Council Hears Proposals to Improve Municipal Recreational Programs

by Elaine Skolnik

Last week the City Council heard recommendations on the recreation budget from the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB), Youth Council, and a Springhill Lake representative. The most comprehensive recommendations came from PRAB, represented by Hugh Jascourt, chairman. PRAB recommendations included additional sums for Little League, Aquatic Club and Boy's Club, for pathways, paving materials and park maintenance, and for recreational personnel. A request was also made for such items as a comfort station at the Lake, a bus to serve recreational activities, and game-type equipment.

Art Castaldi, president of the Youth Council, saw a future need for an automotive work-shop, gymnastic equipment and a bubble-top swimming pool.

Harold Kramer, representing Springhill Lake, was chiefly concerned that the city was not providing SHL with its fair share of services.

The city manager's proposed recreation budget provided for $155,000 expenditures, of which $53,500 are self-supporting revenues. PRAB's recommendations would up the total recreation budget by approximately $23,410. Major items contributing to the $23,400 increase were $8,000 for a comfort station, $2,000 for a bus driver, $6,500 for parks and paving materials, and $3,000 for a pedestrian light crossing. Jascourt justified the increases on the basis that previous budgets have deferred long-promised recreation increases because of the priority of other items.

SHL Requests

As an example of SHL failure to get its fair share of services, Kramer noted that no city funds are being used to support SHL Little League teams. Last year SHL was a part of the Greenbelt Little League's farm system, but this season is operating separately. Council members said they would consider the matter now that it had been brought to their attention. Council expressed its desire for a better communication system with SHL and suggested that Mrs. Martha Sutton, SHL Social Director, meet with Recreation Director Daryl Lofgren to discuss recreation needs.

Kramer also suggested that instead of constructing an addition to the Youth Center, the council might consider a building at SHL to alleviate overcrowded conditions at the SHL Community House. City Manager James K. Giese pointed out that the Golden-Agers and the Youth Council had also requested separate facilities, but it was his opinion that the addition at the Youth Center would be most desirable because, "we can get the most for our dollar by maintaining consolidated facilities."

Tennis Courts

A plea was made from a member of the audience for resurfacing of the present deteriorated courts. This, he said, will afford hundreds of tennis players the opportunity of enjoying the sport until new courts are available. The city is proposing a $70,000 bond issue for 12 courts.

Bus

PRAB proposed that a thirty-six passenger bus be purchased which could be used by the senior citizens, teens, participants in sport programs and the Day Camp. PRAB estimates that there would be a minimum yearly income of $4,000 derived from the use of the bus and that the venture could easily be profit-making when viewed in terms of the life expectancy of the bus.

Parks and Playgrounds

A separate park crew was formed several months ago to attend solely to the care of parks and playgrounds. The city budget proposes, in addition, the employment of a youth for the summer months to work as an attendant at the lake-park, performing such tasks as picking up litter and cutting grass.

Pedestrian Light Crossing

Council viewed favorably the installation of a pedestrian light crossing in the vicinity of St. Hugh's to assure safe access for children living in the northwest sector of the community to the Braden Field Lake Park complex and to St. Hugh's School. Council also felt this type of traffic control would be desirable at North End and SHL elementary schools.

Duck Shelter

PRAB recommended that $200 be appropriated for a duck shelter, explaining that citizen groups have complained that it is inhumane to force the ducks to survive the winter without shelter. Kramer advised City Council that the ducks are not at all impressed with the duck shelter at SHL and do not use it. Giese suggested a fenced-in area for ducks as a possible solution.

Diabetes - Glaucoma Clinic on June 7

A Diabetes and Glaucoma Testing Clinic will be held on Friday, June 7, from 9 to 5 at the Springhill Lake Community House. The clinic will be open to all area residents to be tested for diabetes or glaucoma.

Requirements for the tests are as follows: Diabetes - 25 years of age or a history of diabetes in the family, Glaucoma - 35 years of age, a complaint, or a history of glaucoma in the family.

Several area doctors will be on standby, as required by the Prince Georges County Health Department. No appointment is necessary. For further information, call 474-4555.

Parkdale PTA Forming

A group of pom-poms have been organized, and try-outs will be held soon for majorettes and cheerleaders.

Benefit Concert to Aid Inner City Cooperators

On Friday, June 7, at 8 p.m. at Grace Methodist Church in Takoma Park, members and friends of G.C.S. will have an opportunity to demonstrate their willingness to help others help themselves. The occasion will be a benefit concert, the purpose of which is to enhance the scholarship fund to send Inner City cooperators to the Co-op Institute at Ursinus College this summer. The worthiness of this cause is balanced by the promise of a pleasant musical evening, for the N.S.A. Gleemen are contributing their talents.

Greenbelt residents may remember the Gleemen from several successful local performances. The program will consist of the "lighter sound of music," including such favorites as "Dry Bones," "Old Man Noah," and the like, to complement more musically significant Vaughan Williams numbers and minor classics.

To assist the Gleemen, two other N.S.A. groups will be called on - the Paraphernalia (a folk group) and the Dominotes (a barber shop quartet). In addition, soloists and smaller groups will offer such numbers as the hilarious sextet from "Robin Hood" received so well in Greenbelt. The musical director of the Gleemen is Frank Lewis of Greenbelt.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained from G.C.S. Delegation members, at the Supermarket, the G.C.S. office, or at the Greenbelt Credit Union.

APB to Hold Public Hearing On Changes in City's Goals

Revisions in Greenbelt's community goals that give more attention to commercial and industrial development will be the subject of a public hearing before the city's Advisory Planning Board on Thursday, June 6. The hearing starts at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Building.

According to Ed Wuermsler, APB chairman, the revisions are necessary because so many changes have taken place in the community since the existing goals were adopted by the city council in December 1963.

City Notes

Unless it rains, the swimming pool is expected to open for the Memorial Day holiday. Whether or not the new hot water showers would also be in readiness was still a question at the beginning of the week. In any case, their installation would be completed in a matter of days. New also this year will be new tables near the concession stand, additional umbrellas, and two gazebos to be set up in the lawn area. Both the maintenance staff and pool employees have been readying the pool for opening day, cleaning, repairing, and painting. A few sections of concrete deck, which were to have been replaced because they had settled, have been left so far untouched because of the weather.

A flyer sent out this week by the Recreation Department contains information concerning the operation of the pool, as well as an application form for purchase of pool passes. Passes can be purchased immediately at the pool or, during office hours, at the city treasurer's office.

The Public Works Dept. has recently installed street name signs at intersections in the most recently developed portion of Boxwood Village. They also have done road and shoulder repairs on Southway, Westway, and Edmonston Rd. In addition, they cleaned up Edmonston Rd. in preparation for the fifth anniversary celebration of Springhill Lake. Excavation and grading for the new parking lot behind the firehouse continues, and the parks crew alternates grass cutting with lawnmower repair, depending on weather.

Mayor Edgar Smith, Councilman Dick Pilski, Gerry Gough, and Francis White and City Manager James Giese represented Greenbelt at the Springhill Lake anniversary party. They were among the more than 700 people who shared in a barbecue supper and watched a variety of features presented on the mobile stage belonging to the MNCPPC.

Regular trash collections will be made on Memorial Day to the extent that men are available for the work. An additional refuse collector was hired last week, bringing the crew up to its full number.

WHAT GOES ON

Mon., June 3, 8 p.m. City Council Meeting, Municipal Building.

Wed., June 5, 8:30 p.m. Boxwood Civic Assn. Meeting, American Legion

Thurs., June 6, 8 p.m. Public Hearing on Community Goals, Municipal Bldg.

7:45 p.m. GHI Board meets on regulations

Major revisions concern the sections on character of the community and land use. The proposed goals are published elsewhere in the paper.

The current goal of preserving "Greenbelt as a residential community" would be modified by the addition of the phrase "while at the same time integrating the proper balance of commercial, industrial, and recreational facilities."

Omitted is the present goal of preserving and developing "to the maximum individually-owned or cooperatively-owned homes or apartments rather than rentals." Also omitted is the current goal of preserving "as much of the natural beauty as possible by achieving an appropriate balance between population density and open areas."

Wuermsler explained that the new goals more realistically recognize current zoning developments for commercial office buildings and other nonresidential development. He said that Greenbelt is now becoming a place where people not only live, but also work and shop.

The proposed goals seek an alteration in the role of the Center, which under the present goals is viewed as the focal point for community interest, assembly, and activities. The new goal would urge the development of similar centers throughout Greenbelt, as required to meet the growing needs of an expanding community.

The proposed goals stress the development of an adequate roadways system to handle additional vehicular traffic and an adequate well-rounded transportation system. The current goals place the emphasis on provisions for "traffic arteries that do not burden the existing roadway system."

The new goals ask for an ultimate population that will not exceed 45,000 "except in the event of annexation." Under the old goals which were adopted before the rezoning of the Smith-Ewing area and the development of Charles-town Village tract, the ultimate population was put at less than 36,000.

Speakers wishing to testify before the APB are asked to register at the city offices before June 5. Speakers are asked to confine their remarks to five minutes in length.

Members of the APB who drew up the revisions are Chairman Wuermsler, Wallace J. Cohen, Robert M. O'Brien, Donald Volk, Burton Jarmon, and Jerry Jenkins. George Neumann, who recently resigned from the APB, also participated.

An Untimely Endeavor

We are somewhat bewildered by the notice received last week that a public hearing will be held on Thursday, June 6, by the city's Advisory Planning Board on revising the Community Goals. A series of Community Goals had been adopted by the City Council in December 1963. These goals have received the wide-spread support of the community and have been used as a guide in fighting undesirable development plans.

By proposing a revision, the APB is implying that at least some of these goals have outlived their usefulness. For instance, the APB suggests that we abandon the goal of preserving and developing to the maximum individually-owned or cooperatively-owned homes or apartments, rather than rentals.

Granted the fact — deplorable, in our view — that Greenbelt has already exceeded by a considerable margin what is usually considered a balanced ratio between multi-family units and single family homes, or even between owner-occupied units and rental ones, it still does not follow that the city should give up the fight to preserve as much as possible what it considered a basic guideline for the development of Greenbelt. Being realistic and recognizing what has happened is one thing; keeping in mind what is desirable for the development of our community is another.

It might be more profitable for APB at this time to spend its energy and time studying the new Area 13 North Plan to determine how closely it meets the current goals of the city.

PROPOSED COMMUNITY GOALS

Character of the Community

- To preserve Greenbelt primarily as a residential community while at the same time integrating the proper balance of commercial, industrial, and recreational facilities.
- While preserving the tradition of the "Center" as the focal point for community interest, assembly and activities, the development of similar centers throughout Greenbelt as required to meet the growing needs of an expanding community will be fostered.
- To provide community facilities, services, and activities which will maintain and develop a wholesome, safe, and healthy environment that will encourage active participation in civic affairs and community activities by its citizens.
- To promote high standards in the development, maintenance, renewal, and redevelopment of all property.

Land Use

- To develop the city so that the ultimate population will not exceed 45,000 except in the event of annexation.
- To achieve a variety of housing types that will accommodate occupants of diversified age groups and sizes of families.
- To provide commercial facilities for the benefit and convenience of the residents.
- To limit industrial development, in appropriate areas, to non-offensive light industry with due consideration to esthetic, contamination, pollution, and noise factors of proposed development.
- Land use should be determined by a current approved Master Plan.

Fiscal

- To continuously explore means of insuring the most equitable distribution of the tax burden.
- To provide a continuing program of planning, financing, and completing improvements.
- To permit the enlargement of the city only to the size and for the land use most compatible with efficient operation.
- To accomplish these goals with a minimum of tax burden.

Health and Sanitation

- To assure that provision is made for adequate garbage and trash collection and disposal with no deleterious effect with respect to contamination.
- To maintain and improve programs for pest control.
- To maintain and institute controls over environmental pollution such as air, water, and stream pollution.
- To prevent sewage disposal, except through the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission's system.
- To assure availability of adequate health facilities and services for residents of Greenbelt.

Transportation and Safety

- To develop for Greenbelt an adequate well-rounded transportation system which considers all modes of transportation.
- To provide an adequate roadway system to handle vehicular traffic which will be generated as a result of development of the City land use plan.
- To develop a transportation system to assure a well-rounded intermix of transportation modes.
- To assure adequate parking areas for all parts of the city.
- To preserve and develop adequate and safe walkways for pedestrians.

Education

- To develop, maintain, and foster educational facilities for all ages from nursery through adult levels.
- To provide library facilities and systems convenient to each neighborhood within the city.
- To foster and promote facilities within Greenbelt suitable for presentation of the performing and visual arts.

Recreation

- To preserve, to acquire, to develop, and to maintain park and recreation areas and facilities.
- To provide varied recreational programs for all ages.

Pack Up and Leave To the Editor:

In regard to Mr. Bowman's letter of May 23, 1968, (who compared the Poor People's March to a march, 20 years ago, by Greenbelters who petitioned Congress on home rental policies in Greenbelt, then owned by the U. S. government - Ed.)

Both groups went to Washington, but the first wasn't looking for a handout. I don't know what your job is or your position or how much money you have in the bank, but I will bet you did work hard for it.

In regard to Vietnam maybe you are correct in saying we should get out. Then if any pressure was felt in Thailand or Korea you would speak up and have us pack up and leave there. And if there was any trouble in Berlin, pack up and pull out, right? But if they ever come knocking on your door, will you pack up and leave then too?
