VANDALISM, PROBLEMS OF YOUTH DOMINATE COUNCIL DISCUSSION

by Mary Smith

The need for closer supervision of the youth of the city, especially the teenage boys, was a major theme of Monday night's City Council meeting. The problems of vandalism and aggressive behavior at the Center were discussed, also the possibility of increasing the use of the Youth Center and of employing additional help there in the evenings, so as to provide permanence and continuity of direction.

Debate was deferred until February 6 on two controversial ordinances relating to the holding of meetings and parades, and also on a new alternative ordinance which is now being drafted, providing for the reservation of public grounds for public meetings. This latest ordinance will be introduced for first reading on January 23 and will be open for discussion at its second reading on February 6. There will be no regular council meeting on January 16; one council member, Mayor Edgar Smith, will be present then for the sole purpose of opening bids which had been advertised for that date.

The general subject of vandalism and aggressive behavior in and around the Center was brought to the attention of council by Leo Ger-ton. In a prepared statement read to Council, he referred to numerous cases of vandalism over the last eight years and cited two cases of aggression. One was a knife threat against a store employee, and the other involved assault and battery on a 70-year-old man. He asserted that there is a "hard-core clique of juveniles who are repeatedly responsible for the disorder in the Center."

He suggested that the Mall and Center need better lighting and that more use be made of policemen on foot patrol at the hours when the teenagers congregate there. He proposed the establishment of a citizens' committee to study the problem and then propose curfew regulations. He also requested an ordinance holding the parents of repeated youth offenders liable for the conduct of their children.

City Manager, James Giese, asked to comment, said, "We suffer continual vandalism in the Center, and also in other areas." He mentioned repeated breaking of lights on the pathway from St. Hugh's to the Youth Center and said that an expensive, supposedly "vandalproof," light at the ballfield was broken within four days of its installation. Even though this year's budget allowed for an extra foot patrolman at the Center, in actual practice the position was vacant for some time due to resignations from the police force. Now that there is a full complement of police, the new man is still in training; when trained he will be used at the Center, and also at Springhill Lake and Beltway Plaza.

Henry Thurston, a city employee, spoke of the large amounts of broken glass from bottles that he has to sweep up every morning at 4 a.m., even though waste baskets are provided.

Councilman Richard Pilski stated that "this vandalism has always been a chronic problem" and asked if the police are keeping records on the chronic offenders.

As for the lighting of the Center, an estimate of $2,000 by Pepco had been deleted from last year's budget, Giese said. The city had thought they could do the job better and cheaper.

Mayor Smith noted that bicycle riding still continues in the Center, though it is prohibited. He asked the city manager to place vandalism on the next agenda and also request a police report on the subject.

Youth Center

Charles Collins, speaking for the Recreation Advisory Board, asked that the city hire a fulltime Assistant Director of Recreation so that "there may be a greater continuity of operations, conservation of equipment and facilities, and professional supervision that is so badly needed." The present Director of Recreation normally works daytime hours, and the evening use of the Youth Center is supervised by part-time employees, mostly college students. Collins said "there is need for a professionally trained person who is there every night—continuity works best."

Councilman David Champion noted that the Youth Center is now used less than in the past and that the building and its contents have deteriorated more than they should after five or six years of use.

Councilman Bill Hoff thought that better programming for teenagers at the Youth Center might keep them out of mischief on the Mall and that the two problems were therefore inter-related. He agreed with the need for more professional help: "Teenage boys need uniform discipline from a person they can respect. I would like to see full time help in the next budget."

Towing of Vehicles

At the request of Councilman Pilski, the city manager was asked to prepare an ordinance regulating the impounding, towing and storage of disabled vehicles on the streets of the city so that the owners of such vehicles will not be subjected to "unreasonable or discourteous conduct by the police or automobile service personnel — or to unnecessary or exorbitant towing or storage charges or unauthorized tampering with or repairs to their automobiles."

Snow Removal

The Council went on record as commending the city employees for their excellent work of snow removal, especially in the Christmas weekend. Some employees worked continuously for 30 hours, ending at 3 a.m. on Christmas morning. Council voted double pay for such overtime work.

Other Business

Passed at first reading were (1) a resolution to transfer funds within departments of the budget (this is an adjustment of city funds at the midway point of the fiscal year) and (2) an amendment to Ordinance No. 375, to provide for parking restrictions on the west side of Greenhill Rd. between Greentree Pl. and Crescent Rd.

Resolutions were passed expressing sympathy to the families of two Greenbelt residents who were killed in action in Vietnam—Private Richard A. Skinner and Staff Sergeant Brian Paris.

A letter was read from a Carrollton resident, stating his appreciation for the helpful assistance of Officer Ralph Bennett when his car broke down on the overpass bridge.

Alan Lenchek asked Council to convey the thanks of the city to the Fire Department for their excellent program and film shown at the annual Christmas tree burning.

The next regular meeting of City Council has been postponed to January 23.

Hearing On Swim Pool Rescheduled Jan. 20

by Elaine Skolnik

The Prince Georges County Commissioners have set a new date - Friday, Jan. 20 - for the hearing of the special exception for a swimming pool and bathhouse on the 25-acre tract being developed as the University Square Apartments by the Lerner Development Company. The hearing, originally scheduled for Nov. 18, had been postponed by the commissioners for 90 days (to February 17, 1967) after the city of Greenbelt requested a postponement because it has a suit pending in Maryland's highest court. This suit objects to the development of the 50-acre Charlestowne tract including the University Square Apartments, as a violation of covenants.

According to the office of the county commissioners, the application on December 16 requested and was granted an earlier hearing date. Russell Shipley, attorney for the Lerner Company, asked that the case be advanced one month, arguing that the city's appeal case would have no connection with the construction of a swimming pool. He stated that unless work were started soon the pool would not be completed in time for the swimming season.

Notification of the change in date was received by the city on Monday, January 9.

City council, at its Nov. 7 meeting, unanimously voted to request a delay with the stipulation that if this delay were not granted, council could recommend denial for a pool at the suggested site — west of Lakeside Drive extended and east of Lakecrest Drive bordering on the property of residents of Pinecrest Court.

Lakecrest homeowners have also protested the proposed location of a swimming pool and bathhouse on the tract, claiming that they were promised when they bought their homes that this land would remain as a buffer zone.

The hearing on Jan. 20 will take place at 1:30 p.m. in the County Service Building in Hyattsville.

The council was advised last Monday that the court proceedings in its appeal case have been transferred to the Court of Appeals following a denial by Circuit Court Judge Roscoe Parker on December 21 of a motion requesting the city to file a supersedeas bond. Under this decision, it will not be necessary for the city to file any kind of bond to protect the defendants (Charles Bresler and associates) from any damages suffered from the City's taking an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

Urgency of Perimeter Road Stressed at Council Meeting

by Al Skolnik

Seeking ways of expediting the securing of a perimeter road for Greenbelt, the city council on Monday, January 9, passed unanimously a motion by Mayor Edgar Smith that the matter be referred to the city's planning consultant, Malcolm H. Dill. The council further instructed the city manager to arrange a meeting with the county school board to determine the status of the perimeter road and associated problems.

Such a perimeter road has been termed an "absolute necessity" by the city's Advisory Planning Board for the handling of the additional traffic that would be generated by a three-school complex on parcel 2 - the land between Ridge Road and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. It is feared that the development of parcels 1 and 2 without a perimeter road would severely overburden Greenbelt's existing narrow two-lane streets.

Both the Master Plans of the city and MNCPPC call for a perimeter road, which in its roughest form, would start at Greenbelt Road near Beltway Plaza, go through Springhill Lake, parallel the city's northern boundary, cut through parcels 1 and 2, then cross the Baltimore-Washington Parkway to emerge at Glenn Dale Road near NASA.

Parcel 2 sits astride the proposed route of the perimeter road. Since last spring, MNCPPC has tried to secure school board approval of a plat which calls for the location of a perimeter road through parcel 2. The one plat submitted by the school board last July had no provisions for a perimeter road, and the city in October notified MNCPPC that such a plat was unacceptable.

Giese Reports

City manager James K. Giese told council that he understands there is some difficulty in locating the perimeter road with three schools on parcel 2. The city's APB had suggested that the perimeter road go through the city land fill and traverse the eastern portion of the parcel, but Giese understands that this would put the perimeter road in the middle of the proposed senior high school building.

According to Giese, the school board has indicated informally some preference for placing the perimeter road along the western border of parcel 2, because this route would involve the least amount of school board property. Greenbelt Homes, Inc. is the neighboring property owner who would be affected by this western route.

Councilmen Discuss

Councilman Francis White, who initiated the discussion, said that the perimeter road involves many problems. Leaving aside the matter of costs, he said, an immediate problem is that of reserving all the necessary rights-of-way from the various property owners involved before they begin development. This, in turn, involves agreement as to the route the perimeter road should take, and he felt that council should take the initiative in securing an agreement.

It was White's view that with rights-of-way reserved for the entire perimeter road, construction could proceed on a piecemeal basis with the first step being that part of the perimeter road needed to service the three-school complex - presumably a road going south from the school property.

Councilman Bill Hoff agreed that it was incumbent upon council to seek remedies. He pointed out that the new senior high school will have an eventual capacity of 2,400 students of whom perhaps only 450 would be Greenbelters within walking distance of the school. The remainder would be bused in, he said, creating serious traffic problems for the existing roadway system.

Members of the audience expressed approval of the council action, stressing that the first step was to ascertain just what the school board had in mind with respect to the perimeter road.

RESIDENT'S SUIT IN ACTIVE STAGE

The suit filed by a group of Lakecrest residents last July against Charles Bresler and associates has now entered the active stage of discovery. The suit seeks injunctive relief against the construction of high-rise apartments and high-density development on the Charlestowne Village tract.

During the stage of discovery, all parties make use of certain legal techniques to secure evidence in the other party's possession. Depositions, interrogatories, motions for documents, etc., are employed to obtain basic facts and matters pertinent to the case itself. This is part of the pre-trial procedure to enable the parties to marshal necessary facts and documents for use during the trial.

The suit charges that the residents were induced to purchase their homes on the promises of Bresler and his associates (Fleur Bresler, Abraham Chasanow, and Charles Burton Builders, Inc.) that the adjacent property (the Charlestowne tract) would be developed according to the covenants and agreements that Bresler had signed with the city. These promises, which called for the property to remain as parkland and to be developed at a rate of seven units per acre, have now been broken, the suit says.

The suit asks the court to issue an injunction enjoining further construction on the Charlestowne tract, except in accordance with the promise of the developers.

The four-count suit, filed by attorney Karl G. Feissner, also asks for monetary damages. In addition, a judgment is asked against the Home Indemnity Company which, the suit says, is responsible for the conduct of Chasanow as a licensed broker.

City Notes

At their last meeting, the board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc., agreed to the proposal of the city council after recommendation by the Advisory Board, to allow space from the west parking lot, west of the bank, to be sold for construction of a new post office building.

The WSSC announced last week the letting of a contract to Andear Corp., Beltsville, in the amount of $15,067 to construct water mains, sewers, and sewer house connections in Westway and Lakeside Drive (University Square development) and right-of-way, Charles-towne Village Apartments.

The Public Works Dept. began this week to repair a section of pavement on Southway at the WMA bus stop near the intersection with Crescent Rd. Because of the heavy wear at that spot, they laid a concrete base. This will receive a temporary patch, to be replaced with a permanent patch late in the spring when weather permits.

Last week the city crew performed various odd jobs—some snow removal (hand shoveling at various walkways), adjustments to the heating system at the Municipal Building, repair of fans at the Youth Center, and replacement of lights and fixtures throughout the city. Pepco also replaced all pathway lights between St. Hugh's and the Youth Center on Friday, Jan. 5; by the next day all but three had been broken.

Lastner Gets Aid Coordinator Post

by David Stern

Frank Lastner, 19-P Ridge, veteran Greenbelt politician and the only incumbent county commissioner not to run for re-election last November, is starting work in a new capacity. Effective January 2, Lastner said, he fills the newly created post of Federal Aid Coordinator for Prince Georges County.

The $12,500 position is the latest in the long record of a man who, it has been said, has served longer in local elected office than anyone else in Maryland. Lastner served 12 years on the board of county commissioners and held its chairmanship in the years 1963-4. He also served many years on Greenbelt's city council, with 3 terms as mayor, over a decade on the GHI board, and is past president (5 years) of Greenbelt Consumer Services (Co-op), of the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments and of the Greenbelt Democratic Club.

Last winter Lastner suffered a heart attack, but he has fully recovered from it. He was the first of the incumbent commissioners to file for renomination on the Democratic ticket last June, but lacking the support of any major faction in the primary campaign he withdrew his candidacy shortly before the deadline.

As federal aid coordinator, Lastner will endeavor to identify and utilize all federal aid programs from which Prince Georges County can benefit. This includes aid to education, parkland acquisition, urban renewal, local road construction and many others - about 170 possible programs, in Lastner's estimate. He will also coordinate state aid and maintain contact with the federal government concerning those of its activities affecting the county. The post does not, however, provide municipalities, such as Greenbelt, with any service in coordinating their aid except in an advisory capacity. Lastner's first job, he said, will be the organization of the new department.

The post is a new one, and one of its proponents, more than a year ago, was Lastner himself, on the basis of his experiences with the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments. Some states, such as New Jersey, have already established posts of this kind, and Richard Townsend, past executive secretary to Sen. Daniel Brewster, holds such a position, part time, for Maryland. The city of Baltimore also maintains an office of somewhat similar character. To Lastner's knowledge, however, this is the first time that a county has appointed a federal aid coordinator of its own.

Volunteers Needed

To the Editor:

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Dept. and Rescue Squad is appealing for additional volunteers to assist us in what we consider a worthwhile service to our community and our fellowmen.

As you know, the bulk of our manpower is composed of volunteers. (The County pays for 2 men during daylight hours, Monday to Friday.) Because of a lack of volunteers during the day, we have had to curtail some of our services sharply. (i.e. routine transportation to hospitals).

Volunteers receive a FREE liberal education in firefighting, first-aid and rescue techniques. In addition they receive the added incentive of a feeling of well-being that follows a job "well done". In other words... lots of praise... no money.

If YOU are interested in joining the Dept., come on down to the Firehouse and talk with one of our officers.

Vic Fisher

Thanks to City Crew

To the Editor:

On behalf of the residents of Hedgewood Drive, I wish to thank Mr. Attick and his crew who did such a wonderful job of planting the flowering cherry trees along our street.

The cooperation of the City Manager's Office in providing the planting service is also appreciated.

The planting and staking of the trees was done professionally and with obvious concern for our investment. We are sure that other residents of Greenbelt appreciate your efforts to beautify the community.

May each of you flourish in '67.

Second Concert Jan. 19

The Greenbelt Symphony Society wishes to remind subscribers and prospective subscribers that the second concert of the current season will be held on Thursday, Jan. 19, at 8:15 p.m. in the Greenbelt Junior High School Auditorium. An interesting feature for concertgoers will be the appearance of the orchestra's associate conductor, Elyakum Shapira. Discovered in Israel by Leonard Bernstein, Mr. Shapira has had a brilliant career as associate and guest conductor with numerous American orchestras, including the N. Y. Philharmonic, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Symphony orchestras.

Programmed for January 19 are: Wagner, Tannhauser Overture and Bacchanale; Mendelssohn, Piano concerto no. 1 in G minor, and Shostakovich, Symphony no. 5. The Mendelssohn concerto will feature pianist Daniel Abrams.

Season subscriptions are still available for the remaining three concerts at the very reasonable rate of $7.50 for adults and $3.75 for students. Contact Mrs. Gordon Allen at 474-4963 or mail your check, with name, address and phone no. to P.O. Box 344, Greenbelt, Md. 20770.

Girl Scout Troop No. 95

Girl Scout Troop #95 has been very active since October. There was a Halloween party and a bus trip to the Ontario Theater to see "Sound of Music". The girls composed Christmas cards and mailed them to the soldiers in Viet-Nam. They created Christmas candles for their parents out of paraffin, crayons and milk cartons, and exchanged presents at a holiday party. Girl Scout calendars were sold, and a profit of $9.00 was added to the treasury.

Mrs. Marlene Cohen, 7962 Lakecrest is the leader with Mrs. Shirley Clute, 114 Lynbrook, assistant leader. Both women formerly led troop 2252, but when lack of leadership forced troop #95 to disband, the clubs were combined. A total of 37 girls are participating - the only junior (fourth, fifth and sixth grades) girl scout troop in Greenbelt. Meetings are held every Wednesday from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at the Mowatt Methodist Church. There is a large waiting list.

Proposals for Redrawing Precinct Lines Solicited

The Prince George's County Board of Election Supervisors are planning to redraw precinct lines throughout the County and establish new polling places where such changes are needed, according to an announcement made this week by Election Board Chairman Gerard F. Devlin.

Civic and political groups and interested citizens are strongly urged to submit proposals and suggestions in writing to the Election Office at the Courthouse, Upper Marlboro, before February 15.

"Under State law, polling places may not be changed within 45 days of an election and for this reason we are taking action now in preparation for the election of delegates to the State Constitutional Convention, which is expected to be held this spring. We are interested in the maximum convenience for all of our voters, and every suggestion will be considered by the Board," Devlin said.

V.A. Income Questionnaire

Income questionnaires, which determine the amount of pension a veteran or his dependents receive from the Veterans Administration, were included with November payments received by the pensioner on or about December 1.

Pension recipients are required to return the questionnaire before Jan. 31, 1967, in order that their pensions may be continued, J. H. Hubbell, Manager of the Veterans' Benefits Office, 2033 M Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20421 said today.

The VA asks that the forms be returned as soon as possible and that care be taken to see that the card does not become folded or mutilated.
