Select Committees Formed; New Painting Policy Urged

by Sid Kastner

In their last regular meeting before the annual elections last Thursday evening, much time was devoted by the GHI board of directors to a relatively small number of items, mostly involving committee reports. A new house painting policy was proposed by a subcommittee of the Maintenance, Standards and Improvement committee, and the general make-up of the recently-formed Select Committee was detailed by chairman Joseph Vella. The Select Committee has the interesting and vital task of charting the future course of the corporation.

Vella reported that if the necessary personnel and funds were available and if meetings could be held through the summer months, it would be feasible for the Select Committee to operate in the form of four subcommittees. Each of these subcommittees should be staffed by not less than three people, and will have the following titles and functions (presently slated personnel are listed in parentheses):

1. Community - dealing with matters such as area transportation, civic liaison, zoning, etc. (Choper, Krupain, Shinderman).
2. Structures and Financing - dealing with building programs, financing and amortization, corporation expansion and stability (Lange, Beck, O'Reilly).
3. Membership - studying membership representation, enforcement policies and procedures, demographic membership profile (Lennhoff, White, Polaschik).
4. Management Projects - preparation of a three-dimensional planning model, internal communications, etc.

Vella pointed out that the last-named subcommittee has no personnel as yet, and he urged that qualified people be found to fill its posts. Noting he was serving temporarily as its sole member, he quipped "I feel lonely!"

New Painting Policy

Mr. Cutright, chairman of a paint subcommittee, displayed wooden models of frame homes and masonry homes with proposed new paint schemes on them. The subcommittee is recommending a liberalized policy under which any two adjacent frame homes could have an approved color, and any single masonry homes could have its own color. He explained that each frame home is too narrow to have its own individual color; a "checkerboard" effect would result. Stating that some of the masonry and cinderblock homes are now in a "deplorable" condition, he urged the proposed plan be tried because "it stymies initiative if a resident has to get everybody in his row to agree on a color." In an accompanying written report, the subcommittee recommended that the board allocate paint requests to a special committee, and also that management write letters to individual members suggesting they paint.

The board members showed much interest in the effective display. Director James Smith felt "there's real merit in beginning to make such deviations," and put forth a modification of his own in which several color schemes would be available for more than two houses at a time. Director John

O'Reilly said he would be "interested in the reaction of the membership," and moved to have a display of the models at the annual meeting; this motion was immediately passed. As a contrast to wariness shown by some of the board members, Director Katherine Keene dealt with what she called the "imaginary fears" that restricted GHI's paint policy. She stated that she didn't believe any pastel colors could really clash, and expressed the belief that "many members don't paint because they can't get the right color - I'm one."

In general, the board was receptive to this presentation of the sub-

Greenbelt Supports New Constitution By Large Majority

By a more than 4 to 1 ratio, Greenbelt voters gave massive support to the new constitution at the Tuesday referendum. The vote in favor was 2,305; against 539.

All three polling places in Greenbelt showed overwhelming majorities, with the highest majority registered at Springhill Lake. All told 81.0 percent of the 2,843 voters were in favor of the new charter.

The turn-out surprised most observers as almost 60 percent of the registered voters went to the polls.

The vote at the different Greenbelt polling places follows:

Center School	776	197
Baptist Church	623	186
Springhill Lake	906	156

MARCHERS' ARRIVAL DATE IN GREENBELT DELAYED

Despite rumors to the contrary, there will be "positively no planned use of facilities outside of streets" during the two-day period when members of the Poor People's March will visit Greenbelt. This was the statement issued this week by City Manager James K. Giese. The streets will be used for busing the marchers into and out of town, and possibly for travel by foot between St. Hugh's Church and the Community Church, where the marchers will be welcomed and fed by members of the two congregations.

The reference to rumors came about because a number of stories have reached the city office, Giese noted, such as that marchers would be camping at the Lake Park, at the Greenbelt Regional Park, or even at the Agricultural Research Station in Beltsville. None of these rumors contains any element of truth, Giese said. All activities concerning feeding, registration, and orientation of the marchers will be conducted exclusively at the two churches. From Greenbelt they will proceed by bus directly to Washington, where housing will be provided. Each group of marchers is expected to remain in Greenbelt for about three hours.

In preparation for any contingencies caused by the arrival of the marchers, Giese and Police Chief Lane have been in close contact for several weeks with representatives of the participating churches and with the Rev. Larry A. Brantley of St. Paul United Church of Christ, Lanham, who is coordinator for the local hospitality centers. They have also met with representatives of the various police jurisdictions through which the marchers will travel. As far as Greenbelt is concerned, Giese emphasized, "we are not expecting any problems that cannot be taken care of locally."

Preparations for press coverage of the Greenbelt phase of the March have been arranged by the city in collaboration with the Lions Club, who have offered the use of the Athletic Club House, the small building behind St. Hugh's School, as a press headquarters. Telephones and tables have been installed there for an undetermined number of press representatives. Reporters, and possibly cameramen, from the metropolitan area and from the county are expected, as well as a contingent of reporters who will be traveling with the marchers. Del Malkie, who heads the Public Relations office for Prince Georges County, will be in charge of the press office.

As of Tuesday, Giese had not yet received a firm arrival date for the marchers. They are expected possibly as early as Thursday, and the whole operation is expected to be completed by Saturday. About 1000 marchers, all from Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, are expected.

Because of the arrival of the marchers, the opening date for the carnival sponsored by the Golden Age Club has been set back to Friday, May 17. Since both operations place an extra load on the police department, it was felt advisable not to schedule the two simultaneously.

1968-69 CITY BUDGET UP 13% PROPERTY TAX RATE THE SAME

by Al Skolnik

The 1968-69 municipal budget of $785,000 officially presented to city council last week, represents a 13 percent increase in expenditures over fiscal-year 1967-68 appropriations. Despite this increase, no hike in the current property tax rate of $0.87 per $100 assessed valuation is anticipated. Helping to produce the $88,000 needed to balance the budget will be increased financial aid from the State of about $36,000, an anticipated surplus of $10,200 from the current year's budget, and an increase of $26,000 from the real and personal property tax. The last item is attributable to an anticipated increase of $3 million in the assessable tax base.

An additional source of income is a proposed increase in service charges for waste collection. The basic residential rate for three times a week service would be increased from $2 a month to $2.50. Other charges would be increased proportionately. The last revision took place four years ago.

City manager James Giese explained that the increase is needed to pay for rising labor and disposal costs. A recent State order has prohibited open burning, so that debris must be buried, which is more costly. Giese said that the new rates still compare most favorably with those charged by other jurisdictions.

A public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for May 29. Council has also set budget meetings for May 21 to consider the police and fire department accounts; May 22-23, the recreation program; and May 27-28, the public works department.

Distribution of Increase

Excluding the city's self-supporting activities, such as waste collection, swimming pool, and other recreational activities, expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969, are estimated to exceed current expenditures by some $70,000.

The major factors contributing to the $70,000 increase are expanded police services ($17,750), increased expenditures for roadways and public works ($5,250), expanded recreation services, including capital outlay ($18,900), and salary adjustment ($19,000).

Additional funds for the police department are proposed for one additional officer, a records clerk, and for the purchase of a portable radar set, rental fees for a computer terminal which would tie the city into a metropolitan area police records system, and various other minor equipment. Giese stated that police department activities are directly related to the growth in city population, which is expected to increase 8 percent in the coming year. About 28 percent of the proposed $166,500 police department budget will be paid for through State aid.

New street construction programs include the construction of curbs and gutters on Crescent Road from Southway to Westway

MOTEL SITE PLANS TO BE PRESENTED

As a result of last Monday's meeting between city and Springhill Lake representatives, the latter at the May 20 council meeting will make a formal presentation of site plans for the development of 6.8 acres for a motel-convention center. The architect, Jack Cohen, is proposing that the plans include a gas station with rigid architectural controls.

and Lakeside Drive and construction of a new sidewalk in front of Center School, all in preparation for the opening of the new library. Also proposed are the reconstruction of Lakecrest Circle to provide a safer entrance to the Legton Drive and the resurfacing of the Youth Center driveway. Additional street lights are proposed for the north side of Centerway Road at the Mall.

The budget calls for a new $2,000 beautification program for landscaping entrances to the city, with the hope that Federal matching funds can be obtained. Funds are provided for the completion of all work planned for the construction of the new municipal service building, including paving and fencing the parking area, and for providing furnishings ($11,500).

About $5,500 is asked for continuing the replacement of deteriora-

..... City Notes

A full schedule of band concerts has been lined up for the summer by the Recreation Dept. at the band shell in the Lake Park. Among the 14 bands and singing groups who will perform there will be the Ceremonial Detachment and Soldiers of Song of the U.S. Army Field Band, which will give a concert on July 18, and the Greenbelt Concert Band, who will perform at the Fourth of July festivities.

pare earth for seeding behind the new curbs and gutters.
The contract for construction of the new Municipal Services Building was executed last week and notice to proceed with construction was given. No starting date for construction has yet been set, but it is assumed that supplies are being ordered.

A refreshments concession stand has now been opened at the Youth Center. It went into full operation last week in the caged-off area on the side of the gymnasium. Previously the operation of such a concession had been impossible because there were no facilities for storage of food supplies and equipment. The Public Works Dept. screened off the area some time ago at the request of the Recreation Dept.

Mishkan Torah Starts Social Action Group

Following the initiative of Rabbi Maurice Weisenberg, the congregation of Mishkan Torah (Jewish Community Center) set up last month a Social Action Committee, to study the problems of poverty and racial tension, inform the membership about such problems and support actions by which members can contribute towards their solution.

Flood lights at Braden Field were repaired by an outside contractor. Since the poles stand so high, the city crew is unable to service the lights.

The committee has met three times so far, and a fourth meeting (open to those interested) is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Monday, May 20, at the Mishkan Torah building at Ridge and Westway. At the second meeting, the committee heard a representative of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference describe the aims and ideas of the Poor People's March, while at the third one various activities were organized, such as volunteers to help the marchers during their reception at the Greenbelt Community Church. The committee received the support of the Board of Mishkan Torah at its monthly meeting May 14.

The Public Works Dept. installed a new gate at the entrance to the landfill site in order to keep out unauthorized vehicles. They also completed installation of the drain from the swimming pool north of the handball court. Removal of dirt from behind the fire house to the landfill operation behind the dam at the lake has been continuing, but the supply of dirt for this use is now almost exhausted. The city plans to advertise this week for bids for construction of an additional parking lot behind the fire station.

The Park crew has been almost entirely occupied with grass cutting, although they continue to pre-ting gutter with concrete curbs. Proposed for purchase are such major new items of equipment as a backhoe attachment for a front end loader $(5,000) and a chipper machine for grinding up tree branches $(3,500).

The budget proposes an additional man for the parks crew, bringing the size of that crew to four and bringing the total number of men in the public works crews to 24. Increased landscaping supplies and the construction of silt settling basins at the lake are two of the major items of the parks and playgrounds budget.

About $4,600 is proposed for the improvement of the fire department building by air conditioning the offices and lounge and for the improvement of traffic circulation by providing a driveway along the west side of the building.

Recreation Budget
The recreation budget features $28,000 for personnel (up $4,500 from the current year) and new equipment for the Youth Center, such as more shoe skates, another judo mat, fiberglass banches, and ceramics storage shelving. Contributions to the Greenbelt Concert Band, Greenbelt Little League, and Greenbelt Boys' Club are proposed at the same level as last year and, in addition, contributions are proposed for the Greenbelt Aquatic Booster Club ($300) and Greenbelt Youth Council ($600).

An across-the-Board increase for all classified employees averaging 5 1/2 percent is recommended to meet increases in the cost of living and bring the Greenbelt pay plan more closely in line with that of the Federal government.

The budget sets aside $38,200 (slightly less than the current year) to service the municipal dept. Of this, $28,235 represents principal payments and $9,745 interest payments on bond issues for construction of public buildings and acquisition of parkland and a municipal service building site. At the end of the fiscal year 1969, the outstanding municipal indebtedness will be about $312,000.

Funds are also continued to meet legal expenses resulting from law suits and zoning hearings which may occur during the year as the result of the city's efforts to control undesirable development. A reserve for contingencies of $11,000 is proposed.

committee, and on a motion by Shinderman directed management and the subcommittee to confer further on the report.

A recent corporation restriction on hedges, limiting their height to four feet, was the target of a protest by member Matthew Amberg. He felt that a member should be permitted to have a hedge of his own choosing, as long as safety was provided for. Vella agreed with this, but said there was a responsibility involved in public walks; he suggested high hedges could be allowed if moved back far enough so that when burdened they would not hang down over a walk. Director Simonson also felt "we should have the minimum restriction necessary." The question was remanded to the Landscape Committee

Manager Breashears reported that the four converted units at 30 Ridge Road have been sold, or are in the process of being sold. Thomas White of the Audit Committee, believing the prices to be too low, stated, "There was a serious error in the way these houses were sold, because the price wasn't fair market value." He felt that the cost of renovation had been set too low, in view of the good job done by the staff. Several of the directors defended the sale price, Shinderman saying that it was considered at length by the ad hoc committee together with an independent appraisal.

Miss Keene recommended that when a future building project comes up, there should be more consultation of management with the Larger Homes Committee to go over construction and cost details.

During the summer the regular board meetings will be held on the second Thursday of July and August.

High Point Choir To Perform Sunday

The Concert Choir and Summit Singers of High Point High School will sing a concert of sacred music at The Washington Cathedral on Sunday, May 19, at 3:30 p.m.

The program will include two Renaissance Motets by Palestrina and two Motets for double chorus and Brass by Samuel Scheidt and J. C. Bach. The Summit Singers will sing Johaun Paschelhel's setting of Magnificat, accompanied by harpsichord and cello.

The choir will sing their annual spring concert, postponed from an earlier date, on the same evening, at 8:15 p.m. at the county auditorium, Northwestern Senior High School. The program will be the same with the addition of antiphonal, choral music, spirituals, and modern American music.

Both concerts are free and open to the public.

The Police Blotter

Chief Lane requests parents to remind children that it is forbidden to ride bicycles in the Center. He also asks that parents not allow children to play in the streets and cul-de-sacs but rather to use the fine play areas which are available in all sections.

The dog catcher has been kept busy rounding up animals allowed to run loose in violation of a city ordinance. Residents are reminded that all animals must be properly registered and controlled.

Two kindergarten classes received a lesson in citizenship when they toured the Greenbelt Police station.

A total of three arrests have been made in a breaking and entering case on Ridge Road. Involved are two male juveniles and an adult female. All property has been recovered.

A car stolen from the University of Maryland was recovered by Greenbelt Police before the owner was aware of the theft. Five juvenile suspects were arrested.

A valuable Skye terrier lost in Greenbelt by a Lanham resident was recovered by a Greenbelt police officer in the vicinity of the Parkway and returned to the very grateful owner.

THEATRE GROUP SEEKS MEMBERS

The High Point High School Alumni Association is organizing a summer theatre group, which will produce the musical comedy SWEET CHARITY this summer. The dates of the performances are Friday and Saturday, August 16 and 17. The show will be given at the County Auditorium located at Northwestern High School. People are needed in all fields of theatre: actors, singers, dancers, stage managers, musicians, set constructor, costume designers, lighting and sound technicians, and people in tickets and publicity.

To Feature Town Fair At Labor Day Festival

Preparations are underway for the revival of an old-fashioned town fair during the Labor Day weekend this fall. In addition to the variety of traditional events, the proposed program includes a pie-eating contest, a judo demonstration, a cake-baking contest, a tug of war, a pet show, a photo contest, a hobby show, and a unicycle contest. The Festival Committee is seeking additional ideas which will increase community-wide participation and enjoyment. The Festival will again include a pancake banquet, sponsored by the Lions Club; athletic games and contests; an art show, organized by the Art Guild; a talent contest; game booths, carnival rides; a rock and roll contest and a Queen contest. The traditional gala parade will be held on Labor Day under the direction of Chief John Crisman of the Greenbelt Fire Department; Martin Anderson is inviting special guests for it and Postmaster Emory Harman will be Master of Ceremonies.

The next Festival meeting will be on Tuesday, May 21, at 8 p.m. in the GHI Hospitality Room on Hamilton Place. General plans for the Festival will be discussed, ideas for additional events will be evaluated, and the adopted guidelines will be reread.

The carnival area will be separated into three parts this year. The first section will be for games, rides, and food concessions, the second will contain booths having items for sale, and the third will have educational displays and booths distributing literature. Any recognized non-profit Greenbelt organization which wishes to sponsor an activity in one of the three carnival sections should send a representative to the Tuesday meeting.

Planning for all these events is being started now to spread the work over a longer period of time. Volunteers, as individuals or through organizations, are needed for all types of work, such as organizing a baby sitter service for the four day weekend or helping with a potato sack race. The event chairman will have assistance from committees performing specialized work, such as setting up sound equipment or poster making. Anyone who is interested in working with the Festival in any way or who has suggestions for additional activities should contact one of the following persons or attend the Festival meeting: Leo Gerton, High's Dairy Store; Kathy Foster, 345-2025; Sue Lange, 474-0559.

BOYS CLUB NEWS

by Jerry W. Shafer

The Boys Club baseball program is in full swing. We have three teams hard at work now, and it looks like it will be a good year. Any boys who have not signed up as yet can do so at the Youth Center.

The anatomy of the Greenbelt Boys Club includes four kinds of bones: (1) Wish Bones, who want somebody else to do the work; (2) Jaw Bones, who talk a lot but do little else; (3) Knuckle Bones, who knock everything others try to do, and (4) Back Bones, who get behind the wheel and do the work.

We have approximately 75 boys and four men signed up for our baseball program. It is absolutely impossible for four men to give the necessary leadership and training to these boys. Anyone interested in helping in any way is asked to call Jerry Shafer at 474-1827 or Bill Jordan at 345-1469.

Fire Prevention Tip for May

Two recent brush fires in our area, one of them, a second alarm fire, had firemen, local and nearby equipment, in service for a total of six hours. It is hoped by all companies that during the time they are fighting these types of fires, that a call is not received to go to a burning home where one or more lives may be in danger. If such a call is received, time is an important factor. Firemen have to reload equipment, get out of the brush fire area or call in other companies who have a greater distance to travel to get to the scene. These are the factors that could make a big difference when saving lives.

For this reason, we are asking all residents to cooperate in preventing brush fires.

Another tip that will help your fire department immensely: check your house number. Make sure it is correct when you send out a call for help. Place the number on or near the front door. In this way, you can be sure of direct response from fire or ambulance service if either is needed.

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

The U.S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. It is presented as a public service in cooperation with the Treasury Department and The Advertising Council.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

YOU'RE A GREAT BUNCH TO WORK FOR.

The patience Washingtonians showed during the recent telephone strike proves again our customers are among the world's best, and we at C&P extend to you our sincere thanks for your understanding.

By checking telephone numbers in your local directory rather than calling Information, by using Direct Distance Dialing, and by working with our pinch-hitting operators you made our difficult job a lot easier.

We appreciate, too, the way many of our own employees pitched in to keep your telephone service operating. Their work met C&P's usual high standards of public service. But then, it always has.

Besides being a great bunch to work for, you're a great bunch to work with.
