Playgrounds and New Homes Discussed by GHI Board

A detailed review of the condition of Greenbelt's playgrounds was given to the directors, at Thursday night's regular GHI board meeting, by city manager James Giese and recreation director Darald Lofgren who appeared as invited guests. Some specific suggestions for improvement were offered by the two officials.

Bids were opened for construction of the larger homes, and conditions have now been set for their sale and financing. The recent adverse court decision in the case of the "Golden Triangle" was also discussed, with a view to possible courses of appeal.

Giese and Lofgren reported they had surveyed the approximately twenty playgrounds and taken pictures of some of them. The city does not have a regular park maintenance crew, but presently has a temporary crew which is putting down asphalt around swings and seesaws, as well as installing some new equipment. New slides, spring animals, and seesaw boards have been received, though delivery of much of this has been slow.

Giese recommended that the playgrounds behind 1 Research road and 42-44 Ridge be relocated to nearby areas because there are too many trees and roots. Another playground, near 24 Ridge, could best be combined with the one on the Lutheran Church grounds. He suggested the fencing in of playgrounds at 57 Ridge, 14 Hillside, and 46 Plateau, so that some ground cover could be put down and retained in them.

Summing up, about half of the twenty-odd playgrounds have received improvements (paving, new equipment, etc.) so far; Giese expects all to have been improved by next summer. Director Cliff Simonson expressed pleasure that the city's program was moving along in this way, as compared to three years ago. Though the joint GHI-city committee is still engaged in study of the playground situation, Giese noted that he was operating on the basis that GHI has made available to the city a number of playgrounds, which the city would therefore develop and maintain.

Cost of New Homes Debated

In a series of five motions, the board set up conditions for determining the sales prices of the four larger homes and the equity needed for purchase. The sales price will be the sum of the original land cost, the building cost, and all other related costs. At the time of sale, the homes will be appraised to determine the fair market value; the ratio of the sales price to the appraised price will represent the sales equity of the purchaser. Thus the purchaser and the corporation will each retain a constant percentage of the value of the house, though the market price fluctuates. Further, the corporation will maintain a priority listing of members who are interested in purchasing these homes when available for resale.

Bids for construction of the homes were opened; Clyde Hilliard Company was low bidder, but all the bids were appreciably above the expectations of the board. On a motion by Director James Smith the bids were referred to the committee on Larger Homes for study and recommendation, with participation of the architect.

Appeal of "Triangle" Zoning Urged

The board took note of the recent adverse lower court decision granting commercial C-2 rezoning for the "Golden Triangle", bounded by Greenbelt Road, the Beltway and Kenilworth. On a motion by Simonson, the board went on record to urge the city council to "give the strongest consideration" to an appeal of this action. There are thirty days in which such an appeal may be made. The board itself in-

News Review Denies Libel Charge

The Greenbelt News Review, through its attorneys, Royall, Koegel, and Rogers, and David Reich, replied last week to the $2,000,000 suit filed against it by local developer Charles S. Bresler. The suit had charged the newspaper with publishing material that exposed Bresler to "public scorn, hatred, contempt, disgrace, and ridicule" and degraded him "in the esteem and opinion of the residents of the City of Greenbelt and the State of Maryland and elsewhere."

The suit had quoted excerpts from three news stories, two headlines, three letters to the editor, and two editorials over a nine-month period as being printed with malice and "without reasonable justification or excuse." The quoted material for the most part dealt with Bresler's transactions and negotiations with the city council and county school board regarding his land holdings.

The News Review denied the allegations and, in addition declared that Bresler is both a public official and an active participant in matters of pressing public concern to which the articles in issue were directed, so that "such publications are constitutionally protected and nonactionable under the provisions of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and Article 43 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland."

The reply further alleged two additional bases upon which the publications complained of were privileged: First, they were fair reports of "official public and judicial proceedings and actions" and, second, they constituted "fair comment . . . upon matters of public interest."

structed the corporation's attorney to prepare an appeal and consult with it soon.

Referring to the Greenhill-Hillside road connection, Giese pointed out that it might be worthwhile to delay paving the road until GHI has installed the utility lines for the house it proposes to build there, since otherwise a patched road will result. The cost to GHI might also be lower. Directors O'Reilly and Simonson agreed that it would be a good idea to contact the utility companies about putting the lines in as soon as possible.

Several recommendations of the Maintenance, Standards and Improvements Committee were approved by motion. Residents will be required to install proper check valves between units, in certain courts, to reduce interactions between hot and cold water which are troublesome at present. The planting of willow trees will henceforth not be allowed, and existing troublesome trees will be removed; their roots tend to clog drainpipes. GHI will provide appropriate replacement trees. In another motion, if all members in a row agree to a structural improvement it will be approved by the board.

The board meeting lasted at least until 1:15 a.m., when this weary reporter left. He is therefore unable to say how much longer the directors and staff spent on this extraordinary session.

City Council Retains New Law Firms and Planner

The City Council has requested the noted Baltimore law firm of Ginsberg and Ginsberg to review the two City law suits, (covenants and agreements) against Charles and Fleur Bresler in order to determine the feasibility of taking appeals to the Maryland Court of Appeals. This firm is considered by many to be the leading law firm in the state for appellate work. Hyman Ginsberg, a partner in the firm, is currently making a thorough research of laws relating to the legal questions raised in these two cases.

Since an appeal must be noted within 30 days of the decision of the Circuit Court, the City Solicitor has been instructed to take appeals on both cases pending the completion of study of the cases by Ginsberg. At such time the City Council will give further consideration as to future courses of action.

The City Council also announces that the firms of Nanna and Grant Hyattsville, has been retained to represent the City before the District Council on zoning matters. The first zoning case to be handled by this firm will be the commercial zoning application for Parcel 8 at the intersection of Kenilworth Avenue and Crescent Road, which is scheduled for public hearing on October 12. Former Juvenile Court Judge Emmett Nanna was a member of one of the first Greenbelt families.

The City has also employed Malcolm H. Dill, City Planning Consultant, of Lutherville, Maryland, to appear on behalf of the City as an expert witness on zoning matters. Dill has served in this capacity recently for both the cities of College Park and Bowie and the University of Maryland.

Art Guild Fall Program

The Greenbelt Art Guild is initiating its fall program Wednesday, October 5, with a showing of two films, covering the works of selected painters. The Guild will meet in the Hospitality room of G. H. I. for this meeting, which will start promptly at 8 p.m.

A short business meeting will be held between the two films, at which time plans for classes and other activities will be discussed. All those interested in art activities are cordially invited.

Greenbelt Schools are Getting Bigger, Better, More Crowded

by Elaine Skolnik

With the addition of the Springhill Lake School to the Greenbelt scene, public elementary school enrollment (including kindergartens) totals about 1,210, some 22% over last year's figures. An upward trend is also present in both Greenbelt Junior High and High Point Senior High schools, as the building boom in this area continues.

Elementary Schools

North End's student body numbers 345 (including morning and afternoon kindergarteners). With the shift of Boxwood and Lakeside North students to the Springhill Lake School, scheduled to open in early November, no need existed this school season for "little red school houses" (portables). The 360-pupil capacity school, headed by Mrs. Helene Poland, has a staff of 10 grade teachers, 2 kindergarten teachers, and part-time physical education, music, French and speech teachers.

Center school, with a student capacity of 390, reports an enrollment of 416 (including morning and afternoon kindergarteners). The staff of 19 includes grade and kindergarten teachers, full-time physical education and music teachers, and part-time speech, reading, and French teachers. Until the Springhill Lake School opens, and the gymnasium is once more available, youngsters have their physical education activities outdoors. Charlestowne Village students are now assigned permanently to Center School.

Center School, with a student E. Ellis, told the News Review that both Center and Springhill Lake Schools are running on a smooth full-time schedule. With three SHL classes in session in the gymnasium, 4 in little red school houses on Center School grounds, three in the Youth Center, and one in the Municipal Building, "there has been no crossing of classrooms and the cafeteria is now operating well." Ellis expressed high praise for Mrs. Ethel Golden, SHL principal, and her fine staff for performing an excellent job under unusual circumstances, and for the city of Greenbelt which "deserves much credit for offering facilities for classroom use."

Mrs. Golden reports approximately 352 elementary grade students enrolled in the Springhill Lake School. Kindergarteners, totaling 97, are attending classes at the Berwyn Heights Presbyterian Church.

St. Hugh's School (grades 1 through 8) has a total enrollment of 390 students. This is a 3% decrease from last year's figures of 403. The staff consists of principal, Sister Colette Marie, C. S. C. and 10 teachers.

Greenbelt Junior High

Greenbelt Junior High School's enrollment is up some 3% this year. The student body, now numbering 1,000, is above the school's normal capacity of approximately 855-875 students. If the need arises, little red school houses can be accommodated on the school grounds. Included among the staff of 49, are three guidance counselors, two language teachers (French and Spanish), and three special education teachers. Principal Francis Furgang announces the addition of mechanical drawing to the curriculum and told the News Review about the exciting new language laboratory which will soon be completed. Electronic equipment and special materials have already been installed. The lab houses individual teaching stations which operate off a single panel. This set-up will enable the teacher to communicate with each student individually and listen to his recitations.

High Point

High Point Senior High opened its doors to 2,659 students, up 5% over last year. According to principal Allan T. Chotiner, this is the largest group ever to enter High Point since the school has consisted of grades 10, 11 and 12. The school, which has presently a normal student capacity of 2,100, has a staff of 127 plus two new vice principals. Ten little red school houses are being used until the new addition of 20 rooms is opened in the spring. The addition will accommodate 300 students and also house a greenhouse which will make it possible to offer horticulture to students for the first time.

Chotiner spoke of several other innovations this year, namely, an all-weather track and additional bleachers for the field. Record keeping is new to the curriculum, and driver's education will be offered after school and on Saturdays in order to meet the needs of all eligible students. Within the next few weeks, a short-hand laboratory will be opened equipped with machines that will enable a student to progress at his own rate of speed.

Chotiner said that the school, which was accredited in 1957, will be re-evaluated by the Middle States Association this year for renewal of accreditation.

Dr. C. M. Kincaid

Dr. Charles M. Kincaid, chief of swine research in USDA's Agricultural Research Service and a noted authority on cattle, swine, and sheep breeding, died suddenly on August 22, 1966, while working at his office in Beltsville, Md.

His death at the age of 63 ended 10 years of service in the USDA and a 40-year career in animal agriculture. He is survived by his wife, Virginia, and two married daughters.

Dr. Kincaid was a native of Virginia and a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where he received a B.S. in 1925 and a M.S. in 1937. He was awarded a doctorate in animal genetics from Iowa State University in 1946.

A scholarship fund is being established in his memory for the benefit of animal husbandry students at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where Dr. Kincaid studied and spent 15 years in research. Those interested in further details regarding the C. M. Kincaid Scholarship Fund should contact Mr. Jack C. Taylor, 125 Greenhill Road, Greenbelt, Md. 20770.

Center School PTA

Greenbelt Center School P. T. A. will hold its first meeting of the year on Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 8 p.m. in the Center School auditorium. In addition to the introduction of new teachers, Mr. Ellis, the principal, will provide parents with an opportunity to go back to school with short class sessions with the teachers. All parents are urged to attend.

Travel Club Schedules Monticello - Skyline Tour

On Saturday, Oct. 15, the Greenbelt Travel Club is sponsoring its third annual Sky Line Drive Tour. This year's tour will feature Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, in Charlottesville, Virginia. As with other tours to Sky Line Drive, we will make a two hour stop at Luray Caverns. For those who do not wish to take the Luray Cavern Tour, there are alternate attractions.

The bus will depart from the west parking lot near Suburban Trust Company at 8:30 a.m. We will be at Monticello from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Scheduled arrival time back in Greenbelt is 10 p.m. As with our other trips, the bus will make one complete trip around the main streets of Greenbelt to let passengers off near their courts.

For further information and literature, contact Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association.

Fall Foliage Excursions

Autumn Glory Train excursions to the mountains of Western Maryland will be operated by the C&O and B&O railroads on two Sundays next month, October 2 and 9.

Tickets are now available for these day-long trips, which originate in Baltimore and make stops to pick up Washington area passengers at Laurel and Silver Spring, Md.

Thanks

To the Editor:
We wish to thank the people of Greenbelt for their kindness during our recent bereavement.

GHI DEFICIT REACHES $42,000 DURING FIRST HALF OF 1966

By AL SKOLNIK

Rising fuel oil prices, payroll costs, taxes and stepped up contract maintenance work contributed to a deficit in Greenbelt Homes, Inc. operations for the first six months of 1966. The excess of expenses over receipts amounted to $42,000, according to the financial statement prepared by GHI comptroller Don W. McGinn.

While deficits are generally anticipated for the first six months because of seasonal heating costs, last year's deficit at this time was only $4,000.

Part of this year's deficit was anticipated at the time the budget was prepared when $20,000 was allocated from contingency reserves to supplement the budget.

Some of the additional expenditures this year represented merely a speed-up of operations that will level off toward the end of the year. This is especially so in the maintenance program where an accelerated contract work program led to expenditures of $15,900 more this year than last.

Other elements leading to higher maintenance costs were increased payroll costs and the expanded trim paint program. These increases, however, were offset, to some extent, by reductions resulting from the contracting waterline replacement and reroofing programs.

Heating costs for the first six months of 1966 were $12,400 over amounts expended last year. While consumption of fuel oil was less, the hike in fuel prices more than made up the difference.

Most other expenditure items differed little from the amounts expended last year or shown in this year's budget. Real estate taxes were an exception as the amounts charged to the first six months of 1966 amounted to $127,200, compared with $117,600 last year. This item is not strictly comparable because of the timing of the increased taxes resulting from reassessment.

Included as new expenditure items were $1,000 for the school site legal case and $1,000 for a topographical survey.

The income of the corporation from monthly charges was up some $8,000 from last year as a result of the hike in charges. This was offset to some extent by a drop in other receipts and the fact that dividends from Greenbelt Development Corporation (operator of the apartments) have not yet been recorded.

BOYS CLUB NEWS

Quarterback Tommy Hyland led his tough Greenbelt offense to a 20 to 0 victory over Landover Hills Boys Club in their first League game Sunday. Halfback Don Nicholson scored on a 55 yd. run on the first play from scrimmage. Fullback Hugh Cottingham bulled his way into the end zone for two more Greenbelt T.D.'s.

Defensively, Greenbelt kept Landover from scoring with interceptions by Linebackers Don DeBethizy and Norman Moran and defensive tackle Guy Robertson.

Branch-Fuston

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Branch of 13H Ridge Road, announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to John Thomas Fuston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Raymond Fuston of Paris, Texas. The wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 7:30 in the Greenbelt Community Church. The Rev. Kenneth Wyatt officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a beige suit with matching accessories and carried a cascade of lily of the valley on a prayer book centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. John Harmon Chappel, of Silver Spring, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Frank Bequette was best man.

Raymond Finley sang, accompanied by Mrs. Jasper Morris, Jr., on the organ. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. Kenneth Winston, of Raleigh, N. C., aunts of the bride, helped serve at the bridal table. After a wedding trip to Blackwater Falls Lodge, West Virginia, the couple will reside at 4-G Southway Road in Greenbelt.

J.C.C. Extension Program

Registration will take place on October 2, 1966 at 2 p.m. for the Prince Georges County Extension Program of the Jewish Community Center of Greater Washington at the JCC, Ridge and Westway Rds. The groups are open to children 7-13 years of age. Clubs will begin immediately after registration. For further information call DU 7-6162.
