Introducing . . .

Jack Wise, GHI Staff Engineer

by Sandra Barnes

Joining Greenbelt Homes, Inc. as staff engineer (still to be hired is the director of maintenance) is Anthony J. Wise, Jr., a person whose specialty is petroleum engineering. Wise has been on the job for two weeks already although he has not formally moved to Greenbelt from his residence in Pittsburgh. He sees GHI's immediate problem as rehabilitating the heating systems, and General Manager Roy Breashears feels that Wise is eminently qualified to perform this activity.

Wise's experience is extensive in this field stemming from drilling for oil wells to receiving engineering degree from Notre Dame University. He subsequently studied Petroleum and Combustion Engineering while employed by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

He was vice president of Wise Oil and Gas Company and became general manager and then president of Ken Oil and Gas Company. Later on he became manager of Pearson Manufacturing Company, a boiler works and steel fabrication plant in Etna, Pa. More recently, in 1968, he became director of grounds and properties and administrative engineer of the Sisters of Mercy complex which includes Carlow College. In 1971 he became administrative engineer for Presbyterian University Hospital; afterwards he went into his own consulting business.

Wise described Greenbelt as "The most cooperative place I've ever been." He is also impressed with the quality of the staff.

Of retirement age, Wise views his job as that of a troubleshooter - identifying and seeking solutions to GHI's maintenance problems particularly in the heating field. It will be for others, however, to carry on the work he initiates, he said.

Public Asked for Views On Use of School Buildings

The use of school facilities by groups and organizations in the area will be the subject of a special Board of Education meeting on Tuesday, August 14 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Board meeting room in Upper Marlboro.

Citizens will have an opportunity to present their views on the use of school facilities by community organizations, and the rules and regulations pertaining to this usage.

School Board Candidates In Panel Discussion

Congregation Mishkan Torah (Jewish Community Center of PG-C) is sponsoring a panel discussion among the three candidates from the second district for Prince Georges County's new elected school board. The meeting with the candidates will be held Sunday, August 12, and will begin with a half-hour social at 8 p.m. Discussion begins at 8:30 and is expected to center around a list of prepared questions, which have been submitted to the candidates and which will also be available to the audience. Questions deal with current school issues - finances, racial problems, discipline, drugs, curriculum etc.; if time permits, questions from the floor will also be answered. Entrance is free and the public is invited.

Among the competing candidates is Dolores Burcham of Lanham, wife of county councilman John Burcham. She holds a degree in education and has taught full-time in the county's schools in 1960-61, including an assignment with the second grade of Greenbelt Center Elementary School. In later years she has held part-time teaching jobs. Her four daughters attend public schools in the county.

St. Claire Reeves is an attorney with the Internal Revenue Service and since 1956 has been a resident of College Park, where he has served two terms on the city council.

The third candidate, Mrs. Leslie Kreimer, lives in Westchester Park. She holds two degrees in education and works as a counselor at Suitland high school.

The three candidates will challenge each other at a primary race on September 11 and the two winners of that contest will enter the general election of November 6. At stake is a five-year term on the new elected board of education, which is scheduled to take office on December 3.

SWIM TEAM NEWS

by Mike (Turtle) Jones

In the closest division meet in which Greenbelt has participated, the swim team failed to stay near the top and found itself in fifth place as the final score was announced: Belair, 235; Burn Brae, 229½; New Carrollton, 165½; BCC "Y", 150½; Greenbelt, 145; and Whitehall, 130½.

Taking top honors in the meet for Greenbelt was John Schrider, who took three gold medals and scored 21 points for the team. Other high scorers were Sue Smith, 12½; Colleen Davis, 12; Mariette Vanderzon, 11; Cindy Davis, 8; Claudie Waters, 8; and John Coloe, 8.

On August 11 the All-Star meet will be swum at Cheverly with many Greenbelt swimmers participating. The meet will begin at 9 a.m.

Castaldi Announces Council Candidacy

Richard J. Castaldi, 58-D Crescent Road, announced his candidacy for City Council, on July 26. The other announced candidate is Jim O'Sullivan.

Castaldi, 29 years old, is married and the father of three children. He graduated from High Point High School and is now attending the University of Maryland, majoring in business administration. He has been employed for over ten years at Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, where he is an assistant supervisor in charge of the zoning application section.

He is a member of the Board of Directors of the MNCPPC Federal Credit Union and a member of G-HI. He was awarded a certificate by the Commissioner of the Maryland State Department of Health after taking an advanced training program offered by American Public Housing Authority, 1967. He completed a management training course at Georgia Tech in 1972.

Castaldi is a second generation Greenbelter, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Castaldi, residents of Greenbelt for over 34 years.

Appealing, But

Public disclosure laws are popular and appealing these days, and to the extent that State of Maryland action may preempt the field, Greenbelters may have little to say about them. Nevertheless, we should like to have our say, now that city manager James K. Giese, at the behest of council, has proposed specific public disclosure legislation.

The city manager's approach is two-stage. The first stage consists of a city charter amendment, and the second of a public disclosure ordinance requiring city council members and city employees to make periodic and public reports of their personal financial assets and income.

The charter change does not cause us concern and we would support that part of the change which requires council members to refrain from voting upon or participating in debate on issues or contracts in which they have a conflict of interest.

But the proposed public disclosure ordinance is a different matter. There is no quarrel with the principle of public disclosure, but we do have reservations as to its applicability to a small town like Greenbelt with its part-time council members and its tradition of citizen participation based on voluntary service. In our opinion the number of occasions that give rise to conflicts of interest in Greenbelt are not so great as to warrant a public disclosure law with its accompanying problems of interpretation and enforcement, and its potentials for misuse and mischief.

We fear that the ordinary citizen wishing to serve the community on a volunteer basis may be discouraged from running for office lest he run afoul of the public disclosure law inadvertently or through inexperience and subject himself to harassment and possible involvement in court action. The latter is not to be lightly dismissed, in view of the fact that there are citizens in the community who are prone to file lawsuits upon the drop of a syllable. Nor may a citizen care to have his personal financial matters the subject of common community talk.

Furthermore, any public disclosure law is bound to focus attention on an individual's financial status and away from his position on the major issues of the day. For example, we can visualize election campaigns deteriorating into squabbles over whether or not the details of an individual's statement of assets reveal a possible conflict of interest.

The council would be well-advised to approach this subject with much caution.

CRABBING WORKSHOP

A crabbing workshop will be held Wednesday, August 15 at Temple Hills Community Center, 5300 Temple Hills, from 8 to 10 p.m. Lecturing will pertain to equipment, life cycle, laws about capture, catching and cooking crabs.

On Sunday, August 12 at 10 a.m. a service of sacred music will be offered at Greenbelt Community Church, with the combined choirs of St. Hugh's Catholic Church, the Mowatt Memorial United Methodist Church, and Greenbelt Community Church.

The choir will sing from REJOICE! MUSIC FOR THE TWENTIETH CENTURY. The traditional text of the dozen anthems is set to popular folk idioms. The music is exciting, joyous, refreshing.

Dr. and Mrs. John S. Carman of 8003 Lakecrest Drive will conduct the 10 a.m. service on August 19.

Pressing for Disapproval
 To the Editor:

Returning to Greenbelt last week and reading the News Review issues of July 12, 19, and 26, I was interested in the series of letters written by friends of Charles Schwan that seemed to be vainly trying to restore the tarnished image of that adroit politician. Although one might admire such loyalty from friends and associates, their purpose was not served very well by the presentation of such inapt and intellectually dishonest arguments to legitimize the practiced equivocation of Mr. Schwan.

Miss Keene is wrong about the language of the petition signed by many, many Greenbelters, and I suspect she knows she is wrong.

Mrs. Gough may characterize the sincere citizen opposition to the sewage plant anyway she chooses, but the facts and the record of Greenbriar show them to be both honorably persistent as well as consistent. Incidentally, the legal record of both the Special Exception and Treatment Plant request for Greenbriar shows only the developer and the City Council of Greenbelt speaking in favor. All others were opposed.

A classic example of the effectiveness of citizen opposition is the Friday, July 27 announcement by NASA that that agency has denied the developer's request for a right-of-way to serve the proposed sewage plant. This denial was made in spite of city council approval of the plant (per Schwan equivocal resolution), in spite of county approval (which came after city approval), in spite of WSSC approval (which came on July 18 after more Schwan equivocation), in spite of tentative approval by the State.

The NASA action is one which the citizens of Greenbelt can relish, for it represents the first time that their rational pleas and pertinent questions have been listened to. We can not rest, however, in order to achieve the desired goal, namely disapproval of Temporary Sewage Treatment in Greenbelt; we must continue to press for responsiveness from elected and appointed officials.

Now that they can plainly see that they have prematurely given approval for a very incomplete sewage treatment facility, they should be convinced to rescind their previous actions and promote a more rational development of Greenbriar when permanent sewage facilities are available.

Public Interest Subverted?
 To the Editor:

Public servants stop serving the people when they no longer distinguish between the public interest and powerful private interests. They grow remote and, like royalty, they must be petitioned.

In February 1972, a thousand citizens petitioned the Greenbelt City Council and the Prince Georges County Council opposing construction of a private package sewage treatment plant in the still unbuilt Greenbriar subdivision. Disdain was the response, as both council majorities bowed to the influence of a single speculator. The people were compromised, the public interest subverted.

A strong city stand with the people and against the proposal would have put the county in the uncomfortable political position of having to choose between the city of Greenbelt and one developer. The county council might never have approved the plant in the face of determined official Greenbelt opposition.

Instead, both council majorities shirked their responsibility and left to the citizens the burden of protecting the public health and safety. More than that, members of both councils tried to undercut the citizens' efforts. A recent instance: NASA officials have told me that both the mayor of Greenbelt and the county councilman from Greenbelt wrote letters in favor of the package treatment plant and in support of granting the pipeline easement for the plant.

Despite this pressure, the federal agency heard the word of the citizens and rejected the Greenbriar application. NASA said no other decision could be made without an environmental impact statement. Neither the city of Greenbelt nor the County Council had responded to NASA's earlier request for comment. The city instead began a much-too-late inquiry into the design of the sewage plant in an effort to make the council majority's approval look like concern.

Is "honest government" a contradiction in terms? I don't think

A Big Zero!
 To the Editor:

I have read the City Council's record published in last week's News Review and find Councilwoman Cohen's record a big ZERO.

When we citizens examine the issues and how our representatives have voted on them, one glaring fact emerges: Councilwoman Ms. Rhea Cohen has voted AGAINST the majority on almost every issue.

Furthermore it is my personal belief that the public conduct of our Council should reflect nothing but credit on Greenbelt residents. When Ms. Cohen was cited in open court for contempt it brought discredit on each and every citizen of Greenbelt.

THANKS

To the Editor:

The family of Joseph Kosisky Sr. wishes to thank dear friends and neighbors for their kindness and help which was so comforting in their bereavement. Thank you very much.

Joseph S. Kosisky, Jr.

so. Not long ago I had the opportunity to doubly serve the public, but I later resigned from a county consulting job with these words: "I find this action is necessitated by my obligations to the Prince Georges Environment Coalition and to my constituents in Greenbelt, which preclude the continuation of my work for your office and might, indeed, present a conflict of interest." It had become clear that I could not work for the people and at the same time support the development policies of the county executive.

In the near future, Greenbelt's Council will vote on a conflict of interest law. No such law requires the disclosure of promises of influence peddlers made to public officials for campaign funds or appointments to the Bench. Yet such promises create conflicts of interest that turn public servants into self-serving pawns.

The Police Blotter

Sgt. Van Valkenberg has been cited for an award by the Maryland Association of Women for Highway Safety because of his work with youths. He had organized basketball and touch football teams and an award winning drum and bugle corp. He is one of five people in the county receiving this award.

There was a "loud party" call on Plateau when a juvenile was entertaining at home when the parents were not at home. One youth, who was running away from the scene, was charged with possession of marijuana.

During the patrol of the lake, officers observed some juveniles at 2:30 a.m. As they approached, the juveniles ran off leaving brown paper bags containing glue for sniffing.

A woman on Parkway was awakened around 5 a.m. by a youth with long hair and a head band. He had entered the apartment by a kitchen window. The youth said that he had a knife but that the woman would not be hurt if she put a pillow over her head. She did and he left. A leather scabbard was found in the vicinity.

GREENBELT ALL STARS

by Fred Ford

The Greenbelt All Stars (combination of CYO, Boy's Club, Springhill Lake Association and Greenbelt Little League) participated in the Rockville Invitational Tournament winning over the Manor Club 9-6: Good pitching from Mike Helm and fine overall play from Bobby Kent, Randy King, Gary Stratchko and the rest of the team helped capsize this good team from Potomac, Md.

We also have a fine junior division team (13-15 yrs) which will be playing Friday, Aug. 10 against a Frederick, Md. team. The game will be played in Rockville. 474-8343.

Kenilworth Reconstruction

Prince Georges County was allotted $200 million in state highway funds for road construction or improvements in the 1975-1994 Highway Needs Study. The county described projects to be put on the critical list worth $182.9 million and deleted others worth several million dollars more.

On the critical list is reconstruction of Kenilworth Avenue from Rt. 50 to the Capital Beltway at a $12.1 million price tag. Park and Planning Commission reasoned that Kenilworth Avenue would continue as a major truck route if the Baltimore-Washington Parkway were expanded to accommodate only car traffic on I-95.
