Council Stresses Town Planning Concept In Greenbelt's Listing on Historic Sites

by Mary Lou Williamson

Greenbelt's application for listing on the National Register of Historic Places will be formally presented to the Governor's Consulting Committee on December 19 in Annapolis. The application will be presented by Pamela James, an officer of the Maryland Historical Trust who has been aiding in the preparation of the application for almost a year. Greenbelt's application is among 40 to be considered that day.

James will give a 5 to 10 minute oral review of the material and show the committee 15 to 20 slides. Representatives of the city and of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., will be present to answer questions. While the public is invited, supporting oral presentations must be cleared with James. The Governor's committee will discuss the application and vote.

Both a draft letter of support and some 20 pages of information constituting the application were presented to council for comment at its regular meeting December 3. Councilman Thomas X. White asked that the language of the letter be strengthened to reflect that council is more concerned with the preservation of "the historically important design concepts used in planning the city—pedestrian underpasses, inner walkways, garden-type setting, position of homes in a court system—than with structures. I would like to concentrate away from structures."

"The significance was in the planning of the community," agreed Councilman Charles Schwan. "White's point makes extremely good sense." The amended letter was approved unanimously.

Objections

Two property owners had raised objections to their property being included in the proposal, city manager James K. Giese told council. Following Giese's advice, council agreed to amend the boundary of the proposed historic district to exclude that portion of the Goddard Space Flight Center interchange with the Baltimore-Washington Parkway that lies on the west side of the parkway.

In the other case council declined to take any action. Thus Parcels 1 and 2, undeveloped land in the northeast corner of the city between GHI property and the Parkway, will remain within the proposed historic district.

Giese pointed out to council that city staff member Thomas Hauenstein has prepared much of the 20-page application for the city. Hauenstein then showed council the collection of 80 slides which will be forwarded to the Maryland Historical Trust along with the application. The slides were taken by GHI president Don Volk. Hauenstein credited Sandra Barnes, GHI staff member, for preparing much of the material he used in writing the application.

What Effect?

GHI is already feeling the effect of eligibility for listing on the register. In a letter dated November 16, Rodney Little, State Historic Preservation Officer for the Maryland Historical Trust outlined his agency's comments on GHI's $11 million rehabilitation plans. The Trust would oppose vinyl or aluminum siding for either the frame or block homes as proposed. Composition shingles would meet with their approval as replacement for the original asbestos shingles, which are no longer manufactured. GHI is investigating this possibility.

The Trust would oppose all of the proposed new windows for masonry homes. Thus GHI's staff engineer has been directed to research the cost and possibility of getting a window manufacturer to custom-make thermopane casement windows as nearly like those now in use as possible.

Little also listed conditions under which the Trust would not object to the electrical heavy-up and the insulation plans.

While the comments of the Trust are advisory in nature, in effect they carry considerable weight. GHI would be reluctant to take the time necessary to appeal the "adverse effect" determinations through the procedures available. Both board and management have been very concerned about preventing any unnecessary delays. Every day that insulation of the frame and block homes is put off will be costly to the members, who must pay for the heat which now escapes through walls, attics and windows.

Theater, Post Office

On the other hand, current efforts to save the old theater in the Center could be aided by the historic designation. There are provisions in the Tax Reform Act of 1976 that encourage the rehabilitation of certain historic (income producing) structures in an historic district. Grants or loans, both federal and state, may also be available.

Whether or not the establishment of an historic district would affect the construction of an ultra modern post office building as presently proposed at the intersection of Parkway and Crescent Road remains to be seen.

FLASH

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. members turned down the proposed 21.66% increase in the monthly charges at the special membership meeting last night by a vote of 186 to 114.

Cultural Arts Center to Begin Door-to-door Fund Drive and Saturday Night Coffee House

by Konrad Herling

Citizens for a Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center convened last Sunday to discuss further avenues of raising funds to meet the January 1, 1980 lease deadline. While approximately $1000 was raised at the Open House, it was agreed that an organized campaign was the only way to accrue the balance of needed funding.

Three methods were outlined: (1) the holding of "coffee-houses" on the remaining three Saturday evenings of the year; (2) a city-wide door-to-door campaign; and (3) a telephone campaign to cover those areas missed in the door-to-door canvassing.

The coffee houses would offer the opportunity to listen to contemporary folk guitar music; Irish ballads, poetry, mime and humor. It will also encourage contributions of funds and service to the various committees, particularly those concerning the fund drive, publicity and legal and financial matters.

The campaign will be divided into eleven geographic areas: (1) Center School, covering Ridge and Crescent Roads up to Eastway; (2) North End, from Eastway to Boxwood; (3) Woodland Hills; (4) Lakewood; (5) Boxwood; (6) Lakeside North; (7) Lakeside; (8) Springhill Lake; (9) Greenbriar; (10) Windsor Green; and (11) Glen Oaks Volunteers may call either Dave Benson at 441-2598 or Konrad Herling at 345-9369.

The first coffee house will be held Sat., Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. at the theatre.

Kenneth Kopstein Designated Next GHI General Manager

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Board of Directors has announced that Kenneth J. Kopstein, Deputy General Manager, will assume the position of General Manager in early spring on the retirement of the present General Manager, Royal D. Breashears.

Kopstein came to GHI in July 1976. Since that time he has been deeply involved in rehabilitation planning for the 1600-unit cooperative housing project. He has been largely responsible for obtaining the $6.4 million loan from the Department of Housing and Urban Development to finance GHI's long-awaited rehabilitation program.

In addition, Kopstein has been instrumental in obtaining government funding and insurance for special projects and housing assistance. The GHI community has received over $1 million in Community Development Block Grants and other grants over a three-year period. He also initiated legislation creating an insurance program for unit purchase loans with the State of Maryland which would benefit all cooperative housing projects in the state.

Prior to coming to GHI, Kopstein served as a senior consultant with the management consulting and accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. and with the firm of Arthur D. Little Co. He has also been Director of Union Development for the Interfaith Housing Corporation in Boston, a community development agency in New York, and county and state government agencies in New York.

Kopstein was graduated cum laude from the State University of New York with a degree in political science. He went on to graduate work in management and accounting and received a Master of City Planning degree from Harvard University in 1972. He also completed courses as a Ford Foundation Fellow in the Housing Specialist Institute. He is a Certified Property Manager candidate and an Accredited Resident Manager in the Institute for Real Estate Management. Kopstein is also a member of the American Institute of Certified Planners.

Presently Kopstein serves as treasurer and chairman of the Legislative Committee, National Association of Housing Cooperatives; Secretary and Chairman of the Legislative Committee, Maryland Association of Housing and Redevelopment Agencies; and on the Review Committee, Housing Credit Manual Development Project, National Consumer Cooperative Bank.

Council and Post Office Officials to Meet Dec. 19

by Elaine Skolnik

The Greenbelt City Council will meet in a work session with officials of the United States Postal Service (USPS) on Wednesday, December 19 at 8 p.m. in the City Offices. Work sessions are open to the public.

The latest proposal dealing with Greenbelt's Post Office includes (1) establishing a contract station that would operate out of a business in the Center and (2) building a large facility for sorting and other functions outside the core of Greenbelt, rather than on the proposed Crescent and Parkway Roads site.

The city council favors maintaining split facilities for the Greenbelt postal district, with full customer services in the Center and a distribution facility elsewhere, but not on Parkway and Crescent. USPS maintains that the cost of split facilities would be prohibitive. Council is still waiting for the complete economic analysis study supporting USPS's conclusion.

Council is not enthusiastic about a contract station because its services are limited—selling stamps and money orders and accepting packages to be mailed. Residents would have to travel to the main postal facility to pick up packages and mail that could not be delivered because no one was at home.

News Review Carriers Bring Season's Greetings

Around this time of year it is customary for the News Review delivery boys and girls to make personal calls on the homes they service to present Christmas cards and greetings. The News Review's financial position is such that we cannot pay our carriers very high remuneration. They are therefore dependent on generous holiday donations to supplement their nominal pay.

Most of our carriers range in age from pre-teen to the middle teens. For the younger boys and girls, delivering the News Review is their first job experience. Many of the older carriers started at a young age and continue to deliver the News Review mainly as a service to their neighborhood. It is a learning process for all of these youngsters and, in some cases, the instillation of responsibility takes time and patience.

The holiday season affords us all a chance to show appreciation and to provide encouragement for the efforts of these youngsters and at the same time to show understanding for any failings that might have occurred during the year.

Baptist Choir Sings

The Chancel Choir of Greenbelt Baptist Church will present its rendition of "The King of Love", a cantata by Rodger Stroder, on Sunday, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary. Soloists will include Mrs. Kay Oertel, Mrs. Jeanne Huth, Mrs. Barbara Adams, and Larry J. Morell.

The choir is under the direction of J. Frank Helms. The pianist is Miss Janice Kilgore. The public is invited to attend.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Representative Gladys Noon Spellman will administer the oath of office to the newly elected officers of the Eleanor & Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club at its meeting on Friday, December 21, at the Greenbriar Community Building.

The Installation ceremony will begin at 8 p.m. and a holiday reception will follow. All are welcome.

Officers for 1980, elected at last month's meeting are: Thomas X. White, President; Deanne Lange, Jay Davis, John Brunner, and Tony McCarthy, Vice Presidents; Jeff Gallagher, Treasurer; Konrad Herling, Recording Secretary; Bernie McGee, Corresponding Secretary; and Dick French, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Meeting at High School About Students and Greenway Center

by Elaine Skolnik

The fear that the Greenway Shopping Center could become an "attractive nuisance" for Eleanor Roosevelt students appears to have been allayed after representatives of the PTSA, school staff and the city of Greenbelt met with Gerald Dillon, vice-president of Western Development Corporation (Greenway developers) on November 29, at the school. Armed with a large map, Dillon gave a run-down on the business planning to locate in the shopping center.

Councilman Charles Schwan told the News Review that the consensus of the group was that it would be unlikely that students would flock to the shopping center because of (1) the small number of fast food places and other stores that draw teenagers, (2) the inability of these facilities to serve large numbers of students at one time and, (3) Roosevelt policy that prohibits students from leaving school grounds, in particular, during the one-half hour lunch break. A further deterrent will be the fact that the mall will not be enclosed.

PTSA representative Howard Savage was satisfied that "things will be manageable." He was impressed that "Greenway will offer excellent part-time job opportunities for teenagers." Dillon thought there would be more jobs than students wanting them.

Students are presently forbidden to leave school grounds during the day unless they receive special permission. Principal Ray Ogden said that he plans to continue to enforce this policy.

Businesses

Fast food restaurants that have concluded leases are Wendys and Three Brothers. Three other restaurants—Denny's, Hanover Trails and Xanadu—will also locate in the shopping center. Other businesses with firm commitments are Real Rich Ice Cream, Kemp Mill Records, Safe-way, Greenway Cleaners, Radio Shack, Vacuum Center, K.B. Toys, Kinney Shoes, Showroom, Curiosity Shop, Malamut Opticians, Hair Cuttery, Greenway Carpets, Greenway Liquors, Maternity Warehouse, Lane Shops, Dart Drug and Holiday Health Spa. Dillon said there will be no pinball machine establishments.

Also present at the meeting were Police Officer Charles Watkins, PTA president Doris Malmberg, security investigator John J. Brown and Rose Weems, vice principal.

Fun Runs

The Fun Run scheduled for December 22 will not take place. Instead, the Annual 20 mile D.C. Roadrunners Race will be held on that date. Also, a 10 mile will be held simultaneously, starting at 10 a.m. A 1 1/2 mile race will begin about 10:15 a.m. All races will begin on Braden Field.

The two longer races will wind through the Agricultural Research Farms and return to Braden Field. The shorter race will go around the Lake and return. Registration will take place one hour before the races in the Youth Center.

All future Fun Runs will be held regardless of weather. For further information, call Larry Noel at 474-9362.

Council Urges Metro Speed-up

by Hally Ahearn and Leta Mach

Assistant City Manager Dennis Piendak recently attended a meeting of the Urban Mass Transit Authority (UMTA) called to assess the need for further environmental impact studies of the METRO "E" route now that the original plan has been modified. Piendak reported to a city council work session that one change relates to the fact that the Greenbelt station was relocated over a year ago from south of Greenbelt Road to the Springhill Lake industrial tract. However, Piendak, and the city council, concur with County Councilman Francis B. Francois' statement at the UMTA meeting that further environmental impact studies would cause further delays in construction of the facility.

At the work session, councilman Thomas X. White suggested that the city should call for constructing the "E" route between Fort Totten and Greenbelt in advance of the segment within the District of Columbia. Mayor Gil Wiedenfeld pointed out at the city council meeting on November 19 that a Greenbelt-Fort Totten link would relieve parking problems at New Carrollton and other stations and would bring in revenues for METRO. Since plans for the Greenbelt station are complete, construction could begin in the near future. "Every delay costs more," added councilman Charles Schwan.

City Staff

As a result of these deliberations, city council will draft a letter to UMTA advising against further environmental impact studies and proposing White's plan for construction of the "E" route link between Greenbelt and Fort Totten in advance of the segment within the District of Columbia. The letter will emphasize that starting construction from the suburban end would increase ridership and reduce overall costs of construction.

Legislative Program

City council adopted its program for the 1980 legislative session of the Maryland General Assembly. The program, which includes legislative suggestions for Beltway noise reduction, METRO financing and access improvements, safe crossing of divided highways, property tax relief, supplemental police aid to municipalities from state shared revenues, state funding for Youth Service Bureaus and proposals concerning the Maryland Municipal League Program, has already been presented to the Senator and three Delegates from Greenbelt's legislative district.

The city is preparing bid specifications for the resurfacing of the municipal swimming pool, as required by the County Health Department. The Health Department has ordered that the main pool be resurfaced before the pool can open next season. J. R. Greig of the Greenbelt Aquatic Boosters has asked that a turning wall be constructed in conjunction with the resurfacing project, but City Manager James K. Giese advises that the city does not have sufficient funds to provide a turning wall. The city will also take bids for the installation of graded metal steps as requested by residents of Green Ridge House. The steps would make it easier for elderly citizens to get into and out of the pool.

Giese asked council to approve his recommendation for a change in a bill placed before the State Legislature by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNCPPC). As amended the bill would provide for municipalities to establish road grades under their own regulations rather than those of MNCPPC as is presently required, or by the Department of Public Works and Transportation, as called for by MNCPPC. Council supported the change unanimously.

Bid Approved

Council approved a bid from Sport Chevrolet for four Chevrolet Malibu police squad cars with 350 CID engines. The Malibus are preferred by the city police department over the Dodge Aspens for which the city received a slightly lower bid from Banning Dodge. The Malibus are also rated slightly higher by Consumers Report magazine.

Council Dissatisfied

To express its concern about the selection of alternate 2 for the improvement of the Greenbelt Road-Kenilworth Avenue interchange, council directed that a letter be sent to the State Highway Administration. Council requested a detailed explanation of the choice in view of the total support for Alternate 1 at the March public hearing. Council supported Alternate 1 "because it provided safer and more convenient ingress and egress to the Springhill Lake development and because it provided a better level of service for both Greenbelt Road and Kenilworth Avenue." Further, council asked if improvements were planned for the access road to Springhill Lake. Lastly council asked whether Greenbelt Park land would be used for the interchange. City Manager James Giese had informed council at its meeting that the Department of Interior was not approving such land dedication and as a result the improvements would impact most upon the Golden Triangle.

Day Care

In another matter council directed staff to contact the principals of Center, North End and Springhill Lake Elementary Schools to determine the amount of interest in locating an extended day program for elementary children in those schools.

Off-Campus Registration

Spring registration for Prince Georges Community College off-campus programs, including Eleanor Roosevelt High School, will be held from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Largo campus until December 20.

Course offerings include: anthropology, art, biology, business, data processing, developmental math/reading/composition, economics, English, law enforcement, geography, history, mathematics, music, physical education, physical science, political science, psychology, secretarial science, sociology and speech.

Third Electric Heating Experiment Possibility of Conversion Discussed

by Mary Lou Williamson

"Most of us are fairly well convinced we'd be better off if we were on an alternate source of energy for heating; the problem is how and when and what," said Jim Smith, member of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., at its November 8 meeting. The board was considering the third request it has received to approve conversion to electric baseboard heat in a unit which has already been insulated and which will have new storm windows installed. The board approved the request.

But underlying the discussion was the common thread expressed by Smith's opening remark. While the board was not quite prepared to discuss a change in the heating system, clearly it could see the handwriting on the wall. Almost half of the 1980 budget will be spent for heating the 1600 GHI homes—that is $2 million out of a total of $4.9 million.

In discussing whether to approve Della Donnelson's request, the board pinned down various technical points. Are the R-values of insulation up to the standard of rehab? Yes. Will the same monitoring devices be installed by Pepco, so we can determine relative costs and amount of electricity used? Yes. Will Donnelson be required to sign papers comparable to those signed by Robert Wilhide and Steven Curtis (whose experiments in baseboard heating have already been approved)? Yes. Can we have the kilowatt usage and cost figures for the heating period between November and March by early April? Probably yes.

"How many such test cases are we going to approve? How many cases do we need to make our decision?" queried Smith, injecting a note of caution. He opposed further test cases saying "let's not let things go too far in too haphazard a way."

There is a limit to the usefulness of such cases, Smith explained. "You can compute R-values and electric consumption pretty accurately. There is more error in estimating the price of oil or the cost of electricity in the future. That's where the unknowns are, not in the engineering."

"The board should not indulge in too many experiments," agreed GHI member Charles Schwan. "Maybe three is sufficient." While he agreed with Smith's position, Schwan argued from a slightly different angle. "This (approval of a third test case) is probably worthwhile . . . You're going to need as much information as you can present in talking to the membership" about the possibility of converting to a different heating system, he told the board.

President Don Volk agreed, "the problem is one of convincing members."

Board member Bobbi McCarthy attempted to commit the board to a definite timetable leading to a full presentation of alternatives at the annual meeting in May. Instead, the board settled for the intent of her proposal,

Concerned about high heating bills?
Read this:

New gas furnaces use up to 13% less gas.

Gas heat has cost less than electric heat in this area for many years. But you may not have heard that the new gas furnaces are even more economical than older ones. They can save 13% of gas consumption, according to a computer study by the National Bureau of Standards. The reason? Pilotless ignition and automatic vent dampers.

What does that tell you about gas heating today? It's better because it saves energy -- and saves you money.

If your old furnace is on its last legs, you'll find new economies in replacing it. Gas heating contractors will give you details. (They are listed under "Heating Contractors" in the Yellow Pages.) See for yourself how a new gas furnace can help you cut high winter heating bills.

pilotless ignition
A spark ignites the gas burner when it's needed. There's no pilot light to waste gas.

automatic vent damper
Closes when the gas burner is off. Stops heat from escaping up the chimney.

Betty Moore Directs Political Science Internship Program

Greenbelter Betty Moore, a political science instructor at Prince Georges Community College, together with a colleague, Eugene Yannon, developed a political internship program to give political science students an opportunity to gain on-the-job experience while pursuing their educations.

The nature of the program encourages students to look at all of the educational options, and, according to Moore, is the "most pragmatic way for students to learn about government and politics."

In her own career Moore has had ample opportunity to combine practical experience in politics with her work as an educator.

In 1962 she was simultaneously working full-time for U.S. Senator John McClellan, Democrat from Arkansas, teaching political science part-time at PGCC, and raising a family.

"I really feel you are more effective as an instructor," said Moore, "when you are actively involved with a subject as well as teaching it. Your examples and illustrations are current, and as a result, I think students pay more attention."

"Because I worked for the Republican National Committee from 1952 to 1959, and for Senator McClellan from 1959 to 1965 and again from 1968 to 1970, I am able to draw on 'real life' experiences I would otherwise be totally unaware of."

As the Assistant Director of Research for McClellan, "Ms. Betty," as the Senator called her, would spend the first hour of every

GHI NOTES

GHI has a new director of maintenance, Eppie Bell. Bell is retired from the federal government where he last worked as a branch chief in charge of 154 buildings including 3 hospitals, office buildings and parking garages. From 1966 to 1975, Bell supervised the plant engineering services for Glenn Dale Hospital. Bell came to GHI on November 18, and is especially interested in safety and preventive maintenance programs.

A Rehabilitation Bulletin was delivered to each GHI home over the weekend. The Bulletin explained the members' responsibilities before and during rehabilitation. Any member who did not receive a Bulletin should call the manager's office, 474-5566, and one will be mailed.

Some members have expressed interest in notifying the Maryland Historic Trust to express disagreement with the Trust's conclusion that vinyl siding on the frame and block homes, and the double hung or sliding windows on the brick and block homes, would detract from the historic character of GHI. Members who may wish to let the Trust know how they feel can write to Nancy Miller, State Preservation Officer, Maryland Historic Trust, 21 State Circle, Annapolis, Md. 21401. A copy of the letter should also be sent to Millicent Walcott, Environmental Officer, U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, Universal North Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20009.

weekday morning (normally between 8 and 9 a.m., because the Senator was an "early morning person," according to Moore) discussing politics.

"Those sessions permitted me to learn a great deal about politics, and I can honestly say that I learned a special lesson in filibustering."

As Betty Moore's interests began to shift from politics to full-time teaching in the late 60's, she maintained her political enthusiasm by working actively in the Women's Political Caucus at both the County and State levels. During 1974 and 1978 she also worked on a voluntary basis for the Democratic Platform Committee and is currently chairperson of the Elections Board in Greenbelt.

Internship Program

Students entering the political internship program are required to successfully complete two courses in political science with a grade of "B" or better, and have the approval of the Political Science Department. The student must attend an orientation session plus four regular seminars, in addition to working in a political job during the semester. Oral presentations, a daily journal, and final evaluations by both the instructor and on-the-job supervisor determine the student's grade.

One intern, Ruth Stultz (a PGCC graduate from College Park), was assigned last spring to research inheritance laws in order to determine how much such laws affect women in the State of Maryland. Stultz reported her findings in person to the Maryland Commission for Women. "Those internships are not just for anyone," Stultz explained. "They are only for people who are willing to work independently and diligently."

Next spring the internship program at PGCC will once again be offered to those students who are qualified and interested. "But whether interested or not," said Moore, "students must understand that political science does not exist in a vacuum."

Mishkan Torah News

A family service will be held at the Mishkan Torah at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 14, the first night of Hanukka. There will be a special Sabbath Hanukka service on Saturday, Dec. 15 at 9:30 a.m.

Betty Moore, chairman of the Greenbelt Elections Board, teaches a political science class at Prince Georges Community College.
