City Lowers 1978-1979 Tax Rate by 2 cents; State & City Combine to Reduce Tax Load

by Mary Lou Williamson

At its special meeting, Monday, June 5, the Greenbelt City Council lopped two cents off the municipal tax rate for next year, thus following the lead of State and county politicians in the effort to reduce the tax load of property owners. Next year's city tax rate on real and personal property, public utilities and businesses will be 97c per $100 assessed valuation. New State legislation this year has reduced assessed values by 10%, thus providing further relief.

Expenditures in the new budget total $2,302,000 — up $256,250 or 12.5% over last year's amount. Almost half the increase is due to the 10 federally-funded CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) positions. Greenbelt has benefitted from a 10% growth in the tax base and from increased State-shared taxes, which, taken together, make up for both the lowered assessment and a portion of the lowered tax rate.

The General Fund Budget increases are due almost entirely to increased salary and cost of materials. New capital outlay will come from federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

PROGRAMS

Council found little it wanted to cut from the budget. New programs and projects were generally left intact, and no major new items were added.

Only one new position was called for in the original budget — a police patrolman (starting at mid-year). The part-time administrative aide budgeted for last year will be hired this year. Of the 10 CETA positions, council agreed with the manager's request to take over funding two, should the program be discontinued: 1 police-patrolman, 1 records clerk.

[1] Administration — Special objectives set for next year include 1) set up management organization for the senior citizen housing facility, 2) employ new Director of Public Works to replace Albert S. Attkick who is planning to retire, (3) develop plan for intra-city bus service with special consideration to needs of elderly, (4) submit 5-year expenditure plan, (5) improve personnel procedures, (6) develop rehabilitation plan for center, (7) study possible dental, optical and disability plans for city employees.

[2] Police The Police Department will receive new equipment during the coming year: 4 squad cars, portable radios for each patrolman, 3 mobile car radios, a typewriter. The entire first floor of the old municipal building will be renovated for use by the department.

Special objectives for the coming year include: (1) improve vehicle preventive maintenance program, (2) improve communication capabilities, install new console in dispatcher's office, (3) formalize community crime prevention program, and (4) establish routine development and processing of police files using new dark room facility.

[3] Public Works The major work to be done by the public works department next year will be street resurfacing and reconstruction. Reconstruction of Research Rd. from Hillside to Ridge (more if funds are sufficient) to be funded through Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) programs. Work on Crescent Road will be financed through the capital improvements reserve fund (3% of the tax rate). Also to be funded by CDBG is the sidewalk to connect the elderly housing building with the Center.

Contributions to the replacement fund have been almost doubled to better reflect cost of new equipment. New equipment to be purchased includes: brush chipper, mower, pick-up truck, disc harrow.

Special objectives involve (1) accelerated street base repair, curb and gutter replacement (Lakeside), (2) limited sidewalk replacement, (3) construction of bike path along Lakecrest Dr., (4) initiate street light replacement program, (5) develop cost accounting system for equipment.

Waste collection charges will be raised 50c per month to reflect increased costs; no further increase should be required for several years. (1) monitor to see if trucks can carry larger but fewer loads to landfill, (2) investigate possibility of selling newspaper to new buyer offering higher and guaranteed price, (3) determine whether commercial fees are based on cost of collection, (4) accelerate aluminum collection.

[4] CARES - Special objectives (1) improve training for volunteer counselors, (2) improve relationships between outreach program and area schools, (3) improve internal evaluation to provide a self-correcting feedback of the activities of CARES, (4) develop data to measure cost-effectiveness of various CARES programs.

[5] Recreation - Special objectives Program (1) Begin volunteer referral service for volunteers with special skills (2) develop cost data for budgeting (3) develop therapeutic programs for special groups such as the aged, handicapped, etc. Youth Center: (1) improve storm water runoff problems, repair parking lot and repair bathrooms. [6] Parks — Special projects this year will include (1) additional ball field at landfill site, (2) improvements to Lake-Park grounds, (3) Perimeter Trail Park development. CETA parks crew will be utilized for these projects at least until September (end of current contract).

One porta-john will be rented for use at McDonald field for the softball season. Special objectives also include: (1) playground renovation using CDBG funds (2) build pedestrian bridges at Springhill Lake Park.

FINAL AMENDMENTS

Council, staff and, to a limited extent, citizens have spent the last two months reviewing the budget as proposed by the city manager. The resulting final changes which council approved added $18,850 or less than 1% to the budget. Two items added substantial revenues: (1) additional elderly housing service charge ($23,000); (2) upward revision of the estimate of assessed valuation — ($1,000,000) — providing additional city taxes and (3) increased county tax rebate ($2,500). The extra revenue paid for the 2c tax reduction and still left $17,850 available for increased services. Council had little difficulty spending the additional funds — mostly for additional personnel and related costs ($19,350). Both the Youth Center and Springhill Lake Recreation Center will get full-time directors instead of part-time. One position, parks crewman, which had been deleted in the original budget was restored.

Contributions

Several changes were made in contributions to independent recreational groups within the city. Two organizations were dropped: Choral Arts, which has joined a Lanham group; and Soccer Association which made no request for funds this year. Council decreased total contributions by $750. Another $500 savings resulted from the city finding a less expensive source for the July 4 fireworks.

Organizations	Contri- bution last yr.	% inc.
Concert Band	$ 500)	8
Band Director	850)
Boys, Girls Club	4,300	13.2
Aquatic Boosters	1,300	8.3
Winter swim coach	450	12.5
Little League	2,350	6.8
SHL Baseball	975	8.3
Running Club	225	12.5
Tennis Ass'n	350	16.6

Council was pleased with the Greenbelt Concert Band. The band performs at all major city functions and in performing elsewhere in the county, indirectly provides favorable publicity for the city. Council was enthusiastic about increasing its financial support despite the fact that Park and Planning Commission also supports the group.

Revenue Sharing Funds

In a separate item council determined how the city will spend its federal revenue sharing funds of $63,129. $40,000 will help offset the general fund (repayment of bonded indebtedness), the rest will go toward capital improvements:

Park Improvements - 1. Landfill Ballfields ($5,000), 2. Bridge materials ($1,600), 3. Lake Park lawn materials ($1,000), 4. Playground equipment materials for Springhill Lake and Greenbriar ($5,000), 6. Resurfacing of Lakecrest tennis courts ($7,800).

Youth Center Improvements - 1. Refurbish front entrance ($3,000), 2. Burglar alarm system ($2,200), 3. Bathroom repairs ($2,500).

Municipal Building - roof repair ($12,000).

Swimming Pool - 1. Basket racks ($600), 2. Ladders ($1,000), 3. Floor Material ($2,000).

New Equipment - Police - 1. Squad car ($5,500), 2. 15 Portable radios ($18,500), 3. Dark room equipment ($700), 4. Pager radios ($1,300).

GHI Sued By Nyman Realty Over Administrative Fee on Home Sales

by Mary Lou Williamson and Elaine Skolnik

Nyman Realty, Inc., 151 Centerway, filed a suit against Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on May 24, 1978 charging restraint of trade "with specific intent to monopolize the sale of cooperative (GHI) houses." The Bill of Complaint was signed by D. Bruce Nyman, president. Attorneys for the plaintiff are William F. Edwards and Abraham Chasanow. Chasanow, former owner of Greenbelt Realty, sold his real estate business to Nyman on January 1, 1977.

At issue is GHI's new policy of charging a flat $550 administrative fee for each home that is sold, regardless of whether GHI, any realtor, or the homeowner himself sells the house. At the same time, GHI is eliminating its 5½% commission on sales of homes, thus lowering the total charges to GHI members selling through the cooperative. The new policy, approved by the GHI Board of Directors in January 1978, went into effect on June 1, 1978.

Bill of Complaint

Among other things, the Bill of Complaint charged that GHI's "so-called 'administrative fee' is a subterfuge . . . to coerce the large majority of its members, who have heretofore preferred to sell their homes through [Nyman] and other realtors, into selling their homes through [GHI] and to penalize those members who sell their houses through [Nyman] or other realtors." It also charged that the administrative fee was in violation of the GHI bylaws (Article III, Section 2).

According to the Bill of Complaint, Nyman contends that the purpose of GHI's action is to "lure sellers" from Nyman and other realtors "by increasing their clients' cost of selling to the realtor's sales commission plus the $550 charged by" GHI. Previously, Nyman claims, GHI charged 5½% of the selling price of the house, or an average of $880 for each house selling for about $16,000.

Here the Bill of Complaint states that Nyman Realty, Inc. sold 48% of GHI homes offered for sale in 1977 as compared with 29% sold by GHI and 23% sold by other realtors and real estate brokers, and that, since January 1978, as a result of the action taken by GHI, Nyman "has suffered a loss of approximately 50% of its listings of Greenbelt cooperative houses as compared with the same period in 1977, and will continue to suffer heavy losses in listings and sales of said houses, and severe and irreparable damage to its business if . . . aforesaid conduct is not enjoined."

GHI Reasons for Policy

GHI's new policy went into effect on June 1, 1978. Previously GHI charged a $150 administrative fee plus $65 for inspection, plus a 5½% sales commission.

Royal D. Breashears, general manager of GHI, told the News Review that the $550 administrative charge takes into account inflation and other costs of selling that were not covered by the old fees. "The $65 inspection fee," he said, "did not fully cover the costs of the inspector, either. That expense is now included in the new charge, as is a portion of the salary of the newly hired Coordinator of Member Services."

According to Breashears, GHI must provide the same services for each sale, regardless of who originally handled the sale. "Outside realtors," he pointed out, "merely bring two people together."

GHI's attorney Albert Ginsberg told the News Review "these costs have nothing to do with the sales commission — they are not tied together." Both he and Breashears stated that the board and management had decided the corporation would no longer charge a sales commission. Breashears said the intention was to benefit the members by keeping total sales prices — and consequently taxes — down by eliminating commissions.

Nyman Realty, Inc. also contends in its Bill of Complaint that a statement in the March 1978 GHI "Newsletter" — "Members are also reminded that before they list a house for sale, they should come to GHI for first refusal in accordance with their Mutual Ownership Contract" — is "false." Questioned about this, Breashears and Ginsberg denied this, pointing out that the statement says that "members should, not that members must." Breashears noted, however, that it is to the members' advantage to inform GHI when they are selling. In this way, he said, GHI can expeditiously begin the routine work of inspecting homes and yards and processing paperwork so that GHI's part of the procedure can be finished at the same time that the sale is ready to be completed, and GHI can also pick up its option, if desired.

Asks Injunction

The Bill of Complaint asks that the Court issue an Injunction ordering and directing (GHI) its agents, servants, employees, and directors, to (1) "cease and desist from attempting to collect an 'administrative fee' or any other fees or charges not specifically authorized by the Bylaws . . . from any of its members who list their . . . houses for sale with . . . other realtors, . . ." (2) "cease and desist from requiring any of its members to come to (GHI) for first refusal before they list a house for sale with (Nyman) or any other realtor," (3) "cease and desist from falsely accusing realtors, including (Nyman) of giving misinformation, or omitting information, to new GHI members and from disparaging the business practice of its competitors, . . ."

The suit also requests that the Court "issue a Mandatory Injunction ordering the Defendant corporation to publish an announcement to all its members of the details of the injunctive orders issued by this Court" and that the "Court award to the Plaintiff (Nyman) a sum in the amount of three times the amount of actual damages suffered by the Plaintiff which result from a violation of Section II-204 of the Maryland Antitrust Act by the Defendants, together with costs and reasonable attorney's fees."

William F. Edwards, one of the two attorneys for the Plaintiff, preferred not to make a statement for publication when contacted by the News Review, or to respond to any questions. Instead, he indicated, if he felt it necessary, he would send out news releases to the press.

Policy on

Letters to the Editor

We have spelled out our policy on letters before, but every now and then it bears repeating. Accordingly, letter writers are reminded that letters must contain the name, address and telephone number of the writer.

We will withhold the author's name in some circumstances, but under no circumstances can we print a letter unless we know who wrote it. This means that the author's identity must be verifiable.

Greenbelt Goes Broadway

This weekend audiences will be entertained by the Grenoble Theatre Guild's presentation of "The Heiress." Performances will be given at Greenbelt Center Elementary School on Fri., June 16, & Sat., June 17 at 8 p.m., and the following week on Fri., June 23 and Sat., June 24 at the same hour. Matinees will be held Sat., June 17 and 24 at 2:30 p.m.

"The Heiress", written by Ruth and Augustus Goetz, was a well-known production on Broadway which later won an academy award from the movie industry. The play's time frame is the late 1860's, the location, New York, a doctor's residence. The players, under the direction of Judy Holland, act out the story of a spinster heiress. Angela Schreiber and John Lefkicher, experienced actors, head the cast as it gives its first performance at Center School. "The Heiress" is a "costume" play and the wardrobe for the drama was hand-sewn by Alice Kelley.

Special attention should be given to the matinee performances which will enable senior citizens to attend a theatre production during daylight hours. Tickets will be sold at the door. Bob O'Malley may be contacted at 474-3369 for more information.

Thanks

I wish to thank all those residents who signed petitions supporting my candidacy. I promise to do my best to represent Greenbelt in Annapolis.

Blood Urgently Needed

There is an urgent need for blood supplies in the Metropolitan area. On June 19, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Leland Memorial Hospital will be the site of the Prince Georges Chapter of the National American Red Cross blood donors program. The hospital invites the community to come to their Assembly Room to donate their blood.

It is the main concern of the Blood Bank in this area that health facilities have the proper types of blood on hand and in sufficient quantity. In order for the community to be protected adequately over the 4th of July week end, the American Red Cross is making a special appeal through the area.

Giving blood is quick and painless. The American Red Cross volunteer staff will register donors, take medical history and blood, and serve refreshments. It is hoped that this drive will raise the Blood Bank level sufficiently to handle all demands.

Leland Memorial Hospital is located at 4400 Queensbury Road, Riverdale.

Greenbelt Will Prevail!

To the Editor:

Monsignor O'Donnell made a good point in his June 1 letter to the News Review. We in Greenbelt have been indeed overlooked in the recent delegate selection for the 24th District. The selection of Mr. Ryan was predictable because of his impressive credentials. And while the ability of an official remains paramount, there also remains a logical argument that a Greenbelt candidate offers a fair balance of representation to the map of our legislative district. I have confidence that the interests of Greenbelt will yet prevail. Our record of politics, of community involvement, of quality will eventually win out. We've shown we're capable of producing good leaders whose records can overcome the level of geographical feuding thrust upon us lately.

So what can we do with the situation? Keep up our standards! We've got to show off the quality of involvement Greenbelt is noted for, and the qualities our Greenbelt candidates possess! Greenbelt is also known for its high percentage of voter registration. It is my hope that our city will strive to increase our voter registration even further. Already, candidate Tony McCarthy has been working hard in this field and should be commended. Lastly, I urge all Greenbelters to take a strong interest in this race, and work hard for the candidate of his choice.

On the Job, Tweaking

To the Editor:

That's democracy? Farm out! Sorry Mat, I don't buy the "up-card/down-card" nonsense either. But that's past. And I must say, "phooey" is a big step in the right direction. Myself, I'd say (deleted). And Bettie will do a great job tweaking the high and mighty. I'll try to do my share too. So, here we go with a couple more questions:

"That GHI is not financially strong is a vicious canard." "Our property is worth on the order of $12 million. (The county's real estate tax assessment, which we believe to be too high, appraises the value of our property at $14.5 million.)". The quotes are from "Report of the President" GHI, 5/20/70" by Charles F. Schwan. Now let me quote from: "Report of the President" GHI 1977 by James W. Smith: "With assets of nearly $10,000,000... one would conclude that GHI is a healthy corporation." Now you wouldn't mind explaining how my home's value has gone up and our net worth has gone down, would you?

My frame home had its trim painted recently. The painters did a good job and were courteous and careful. GHI tells me it cost all us frame folk $149 per unit. There are 13 units on my court, therefore the cost to the court is $2682. For one row of 6 units $894. Let's say we put 8 men at $5/hour on one row of six units. They finish the trim in 10 hours. 5 x 8 = $40 x 10 = $400. Let's be generous and say it would cost $200 to buy trim paint for one row of six units. My question is: Who gets the rest of the money?

Hey, GHI! I have a garbage can in my yard. Purple. Wanna cite me?

Checking the Machines . . . Vacation Church School

To the Editor:

I very much liked Mat Amberg's letter in last week's News Review. My previous letter (to which he says, "Phooey") was in no way intended to indicate that any GHI election had been inaccurate in its count. It was a general statement of my belief that people tire more easily than machines. I am certain that any election held under Mat's aegis was fair and accurate; in fact, all GHI elections have been. So far as I know of, there has been only one specific charge to the contrary and it was thoroughly checked out and found to be false.

Mat asked a parenthetical question, "I wonder does GHI check out the machines we use and depend on . . . ?"

The answer is "Yes." GHI hires an independent mechanic, neither a staff member of GHI nor an employee of the company from which we rent the machines. When the machines come, they stand about hip-high. The mechanic cranks them up and then gives them a thorough inspection, opening the back and setting a little gadget which will tell immediately if they have been tampered with. Then he locks up the back and takes the keys with him. On the morning of the election, he is there at 6:30 to check them over again. He stays until the first voter of each machine goes in to vote. He goes in with that voter and before the voter votes, he checks all the little handles to be sure that those with names work and those without do not. Then he leaves, again taking the keys all with him. He returns again to lock them or crank them down at the close of voting, a counter on the side of the machine registers each vote that is cast. A N. & E. Committee member frequently checks that number to see that it is registering. If it were not, the mechanic would be called immediately and that machine would not be used until he had come and fixed it.

The machines have a big advantage in that the count is quicker; they have a big disadvantage in that if the vote were questioned it would be difficult to check a machine count.

YOU MISSED IT!

by Stephen Polaschik

If you were not at the Center Mall on Sunday, June 4, you missed an excellent nostalgic band concert by the Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County. A highlight of the Greenbelt Day Concert was the Heart of Greenbelt Concert March, composed by Greenbelt resident Seymour Levine, who was present. Also among those enjoying the concert was City Councilman Charles Schwan.

The band's program, under the direction of conductor John Del Homme, started with the serene Bach Chorale #5, followed by some favorites such as the Poet and Peasant Overture, Columbia - Fantasia Polka, Variations on a Shaker Melody and Saxophone Cantabile by the band's brilliant saxophone quartet. Concluding the concert was the Thunderer March, Piccolo Pic and Caprice Italian.

The weather was perfect for a concert, but the Bullets' basketball play-off game may have had an effect on the attendance. Perhaps more readers of the Greenbelt News Review will remember to set aside the first Sunday afternoon in June in 1979 to enjoy an afternoon concert, listening to a top-notch group of volunteer band persons.

Greenbelt musicians are invited to drop by the Youth Center on any Monday evening before 7:30 p.m. to arrange for an audition with Del Homme. The public is also welcome to come by to see the work that goes on during the band's rehearsals.

Students from the advanced drama class from Eleanor Roosevelt High School helped to add to the festive occasion by presenting some innovative and original poems and skits. Their performance delighted not only the youngsters but also the young at heart.

Veterans: do you want to get started in home ownership in a nice vacant modern all brick rambler with 4 bedrooms, full basement and lovely rec. room? Do you wish to live near the new metro line near the District in Capitol Heights? Do you have a smile, a ball-point pen, an honest face, and $22,000 total family income before deductions? If so, then that's all you will need to move in. Absolutely no cash required! The price is $48,900 and the total monthly payment will be around $475, including taxes and insurance. Three bedrooms, three fireplaces, lovely rec. room and carport. Owner in Florida says Sell! Asking $95,000 but also asking an offer. It could be years before there is a similar opportunity.

We feature a nice semi-detached brick Colonial in Hyattsville Hills, near Leland hospital. It has 2 bedrooms, sep. din. rm. and full basement. Priced to sell now at only $39,500, and has a $35,700 loan that can be taken over, just pay the difference down plus small closing costs and move in.

Speaking of semi-detached homes, here's a real jewel, and you'll agree. A 3 bedroom brick semi-colonial in the Templeton Knolls section of Riverdale, with full basement and many extras. Conventional or VA terms at only $39,500 and a real find. Nice loan of $28,400 could be assumed.

Here's a real opportunity to own a luxury home at a truly reasonable price. We feature a beautiful five bedroom, 2 1/2 bath brick and alum. split-level with carport in a very convenient section of Beltsville, near shopping, schools, etc. If you like a busy corner, you can save a lot of money on this luxury home priced to sell now at only $66,500, all terms including no down VA. LET KASH HELP YOUR FAMILY

Retarded Young Adult Trains Handicapped

(The following article, written by Leslie Cauley, is reprinted from the May 4 issue of the Prince Georges Post, by permission)

Elizabeth Labukas, 22, of Greenbelt, has what Douglas MacArthur called "the will to win." Affected with Downs Syndrome, Elizabeth is mentally retarded. Her spirit, however, is not, and recently, she scored a victory. She was named a Kennedy Intern in Recreation.

Because of her interest in sports and recreation, demonstrated by her participation in the Special Olympics, the special services division of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (M-NCPPC) has secured for her a grant from the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation under the Intern program.

These grants are given annually to a limited number of mentally retarded young adults nationwide who have shown "promise as leaders" by their participation in the Special Olympics program.

The funds will provide Elizabeth with one year of on-the-job training, followed by a full-time salaried position for one year as a therapeutic aide with the special services division.

"Our goal," said Peggy Hoffman, Elizabeth's program coordinator, "is for her to secure a job as an aide with a regular recreation program."

Elizabeth is now learning skills which are needed to become a therapeutic aide. She works approximately 20 hours per week with preschool and teenaged children who are handicapped.

The program affords Elizabeth many responsibilities. As a bus aide to handicapped children in the special services program, she helps children on and off the buses and teaches them such safety measures as securing seat belts. During planned activities, she prepares snacks and sets up recreational equipment.

Elizabeth says her favorite duties are fixing snacks for the children and helping Mark, 5, in and out of the swimming pool because he's afraid of the water.

"I'm helping him not to be afraid," she said.

"She realizes that this is a real job and not just play," said Mrs. Labukas. "Her attitude has had to change from participant to worker."

Besides working for the special services program, Elizabeth attends the Vocational Services Institute Workshop (VSI) in Lanham. The workshop was started last summer by parents for those retarded young adults who have graduated from special education centers. Elizabeth is a 1977 graduate of Bowie Special Center in Bowie, Maryland, which is part of the Prince George's County school system.

At VSI, Elizabeth does ceramic work, paper recycling and assembling reports.

Outside of work, Elizabeth has many hobbies, mostly sports-oriented. That is no surprise as Elizabeth was born into a sports-minded family. Her father is a former GWU varsity athlete and high school football coach, her mother is a former Director of Recreation for Greenbelt, and her brother and sisters are well known in the community for their records in Little League, golf, swim team and NJTL tennis. Elizabeth added her own list of records with numerous county, state and national awards for her participation in the Special Olympics, a national competitive sports program for the handicapped.

She was the first girl selected to light the torch at the Maryland State Special Olympics, and has been given an engraved plaque by the Hyattsville Civitan Club for her outstanding Special Olympics record. Last May she was named Amateur of the Week by WRC-TV Channel 4 and was a 1977 honoree at the Breakfast of Champions sponsored by the Champions Association of Prince George's County.

Her "very favorite" sport, said Mrs. Labukas, is football. An avid Dallas Cowboys fan, she has taught herself how to read the sports page so she can "keep up on all the news."

Elizabeth, according to her mother, has a sports memorabilia collection that "a lot of little boys would envy." Besides owning an extensive sports card collection, Elizabeth has an autographed baseball from New York Yankee Catfish Hunter among other things.

"She was born with strength, coordination, endurance and a competitive spirit," said Mrs. Labukas. "The special education classes and Special Olympics programs that are available now to the retarded have encouraged and developed these qualities." When Elizabeth arrived some 20 years ago, the Downs Syndrome child was thought to have little potential. Medical research and specialized training programs initiated during her lifetime, however, have shown that many of these young people can learn and can live useful lives. Elizabeth's older sister was so impressed with the accomplishments of these programs she chose Special Education as her career and is now a Special Education teacher in the county.

Elizabeth's training program with the special services division, which ends Dec. 31, is helping to further reinforce and develop those qualities.

Elizabeth has been with the program only a short time (since Feb. 24) so it is too early to tell just how much she is absorbing, her mother said.

"We'll just have to wait and see," she said.

In the meantime, Elizabeth is having a lot of fun.

"I like helping people," she said.
