

"Didn't the Government tell you to camouflage your place when the Mariner IV came over?"

"Aw, that thing was so far away they'll think it's just a crater or something."

"Don't kid yourself, they have some pretty good instruments."

"Oh, yeah? Then how come their Tiros satellite couldn't even find any sign of intelligent life on their own planet?"

"That's easy, you stoop, there probably isn't any."

We don't know if the conversation between the above two Martians ever took place, but from what we hear, Mars should be an interesting place to visit only you wouldn't want to live there.

Which naturally brings us to Greenbelt, because Greenbelt is a nice place to live in only you wouldn't want to visit here.

You meet somebody in Washington and you mention where you live, "Greenbelt? Isn't that where all those turkeys come from?"

"No, that's Beltsville."

"Oh, yes, Greenbelt. But it's so far away!"

"Away from what?"

"Well, work for instance."

"Depends on where you work."

"But it's a long way from town."

"Where do you live?"

"Bethesda."

4-H CLUB NEWS

June was an active month for the six 4-H clubs in Greenbelt. The Annual Achievement Night, sponsored by GCS, was planned and supervised by the Greenbelt Senior 4-H Club. The five Junior clubs, "Cloverbuds," "Little Leaves," "4-H Clovers," "Shamrocks," and "Little Women," exhibited articles and baked goods made during the year, gave demonstrations, and participated in the Style Show. Elise Geller, president of the Senior Club, was M.C. for the evening. One of the highlights of the program was a performance of several numbers by the "Juniors," folk singing group from Greenbelt Junior High led by Leonard Moses. The baked goods were auctioned off and the proceeds donated towards the acquisition of a 4-H camp in Prince George's County.

In a run-off among three girls for the championship in the General Foods category in Demonstrations, Holly Geller captured the purple ribbon. She will represent the County at District Demonstration Day on July 27. Since her sisters Elsie and Barbara won championships in other categories, all three girls will compete in the District contests.

you." "Well, you're miles away from us!"

"It's no farther from our house to yours than from yours to ours."

Now, as any veteran Greenbelt knows, this argument doesn't convince anyone. If people want to believe that Greenbelt is far away, they'll believe it in spite of all the maps and charts. We have some relatives in Washington who always plan to spend the day whenever they come, because it doesn't pay to make such a trip just for a couple of hours visit. And some of our friends don't feel up to traveling so far. S. Klein's? Oh, they shop there regularly, but that's different.

We've decided there is a sort of outer space feeling about Greenbelt. It was here before NASA came; in fact we suspect that was the subconscious reason why the Greenbelt location was picked.

We know a boy who, when he was little, pronounced it "Dreambelt." Sort of sums it up, doesn't it?

Keep the Green

To the Editor:

Midnight shadows hide Candy Land City, the pool, and all of this unique and beautiful community of Greenbelt. Also shrouded are the countless pieces of broken glass, papers, cardboard cartons, cans of every variety, and even old tires which pock-mark our community, the most unusually planned city I've seen in five states.

Our family is new here, less than a month, and we were initially pleased with the many features here, but in the clear light of day the wanton disregard that some people have for their community has come to us.

As I've wandered over the tree-lined trails, the parking lots, and the shopping center, I wonder how can we have a revival of interest in beautifying our city.

While some would scold if someone littered their homes or apartments, they give no thought to the careless, widespread littering that goes on everywhere.

I offer no program, but perhaps this will prick the minds of those who care, and those who couldn't "care less."

Many have forgotten that nature's most vivid color, green, is in our city's name, and that the belt of green which surrounds us gives what so few communities have not got: woods, spaciousness, and a natural coolness that is wonderful.

May I be old-fashioned and say: Let's keep the Green in Greenbelt.

Volunteers Needed For GCS Advisory Committees

An alert customer noticed what he believed to be an incorrect procedure used in stacking milk cartons in the Greenbelt store of Greenbelt Consumer Services. So he brought up the matter at the last meeting of the store's area delegation to the GCS Congress.

After discussion, the delegation chairman asked for a report from top management. Within 2 days, he had a letter from the assistant resident general manager, setting forth the correct procedure and promising to see that it be corrected—if policy had been violated.

The customer action was one of the kinds of activities carried on by the Customer Advisory Committee of the delegation. Other committee functions may involve questioning of such things as pricing policies, quality or availability of some product or service or size of product, in general, to help customers and personnel to improve GCS services.

This year, Greenbelt's delegation will set up 3 customer advisory subcommittees for the food store, pharmacy, and service station. In this way, expertise may be developed and liaison improved.

But to do this job, warm bodies are needed, delegation chairman Mat Amberg stated.

Interested GCS members — who needn't be delegation members — are urged to volunteer. "You don't need to be an expert," noted delegation chairman, Mat Amberg, "You'll learn by doing."

Amberg also said volunteers are needed for — Member Relations — the delegation's other major standing committee. Its members may specialize if they wish. The Homemakers Subcommittee arranges demonstrations and talks. Members may help set co-op educational policies, welcome new members to GCS, guide visitors from abroad, plan a youth group, or some other project.

Volunteers are needed, Amberg repeated. Write him at 6-E Hillside.

Urge GHI Members to Vote

To the Editor:

How many will care enough to come out and vote at dead mid-summer - August 4th - upon the important proposal for larger houses in Greenbelt Homes, Inc? (Only about one out of five voted eleven weeks ago, two out of five the year before, three out of five the year before that)

What is at stake? A negative plurality (however small), will forbid the Board to proceed, whereas a positive plurality would permit (but might not require) it to go ahead with the proposal.

It should be emphasized that this is not a vote of confidence or non-confidence in the Board, since the proposal has been advanced by a substantial part of the membership.

Rescue Demonstration

A large group of spectators were on hand to witness a Rescue-First Aid demonstration, held in the North parking lot of the Greenbelt Center on Tuesday night, July 20. The drill was presented by the Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad for "Rescue and First Aid Squad Week," proclaimed by Governor J. Millard Tawes.

Two wrecked cars, brought to the area, were placed facing each other to simulate an accident, with the interior of one of the cars burned purposely by the Fire Department. Then, with a heavy mallet one of the men broke the windows, and dented fenders, roofs, and hoods.

Four "victims" were carried to the scene and placed in position. Three men and one woman, they were made up with moulages to simulate authentic injuries. They appeared to be bloody and battered.

When all was ready, the signal was given and the equipment rushed to the scene.

Rescue Ambulances appeared first. Taking their positions near the injured, the men opened doors and commenced giving first aid, which consisted mainly of covering or splinting the injured parts and putting the victims on the stretchers. The Fire Trucks arrived next and the men inspected the cars for fire and pried the jammed doors open.

When the rescue operation was completed, the victims were then released from their first aid bandages and the spectators allowed to inspect the faked injuries.

Assisting Greenbelt in the drill was the Rescue truck from Berwyn Heights. An ambulance and crew from Beltsville acted as standby for Greenbelt so that any real emergency call during the drill could be answered.

BELTWAY PLAZA ARREST

Five persons were arrested on Tuesday, July 27, on charges of tampering with an automobile in the Beltway Plaza parking lot. They included two men and three juveniles, all of them residents of Edgewater, Maryland. They were caught by Police Officer John W. Pugh at about 3 p.m., after they had jacked up an automobile and were in the process of substituting an old tire for a new one.

Thefts from automobiles in the Beltway Plaza parking lot have presented a persistent problem. Last summer approximately 80% of all thefts in Greenbelt took place there. Since that time, regular patrolling by the police has improved the situation greatly.

We extend our deepest thanks,

Greenbelt Site Suggested For U. S. Patent Office

One hundred acres of the Smith-Ewing property north of Glenn Dale Rd. and east of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway (within Greenbelt's city boundaries) has been suggested as one of 13 sites in Prince Georges County for location of the U. S. Patent Office. A joint committee, representing the county government, its Economic Development Committee, and the Chamber of Commerce, has selected these sites in an effort to bring the new $48 million dollar facility to Prince Georges. Montgomery County is also competing for the facility.

The Government would have to negotiate for the Smith-Ewing property, since it is privately-owned. The County Commissioners only this month zoned the land for R-30 (garden-type apartments) and R-55 (single-family homes). Some of the sites suggested by the committee are available on a donation basis and others are government-owned, such as those at the Beltsville Agricultural Center.

The committee, in sending its recommendations to Maryland congressman, pointed out that each of the potential sites are "most accessible to the Capital Beltway and within easy commuting distance of related Federal agencies."

The original specifications for the new Patent site called for construction of "a single building or a complex of two or three buildings of suitable size." The structures would house about 1,400,000 square feet of net usable space.

WINS 4-H CHAMPIONSHIP

Elise Geller won a purple (champion) ribbon for her demonstration, "Color, the Fifth Dimension," on Tuesday, July 27, at 4-H District Demonstration Day, which was held in Upper Marlboro. She will give this demonstration again at the State Fair in September.

Also competing were Ellen Hanyok, who received a red ribbon for her "Oven Fried Chicken," Holly Geller who won a blue ribbon for "Peel a Banana," and Barbara Geller whose "Art for Children" received a red ribbon. All of these girls were champions in the Prince George's Demonstration Day contest held in the spring and represented their county in the District event, which encompasses the winners from the five southern counties in Maryland.

City Notes

As long as the wind blows from the west, no one in Greenbelt will mind the construction work that is going on in the preparation of NASA's private interchange with the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. But since the formation of the cloverleaf has encroached upon the city's landfill site at the end of Northway, some of what is being dug up by the earthmoving machines is simply buried garbage.

NASA paid the city $10,000 for the 5-acre section of City property. The interchange will be north of the Glenn Dale Rd. entrance to the Parkway.

A record in attendance at the Greenbelt Swimming Pool was scored last Sunday when a total of 2100 persons used the pool during the course of the day.

With the exception of a minor lighting job and the installation of a couple of benches, all work on the pool has now been completed.

Walton - Mull

Eva Jean Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton, 18 Maplewood, was married to Robert Bruce Mull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce V. Mull of Hillcrest Heights, Maryland, on Saturday, July 17.

The wedding took place at the Forest Memorial Methodist Church with the Rev. Bailey Phelps and the Rev. Calvin Le Gates officiating. A reception followed at the Oakcrest Country Club.

The Maid of Honor was Claudette Walton and the Best Man was Bill Camello. Also attending the bride and groom were five bridesmaids and five ushers, along with Pamela and Mark Siegel of Greenbelt, who acted as Flower and Ring bearers.

The groom is employed as a Construction Engineer and the bride, a graduate of Harrison Chowee Baptist Academy in Knoxville, Tennessee, is currently employed by the C. & P. telephone company.

Upon returning from their honeymoon, the couple is expected to reside in Calvert County, Maryland.

The newly sodded rest area will probably be opened this week.

Refunds on swimming pool passes are still being issued at the city offices, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and at the pool on Saturday and Sunday from 4 p.m. to closing.

Contractors for the Charlestowne Village pool, scheduled to open during the first week in August, probably will not meet that date. The pool itself has been poured and the bath house constructed, but a deck around the pool and flooring for the bath house are still lacking.

Children have been swarming all over the new equipment being installed this week at the playground behind the center parking lot. The candy cane trim of the entrance archway and the steel frames of the swings and slide have an obvious appeal to the small fry. Fencing of the playground will be done next week by a private contractor.

All other playground equipment currently on hand will be installed this week, according to city manager James K. Giese. This includes a swing set to be placed in the playground behind 2 Gardenway.

Work has begun on construction of a large nursing home on Greenbelt Rd. near the Armory.

SWIM TEAM NEWS

Coach Duff Marquardt's undefeated Swordfish were selected from the many swim teams in the area to participate in the Fifth Annual Adelphi President's Cup Tri-Meet to be held Tuesday, Aug. 3, at the Adelphi Pool, Riggs and Buck Lodge Roads. Greenbelters will measure their strokes against swimmers from Hillandale and from their classic rival, Adelphi. The invitation, based on Greenbelt's outstanding performance in this seasons' Prince-Mont League competition, rewards our clean sweep of victories over Beltsville (240-160), Rock Creek (223-192) and Burn Brae (248-172).

Eight Prince - Mont League records were broken, all by Greenbelt's unchallenged power swimmers, in last Saturday's meet against Burn Brae. The previous week's competition with Rock Creek proved a bit brighter. Twelve league marks were shattered, thanks to Greenbelt's reliables: Mary Coulter, Kathy Labukas, the McMahon girls and Heidi Myers. Some Rock Creek participants also broke records. Seven new marks were set for Greenbelt, five for Rock Creek.

In these last two meets, K. Aulisio, B. Brubaker, the Cassels boys, P. Corbin, M. Haker, K. Labukas, C. Linstrom, B. Marquardt, the McMahon girls, H. Myers, F. Pristoop, S. Rowland, R. Smith, S. Turner, and the Webbs joined Coach Marquardt's blue ribbon group of first place and multiple first place winners.

Special honors go to Heidi Myers, first Greenbelt swimmer of the year to set three new girls' 9-10 age groups League records in one meet: backstroke, breaststroke, and freestyle.

Next Saturday's meet is with University Hills at their pool. Team members should report to the Greenbelt pool at 8 a.m.

Team members are pleased to note that Greenbelt residents have been bringing comfortable chairs for the visitors to use.

Recreation Review

by Richard Stevenson
Director of Recreation
Men's Slow-Pitch League

Because of St. Hugh's dropping out of the League, each team will receive a win for the scheduled games against St. Hugh's. The league has turned into a real dog fight with the possibility of a three-way tie for first place.

Pony-Tail Softball

The Pony-Tail League is coming into the home stretch with the Mustangs leading the charge. Final games of the league are scheduled next week with the Mustangs meeting the Chargers, Tuesday, August 3. Wednesday's game finds the Colts doing battle against the Fillies. Thursday, the Colts play the Chargers, and in the final game of the season, the Fillies play the Mustangs.

Summer Basketball

The Men's Basketball League is moving into the second half of play with the Celtics in first place. These games are played each Tuesday night at the Youth Center and are open to the public.

Splash! Splash! Splash!

The Teen Club Splash Parties will continue to be held each Friday evening from 8:30 - 10:30 p.m. These evening swims are open to members of the Teen Club and their guests.

Gymnastics

Registration for the last Summer Gymnastics Program will be held Monday, August 2, 9 a.m.

Recreation Activities

A new registration procedure was used by the City Recreation Department for the swimming lessons this month, which allowed the entire procedure to be completed within one and one-half hours rather than the usual three hours. The first session of lessons included 95 beginners, 13 advanced beginners, 27 intermediates, and 42 swimmers.

Tennis enthusiasm has run high again, with 57 registrants signed up for instruction. Intra-class tournaments are scheduled.

Twenty-four persons registered for archery instruction. These classes are held at McDonald Field each afternoon.

The two summer playground programs started June 28. At the North End Playground, sponsored by the Prince Georges County Recreation Department, 53 children registered the first day. At the Center Playground 37 children were registered. Children will continue to register each day for the program. Activities include tournaments, crafts, stunts, games, contests, shows, and nature study.

For the first time in 10 years, there is no Babe Ruth League. Only enough boys for two teams signed up for the summer. International rules require at least four teams.

Eighty young ladies are actively engaged in learning the fun and skills involved in the game of softball. There are three levels of competition in the program, the Pony-Tail for beginners; the Powder-Puff League for intra-Greenbelt competition; and the Girl's Fast-Pitch Team, which plays in the Prince Georges County League.

Newsletter on Taxes

With this issue of the News Review the city is distributing a newsletter to all taxpayers, giving information concerning municipal taxes and the city budget. Such information we sent out previously with the tax bills, but since lending agencies and the major group of taxpayers (GHI residents) have their taxes paid in common, city officials decided to contact tax-paying citizens directly.
